TRACT OVERLOOKS HUDSON

Plateau Near Dyckman St. and Old Billings Estate Included.

MUSEUM ON FT. TRYON SITE

$4,000,000 Building to House the Treasures Now in Cloisters Approved by Metropolitan.

WALKER VOICES GRATITUDE

Offer, Proposing Also $300,000 Claremont Park Development, Was Made in Part to Hylan.

In a letter to Mayor Walker, made public at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Estimate, John D. Rockefeller Jr. offered as a gift to the city for use as a public park a tract of land on Washington Heights valued at $7,000,000. He also offered to carry out at his own expense the development of the landscape features of the proposed park. The cost of the development will be about $2,000,000.

The land offered by Mr. Rockefeller covers fifty-six acres, including the former Billings estate, purchased by him in 1917, the high plateau to the north of it overlooking Dyckman Street, and the valley between.

Mr. Rockefeller reserved from the plateau area, however, a four-acre site which he has simultaneously presented to the Metropolitan Museum of Art for a new museum building, which Mr. Rockefeller will build at a cost of from $2,000,000 to $4,000,000. The building will house the Metropolitan's collection of Gothic treasures now in The Cloisters at 190th Street and Fort Washington Avenue.

The site on which the building is to rise is known as Fort Tryon. This is the highest point on Manhattan Island, commanding a view of the Palisades and Jersey hills, the lower bay and Long Island Sound. On a clear day the view extends as far as Storm King Mountain up the Hudson. The new museum building will be modeled pictorially after Kenilworth Castle in England, the architecture of which Mr. Rockefeller admires greatly.

Will Improve Claremont Park.

In addition to the park offered to the city, Mr. Rockefeller also expressed his readiness to carry out at his own expense the reconstruction and the development of Claremont Park, on the east side of Riverside Drive, opposite Grant's Tomb. The cost of this project will be $300,000, and the improvement will be in accordance with plans already submitted to and approved by the Park Commissioner.

The park museum and Claremont Park projects have been designed by Olmsted Brothers, landscape architects.

In the letter offering the gift, Mr. Rockefeller submitted for the city's favorable action and as part of his proposal a request that the city permit the closing of East Sixty-fourth Street and East Sixty-eighth Street between York Avenue and Exterior Street.

In connection with this feature and in behalf of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, of which he is the president, Mr. Rockefeller offered to cede to the city part of the Institute's property along the East River between Sixty-third and Sixty-fourth Streets and along the northerly line of Sixty-third Street, east of York Avenue. This will permit the extension of Exterior Street south to Sixty-third Street and the widening of Sixty-third Street, thus affording a better access from York Avenue to Exterior Street.

In connection with the closing and discontinuance of Sixty-eighth Street between York Avenue and Exterior Street, Mr. Rockefeller requested the sale to the Rockefeller Institute, the abutting owner on the south, of lands lying within the bed of the southerly half of the closed street, and to the Society of the New York Hospital, the abutting owner on the north, of the lands lying within the bed of the northerly half of the closed street.

Requesting the discontinuance of Sixty-fourth Street between York Avenue and Exterior Street, Mr. Rockefeller asked also for the conveyance to the Rockefeller Institute, the abutting owner on both sides, of all the lands lying within the bed of this street in consideration for the lands to be ceded by the institute to the city, which will be of greater

Rockefeller Has 789 Employes On Pocantico Hills Estate

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 6.—John D. Rockefeller Jr. employs 789 persons on his Pocantico Hills estate, all of whom are residents of Tarrytown and vicinity, according to figures given out today on the local employment situation.

General Motors is the only commercial or private interest in the village which employs more labor than Mr. Rockefeller, the report showed.

SUPREME COURT HOME WILL COST $9,740,000

WORK TO TAKE THREE YEARS

Unit in Big Project to Beautify Capital—Bids to Clear Area to Be Opened Tuesday.

Final details of the plan for the new United States Supreme Court Building to be erected on a site facing the Capitol in Washington were announced here yesterday by Cass Gilbert, the architect.

The structure will be a major unit in the Federal Government's program for improving an area of about seventy-four acres with a unified group of public buildings. It will cost $9,740,000, exclusive of furniture, Mr. Gilbert has estimated. Doors and furnishings of the old buildings at the northwest corner of East Capitol and First Streets are being removed in anticipation of early demolition of these structures, and work on the new building is expected to start within a few months.

"The building is designed to last for all time," Mr. Gilbert said. "Because of that fact, the work should not and cannot be carried forward as rapidly as is possible in the case of modern skyscrapers. Three years or more probably will be required for its erection. To insure a truly monumental work, every detail of its construction will be coordinated to the highest possible degree, in harmony with the architectural style of the Capitol and numerous other public buildings planned around it."

Classic Style Selected.

The classic style of architecture was chosen by the architect and many months have been required to work out the design. The building will be practically a quadrangle, with the stately Corinthian columns of the main entrance facing the Senate wing of the Capitol. The westerly front will cover 304 feet and the greatest east and west dimension will be 385 feet. The entrances will lead from landscaped terraces and grounds.

The central section of the building, where the Supreme Court room and main corridor will be located, will rise to a considerable height above the sections housing offices, as a means of symbolizing the relative importance of the various units, the architect pointed out. This section will rise four stories above the terrace on the east front and three

CAROL IN RUMANIA; RETURNS BY PLANE FROM 5-YEAR EXILE

Former Crown Prince Had Government's Consent, All Signs Indicate.

MOTHER AND HELEN AWAY

Paris Hears Reconciliation With Former Wife Has Been Arranged.

POST IN REGENCY FORECAST

Bucharest Recalls Willingness of Brother, Prince Nicolas, to Make Way for Him.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, June 6.—After five years in exile former Crown Prince Carol made a dramatic return to Rumania tonight. He arrived in Bucharest from Paris by airplane at 6 o'clock this evening.

The news of "Mr. Carol Caraiman's" return to the country of which he would have been sovereign for the last three years had it not been for his attachment to Mme. Magda Lupescu spread rapidly in court and government circles. Late tonight, however, all was quiet in Bucharest.

That the former Prince's return not only had been expected but prepared for by the government and court seems likely. Day before yesterday a delegation of 200 farmers waited on Patriarch Miron Cristea, one of the three regents, and requested that Carol be allowed to come back. For weeks the Liberal opposition has been attacking the Maniu Government on the ground that it has refused to end the striking revival of agitation in favor of his return.

Prince Nicolas, brother of Carol and also a regent, has openly intimated his opinion that the ban on his brother should be lifted and is known to be ready to resign his position on the Regency Council in Carol's favor.

Broke With Mme. Lupescu.

Three days ago it was definitely announced from Paris that Carol had irrevocably severed all relations with Mme. Lupescu.

For some time past it has been evident that the only real opposition to Carol's return came from the Liberal party and possibly from Dowager Queen Marie, who was largely responsible for forcing her son to renounce the throne in 1925 and who, conceivably, awaited his return with some apprehension.

Two days ago Queen Marie had a series of interviews with Premier Maniu and Patriarch Cristea, from which she emerged very agitated and tearful. On the same day her departure for Oberammergau was announced. It also was given out that Princess Helen, Carol's former wife, mother of little King Michael, would visit her mother in Frankfort. There is reason to believe that Princess Helen is not opposed to a reconciliation with her divorced husband.

Paris Hears of Reconciliation.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—The conclusion of an arrangement by which Prince Carol of Rumania is renouncing his relations with Mme. Lupescu, is becoming reconciled with his former wife, Princess Helen, and will replace his brother Prince Nicolas on the regency triumvirate is announced here tonight in a Reuter message to the Continental edition of The London Daily Mail.

Einstein in England Offers Another Theory, That Space Is Eating Matter, Reversing Events

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

NOTTINGHAM, England, June 6.—Dr. Albert Einstein, celebrated physicist, in a lecture tonight at University College here elucidated his theory on space. Space, he said, in effect, is the real solid, and matter is of only secondary consequence—an unsubstantial dream.

Dr. Einstein spoke in German and only three professors in the audience could follow his idea, which is said to reverse completely previous conceptions of space and matter.

During his lecture, Professor Einstein covered a big blackboard with formulae and notes in German. Afterward, at the request of the professors, he signed the board in chalk. It was decided to have the slate varnished and preserved as a memento.

Dr. Einstein said he believed it was possible to get a further form of space which would comprise all the phenomena of the cosmos.

"I have faith," he added, "in the path along which I am proceeding, and I have evidence that completion is very near."

Faraday and Maxwell did not have the courage to say that space was the real thing, Dr. Einstein argued, and so they invented a material they called ether. That had to be discarded, the scientist continued, saying his researches had led him to give space a real solidity.

Dr. Einstein related that about two years ago, during a severe illness, he had hit upon his new idea. Hitherto, in considering two bodies in space, he said, attention was given only to their size. Now the most important consideration is their direction, he said.

It was inferred from Dr. Einstein's reference to the cosmos that he meant he would soon be able to establish final proofs of his unified field theory linking electricity and gravitation, which would give a single picture of the physical universe.

"Many of my colleagues think I am crazy," he said. "It is true my theory has yet to be fully tested, but tests thus far have confirmed my views as to the unitary nature of the physical universe."

NOTTINGHAM, England, June 6 (AP).—Professor Einstein in his first lecture in England tonight informed the audience of scientists that he recently had been working on a new idea regarding space. He said:

"If one considers two elements in space, one compares them so far only as regards size. But there is a further element which comes into it that might give the clue, and it is this: You can also compare those two elements in the matter of direction.

"Space will have to be regarded as a primary and matter derived from it as a secondary result. That is to say, space has now turned around and it is eating up matter. Space is now having its revenge."

Mrs. John Grier Hibben Joins Ranks of Wets; Finds Prohibition Has Caused Intemperance

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., June 6.—Mrs. John Grier Hibben, wife of the president of Princeton University, has joined the ranks of the wets and become a member of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, according to an announcement made this morning by Mrs. John W. Castles of Morristown, a vice chairman of the State organization.

Mrs. Hibben joined the New Jersey group. She was unable to attend a meeting of the State council at the home of Mrs. Pomeroy T. Francis here yesterday, but expressed her views to Mrs. Castles in a telephone conversation. According to Mrs. Castles, Mrs. Hibben said:

"Dr. Hibben and I have religiously obeyed the prohibition laws since their passage more than ten years ago. We have neither taken liquor ourselves nor served it in our home. But we are now convinced that these laws are essentially wrong and that they have made this country less temperate than it was before they were enacted. I believe that the women's organization for prohibition reform is working along lines that will eventually lead to real temperance, and that is why I have allied myself with it."

The fifty or more women who attended the meeting yesterday, representing virtually every section of the State, received Mrs. Hibben's announcement with great enthusiasm. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Francis, who is vice president of the national organization as well as head of the New Jersey division. The State headquarters are here and the organization meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Moore. At that time there were but ninety-seven members. Now there are more than 8,000.

Mrs. Hibben's application for membership followed closely upon President Hibben's article in The Princetonian, in which he said that after "due consideration I am convinced that the Eighteenth Amendment is wrong."

Dr. Hibben also has come out strongly in support of the candidacy of Dwight W. Morrow for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

At the meeting yesterday it was voted to send delegates to the State conventions next Fall of both the Republican and Democratic parties and ask that they include a wet plank in their platforms.

SPLIT FEES 8 YEARS, DOYLE TESTIFIES

Court Rules He Now Must Tell Amounts and Whether in Cash or by Check.

TUTTLE FOLLOWS NEW LEAD

Hints at Sensational Angle—Reported to Be on Trail of Recipients of Payments.

Dr. William F. Doyle admitted yesterday to the Federal grand jury that he had been splitting his fees with other persons every year since the beginning of his practice before the Board of Standards and Appeals. He took up this work in the Spring of 1922, and his fees since that time were estimated at about $2,000,000. Despite this admission, made under a court order, Dr. Doyle was haled before Federal Judge John M. Woolsey for a third time for his refusal to answer certain questions.

Judge Woolsey ruled that Dr. Doyle must answer questions with respect to the amounts split and whether the split was paid over to others in cash or by checks. He reserved decision on whether Dr. Doyle would have to tell the grand jury the names of persons with whom he split his fees in the years 1922, 1923 and 1924. The question to be decided has to do chiefly with the Federal statute of limitations, or whether the witness would incriminate himself and lay himself open to possible prosecution by his answers.

Tuttle Bares New Angle.

Last night United States Attorney Tuttle announced that he had uncovered an entirely new angle in the investigation of matters related to the Board of Standards and Appeals. He intimated that he expected sensational developments.

"We have located some witnesses," Mr. Tuttle said, "whose testimony is very important. Some told their stories today, others will be here to tell their stories tomorrow, and on Monday I hope to have them all before the grand jury. I do not feel that, in the interests of justice, I can tell any more than just that about the situation now."

Shortly before, it had been reported that he and his assistants, Lowell Wadmond and John A Wilson, either had identified persons with whom Dr. Doyle had split fees or were in receipt of information which they believed would lead to such identifications very soon.

It is known that for several days investigators have been going over the income tax returns of persons other than Dr. Doyle and also looking into the bank accounts of these persons. It was even reported that material progress had been made in checking up fees which Dr. Doyle had admitted having split. The dates of such splits were said to have been tallied with certain bank deposits.

Before he entered the grand jury room yesterday Mr. Tuttle was asked whether he had had any information about the activities of certain attorneys with alleged political connections in practice before the Board of Standards and Appeals.

"I am not going to say anything about those questions," he said, "and that does not mean that I have heard of activities on the part of these or others, but I will not talk about them."

Mr. Tuttle was informed by investigators yesterday that one of Dr. Doyle's so-called clients, "a large property holder," had paid Dr. Doyle $36,000 in fees since Jan. 1, 1926. More than half of that sum was said to have been paid in cash.

In court Mr. Tuttle told Judge Woolsey that in 1927 Dr. Doyle had received a refund on his income tax sent to Washington in connection with an amended return in 1925.

"The witness has told us," Mr. Tuttle added, "that he did not ask to get the money back, that he did not know who sent it back and that

MORROW MINIMIZES GERMAN WAR GUILT

In Plea for London Treaty He Gives Cause as "Fear and Naval Competition."

WHITE HOUSE BOOM SCORED

Frelinghuysen Asks if Envoy Is Seeking Senatorship as Step to Presidency.

Before an audience of more than 2,000 persons in the armory at Paterson, N. J., Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow expressed regret last night that Germany had not been represented at the London naval conference, contended that it was unfair to hold Germany fully responsible for the World War and said that he hoped that nation would be invited to the international naval conference to be held in 1935.

"It was the popular thought," said Mr. Morrow, "first to place the blame on Germany for all the responsibility for the World War. This is an unfair attitude, for the war started by the fear and pressure of naval competition. Every one was running around in circles telling what the other nations were doing in preparing for war."

Later he switched the subject to the London naval conference and expressed the wish that Germany had been represented.

"However," he said, "there will be another conference in 1935, and I hope that Germany will be present. Then all the big nations of the world will be on an equal footing and there will be a chance for the world to move forward toward peace and happiness. I hope that our children will not have to go through what we have gone through."

Urges Ratification of Treaty.

It was the first time, since Mr. Morrow opened his campaign against former Senator Joseph M. Frelinghuysen for the Republican nomination for Senator in New Jersey, that he had touched on the treaty resulting from the naval conference at which he was one of the American delegates. He urged immediate ratification of the treaty.

"I hope and expect that the naval treaty will be ratified promptly," he said. "If I should be nominated and elected to the Senate and that question should still be a pending question, I expect to vote for ratification."

Mr. Morrow asserted that the members of the American delegation, keeping in mind the traditional American policy of avoiding involvement in European questions, had made no commitments guaranteeing the security of other nations. He added that, while the reduction in naval armament proposed was less than the delegation desired, it would mean a smaller navy than there would be with naval competition.

Mr. Morrow spoke in similar vein later in Passaic.

Attacked on White House Boom.

The Morrow Presidential boom became a factor in the campaign yesterday when Mr. Frelinghuysen demanded to know if the Ambassador was merely seeking the Senatorship as a stepping stone to the White House.

In a statement issued in Atlantic City, Mr. Frelinghuysen declared that one office was enough to seek at a time, and, criticizing Mr. Morrow for failing to disavow the boom started in Trenton on Wednesday by former Governor Stokes and President Hibben of Princeton, he asserted that the people of New Jersey were entitled to know where the Ambassador stood.

At the same time the Frelinghuysen managers in Newark, together with those of Representative Franklin W. Fort, dry candidate, declared the Presidential boom was alienating strength from the Ambassador's forces. Even among Morrow backers

HOOVER TO APPOINT COMMITTEE TO FIX SHIP BOARD POLICY

OUTGROWTH OF RIVALRY

$60,000,000 TO BE LOANED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Hoover plans to appoint a committee of outstanding men to study the policies of the Shipping Board, particularly with reference to the merits of rival bids for transatlantic services, and the character of the ships proposed to be built through government construction loans, he announced this afternoon in a letter to Chairman O'Connor.

The President's action is believed to be an outgrowth of a fight between the United States Lines and the Black Diamond Steamship Company and Cosmopolitan Shipping Company for the operation of the American Diamond and America-France lines, now respectively operated by the Black Diamond and Cosmopolitan companies. Chairman O'Connor conferred with Mr. Hoover at the White House yesterday, and it is inferred that the letter was the result of that conversation.

Only last Wednesday the Shipping Board by a division of five to two voted to refer the matter of the acquisition of the American Diamond and America-France Lines to its finance committee for a final review. While no official statement was made, the action of the board was interpreted in many quarters as preliminary of the delivery of the two lines to the United States Lines, which had made a high bid.

Bids Made a Year Ago.

The original bids were made just a little more than a year ago, the Black Diamond and Cosmopolitan companies offering about $14 per ton, while the United States Lines offered approximately $25. Later the Black Diamond raised its bid a little higher than the United States Lines, but the Cosmopolitan stood on the contention that as current operator it was entitled to the award of the America-France Line under the preference provisions of the merchant marine act of 1920.

The bids were held up for a year on request of the inter-departmental committee on mail contracts, but this committee, composed of Secretaries Lamont and Adams, Postmaster General Brown and Chairman O'Connor, two weeks ago released the board from further delay.

No explanation was made at the White House of the reference in the President's letter to the character of the ships to be built with government aid. However, the Shipping Board has before it a large program for which it has authorized loans, including funds for the building of the two twenty-eight-knot express liners for the United States Lines, which will cost $30,000,000 each.

Woman's Presentation at Court Is Canceled; British Royalty Give No Reason for Rebuke

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 6.—One of the most beautiful women presented to King George and Queen Mary at their first court of the season in Buckingham Palace on May 14 has received notification from the Lord Chamberlain that her presentation has been canceled and struck off the official records. She is Mrs. Christopher Courtney, who before her marriage to Group Captain C. L. Courtney, C. B. E., D. S. O., was Miss Constance Rayson Greenhill.

Group Captain Courtney is deputy director of operations and intelligence at the Air Ministry and his wife was presented at court by Lady Salmond, wife of Sir John Salmond, Air Chief Marshal.

This is the first time in twenty-seven years that a presentation to their Majesties has been canceled. There is no known case of a cancellation taking place so soon after presentation.

Although in the last decade the lists of applicants for presentation have widened to become more democratic, the credentials are most carefully scrutinized by palace officials to prevent an occurrence of this kind.

Lady Salmond declared tonight she was unaware that the cancellation was to be published and said she could not enlighten the newspapers as to the reason for the Lord Chamberlain's action.

Captain Courtney is a son of the late W. L. Courtney, brilliant editor of The Fortnightly Review, and gained decorations for his services as an aviator during the World War.

LONDON, June 6 (AP).—The official London Gazette today published an almost unprecedented notice which tonight had all London guessing. It read as follows:

"Lord Chamberlain's Office,
"St. James's Palace.

"Notice is hereby given that the presentation of Mrs. Christopher Courtney at their Majesties' court on May 14 has been canceled."

All of those who wish to be presented at court usually undergo thorough scrutiny before they are placed on the list. Among those heretofore unwelcome at court have been divorcees.

Twelve American débutantes were among the women from various countries presented at the royal British court May 14, the first of this season.

The Prime Minister was on his way to spend his vacation in his home town when the pilot encountered a storm and low mist at Leuchar's. A safe landing was made at the airdrome, and later an attempt was made to resume the flight, but the pilot decided to return to Leuchar's.

Dry Leader Declares Not Enough Wood Alcohol Is Contained to Endanger Life.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The Senate was called upon again today to pass on the alcohol poisoning question, and voted, 45 to 16, to reject a proposal by Senator Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland, that no ingredients be used in denaturing industrial alcohol which would render it "destructive to human life."

The proposal was an amendment to a bill by Senator McNary, Republican, of Oregon, authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to fix standards for branding canned foods, except meats, meat products and canned milk. The bill was passed by the Senate with an amendment by Senator Copeland providing that standards should not be changed without notice and public hearings.

A similar proposal on industrial alcohol by Senator Tydings when the prohibition transfer bill was before the Senate was rejected on May 14 by a vote of 54 to 19. Two Senators switched today, Senator Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, who on May 14 voted for the Tydings amendment, voting against it today, and Senator Gillett, Republican, of Massachusetts, who voted against the amendment, voting for it today.

ACTS FOR 'PUBLIC INTEREST'

Stimson, Informing Borah of Decision, Cites Precedents of 140 Years.

KEEPING FAITH STRESSED

Executives From Washington to Harding Quoted as Denying Similar Requests.

NO 'SECRET COMMITMENTS'

Secretary Declares Treaty Contains All—Memorandum Will Reply to Johnson's Queries.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—By direction of President Hoover, Secretary Stimson today refused to deliver to the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations the confidential communications of this government with other powers preceding the London naval conference.

The Secretary of State, in a letter informing Chairman Borah of the committee, of this decision, disclosed that in the President's opinion the publication of the documents would not be compatible with the public interest.

The language of the treaty itself, and not extraneous matter, in the opinion of Secretary Stimson, was the controlling question so far as ratification of the treaty was concerned.

However, Mr. Stimson stated in the letter to Senator Borah that he would transmit to the Senator a confidential memorandum in which he would answer as far as possible the questions asked by Senator Johnson of California, the leader of the antiratification forces, in a letter requesting the submission of files bearing on the treaty.

Papers, of record or otherwise, which contain records of confidential and informal conversations between delegates to the London conference and "communications and tentative suggestions of a kind which are common to almost every negotiation and without which such negotiations cannot successfully be carried" will not, by direction of the President, be submitted to the committee.

Stimson Explains Decision.

"In the interest of the ratification of the treaty by our Senate," Secretary Stimson said in a statement issued from the State Department following the delivery of his letter to Senator Borah, "I should be only too glad to have every step in the negotiations known and every confidential paper published, for it would only show that the American delegation served their country with zeal and success and were at the same time fair to their colleagues from other countries and sincerely desirous of promoting an agreement fair to all.

"But unfortunately a complicated negotiation such as this cannot be carried through without many, many private talks and discussions, man to man; many tentative suggestions and proposals.

"Delegates from other countries come and tell you in confidence of their troubles at home and of their differences with other countries and with other delegates; they tell you of what they would do under certain circumstances and would not do under other circumstances, and some of these confidences necessarily get into confidential cables and reports.

Looks to Future Conferences.

"Now, if these reports and cables should become public, or if the members of the American delegation should reveal these confidences on the witness stand, who would ever trust an American delegation in another conference?

"This is a consideration which must particularly be kept in mind in disarmament conferences, for, as I have said already, publicly, many times, disarmament is a continuous process involving many steps and many conferences.

"The London conference is only one such step; many others must follow and it is especially important that the reputation of the American name for integrity and reliability shall be scrupulously preserved."

In his letter Secretary Stimson said that there were precedents without number, covering practically the entire period of the independence of the United States, to support the position of President Hoover and the State Department, the first and one of the most important of them all dating from the Presidency of George Washington. The gist of the controlling precedents was issued in the form of a statement by the department tonight.

Senator Borah gave out the letter, in which Secretary Stimson offered a confidential memorandum but declined to submit the confidential documents and other data requested by Senator Johnson, in whose request other opponents of ratification in the Senate concurred.

Text of the Stimson Letter.

Secretary Stimson's letter to Senator Borah was as follows:

The Secretary of State,
Washington, June 6, 1930.

Dear Senator Borah:

I am in receipt of your letter of June 3, requesting on behalf of the Committee on Foreign Relations certain papers relative to the Geneva conference in 1927. I am also in receipt of your favors of June 3 and June 4, transmitting copies of letters of Senator Johnson of the same dates respectively, in which he makes certain inquiries and also asks for certain confidential telegrams of the department and also for "all letters, papers, documents, telegrams, dispatches and communications of every sort leading up to or relating to the London conference and London treaty."

I am sending you by hand a set of all of the records of the conference for the limitation of naval armament held at Geneva in 1927 which have been made public. I am also sending you a confidential memorandum which will answer as far as possible the questions contained in Senator Johnson's letter of June 3.

Respecting the other papers called for, I am directed by the President to say that their production would not, in his opinion, be compatible with the public interest.

Washington's Words as Precedent.

These requests call for the production and possible publication of informal and confidential conversations, communications and tentative suggestions of a kind which are common to almost every negotiation and without which such negotiations cannot successfully be carried on. If the confidence in which they were made to the American delegation in London is broken, it would materially impair the possibility of future successful negotiations between this government and other nations.

The necessity of preserving such confidences was made clear by President Washington at the very beginning of this government. In reply to a resolution of the House of Representatives on March 24, 1796, he said:

"The nature of foreign negotiations requires caution and their success must often depend on secrecy; and even when brought to a conclusion a full disclosure of all the measures, demands or eventual concessions which may have been proposed or contemplated would be extremely impolitic; for this might have a pernicious influence on future negotiations or produce immediate inconveniences, perhaps danger and mischief, in relation to other powers."

"No Concealed Understandings.

Both the Secretary of the Navy and I have been before your committee and have been examined at length. Officers of the navy have also freely given their views to your committee. Moreover, two members of your committee were members of the American delegation at London and are familiar with every phase of the negotiations from beginning to end and stand ready to make their knowledge available to interested members of your committee.

The question whether this treaty is or is not in the interest of the United States and should or should not be ratified by the Senate must in the last event be determined from the language of the document itself and not from extraneous matter.

There have been no concealed understandings in this matter, nor are there any commitments whatever except as appear in the treaty itself and the interpretive exchange of notes recently suggested by your committee, all of which are now in the hands of the Senate.

Very respectfully,
HENRY L. STIMSON.

Asked if he had any comment to make, Senator Borah replied that he had not.

Senator Johnson, after reading the Stimson letter, said he would not comment today, adding that he wanted to study the letter and that he might have something to say tomorrow.

All Open in Treaty, Stimson Says.

In his statement, issued subsequently to the press, Secretary Stimson cited specifically the precedents of the Washington and Harding Administrations.

President Harding declined to furnish the Senate, he said, "the records, minutes, arguments, debates, conversations, &c.," relating to the four-power, or Pacific treaty between the United States, Great Britain, France and Japan, on the ground that to comply with the request of the Senate would not be compatible with public interest or consistent with the amenities of international negotiations.

"I am well aware that some of the opponents of the treaty are likely to say that these confidential papers are being kept confidential in order to cover up some secret understanding or some mistake or indiscretion of the American delegates," Secretary Stimson added.

"That is nonsense. There were no such agreements or understandings. There were no commitments made by the American delegation except those contained in the treaty itself, which is public and before the Senate. That paper represents the full measure of American rights and obligations and the work of the delegation must be judged by that."

The State Department's Case.

The memorandum given out tonight by the State Department, in which Secretary Stimson cites the cases in which past Presidents have refused information, such as is now asked by the anti-treaty forces, reads as follows:

"One of the first instances in which information concerning foreign affairs was requested by Congress occurred during Washington's Administration when the House of Representatives passed a resolution requesting that a copy of the instructions to the Minister of the United States who negotiated the Jay treaty be laid before the House. Washington's reply of March 30, 1796, may be summarized by the following excerpt from his communication:

" 'The nature of foreign negotiations requires caution, and for success must often depend on secrecy; even when brought to a conclusion a full disclosure of all the measures, demands or eventful concessions which may have been proposed or contemplated would be extremely impolitic; for this might have a pernicious influence on future negotiations or produce immediate inconveniences; perhaps danger and mischief in relation to our powers.

" 'The necessity of such caution and secrecy was one cogent reason for vesting power of making treaties in the President with the advice and consent of the Senate, the principle on which that body was formed confining it to a small number of members.

" 'To admit, then, a right in the House of Representatives to demand and to have as a matter of course all the papers respecting a negotiation of a foreign power would be to establish a dangerous precedent.'

Use of Washington Precedent.

"This precedent established by Washington has been repeatedly referred to or quoted, not only in respect to later requests of a similar nature by the House, but also with respect to requests by the Senate, notably in the Senate debates of Jan. 28, 1904, and Feb. 6, 1906.

"On March 15, 1845, President Polk, in reply to two resolutions, dated March 12, 1845, the first of which requested the President to inform the Senate what communications had been made by the Mexican Minister in consequence of the proceedings of Congress and the Executive in relation to Texas, said in part:

" 'With the highest respect of the Senate and a sincere desire to furnish all the information requested by the first resolution, I yet entertain strong apprehensions lest such a communication might delay and ultimately endanger the great measure which Congress so earnestly sought to accomplish by the joint resolutions for the annexation of Texas to the United States.

" 'The initiatory proceedings which have been adopted by the Executive to give effect to this resolution cannot therefore, in my judgment, at this time and under existing circumstances, be communicated without injury to the public interest.'

Fillmore's Two Refusals.

"President Fillmore twice refused to give information to the Senate in response to resolutions passed by that body. The first resolution, dated June 11, 1852, requested all official information respecting the proposition of the King of the Sandwich Islands to convey the sovereignty of those islands to the United States. On June 26, 1852, Fillmore replied that to comply with this request would not promote the public interests and might well endanger them.

"The second resolution of the Senate, dated June 26, 1852, requested information regarding negotiations between the United States and Great Britain and between the United States and the republics of Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

"On July 1, 1852, Fillmore replied that any information in his possession would in due time be laid before the Senate, but that under existing circumstances it would not comport with the public interests to communicate it. He added that a statement which did appear in the public press and which in part was the cause of the Senate resolution could only injure the negotiations that were pending and merited the severest reprobation.

Wilson's Action in Wartime.

"By resolution, dated Jan. 8, 1915, the Senate requested the President, if not incompatible with public interests, to cause to be transmitted to it copies of all communications transmitted to or received from representatives of foreign governments touching the seizure or detention by any belligerent nation of shipments of copper from ports of the United States consigned to neutral countries of Europe, also copies of communications declaring copper to be either conditional or absolute contraband and copies of communications bearing on the declaration of London, as regards ships bound for a port in a neutral country from which it was found the enemy government was drawing supplies.

"Reply: In a communication transmitted to the President under date of Jan. 26, 1915, and forwarded by him to the Senate, the department stated:

" 'As the matters to which the call of the Senate relates are the subject of pending diplomatic correspondence with certain foreign governments looking to an understanding between this government and the belligerent governments concerned, it does not appear to be compatible with the public interest to communicate at this time the correspondence in regard thereto.'

Data on Mexico Withheld in 1916.

"By resolution of Jan. 6, 1916, the Senate requested the President, if not incompatible with the public interest, to inform it regarding certain subjects respecting the situation in Mexico and to transmit to the Senate documents, letters, reports, orders, &c., therein referred to.

"Reply: The department, by a communication of Feb. 12, 1916, to the President, transmitted by him to the Senate on Feb. 17, 1916, stated that it believed it to be incompatible with the public interest to transmit to the Senate at that time the voluminous correspondence, called for by the resolution, between the Department of State and the representatives of the United States in Mexico or that between the department and representatives of the de facto government of Mexico.

Request on 1922 Arms Treaty.

"Shortly after the conclusion of the Washington Conference on the Limitation of Armament the Senate presented the following resolution (S. Res. 237):

> Resolved, That the President be and he is hereby requested to furnish the Senate, if not incompatible with the public interest, all drafts or forms presented to or considered by the delegates of the United States, the British Empire, Japan or France, in considering the subject of the four-power treaty. Also, copies of all proceedings, records, negotiations, arguments, debates, discussions and conversations which occurred between the delegates of the United States, the British Empire, Japan or France, or any of them, covering the subject of the four-power treaty or the supplementary note which accompanied it or the supplementary agreement relating to it, and subsequently signed.

"In a communication from the White House, dated Feb. 20, 1922, President Harding replied to the Senate's resolution as follows:

" 'Responsive to Senate Resolution No. 237 asking for records, minutes, arguments, debates, conversations, &c., relating to the so-called four-power treaty, I have to advise that it is impossible to comply with the Senate's request. Many of the things asked for in the resolution it is literally impossible to furnish, because there were many conversations and discussions quite outside the conference, yet vital to its success. Naturally these are without record.

" 'I do not believe it to be compatible with public interest or consistent with the amenities of international negotiation to reveal informal and confidential conversations or discussions of which no record was kept, or to submit tentative suggestions or informal proposals, without which the arrival at desirable international understandings would be rendered unlikely if not impossible.

" 'While I am unable to transmit the information requested, I do, however, take this opportunity to say most emphatically that there were no concealed understandings and no secret exchange of notes, and there are no commitments whatever except as appear in the four-power treaty itself and the supplementary agreement, which are now in the hands of the Senate.' "

Sussex County Claims Record For Men 80 Years Old or More

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., June 6.—Sussex County, N. J., believes it holds the record for longevity of its residents. It says it has one person more than 80 years old in every 226 of population. Its total population is about 26,000.

Watson R. Ayers of Andover, who will be 85 next month, has written to the State Department of Health to suggest that other counties be asked to submit their figures.

"At a dinner given May 1 at Newton to the men of Sussex County who are in their eightieth year or more," his letter said, "I succeeded in gathering the names of 115 men whose ages combined reached a total of 9,601 years, one month and eight days, averaging 83½ years."

ADAMS CHOOSES NAMES FOR 4 NEW CRUISERS

He Picks New Orleans, Astoria, Minneapolis and Portland, Latter After Maine City.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Names were assigned by Secretary Adams today to four of the 10,000-ton cruisers for which contracts have been awarded under the program of fifteen authorized by Congress in 1928. The names follow:

Light cruiser No. 33, building at Quincy, Mass., by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, to be called the Portland, for Portland, Me.

A fifth cruiser now under construction at Camden, N. J., by the New York Shipbuilding Company, previously had received the name Indianapolis.

The five represent the first increment of the program of fifteen, but only the keels of the two to be constructed in private yards have been laid down. The preliminary work on the three in public yards is now proceeding, and their keels probably will be laid down in September.

In making the selections of names, Secretary Adams explained that a great number of requests had been received from cities to be so signalized, but the department had borne in mind geographical considerations in making the designations. The department, he added, had to spread its favors around in this respect as much as possible.

The New Orleans is the third ship of that name in the navy, the name Portland has appeared twice previously in naval records and Astoria and Minneapolis each but once before.

SAYS STATE DRY LAWS DO NOT CROWD PRISONS

Bachmann Tells the House That Only 3½% of Penal Inmates Are Prohibition Violators.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Prisoners confined in State institutions as dry law violators represent only 3½ per cent of the total number of inmates, while those in Federal prisons as dry law violators are 25 per cent of the Federal prison population. Representative Bachmann of West Virginia, unofficial statistician for the Judiciary Committee, declared in a House speech today.

"It is frequently claimed and very generally believed by many that the State prisons are overcrowded through enforcement of the prohibition law," he said. "This is not the fact. Only 4,037, or about 3½ per cent, of the 116,670 prisoners confined in State penal institutions on Jan. 1, 1930, were confined for violation of State prohibition laws.

"There were more prisoners confined in the State prison in Texas for violation of the prohibition law than in any other State. There were 592 prisoners confined for a violation of the State prohibition law in the prisons in the State of Alabama. 403 in Washington, 310 in Tennessee and 240 in West Virginia.

"There were no prisoners confined for violation of State prohibition laws on Jan. 1, 1930, in the seven States of New York, Nevada, Montana, Arizona, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania and North Carolina."

The State prison population had mounted from 94,803 in 1927 to 116,670 in 1930. The State of Ohio, with 8,806 prisoners in its four institutions on Jan. 1, 1930, led every other State. Illinois was next with 8,026 and New York third with 8,019.

Pointing to the "alarming extent" of the increase in Federal prison population, Representative Bachmann said the five Federal institutions are trying to take care of 11,906 prisoners, although the institutions have a normal capacity of 6,978. About 13,500 Federal prisoners are confined in county jails throughout the country.

"About two-thirds of all prisoners received at the five Federal prisons during the fiscal year 1929 were for violation of three Federal statutes—25 per cent for violation of the national prohibition act, 25 per cent for violation of the drug act, and 16 per cent for violation of the motor vehicle act," Mr. Bachmann declared.

C. G. ROEBLING ESTATE RISES

Advances $4,000,000 to $15,051,238 in 9 Years, Accounting Shows.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., June 6.—Assets of $15,051,238.10 in the estate of the late Charles C. Roebling of Trenton were disclosed today when Judge Godfrey W. Schroth in Mercer Orphans' Court approved a final accounting.

Life tenants in the estate are two daughters, Mrs. Emily Roebling Cadwalder of Fort Washington, Pa., and Mrs. Helen Roebling Tyson of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia.

The accounting, covering the period from Aug. 1, 1921, to Jan. 31, 1930, discloses an increase in the assets of about $4,000,000. In that period inheritance taxes have been paid totaling $607,985.56, including a Federal inheritance tax of more than $600,000 as well as sums paid in Utah, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Kansas and Michigan.

CRUSADERS TO BACK ALL WETS IN FALL

REPORT 50,000 MEMBERS

Party Lines Will Be Disregarded—C. H. Sabin Jr. Sees Chance to Score in Next Elections.

In the coming political campaigns The Crusaders, an organization of young men seeking repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, will disregard party affiliations and will vote only for individuals who are making a serious attempt to undo the evils of prohibition, John S. Williams, a national commander of the organization, declared last night at an executive meeting at the Eastern District Headquarters, 100 East Forty-second Street.

"After only four months of existence we find our organization over 50,000 strong, and when November rolls around our numbers should be swelled to at least three times that size," Mr. Williams said. "The day has come, therefore, for us to make an active showing of our strength. By November we will be in an excellent position to back up our recommendations and candidates by votes.

"In the coming campaigns it is our intention to disregard party affiliations entirely and to vote only for that party or those individuals who are making a serious attempt to undo the evils that have come in the wake of the corruption and crime breeding Eighteenth Amendment. And by that we mean repeal."

Charles H. Sabin Jr., national executive commander of The Crusaders also spoke.

"This fight against prohibition," he said, "is primarily a young men's fight. We had nothing to do with its adoption, but we are asked to live under the evil and false conditions it has bred. Since the Eighteenth Amendment was foisted on the people a new generation has started taking over the affairs of the old. It is our belief that this generation does not want prohibition. That is the reason for our organization. And I think that by election time we will be able to make the weight of our numbers felt."

Other resolutions adopted by the executive body called for a check-up by the local branches of the wet and dry sympathies of the various candidates for Congress, as well as the stand taken by the incumbents. This information will be given to the members of the organization.

It was decided that steps should be taken by the local branches to organize groups of Crusaders in rural communities. Most of the organization work thus far has been confined to the cities.

Among those present at the meeting were:

George E. Dickie
John Hay Whitney
William D. Carr
Malcolm Greenough
Leo Daley
Joseph S. Clark Jr.

DEPUTIES STUDY FAR EAST.

Soviet Agitators Are Blamed for Anamite Disturbances.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—While news was being received here of renewed outbreaks in Cochin China, where Anamite guards near Saigon clashed with manifestants, killing two and injuring seventeen, the French Chamber began today a discussion of a long list of interpellations on the government's policy in its Far East possessions. Three speakers were heard when adjournment was taken to next Friday.

While Marius Moutet, Socialist, attributed Indo-Chinese troubles to repression and misunderstanding, Pierre Taittinger, representing the Nationalist group, charged that the trouble was fomented by Soviet agitators. Deputy Outrey, representing Indo-China, supported the Nationalist view.

SENATE AGAIN BACKS POISON IN ALCOHOL

ment, opposed the Tydings proposal.

Senator Tydings declared that "the issue is: shall the political parties of the United States go into the Fall elections with the skull and crossbones as their standard?"

Senator Sheppard declared that the present formula was "not poisonous." Senator Tydings asked why, in that event, he opposed his amendment.

"This is merely an attack on the administration of the prohibition laws under another guise," Senator Sheppard declared.

The "joker" in the Tydings amendment, the Texan said, was that the poisons were not poisonous when used in moderate amounts. The formula contained merely enough poison to nauseate the drinker, he said, thus making him not want to drink "the stuff" again.

Senator Brookhart, stanch dry, asked Senator Sheppard if he did not think "if this alcohol is poisonous and the world is made to know it is so, it will stop the use of it." Senator Sheppard replied that "the formula does not involve the use of a sufficient amount of methyl alcohol in industrial alcohol to make it dangerous and destructive to human life."

Senator Tydings asked if, should a man drink enough industrial alcohol to become intoxicated, the wood alcohol would be "injurious to human life." Senator Sheppard replied that he did "not think" it would. Senator Tydings declared that "wood alcohol is never safe," and that a "small quantity is injurious to the eyes."

Blocks the Howell Dry Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP).—Senator Tydings's move on poison in alcohol was defeated after he had blocked consideration of the Howell bill to tighten prohibition enforcement in the District of Columbia.

In objecting to the Howell bill, Senator Tydings said that it would make it a crime to take a drink anywhere in Washington. He described an Army-Navy football game in Baltimore several years ago after which, he said, 1,000 glass flasks were found in the stadium in which the President and other high officials had occupied seats.

"If the army, the navy and the government have so little regard for drinking in public," he asserted, "I don't believe that the mere passage of a law will stop it here in Washington."

The bill was returned to the Senate calendar.

Pigeons in War Game Prove Most Reliable Messengers

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP DIX, N. J., June 6.—Despite scientific advances in telegraphy, radio and aerial work, carrier pigeons are still the most dependable of all wartime messengers, in the opinion of regular army observers who reported today on the two weeks of manoeuvres of the First Division.

Feathered messengers, some descendants of veteran birds of World War fame, arriving at fifteen-minute intervals, have kept headquarters informed on every major move in the campaign which ended today with the "capture" of Philadelphia by the "Red" Army.

The unit still has as living mascots the famous and decorated Mocker, who delivered an important message in the Argonne after one eye had been shot out, and Spike, who flew through several terrific barrages.

"Our wires may be cut by bombardment, radio checked by artificial static, and planes shot down, but the birds can be depended upon to get a message through," said Lieutenant G. E. Townsend.

CITY REPUBLICANS DRAFT WET REPORT

County Committee Advisers Reject Any Compromise to Meet Up-State Sentiment.

PRESENT IT ON JUNE 19

Findings Call for Repeal of 18th Amendment and Modification of Dry Law for State Control.

The prohibition report of the legislative committee of the advisory committee of the New York County Republican Committee has been completed and copies were mailed yesterday to members by Martin Saxe, its chairman, for their formal approval.

Ten of the twelve members of the committee already have signified their assent to the principles on which the report has been drafted, repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and modification of the Volstead act to permit control of the liquor traffic by each State.

It was learned that the legislative committee rejected a suggestion by a member for a conference with up-State Republicans with a view to framing a report which would take a less extreme stand against prohibition. The committee was reported to stand ten to two against any concession in the report to the dry element in the party as a matter of political expendiency. The feeling among the majority of the members of the committee was reported to be that the party's stand on prohibition should be based on principle and that any compromise either in the advisory committee, the County committee or the State convention would weaken the party further in this city rather than strengthen it.

The report of the legislative committee consists of a preamble attacking conditions under prohibition and two resolutions, which were drafted by George W. Alger at the request of Mr. Saxe, for submission to the County Committee. These resolutions embody, in somewhat different form, the resolutions for repeal and State liquor control introduced at last month's meeting of the County Committee by Frederic R. Coudert Jr. and Abraham S. Gilbert.

The legislative committee's report will be presented to the advisory committee on June 17 and to the County Committee on June 19. Its adoption without serious opposition by both committees is expected.

WOOD ALCOHOL KILLS NINE HERE IN TWO DAYS

Medical Examiner Urges Dry Agents to Trace Supply of Poison Flooding City.

Wood alcohol poisoning has caused the death of nine men during the last two days, Dr. Charles Norris, medical examiner, announced yesterday after performing autopsies on eight who died Thursday in Bellevue and other lower Manhattan hospitals, and two who died yesterday.

After examining the two who died yesterday Dr. Norris announced that wood alcohol poisoning had caused the death of one. The first man, he said, had died of alcohol poisoning and an autopsy today, he said, would determine whether the second man had drunk wood alcohol, too.

Dr. Norris announced there had been twenty-four deaths from wood alcohol poisoning in the city since May 10.

"This is an indication," he said, "that a flood of poison liquor is sweeping the city. It seems to me that prohibition agents should centre their efforts at this time on seeking the sources of supply of this poison."

The wood alcohol victim who died yesterday in Bellevue Hospital was James Hannon, found on East Thirty-ninth Street. The other alcohol victim was William Goodman, 3,285 Broadway, taken from Eighty-fourth Street and Columbus Avenue.

Those who died of wood alcohol poisoning Thursday were:

Peter Dennison, taken from 157 Chrystie Street to Gouverneur Hospital.

CANNON EXPLAINS QUITTING HEARING

Declares He Intended No Affront to Committee, but Exercised His Right.

QUOTES SUPREME COURT

Contends He Was Voluntary Witness and That Examiners Were Without a Quorum.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Saying that he "intended no discourtesy to the Senate" in walking out of the hearing before the lobby committee yesterday morning, Bishop James J. Cannon Jr., in a statement issued late tonight questioned the legality of insertions in the record over his protest while only two members, less than a quorum, were present.

The statement was the second episode occurring today and revolving around his dispute with the committee, despite the fact that no further hearings will be held until Wednesday. The other was the insertion in the Congressional Record by Senator Norris of a letter purporting to come from a Texas woman, attacking Bishop Cannon's stock transactions.

Bishop Cannon professed "amazement" at the action of Senator Walsh, acting chairman, in continuing questions which put into the record matter about Bishop Cannon's political activities which the churchman had held were without the purview of the committee and after he, a voluntary witness, had protested at this procedure.

Senator Walsh and Senator Blaine, the latter the only other committee member present during the examination, have both held that the question of whether the Bishop appeared voluntarily or under subpoena was immaterial, since he was present and testified under oath.

Bishop Cannon also referred to the $48,300 he spent in Virginia in the anti-Smith campaign and reiterated that he had no intention of making public the names of men who received money from him for that purpose.

The Bishop's Statement.

His statement follows:

"I intended no discourtesy to the Senate or to the Senate committee by retiring as a voluntary witness from the committee room on Thursday morning.

"The facts are: On April 12, voluntarily, without any suggestion from the committee, I wrote to the chairman that, 'in view of certain statements which have appeared in the press concerning the work of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, as officers of that board, we are writing you to state that, if your committee desires any information concerning the work of our board, we shall be glad to appear before the committee and furnish such information.'

"This note volunteered to give information concerning 'the work of our board,' and not concerning my personal or political activities, and that information was freely given to the committee. When the effort was made to investigate my activities as a leader of the anti-Smith Democrats, I filed with the committee a statement questioning the jurisdiction of the committee on that point, setting forth my objections to answering such questions, and Senator Walsh stated that the committee would take my statement under advisement.

"I supposed that it would be considered by a quorum of the committee and official decision be reached. In the meanwhile, the press reported Chairman Caraway as stating that the committee was not authorized to inquire into my political activity. But when the committee met again on Wednesday morning, Senator Walsh announced that 'there is not a quorum of the committee present this morning and it would be impossible for us to make any order in the premises.'

Reasons for Withdrawal.

" 'If you persist in refusing to answer the questions which the committee desires to propound to you along that line, we will be obliged to discontinue that course of inquiry.'

"Nevertheless, after admitting that a quorum of the committee had not passed upon my objections, Senator Walsh warned me that my refusal might become a penal offense. I should probably have insisted then upon the inability of the committee to ask further questions legally without a quorum, but I decided to remain.

"I was amazed, however, that, despite Senator Walsh's distinct statement that it would be necessary to discontinue that course of inquiry, question after question was asked me concerning my personal and political activities in order to get some matters in the record, regardless of the failure of the committee to rule upon my objections and the declaration of Senator Walsh quoted above.

"This course of the committee I considered to be not only unfair but illegal, and I decided that I would not continue any longer as a voluntary witness until the committee secured a quorum, summoned me as a witness and ruled formally upon my objections to investigating my political activities in the anti-Smith campaign.

"As I had never been summoned and as a quorum of the committee had not been present at either session, I was honestly of the opinion that I could withdraw upon my own motion. I did, however, appear before the committee—again without a quorum—made a statement setting forth my position, and then withdrawing as a voluntary witness and stating that I would be at the disposal of the committee when officially summoned.

Refers to Supreme Court Ruling.

"If two members of the committee could not pass upon my objections to testifying concerning my political activities and could not issue a subpoena, I do not see how two members could legally object to my withdrawal, and certainly I do not understand how I could be declared by two members of a committee to be in contempt of the Senate by my withdrawal, as I have understood that the Supreme Court had decided that no action of a committee is legal unless a quorum is present.

"I can but wonder, also, whether matter inserted in the record over my protest, with only two members of the committee present, is legally a part of the record.

"One additional word concerning the $48,300 spent in the Virginia State anti-Smith campaign. The people of Virginia and of the country at large know that $48,300 was a comparatively small sum to use to organize successfully a State like Virginia in such a campaign, but a small, vindictive group of Virginia politicians, for political reasons for use in future campaigns, are determined if possible to get the names of the Virginia anti-Smith workers and the amounts paid them for their work in that campaign, which information it is not my purpose to give them."

Letter Attacks Bishop.

The letter read into the record by Senator Norris made comparisons between Bishop Cannon and one "Joe Gamble" of Texas, who, according to the letter, had been sent to prison for stock speculation with funds of the bank of which he was cashier, and compared the Bishop's stock speculations with those of the reputed cashier.

Senator Norris did not indicate whether or not the letter was fictitious, but said that it was "all right" and that he intended to answer it.

Senator Norris, as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, appointed its subcommittee known as the lobby committee.

The letter also referred to Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, and his stock speculations.

Letter Dated June 2.

The letter showed unusual application by the writer to government affairs. The letter, for instance, noted that Bishop Cannon had defied the United States Senate despite the fact that it was dated June 2, and Bishop Cannon breathed his first "defiance" on June 3, the date of his first appearance before the lobby committee. The letter was typed neatly on plain, white paper and bore a penned signature.

Discussing it after it had been read, Senator Norris said that he would answer it in due time, possibly after he had seen President Hoover, as the letter intimated he does frequently, but that the reply would have to be made public at Cross Roads by "Mrs. Gamble."

Incidentally, the postal guide does not list Cross Roads, Texas, although the Postoffice Department announced this afternoon that there are four places in Texas known as Cross Roads, which have no stations.

Await Caraway's Arrival.

A dispatch from Jonesboro, Ark., the home of Senator Caraway, chairman of the committee, quoted him as repeating today his view that Bishop Cannon need not reply to questions he did not desire to answer, as he appeared as a voluntary witness.

The opposite view is held by Senators Walsh and Blaine, who are awaiting Senator Caraway's arrival here to take up the question of issuing a subpoena for the Bishop's appearance at the hearing next Wednesday. Senator Robinson of Indiana remains non-committal, but if a committee vote is forced it is believed certain that he will align himself with Bishop Cannon.

The remaining member of the committee, Senator Borah of Idaho, likewise will not state his position until called upon to do so formally. His vote probably holds the balance as to whether Bishop Cannon shall be forced to testify further or perhaps be subjected to disciplinary action.

Caraway Repeats His View.

JONESBORO, Ark., June 6 (AP).—Visiting his home here today for a few hours before leaving for Dexter, Mo., and then for Washington, Senator T. H. Caraway, chairman of the Senate Lobby Committee, said he had no intention at present of ordering a subpoena issued for Bishop James Cannon Jr., who yesterday walked out of the Lobby Committee hearing.

"I see no occasion to insist on the Bishop testifying," Mr. Caraway said. "The investigation is aimed at lobbying and not political matters. I do not know all the facts that have developed since I left Washington but as he came at his own request, if he did not care to answer questions he should be excused, is the view I have taken."

Senator Caraway yesterday canceled an engagement to speak before the Arkansas Bar Association convention at Fort Smith, and it was reported that he had started for Washington as a result of the controversy between the Lobby Committee and Bishop Cannon. He explained that he canceled the Fort Smith engagement so as to make a brief visit at his home.

He is scheduled to speak tomorrow at a Democratic rally at Dexter, after which he will go to Washington.

TWO LIBERALS QUIT PITTSBURGH FACULTY

Academic Freedom Issue Is Raised Again as Teachers of Economics Resign.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—The issue of liberalism at the University of Pittsburgh, which has repeatedly flared up in the past three years, came up again today when Professor Colston E. Warne and Instructor Wellison Chalmers of the economics department, champions of academic freedom, resigned from the faculty.

It was also learned that Professor Howard Kidd of the economics department and a national expert on railways, a few weeks ago received a "leave of absence." He also was known as a liberal and was one of the supporters of Mr. Chalmers when the latter was reinstated after being dropped from the faculty in April.

Regarding the Warne and Chalmers resignations, J. Steele Gow, acting head of the university, said:

"Well they're gone. There is nothing for me to say about it, although I wish them all the success and happiness possible."

Mr. Chalmers announced that he would leave tonight for the University of Wisconsin, where he will teach economics in the Summer school. Professor Warne will leave in July for Amherst to teach economics next term.

CITY BREVITIES.

Mayor Walker is expected to open the neighborhood fair on the recreation pier at Fiftieth Street and the North River at 9 o'clock tonight. The fair is conducted by the West Side Neighborhood, Inc.

Hamilton Fish Armstrong has been elected a trustee of the American Home for Children at Selce, Yugoslavia, in place of Charles MacVeagh, former United States Ambassador to Japan.

About 5,200 members of the New York City Christian Endeavor Union will take part in their annual excursion today, leaving by boat about noon for Indian Point, West Point and Poughkeepsie.

The annual "Lighthouse Night" of the New York Association for the Blind was held last night in the Lighthouse auditorium, 111 East Fifty-ninth Street.

TO DROP RUM CASES AGAINST CANADIANS

Justice Department Considers Action to Repay Canada for Liquor Export Ban.

RUNNERS TO SHIFT BASE

Treasury Expects Canadian Whisky Dealers Will Ship to St. Pierre to Dodge Law.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Following disclosures that the United States is not disposed to prosecute Canadian citizens in rum cases, it was learned today that the government is seriously considering nolle prossing a number of indictments against Dominion distillers which were returned by a Federal grand jury in Buffalo more than a year ago.

Among the Canadian firms, officials of which were accused of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws and smuggling regulations, were the Gooderheim & Woorst Company and the Hiram Walker organization. Some of the best known distillers of Canada were caught in the government's net when a conspiracy of wide scope was unearthed by the customs and prohibition services. Many Americans also were indicted.

"Since the Canadian Government has seen fit to enact a law which illegalizes the exportation of alcoholic beverages to the United States through the refusing of clearance to ships," a high official of the Prohibition Bureau said, "the United States is not disposed to prosecute Canadian citizens in rum cases. This would be a friendly gesture, following the friendly and cooperative action of the Canadian authorities.

"The question of dismissing the Buffalo indictments is in the hands of the Department of Justice and a final decision has not been reached, but it is virtually certain that the charges will be dropped."

The intimation was given that there had been considerable negotiating between the two governments the upshot of which was the Canadian anti-clearance law and the plan to drop the charges against the Dominion citizens.

It was indicated at the Treasury that officials expect the smugglers to transfer their threat of operation from the lakes and border territory to the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, which lie off the coast of Newfoundland.

In the Canadian law it is provided that ship masters, in order to clear with liquor, must post large bonds which are not returnable until papers are presented showing that the cargo was properly landed in the country of destination.

It appears logical, it was pointed out, that the smugglers would clear their liquor for St. Pierre and Miquelon and make those islands bases for operations along the North Atlantic Coast of the United States.

Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the Coast Guard, was not greatly worried about the situation. He said that the Coast Guard was prepared to meet the emergency if it developed and that there was a sufficient number of anti-rum ships to protect the coast line. He had no fear of the re-establishment of rum row, which he said had been effectively eliminated.

JAVA VOLCANO SPOUTS ASH 800 FEET IN AIR

Krakatoa, Increasingly Active, Was Scene in 1883 of Greatest Eruption in Modern Times.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BATAVIA, June 6.—The activity of the volcano on Krakatoa Island is increasing. In the last twenty-four hours there have been 16,000 eruptions, the highest of which spouted ash to a height of 800 feet.

"Baby Krakatoa," an island which was formed during an eruption in January, 1928, only to disappear later, has once more been thrust above sea level.

Krakatoa Island, lying between Sumatra and Java, was the scene in 1883 of the most terrific volcanic eruption in modern times. Two-thirds of the island was blown away, and a gigantic wave formed which caused the loss of 20,000 lives. The sound of the explosion was heard in Australia, 2,000 miles away, and dust from the eruption caused atmospheric peculiarities half way around the globe.

Early in January, 1928, the island was reported under water and was throwing up lava ashes, with the columns of steam and water rising 650 feet from the sea. When the disturbance settled a somewhat smaller volcanic crater had been pushed up beside the original volcano, but it sank again in a few days.

COMMITTEE TO FIX SHIP BOARD POLICY

case Black Diamond and Cosmopolitan Lines. I understand it has also before it proposals which would lead to the lending of some $60,000,000 of Federal funds to the United States Lines for new ship construction.

I received many representations pro and con upon the merits of rivals' bids and protests at the character of ships which it is proposed to construct under government loans. The disposal of these questions will have a profound effect upon the future of our merchant marine and upon the policies involved therein. Obviously, I cannot personally pass judgment upon high controversial questions.

While Congress has provided no authority to the President over the policies of the Shipping Board, yet these matters are of great importance to the future of the merchant marine, in which I am deeply interested. I propose, therefore, to appoint a committee of outstanding men who would review these questions and advise upon them, and on the broader policies in merchant marine organization. If the board finds itself in agreement with this proposal, it would be necessary to withhold action in the disposal of these questions.

I do not believe that more than sixty days would be involved in such an inquiry, and I hope the board would feel that it would be valuable to all parties and to the board itself to have such an independent report.

Yours faithfully,
HERBERT HOOVER.

CITY ROARS ITS WELCOME

ECKENER SEES PROGRESS

Commander Says Questions of Utmost Importance to Air Traffic Were Cleared Up on Trip.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, June 6.—The Graf Zeppelin sailed in from the west early this evening and slid gently down wind to land at 7:20 P. M. (2:20 P. M., New York Daylight Saving Time). With 18,000 miles laid behind her since she left here on the afternoon of May 18, her silver hull against the bright gold of the setting sun, she droned over a hilltop and settled neatly to earth amid shouts and cheers of thousands of holidaymakers in the Lake Constance district and the apparently wildly confused but in reality perfectly ordered runnings-about of the ground crew.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, the airship's commander, had announced via radio early in the afternoon that he would arrive about 7 o'clock, and did it with precision not always achieved by the skippers of surface ships.

Amid ringing church bells and blowing whistles and sirens which warned the townsfolk and visitors who flocked here to greet the Fatherland's pride that the Zeppelin had been sighted, the crowd flocked to the flying field just in time to witness the landing. As the buffer under the cabin touched the ground and the ground crew seized the railing around the base of the cabin, friends and relatives of passengers and crew pressed close to greet the travelers, who stood smiling and waving at every window.

The ship was taken into the hangar before the passengers disembarked, and there the Mayor of Friedrichshafen and the chairman of the Zeppelin Corporation, Count von Brandenstein, officially welcomed Dr. Eckener and the crew.

Dr. Eckener, who begged off from making a formal statement, asserting he was eager to get home to rest, said "a number of questions of the utmost importance to airship traffic were cleared up satisfactorily on this trip to South America. I am contented with the results."

Crowd Roars Approval.

The Graf Zeppelin left Seville yesterday afternoon at 5:30 P. M. Greenwich Mean Time (1:30 P. M. in New York) after a twenty-minute halt for several passengers to disembark. She passed the Straits of Gibraltar well before midnight, at which hour she was over Cabo de Gata, on the southeast coast of Spain, flying against north and northeast winds, with lighthouses along the coast visible one after another and the moon shining intermittently, bringing the irregular coast line into view. She was east of Cartagena at 1 A. M., Greenwich Time; east of Alicante at 3 A. M.; over Majorca, in the Balearic Isles, at 6 A. M., and over Marseilles at 10:15. At Marseilles contrary winds which had died down somewhat during the night, again slowed up progress up the Rhone Valley.

At 12:30 P. M. the airship was over Valence. Lyon radioed that a heavy thunder shower prevailed there, which the Zeppelin replied that it had struck. The airship, then over Monte Limar, swung around, headed southward, skirted the storm area and passed Louis le Saunier in the Jura Range just after 2 o'clock.

The Zeppelin was sighted over Zurich at 5 P. M. and landed a little over an hour later after an absence of nineteen days, which is good time for a ship run from Europe to South America.

After disembarking, the passengers went immediately to the Zeppelin hotel and the crew to their homes. Within an hour after the Zeppelin entered the hangar, complete quiet reigned.

CAPT. YANCEY'S RADIO MAKES NEW RECORDS

Wife in The Times Office Here Exchanges Messages With Plane Over Panama Canal.

By Captain LEWIS A. YANCEY.
All Rights Reserved.

ABOARD THE AIRPLANE PILOT-RADIO, OVER CRISTOBAL, C. Z., COMMUNICATING DIRECT TO NEW YORK TIMES OFFICE, June 6.—Yesterday afternoon we intended to do a little flying over the canal and at the same time communicate direct with THE NEW YORK TIMES by radio, but it rained so hard all afternoon that visibility was reduced to only a few hundred feet, making flying very uncomfortable, if not actually dangerous.

It is the rainy season down here, and I suppose we must expect plenty of rain rather than miss our schedule with THE TIMES.

Zeh Bouck rigged up an emergency aerial five feet high, and with the plane standing on the ground within fifty feet of the big steel Pan-American Airways hangar, succeeded in establishing two-way communication. I believe this is without doubt a record for airplane transmission from the ground, and it shows very clearly what we could have done had we been forced down in some of the jungle country over which we have flown during the last few weeks.

This afternoon we took off about 4 o'clock to keep another working schedule with THE NEW YORK TIMES and we are now over the Atlantic side of the Canal enjoying the scenery, at least Emil Burgin and I are enjoying it, while Bouck pounds his key and talks to New York City, nearly 2,500 miles away.

While the airplane Pilot-Radio was soaring 4,000 feet above the Panama Canal yesterday Mrs. Yancey exchanged pleasantries by means of the radio with her husband. Mrs. Yancey, sitting in the radio room of THE NEW YORK TIMES, dictated short messages to THE TIMES radio operator, who transmitted them immediately to Zeh Bouck, radio operator of the plane, who in turn transmitted Captain Yancey's replies. This was the longest direct radio conversation ever held between an aviator in flight and his wife.

Captain Yancey left Roosevelt Field, L. I., May 14 with Emil Burgin, co-pilot, and Radio Operator Bouck to fly to South America. They have made stops at Washington, Miami, Cuba and Yucatan.

LINDBERGH AND WIFE TEST NEW MONOPLANE

Fly for an Hour, Starting From Teterboro and Visiting Newark Airport.

Special to The New York Times.

TETERBORO, N. J., June 6.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh visited the airport here this morning and flew a new sport monoplane in a test of more than an hour. They visited the Newark Airport, where their record-breaking Lockheed-Sirius monoplane is berthed, and gave orders for its care and repair.

The couple arrived in Colonel Lindbergh's automobile shortly before 11 o'clock. The plane in which they took off is one of the first produced by Major Thomas G. Lanphier and a group of engineers of Stamford, Conn. Among the backers of the manufacturers are said to be a group of Colonel Lindbergh's personal friends who have tried to carry out his ideas of what a light two-passenger sport plane should be. The two passengers sat side by side in the little high wing monoplane, which is said to have a speed of 135 miles an hour. It is called the E. A. C.-1, having been built by the Engineers' Aircraft Corporation.

When the plane landed at Newark, Mrs. Lindbergh remained in the cockpit, while her husband went into the hangar to inspect his own plane. After a few instructions to the mechanics he climbed back into the smaller plane and left.

In all the Lindberghs spent about an hour in the air. They did not divulge their route and the Colonel refused to comment on the plane he was testing except to say that he was doing it for his own satisfaction.

They then left the airport in their car, ostensibly for Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow's home in Englewood.

FIVE STORES ON BEACH BURN IN ATLANTIC CITY

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 6.—Fire believed to have been set by an incendiary in the Chelsea Baths at Morris Avenue and the Boardwalk early this morning destroyed five stores. The flames menaced the Hotel Chelsea and guests made ready to leave, while bell boys formed a bucket brigade and quenched sparks that alighted on the hotel roof. The fire was discovered by Jack Emerick, a taxicab driver, whose cab was parked in front of the Ambassador. He smelled smoke, traced it to the bathhouse a block away and immediately turned in an alarm. A second alarm was sounded as soon as apparatus arrived.

The fire, fed by dry timber and highly inflammable contents of some of the stores, swept from the baths to the Lincoln Photograph Studio, the Douglass Candy Company, the Novelty Shop, a vacant store and a stand operated by the Schill Roller Chair Company, gaining such intensity that the firemen concentrated on keeping the flames from reaching other property. This was accomplished, and the one-story building housing the stores was the only one destroyed.

area than those to be ceded by the city to the institute.

Under Mr. Rockefeller's offer the city is also to grade, pave and improve the extension of Exterior Street from Sixty-fourth Street south to connect with Sixty-third Street, as well as improve and widen Sixty-third Street between York Avenue and Exterior Street, embracing lands to be ceded by the Rockefeller Institute.

Part of Offer Made to Hylan.

The offer announced yesterday by Mayor Walker constitutes, in part, a repetition of a similar offer made by Mr. Rockefeller to the Hylan Administration, which the city then did not see fit to accept because of what Mr. Hylan called "the strings attached to it."

In his previous offer, however, Mr. Rockefeller proposed to give the park tract to the city without any improvements.

Mayor Walker declared yesterday the plan represented the fruition of a long dream on the part of the people of New York and thanked Mr. Rockefeller for "his very gracious offer."

Mayor Walker declared that the proposal would be considered by the Board of Estimate at its next meeting, June 13.

Mr. Rockefeller's Letter.

Mr. Rockefeller's letter to the Mayor follows:

26 Broadway, New York,
June 5, 1930.

My dear Mr. Mayor:

It gives me pleasure to offer as a gift to the city of New York for use as a public park a tract of land on Washington Heights, including the former Billings estate, together with the high plateau to the north of it overlooking Dyckman Street and the valley between, reserving, however, from the plateau area a four-acre site for the Metropolitan Museum of Art, as mentioned below. The land so offered consists of about fifty-six acres, exclusive of the museum site. It seems appropriate that the park should be named Fort Tryon Park, perpetuating the Fort Tryon of Revolutionary days, which was located within its borders.

The proposed park is outlined in red on the map (Exhibit A), which is submitted herewith, and its exterior boundaries are, roughly, Riverside Drive on the west and north, Broadway, Bennett Avenue and the proposed extension thereof on the east, and a broken line on the south, following in part the centre of 192d Street (if prolonged) and the northerly line of Overlook Terrace and Northern Avenue.

Museum a "Culminating Point."

Within these limits I have set aside the parcel of about four acres indicated on the map, which, subject to the city's acceptance of the proposed park, I am offering simultaneously herewith to the Metropolitan Museum of Art for a new museum building. This building I shall be happy to give, both to provide a culminating point of interest in the architectural design of the park and also a more adequate place to which the museum's Gothic collections now housed in the Cloisters may be removed and displayed to better advantage and with greater opportunity for expansion.

I shall be pleased to carry out the development of the landscape features of this proposed park at my own expense in general accordance with the plans and model already shown to you, which have been prepared by Olmsted Brothers, landscape architects, as a result of several years of study of the problem.

I am glad also to offer to carry out at my own expense the reconstruction and development of the existing park, sometimes described as Claremont Park, on the east side of Riverside Drive opposite Grant's Tomb, bounded on the west by Riverside Drive, on the south by 122d Street and on the east by Claremont Avenue, in accordance with plans which have been submitted by Olmsted Brothers and have received the approval of the Commissioner of Parks.

Tells Institute Offer.

At the same time there is herewith submitted for the city's favorable action, to be considered as a part of the above proposal, the offer of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, of whose board of trustees I am president, to cede to the city portions of its property along the East River between Sixty-third and Sixty-fourth Streets, as well as along the northerly line of Sixty-third Street, east of York Avenue, so as to permit the extension of Exterior Street south to Sixty-third Street, and the widening of Sixty-third Street, thereby affording a better access from York Avenue to Exterior Street. In connection with this offer the Rockefeller Institute is requesting the city to permit the closing of East Sixty-fourth and East Sixty-eighth Streets between York Avenue and Exterior Street.

In order to accomplish the purposes of the above gifts, preliminary action by the city will be requisite, both to effect the necessary changes in the city map and to provide for the proper execution of the several projects. Such preliminary steps have been outlined in the appendix accompanying this letter, to which reference is made for a fuller statement of these conditions.

In closing, permit me to thank you for the cordial interest you have shown in the development of the plans herewith submitted.

Very truly,
JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER Jr.

Honorable James J. Walker,
City Hall, New York City.

Cites Technical Conditions.

The technical conditions prescribed by Mr. Rockefeller in his Washington Heights park offer, as laid down in an appendix to his letter to Mayor Walker, call for changes in the city map, together with the laying out of all the drives to be opened within the park boundaries, elimination of all streets within the boundaries of the proposed park and museum plot, transfer to the Department of Parks of jurisdiction over lands within the bed of such streets and conveyance to the Metropolitan Museum of Art of title to lands within the bed of such streets within the boundary of the museum plot.

The land offered by Mr. Rockefeller must be used for park purposes only and is to revert to the donor or his heirs if used for any other purpose. The municipal authorities must approve the plans submitted by Olmsted Brothers and the city must agree to instal and maintain within the park area the following facilities: paving and finishing of the park drives and walks, sanitary sewers, storm-drainage system, water pipes, mains and hydrants, electric conduits, fire-alarm and telephone conduits and any other services necessary to the use, operation and protection of the area.

There is also to be a change in the city map of the northern end of Fort Washington Avenue approaching the entrance of the proposed park on Washington Heights. The land needed for this purpose is to be ceded to the city by the Empire Mortgage Company, in whose name it is now held by Mr. Rockefeller, and, in return, the city is to convey to that company, as the donor's nominee, that part of the street bed of Fort Washington Avenue which is abandoned as a result of this realignment.

The city is to sell to the abutting owners the lands lying within the bed of the part of Overlook Terrace north of 190th Street, which recently has been closed on the city map.

Bennett Avenue to Be Extended.

Another condition requires the laying out on the city map, grading, paving and improving at the city's expense of an extension of Bennett Avenue, required by the city as a park boundary street, beginning at a point on the northerly line of Bennett Avenue as at present laid out, approximately 100 feet west of Broadway, and continuing northerly parallel with Broadway to a junction with Broadway opposite West 196th Street. This extension is to be made with land to be ceded to the city which Mr. Rockefeller now holds in the name of the Empire Mortgage Company.

The city authorities are also to execute and deliver to the Metropolitan Museum of Art a guarantee of adequate access through the proposed park on Washington Heights to the proposed museum site so long as it shall be used for museum purposes.

Nathan Straus Jr., president of the Park Association, commended Mr. Rockefeller in a statement last night for his offer and hoped the city would accept it.

"The renewal of the offer of Mr. Rockefeller to the city of New York of the Billings tract for use as a public park is a generous one. We hope the Mayor will accept this offer and thus enable the people of the city to enjoy Mr. Rockefeller's gift."

The trustees of the Metropolitan Museum of Art yesterday adopted a resolution accepting Mr. Rockefeller's offer to build the new museum building and thanking him for the offer.

"In accepting this offer," the resolution declared, "the trustees wish to place on record their appreciation of its great generosity, of its thoughtful consideration of all details and of its lasting importance not only to the museum but to the city of New York; and to congratulate Mr. Rockefeller and the museum on the realization of a vision which he has long entertained, so important to an institution in which he has constantly shown a thoughtful interest, and to the city which is glad to claim him as one of its most public-spirited citizens."

The Cloisters, which is to be abandoned for the new museum building, was purchased by the Metropolitan from George Gray Barnard, the sculptor, in 1925, with a gift of $600,000 from Mr. Rockefeller. It houses priceless works of Gothic art collected by Mr. Barnard in France more than twenty years ago. The purchase from Mr. Barnard included both the art works and building. These works will, with the completion of the new museum building, have a more appropriate home, which will become a great museum of Gothic art, to which, it is hoped, many new objects will be added.

ROCKEFELLER FUND AIDS BIOLOGY STUDY

Gives $887,500 for Johns Hopkins University's Research and $100,000 for Humanities.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, June 6.—Donations from the Rockefeller Foundation totaling $887,500 to Johns Hopkins University for the increased support of the biological sciences, and $100,000 for "a fluid research in the humanities," were announced today by Dr. Joseph S. Ames, president of the university.

For the biological sciences $387,500 will be given over a period of ten years and $500,000 at the end of this period. The money for research in the humanities is to be given over a period of five years.

The work in biology to be supported is being done by the following:

Dr. Raymond Pearl, who has been director of the Institute of Biology, which has been financed over a five-year period ending this year. He will become Professor of Biology in the School of Hygiene and Public Health at the beginning of the next scholastic year.

Dr. Herbert Spencer Jennings, Henry Walters Professor of Zoology and director of the Zoological Laboratory.

Dr. Burton Edward Livingston, Professor of Plant Physiology and director of the laboratory of that research.

CAROL IN RUMANIA; RETURNS BY PLANE

tiations have been carried on between Queen Marie, Rumanian Government officials and Prince Carol for some time and have now resulted in his definite break with Mme. Lupescu, who remains in Switzerland.

It is stated that the former heir to the throne, who renounced his rights, has been summoned to meet his mother within a few days at Berchtesgaden, Bavaria, near the Hohenzollern residence at Sigmaringen, where she is going soon for a visit. There final details of the Prince's status will be concluded.

It was said here that Prince Carol then intended to go directly to Bistritza, Transylvania, to await passage by the Rumanian Parliament of revocation of the laws which forbid his entry into that country.

The newspaper adds that Prince Nicolas intended quitting the country before his brother's arrival, making an extended European tour after resigning from the regency.

Peasants Sought Return.

The return of Prince Carol to Rumania, while not unexpected in view of recent developments, marks a striking metamorphosis in Rumanian politics and in his personal fortunes. Only a few months ago his return to Bucharest was considered quite an impossibility, but in recent weeks, due to the political shifts in Rumania, the "Bad Boy of the Balkans" began to loom on the political horizon as the hope of the followers of the National Peasant Party Government.

His chief opponents in Rumania have been in the Liberal party, headed by former Premier Vintila Bratianu, which is really a conservative group.

According to some reports, Carol is being groomed by his friends for membership on the Regency, although in some Rumanian circles it has been declared that he might be proclaimed dictator, with the possibility of his regaining his old dynastic rights and ascending the throne.

Carol's supporters, who have been clamoring for a strong hand to supersede the Regency, appear to see in him a possible point of concentration for a reorganization of the government.

Change of Heart Seen.

Although Premier Maniu has been among those opposed to his return, the fact of the return appears to indicate that he has been moved to accept the pleas of the Averescu party. It is not clear, however, what stipulations, if any, Premier Maniu might have made. Only last year Premier Maniu caused the arrest of a number of persons friendly to Carol accused of conspiring for the establishment of a military regime.

In March of last year, after a visit to Paris by his mother, Carol was quoted as saying that he realized the futility of seeking to regain his throne and promised to desist from adventurist efforts in that direction. In December, 1929, he did, however, apply for permission to return and met with a rebuff from the government. In February of this year Premier Maniu refused again to sanction his return to Bucharest.

Beginning in April, however, things began to look brighter for the former Crown Prince. An active campaign was again launched in his behalf in Rumania, which gained momentum after a meeting between Carol and General Averescu at a Swiss resort. A prominent part in the campaign has been taken by Gregori Filipescu, while Carol's brother, Prince Nicolas openly sided with his cause. Carol's victory became apparent on May 19, when the National Peasants party, the strongest factor in the present government, staged warm manifestations at a number of local meetings in his favor and adopted resolutions resenting the anti-Carolist attitude of the Liberals.

From present indications it appears that the Averescu group and Premier Maniu's party may have come to a compromise understanding which might ultimately, if not immediately, result in Carol becoming the ruler of Rumania.

WESTCHESTER OPENS PROGRESS EXHIBIT

1,000 ATTEND ON FIRST DAY

Displays Showing Extent of County's Activities Housed in Centre and Big Tents Outside.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 6.—The Westchester County Progress Exposition opened this afternoon at the County Centre, on the Bronx River Parkway, west of this city, and reminded old residents of White Plains of an industrialized version of the old county fairs which were held up until nearly twenty years ago on the old fair grounds, about a half mile west of the centre.

Without the mooing of cattle or the clucking of hens, signs of the old-time county fair, but with amplified music filling the vast auditorium, and motors purring as they turned the wheels that do housewives' work, the Westchester County fair was in the mode of 1930.

The floor space of the centre auditorium was not large enough to house the exhibits sent by practically every large retailing and manufacturing concern in the county, so the expostiion authorities added an authentic touch of yesteryear by erecting a series of big tents in the 1,000-foot plaza in front of the centre.

Cloudy skies and the threat of bad weather kept many of the county's thousands away, but it was estimated that more than 1,000 persons visited the exposition on the opening day. It will be continued daily until June 14.

The White Plains High School Band, under the direction of J. D. Diehl, opened the entertainment this afternoon on the day of the exposition given over to White Plains. Tomorrow will be Yonkers day, Sunday county day, Monday Hudson River day, Tuesday Mount Vernon day, Wednesday shore day, Thursday New Rochelle day, Friday Bronx River day and Saturday North Westchester day.

O. H. Cheney, president of the Westchester County Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the exposition, formally declared the exposition opened in an announcement from the platform this evening.

He introduced Mayor Frederick C. Laughlin of White Plains, who welcomed the exhibitors and visitors. Mrs. Eugene Meyer, chairman of the Westchester County Recreation Commission, under whose direction the county centre is operated, also welcomed the visitors.

Under the direction of Mrs. Albert D. Frost, Westchester County chairman of the Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, a contest for the best arrangement of flowers is to be held daily at the exposition. The judges were Mrs. James Baird and Mrs. John F. Bigelow. Winners of the prizes for the best display of flowers in baskets today were: Mrs. J. D. Munroe, first, and Mrs. J. A. Campbell, second, both members of the White Plains Garden Club.

Winners of prizes for the display of flowers in pottery vases were Mrs. M. C. Townsend of the White Plains Contemporary Club, first, and Mrs. Munroe, second.

Athletic drills, educational talks and motion pictures were also on the program.

DETECTIVE IS EXONERATED.

Opperman Cleared of Charge of Attempted Extortion in Speakeasy.

Detective Frederick Opperman of the West Twentieth Street Station was exonerated of a charge of attempted extortion yesterday before Magistrate Stern in Tombs court. Assistant District Attorney Botein informed the magistrate that the grand jury recently had refused to include Opperman in an extortion indictment on which Detective John Foran subsequently pleaded not guilty in General Sessions and is awaiting trial.

Opperman and Foran, who also were connected with the West Twentieth Street station, were suspended from duty last May 5 when they were arrested on a charge that Foran had collected $25 for police "protection" from Gregory Marra, an employe in an alleged speakeasy in North Moore Street. Foran was alleged to have posed as plain-clothes Patrolman Schupp of the downtown inspection district when he made the demand. Both detectives denied the charge.

REED IS IN DOUBT ABOUT TARIFF BILL

Pennsylvanian Undecided on Voting for Measure, Holding Present Law May Be Better.

STUDIES EFFECTS ABROAD

Statement Arouses Fear Among Republican Senate Leaders of Defeat for Bill.

WAY IS PAVED FOR ACTION

2 Conference Reports Consolidated for Vote—Conferees Iron Out Rate Objections.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, a member of the Finance Committee, who helped frame the pending tariff bill, announced today that he is undecided whether to support the measure on final passage. He declared that he is carefully studying its effect on domestic and foreign relations, and is not yet convinced that it is as good as the present tariff law.

The Senator's announcement caused those Republican leaders who are figuring upon a tie vote on the conference reports the greatest anxiety. They fear that if Senator Reed should stand against the Hawley-Smoot measure it would go down to defeat. A report also was heard that Senator Grundy of Pennsylvania would absent himself, or refuse to be paired in favor of the bill.

"I am carefully studying the bill as reshaped in conference," Senator Reed said. "While I have not completed my study, I am not yet convinced that the pending bill is better for Pennsylvania industries, the country-at-large and our foreign relations than the present law. As far as Pennsylvania is concerned, little advantage is obtained in the pending bill, aside from textiles and cement. The metals and glass industry are without proper rates in the pending bill.

Advantages in Present Law.

"In some respects the present law is better for the country. The farmers will not be benefited by the rates in this bill, and if the living costs will be increased and other countries erect retaliatory tariffs, there is great doubt in my mind what is the best thing to do."

Senator Reed's doubt was revealed at a time when surface moves indicated that obstacles to the adoption of the conference report were lessened by the agreement in the Senate to consolidate the two conference reports.

Senator Smoot obtained unanimous consent to incorporate the second report, containing the flexible tariff and other disputed points, now before the Senate, with the first report containing rates, against which points of order were sustained yesterday. The conferees today adjusted the objectionable rates in the first report, except those dealing with watches.

The Senate now must accept or reject the consolidated report. There was a chance that the report containing the flexible provision might have been defeated. Those who favor the rates carried in the first report and are opposed to the flexible provision, it is now argued, will vote for adoption of the consolidated report.

Watch Rates Put Up to Experts.

The watch provisions are so complicated that the conferees referred them to experts today with instructions to adjust the rates in conformity with yesterday's point of order. The conferees will meet again Monday to receive the findings.

In the agreements reached in conference today on the rates referred back to the conference on points of order, cheese and substitutes were fixed at seven cents a pound, and not less than 35 per cent ad valorem.

Horses and cattle imported for pasture would be permitted to enter free, either from Canada or Mexico, for a period of eight months.

All reference to frozen cherries was eliminated from the bill, and the rate is fixed at 9½ cents a pound and 40 per cent ad valorem for preserved cherries.

The duty on rayon was separated. Rayon filament not less than thirty inches in length would have a minimum duty of 40 cents a pound, with a minimum duty on rayon yarns of 45 cents a pound.

Senator Smoot said that the conferees would report an agreement to the Senate on Monday, and that the combined conference report would be considered the next day, and probably would be disposed of by the end of next week.

As the time for final action on the tariff draws near, the leaders seem to be in great doubt as to the passage of the bill. Senator Watson, the Republican floor leader, said that if Senators Reed and Grundy should vote against the bill, it would be defeated. He was confident, however, that these two Pennsylvanians would be found supporting it. Senator Harrison, one of the Democratic conferees, said there were not enough votes in sight at present to bring defeat to the long pending measure.

Fess Assails Shouse Speech.

Senator Fess of Ohio, replying to a speech made by Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, said that Mr. Shouse had incorrectly indicated the position of some Democratic Senators in connection with their votes on tariff items.

"In seeking to minimize the very major part which Senate Democrats have had in writing the pending tariff bill, Mr. Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, in a speech in Ohio last night indicated in no uncertain terms many of the members of his own party in the Senate," Senator Fess said.

"He spoke particularly of those Democratic Senators who supported duties on rayon, lumber, cement, wool, and then with his usual utter disregard for the facts in the case, he asserted that only 'half a dozen Democrats' were 'tempted' to vote for tariff protection.

"On the matter of high duties on rayon, the 'half a dozen' 'tempted' Democrats indicted by this self-nominated candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, actually numbered twenty or a majority of the Democratic membership of the Senate. They were: Barkley, Black, Heflin, Blease, Bratton, Connally, Sheppard, Dill, Fletcher, Trammell, George, Harris, Harrison, Hayden, Pittman, Swanson, Tydings, Walsh (Mass.), Walsh (Mont.), and Wheeler.

"On protection on wool, Mr. Shouse's 'half a dozen' expands to just eleven in the Congressional Record, which happens to be slightly more accurate than Mr. Shouse ever is. The eleven Democrats he indicted on this proposition were: Bratton, New Mexico; Broussard and Ransdell, Louisiana; Dill, Washington; Connally and Sheppard, Texas; Hayden, Arizona; Kendrick, Wyoming; Pittman, Nevada; Walsh and Wheeler, Montana.

Recalls Vote on Cement.

"The inaccurate Mr. Shouse's 'half a dozen' on cement likewise grows to eleven. On that matter he indicted these Democratic Senators: Ashurst, Arizona; Brock and McKeller, Tennessee; Blease, South Carolina; Broussard and Ransdell, Louisiana; Copeland and Wagner, New York; Dill, Washington; Pittman, Nevada, and Tydings, Maryland.

"On protection for lumber, eleven Democratic Senators were found in the Shouse indictment: Broussard and Ransdell, Louisiana; Copeland, New York; Dill, Washington; Fletcher and Trammell, Florida; Hawes, Missouri; Kendrick, Wyoming; Pittman, Nevada; Sheppard, Texas, and Stephens, Mississippi.

"Ten Democratic Senators come under Shouse's indictment on the sugar duty: Ashurst, Arizona; Broussard and Ransdell, Louisiana; Dill, Washington; Fletcher and Trammell, Florida; Hayden, Arizona; King, Utah; Thomas, Oklahoma, and Copeland, New York.

"Mr. Shouse then asserted that 'these few' Democratic votes 'gives us no complicity' in the tariff bill, but in the next breath he lauds the work of the Democratic-Republican insurgent coalition, overlooking the fact that the coalition was functioning 100 per cent when the wool duties were approved, and when repeated efforts to lower such duties were defeated.

"The sugar and rayon votes were the factors which split the coalition because of the wholesale defection of Democratic Senators interested in protection for the industries of their States. Cement, lumber and other duties on which Mr. Shouse would condemn the tariff measure were approved afterward with the aid of the very Democratic Senators the Democratic subchairman condemns."

Col. Whitlock to Aid City in Fight on Smoke; Cleveland Expert Named to Stevens Post

Colonel Elliot H. Whitlock of Cleveland has been appointed to the chair of research and mechanical engineering at Stevens Institute of Technology with instructions to cooperate with municipalities and industrial directors in the metropolitan area to abate the smoke nuisance. This announcement was made last night by Dr. Harvey N. Davis, president of the college. Dr. Davis, one of last year's organizers of the New York-New Jersey Smoke Abatement Board, said that the methods used and the end accomplished by Colonel Whitlock in a recent campaign in Cleveland have been regarded as the best thus far in an American city.

The work of reducing the ground haze and impure air of New York and its environs is supported by an initial outlay of $40,000, donated to the college, Mr. Davis added. He declined to name the donor of the fund, but said that the gift was expressly made to defray the expenses of the work for the first two years.

The program to be followed by Colonel Whitlock in the campaign has not been fully worked out, he said. He will consult the officials of municipalities on both sides of the Hudson near New York. His office at Stevens Institute is intended to be partly devoted to a bureau of information for civic organizations, officials, manufacturers and the public.

Colonel Whitlock, who is now Smoke Commissioner of Cleveland, has pursued a policy which puts a minimum reliance on punishment and has substituted technical counsel to smoke offenders from the standpoint of the combustion engineer.

The new director of the research department of Stevens is a graduate of the institution. The announcement of his appointment was made at the commencement dinner of the engineering institute in Jersey City.

EDGE WARNED ON TARIFF.

Envoy at Dinner in Tourcoing Hears French Threaten Reprisals.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TURCOING, France, July 6. — A warning that France and probably all of Europe would retaliate if the United States adopted prohibitive tariffs was given to Ambassador Edge tonight by speakers at a banquet given in his honor here by the joint chambers of commerce of Tourcoing and Roubaix.

Jules Joire, president of the Tourcoing Chamber of Commerce, said:

"Many European countries stand together today on one point—that if the United States closes her markets they will feel justified in adopting exactly the same tactics in regard to the United States."

M. Motte, president of the Roubaix Chamber of Commerce, referred to American aspirations for economic overlordship and, quoting President Hoover's and Dr. Julius Klein's statements that the United States desires to promote prosperity in Europe, he added:

"We may certainly remark that the United States has nothing to lose in this benevolent attitude since we know that Europe buys up 46 per cent of American exports."

Ambassador Edge did not reply directly to these protests, but declared that American tariffs hitherto had not prevented France from attaining economic prosperity which even Amreica might envy. He said Europeans must remember that the American tariff was necessary because of high labor and living costs in America.

CHILDREN'S FETE TODAY.

The annual children's lawn party of the Fifteenth Assembly District Republican Club will take place in Central Park this afternoon. More than 10,000 children will participate in the program.

The children will assemble at 11 East Eighty-fifth Street at 1:30 P. M. and march to the park preceded by the Boy Scouts band of the Madonna House and officers of the club, headed by Keyes Winter, leader of the Fifteenth Assembly District Republican organization. On arriving at the park the children will enter a series of contests, for which prizes will be awarded to the winners. Refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

'POSITIVE MISCHIEF' SEEN IN TARIFF BILL

Dr. L. R. Edminster Tells People's Lobby Proposed Revision Would Burden Most Producers.

LONDON TREATY ASSAILED

Called a "Travesty"—Policy of United States Toward Haiti and Cuba Denounced.

The tariff revision bill was described as "capable of accomplishing positive mischief" by Dr. Lynn Ramsay Edminster of Brookings Institute, Washington, D. C., yesterday, in an address before the People's Lobby, beginning a two-day conference at the Nurses' Settlement, 99 Park Avenue. The general subject for discussion was "Neglected Phases of International Cooperation." Professor John Dewey of Columbia University presided as president of the organization, which was founded in 1920 as the People's Reconstruction League.

Following Dr. Edminster, who asserted that "our recoiling tariff policy" would bring retaliation by other countries, other speakers denounced "fourteen years of American misrule in Haiti," the "dollar dictatorship in Cuba," the policing of Nicaragua by American marines, and asserted that the recent London naval conference was "even more of a travesty" than the "fake Disarmament Conference at Washington in 1921."

"It is doubtful whether in all our tariff history any revision of the tariff has been so uncalled for or so capable of accomplishing positive mischief," said Dr. Edminster. "In order to benefit a few branches of American agriculture and American manufacturing industry, it will impose upon the great bulk of the producers a burden far out of proportion to the gain it brings to the few.

Sees No Relief in Tariff.

"It cannot bring relief from the depression either in agriculture or industry and it is more likely to increase than diminish unemployment. Already foreign countries are beginning to retaliate against us.

Dr. Salvador Mendoza, fromer Professor of Economics at the University of Mexico City, discussing "World Underconsumption," said:

"We need again to look for a golden mean in the distribution of the world's raw material if we want to avoid the ridiculous danger of getting 'midated' as King Midas himself was in the past, according to the Greek legend."

J. L. Hachtmann of Porto Rico had this to say: "The United States should realize as a government and as a people that there is no machinery in the United States capable of administering a wise and benign colonial system, and that the ruthless disregard of the sovereignty of small nations is so keenly resented throughout Latin America that the cost to the United States of fourteen years of misrule in Haiti, estimated by American officials at $25,000,000, is a drop in the bucket compared with the irreparable loss caused by the hatred and distrust which have been aroused, and which have and continue to make themselves felt in international commerce."

Says Cuba Is Turning Anti-American.

Octavio Seigle, who explained that he had been ordered out of Cuba by President Machado, declared: "The present ruthless Cuban dictatorship is being sustained and supported by American financial interests. Cuba is slowly but surely turning anti-American."

Solomon de la Selva, former Secretary of the Nicaraguan Federation of Labor, who was deported last Fall by American Marines serving in the Guardia Nacional of Nicaragua, charged that Dr. Dana G. Munro, now chief of the Latin American Division, in 1928 made an agreement with the former Minister of Foreign Relations under President Diaz, under which the Guardia Nacional of Nicaragua was to be created and officered and controlled by American Marines.

After describing the disarmament conferences of 1921 and 1929 as a fake and a travesty, Professor Harry Elmer Barnes made the following assertion: "It will be futile to talk about ending war as long as economic and social conditions make for military struggles."

Devere Allen, editor of The World Tomorrow, said: "The United States that drives the world rough-shod today will have to stop to think before long."

At the night session Dr. Samuel A. Goddard, secretary of the world peace commission of the Methodist Episcopal Church, spoke on the topic "Intervention Unilateral or Multilateral." The Church should get out of the war business and never again support or bless it, he said, "believing that we can accomplish the task much better by pacific means."

He stressed the necessity for the education of the child in the "international mentality" and said that the Church was now entering into the phase of international relationships where it must realize the necessity for the dependence on the increase of multilateral treaties of arbitration and conciliation, such as the Bryan, Pan-American, Locarno and other pacts.

STATE FILES SUIT TO REMOVE VAUSE

Action Started in Brooklyn Charges Judge Accepted Two Free Trips to Europe.

WARD DISCOUNTS DEFENSE

Holds Law Cited Does Apply to Sea Travel—Jurist Seeks Minutes in Larceny Indictment.

As Attorney General Ward filed suit with the County Clerk in Brooklyn yesterday for removal of County Judge W. Bernard Vause from the bench for accepting two free trips to Europe, counsel for the judge appeared before Judge Donnellan in the Court of General Sessions and asked permission to inspect the minutes of the grand jury which indicted Judge Vause and eight others for grand larceny.

The move to inspect the grand jury minutes is with a view to have the charges dismissed. The indictment was returned against Judge Vause, his brother, Louis N. Vause, and the others as a result of the failure of the Columbia Finance Corporation. Nathan D. Perlman, counsel for Judge Vause, argued that the evidence submitted was "illegal, incompetent and untruthful." In opposing the motion Assistant District Attorney William R. Maloney said he believed the purpose was to delay the prosecution of the case. Judge Donnellan reserved decision.

Declares He Is Innocent.

Mr. Perlman submitted an affidavit by Judge Vause, the first public statement Judge Vause has made concerning the charges against him. He strongly protested his innocence. In the affidavit Judge Vause said that a previous grand jury in considering the same case had heard thirty witnesses and exonerated him and his brother. He contended that District Attorney Crain, without legal right, resubmitted the case to the May grand jury, and that as a result of the unwarranted change of testimony of three witnesses the indictment was returned.

Judge Vause denied that he or his brother had anything to do with the management of the Columbia Finance Corporation. He also stated that the indictment was returned in violation of his constitutional rights as he was not permitted to have a hearing before a magistrate prior to the presentation of the case to the grand jury.

District Attorney Crain, in discussing the case, said he had been trying vainly for several days to get in touch with George W. Vause, one of the Vause brothers, to question him about bank accounts in the name of William Jerome. Mr. Crain said that Joseph Iverson, owner of the building at 1,388 Sterling Place, Brooklyn, in which George W. Vause and his sister live, told him he had not seen Mr. Vause for some time.

Gets Letter From McKee.

Mr. Crain also said he had received a letter from Joseph V. McKee, President of the Board of Aldermen, replying to a letter from the District Attorney regarding an investigation desired by Mr. McKee into the leasing of the Hudson River piers to the United American Lines. Mr. Crain said that Mr. McKee explained why he wanted the investigation. He said that Mr. McKee had no suspicion at the time that there was anything wrong about the leases.

The prosecutor said he questioned yesterday D. F. Keller, chief engineer; John McKenzie, chief clerk, and Timothy J. Slattery, secretary to Commissioner Cosgrove, all of them employed in the Dock Department.

Notice of appearance in the suit filed with County Clerk Fred G. Lemmermann in Brooklyn was filed by Mr. Perlman in behalf of Judge Vause. Mr. Perlman said he would file an answer in the twenty days required by law. He said he and Judge Vause took the position that no crime or offense had been committed and that the section of the law quoted by Mr. Ward does not apply to the trips taken abroad by Judge Vause. The complaint was filed by Deputy State Attorney General Robert W. Beyer, representing Mr. Ward.

In reply to Mr. Perlman's contention that the Constitution was not violated, Mr. Ward in a letter to Mr. Beyer wrote:

"The constitutional provision is, of course, aimed at the bribery of public officers and it is immaterial that the bribes consisted of free transportation outside the State. The United American Lines was, of course, subject to suits in the courts of the State and perhaps in need of protection from them."

County Judge George W. Martin, chairman of the county judges in Brooklyn, will not certify the name of Judge Vause on the payroll to be signed June 15, it was reported yesterday. It was said that Judge Martin would make a notation that "Judge Vause has taken a leave of absence." The payroll will then be certified and the question whether or not Judge Vause will be paid rests with Controller Berry.

Assistant United States Attorney Mintzer questioned yesterday Michael B. Eisenstein, former bondsman, in the Columbia Finance Corporation mail fraud case, which is scheduled to go to trial Monday. It was said the government expected to use the testimony of three of the nine defendants who pleaded guilty to the mail fraud indictment. United States Attorney Tuttle said he had instructed his aides to be ready to proceed with the trial without delay on Monday or Tuesday.

JUDGE ASSAILS JURY IN BAUMES LAW CASE

Bertini Calls It an "Outrage" When Compelled to Give Long Terms to Two Robbers.

In imposing sentences of from fifteen to twenty years in Sing Sing yesterday on two men who had been found guilty of robbery, first degree, General Sessions Judge Bertini denounced the jury's verdict as unjustified by the evidence and expressed dissatisfaction with the Baumes law, which compelled him to impose the heavy prison terms.

Adolph Land, 52 years old, of 335 West Twenty-first Street, and Herman Ebbers, 46 years old, of 28 West 120th Street, had been found guilty by the jury on May 21 of attacking and robbing John Williams, an orderly in the City Hospital on Welfare Island, of $488 at 59 Third Avenue on Dec. 13. Williams testified that he had been drinking and gambling with the defendants and another man, who was not arrested, and when a quarrel arose the three knocked him down and robbed him. Lund and Ebbers denied Williams's story.

"It is an outrage that I am compelled to sentence these men to such long terms," Judge Bertini declared. "I am not in sympathy with the verdict of the jury. It should have found them guilty of assault in the second degree. If an application is made to the Governor for a pardon after they have served two years, I will make a very strong plea in their behalf. I will entertain a motion for a certificate of reasonable doubt in this case."

The attorney for the two men said he would submit the motion next week.

BREMEN MAKES FAST TRIP.

Meets Rough Weather for 2 Days—Master Content With Record.

The North German Lloyd liner Bremen arrived yesterday from Europe, making the passage from Cherbourg to the Ambrose Channel Lightship in 4 days, 19 hours and 36 minutes at an average speed of 27.3 knots despite rough weather for the first two days. Captain L. Ziegenbein, master, said he was not trying to make any new record and will be content with what the ship has already done until competitors seek to better her performance.

Among the first cabin passengers was Chester Beatty, mine operator, who has been to Rhodesia, South Africa, in connection with the development of copper mines. He said the copper deposits there were twice or three times larger than deposits in the United States. Another passenger was Customs Inspector Patrick J. Hall, returning from an experimental trip on behalf of the Treasury Department.

Vote Franking Right for Mrs. Taft.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP).—Mrs. Helen H. Taft, widow of the former President and Chief Justice, would receive the franking privilege in accordance with a long standing precedent, under a bill passed unanimously today by the House and sent to the Senate. It has been the practice of the government for many years to allow all mail sent by widows of Presidents to be handled postage free during their life time.

Uncle Sam, out of the generosity of his heart, wrote to him saying, 'We have decided that you paid us too much,' and sent him back the money."

File Doyle Briefs Today.

It was learned last night that Dr. Doyle's attorneys, Alfred J. Talley and Samuel Falk, will, in briefs to be filed with Judge Woolsey, argue that Dr. Doyle might incriminate himself should he be compelled to tell about his 1922, 1923 and 1924 income tax and with whom he split fees, in view of the refund of $30,000, thus bringing the matter within the Federal statute of limitations.

Dr. Doyle had been ordered before yesterday to tell the grand jury about his income tax returns and split fees which antedated 1925. In about ten minutes Dr. Doyle was brought out of the grand jury room and taken before Judge Woolsey. It was the third time that had happened to him for refusal to answer questions.

Mr. Tuttle told Judge Woolsey the witness had admitted regular fee splitting, but had refused to answer questions about the form and amounts and had refused also to disclose the identity of any person with whom he had made such a division. Mr. Falk contended that Dr. Doyle's amended returns in 1925 had made possible prosecution for any illegal act that might have been committed in connection with the returns of 1922, 1923 and 1924. Mr. Tuttle said that was not the case. Judge Woolsey commented:

"I do not see how the witness could be prosecuted for anything other than perjury in filling in a return, and that is not a six-year limitation offense."

When Dr. Doyle was taken before the grand jury a second time yesterday he answered questions as to the form and amounts of his split fees "satisfactorily," according to Mr. Tuttle. The grand jury will resume its inquiry Monday morning.

The employment of Dr. Robert Emmet Walsh, a brother of William E. Walsh, chairman of the Board of Standards and Appeals, as medical examiner for the Finance Department of the city was declared yesterday to be entirely legal and proper by Controller Charles W. Berry and John J. Keller of the Municipal Civil Service Commission.

The appointment had been criticized by H. Eliot Kaplan, secretary of the Civil Service Reform Association, who said he would bring a taxpayer's suit against city officials in a few days in an attempt to have Dr. Walsh ousted. The Municipal Civil Service Commission adopted a resolution on Jan. 23 last to exempt Dr. Walsh from Civil Service examination and to appoint him medical examiner at a salary of $5,000 a year for part time.

District Attorney Crain said yesterday he had rececived a reply to a letter from Chairman Walsh about his bank accounts. Mr. Crain had asked if he had any bank accounts other than those in the Manufacturers' Trust Company, the Hudson branch of the Empire Trust Company and the Federation Bank and Trust Company. Mr. Walsh's reply was that he had no other bank accounts and sent an affidavit to that effect. Mr. Crain questioned several witnesses yesterday whom he expects to take before the grand jury on Tuesday.

DEEGAN'S CAMPAIGN FOUGHT BY DOCTORS

Professional Men Visit Him to Protest That Office System Does Not Break Zoning Law.

THREATEN A COURT TEST

But Commission Points to Ruling in 1928 That They Must Live in Apartment Containing Office.

A group of about thirty doctors, dentists and editors of dental publications headed by Dr. J. Louis Amster, former Health Commissioner, was told yesterday by William F. Deegan, Tenement House Commissioner, that members of their professions were violating the zoning laws by having offices in apartment houses or tenements when they did not live in the same apartments that contained the offices.

The professional men appeared before Mr. Deegan to protest against his right to declare occupancy of an apartment solely for offices a business occupancy, after the commissioner had intimated to the professions that he would insist on strict enforcement of the zoning law.

Mr. Deegan agreed, at the request of Dr. Amster, to take no steps until the professional men could prepare briefs to submit to Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly for a decision. If the Corporation Counsel's decision holds that the use of an apartment for an office is a business occupancy and thus illegal in a residential zone, the physicians and dentists agreed that they would prepare a test case.

To demonstrate that his ruling has been fought before by the professions, Mr. Deegan showed the physicians and dentists a decision of the Board of Standards and Appeals rendered June 12, 1928. Doctors at that time had appealed against charges of violations, but the charges were sustained by the Tenement House Department. It held that a doctor doing business in the apartment where he lived was doing "home work" permissible in a residential district, but had a business occupancy when he did not live in the apartment he used for an office.

Commissioner Deegan offered his cooperation to obtain a quick decision from the Corporation Counsel. He pointed out that many professional men were violating other ordinances, in spirit if not in fact. The "plastering of tenement buildings with advertising," he said, was unethical. Some of these signs, he declared, were two and three stories high, and added that the department was opposed to them. The doctors and dentists agreed that this advertising was objectionable and offered their cooperation in doing away with it.

Foot Cut Off by Hawser at Launching.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURGH, June 6.—John Byrnes, a shipyard mechanic, is in St. Luke's Hospital as the result of an accident in which one of his feet was cut off above the ankle by a hawser during a launching. When the boat was going down the ways, Byrnes's foot was caught. He directed other workmen in rendering first aid and showed remarkable grit, according to surgeons who amputated the leg above the part crushed.

SIMMONS'S FATE GOES BEFORE VOTERS TODAY

North Carolina Democrats to Decide Between Anti-Smith Senator and J. W. Bailey.

Special to The New York Times.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 6.—A question which has been heatedly debated throughout North Carolina since the Presidential campaign of 1928 will be decided tomorrow by the Democratic voters of the State, over 300,000 of whom are expected to go to the polls between 4:57 A. M. when the polls open and 7:28 P. M. when they close.

The question is: Will the refusal of Senator Furnifold McLendel Simmons to support Alfred E. Smith result in his party's denying him a sixth nomination?

Josiah W. Bailey, Mr. Simmons's leading rival, campaigned for the Senator in 1912, but broke with him in 1924 to run for Governor against Angus Wilton McLean, the successful candidate.

Each side has conducted a campaign of pamphlets, featuring attacks upon the previous party regularity of the other, the attacks on Mr. Bailey centred on the campaigns of 1898 and 1900, when the issue was "white supremacy."

Mr. Bailey tonight predicted victory by 60,000 and the Simmons followers estimated the Senator's majority as between 50,000 and 75,000.

Comparatively little interest is attached to the Republican Senatorial contest.

RUMANIA IN PHONE DEAL,

Gives Twenty-Year Monopoly for $20,000,000 Loan.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, June 6.—After many delays and an eleventh-hour cancellation, the Cabinet accepted today an offer of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company and J. P. Morgan & Co. for a $20,000,000 loan in return for a twenty-year monopoly of Rumanian telephones.

The government declares it is more acceptable on fourteen points than a rival offer by the Blair-Siemens-Ericson group and others. Objections of military authorities, which once threatened to prove insuperable, now have been overcome.

HIGH COURT HOME TO COST $9,740,000

stories on the west front, with the east stories lower to allow a continuous roof line. The main floor will be one story above the terrace. Here, in the easterly section, will be located the Supreme Court room, the main axis of the plan; conference and robing rooms and chambers of the Chief Justice and Associate Justices.

The Supreme Court room will be of impressive proportions, about sixty-four feet square and thirty feet from floor to ceiling, about 60 per cent larger than the present room. The rooms for justices and court officials will be grouped around four courtyards, each about sixty-four feet square, to be made into gardens. The main floor also will provide several conference rooms.

Large Library Facilities.

The second floor will contain a law library stack room to accommodate 108,000 volumes and two open shelf rooms for 15,000 additional books; librarians' quarters, document storage rooms, reporters' rooms and sixteen rooms for the use of lawyers. The third floor will include stack rooms for law libraries, accommodating about 220,000 volumes, and a large reading room.

The ground floor at the level of the terrace, is planned with filing rooms and archive storage quarters for the clerk of the Supreme Court and dining rooms and rest rooms.

Ample space for expansion of library facilities is planned, the capacity being fixed at 526,760 volumes.

"There has been no intention of finishing the interior of the building with elaborate and expensive marble work and excessive decoration, the design rather relying upon fine proportions and simplicity for the monumental effect desired," Mr. Gilbert explained.

"The material will harmonize with that of the neighboring buildings, and the size of the structure will assist in giving it the dignity and importance desirable for the permanent home of the Supreme Court of the United States.

"We have attempted to plan a building in keeping with Jefferson's ideals for preserving and extending the classic beauty of Washington's official structures, an enduring symbol of American justice."

Plans Advancing Steadily.

Plans for the great building have been advanced steadily during the past few months, under the direction of the United State Supreme Court Building Commission. The original commission consisted of the late Chief Justice William Howard Taft, Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter, Senator Henry M. Keyes of New Hampshire, ex-Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, Representative Richard N. Elliott of Indiana, Representative Fritz G. Lanham of Texas and David Lynn, whose title is architect of the Capitol and executive officer of the commission.

Mr. Taft devoted much time to the plans for the building and took a keen interest in the progress of the project, Mr. Gilbert said. The work bears the evidence of his advice and the cooperation of other members of the group.

At a meeting of the commission a month ago Chief Justice Hughes was elected chairman to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Taft's death.

The building was authorized by Congress on Dec. 21, 1928, and preliminary appropriations already have been made. The Commission of Fine Arts unanimously approved the design.

Bids Opened Tuesday.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Bids for the clearing of the two city blocks opposite the Capitol grounds on which will be erected the building for the United States Supreme Court will be opened in the office of the Supervising Architect of the Capitol at 3 P. M. Tuesday.

Contractors from New York and Chicago were among those who have inspected the site preparatory to submitting their bids to raze all structures on both squares, with the exception of three residences on Maryland Avenue. Seventy-eight buildings, including four apartment houses and forty garages, now stand on the area to be cleared. The most widely known structure is the Old Brick Capitol, occupied in recent years by the National Woman's Party, wherein were held the sessions of Congress following the burning of the Capitol during the War of 1812. From this historic structure the mantels and doors, richly carved, are being removed for safe keeping before demolition is begun.

TWO SUSPECTS HUNTED IN MURDER OF WOMAN

Police Link Slaying of Anna Urbas, Found in Harlem River, to New Jersey Beer Feud.

Assistant District Attorney Price, who has been investigating the murder of Anna Urbas, 24 years old, whose body, with a wire twisted around the neck, was found recently in the Harlem River, said after the questioning of several new witnesses yesterday, that the police were seeking two suspects in the killing.

The announcement came after Mr. Price had questioned Mrs. Mary Urbas, 60 years old, mother of the slain girl, who came here from Cleveland, at the request of District Attorney Crain. Mrs. Urbas, the mother of six children, said that Anna visited her last September remaining several weeks, but gave no intimation she feared for her life.

Mrs. Urbas added that she was aware Anna was friendly with Eugene Moran, an alleged beer racketeer, whose body was found burning in an automobile on an ash heap in Briel, near Newark, last August. Mrs. Urbas later was taken to the morgue, where she said she was unable to identify the body, but Mr. Price said that the body had been definitely identified as that of Anna by other witnesses.

Mr. Price also questioned William Moran, father of the slain man, who said that soon after the killing of his son Anna gave him the names of two men suspected of having participated in that murder. The names she gave him, Moran told the prosecutor, were Batto and Shubert, both of whom, Mr. Price said, have since been slain in beer-runners' feuds.

Moran also was reported to have told Mr. Price that Anna informed him two other men who were with Moran shortly before he was slain were Moe (Dimples) Wolensky and Frank (Sonny) Burns. They are reported to be the two the police are seeking as suspects in the killing of Anna Urbas.

CHIANG ACTS TO HALT DRIVE ON HANKOW

Battle at Yochow Is Planned to Check Advance of Rebels, but City Is Very Uneasy.

FIGHTING OUTSIDE TSINAN

110 Americans There Urged to Leave—Japan Withholds Military Instructors to Nanking.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SHANGHAI, June 6.—The Yangtse Valley situation continues to develop more seriously for Nanking with the Southern rebels rapidly advancing into the valley.

Changsha is occupied by 3,000 Kwangsi troops, who have established their headquarters in the American Bible Society centre, one of the biggest foreign mission compounds in the city. The rebel movement apparently is split into three columns, one heading for Shasi, a big revenue and opium centre tapping the Upper Yangtse; another heading for Wuchang and Hankow, while the third. Chang Fa-kwei's Ironsides, are advancing into Kiangsi Province with Kiukiang as the objective. The Ironsides are collecting Communist allies en route.

Hankow Situation Unfavorable.

Nanking is reported to have ordered troops to oppose the Ironsides on the Kiangsi border and to have dispatched a few reinforcements to strengthen the forces of General Ho Chien, Hunan commander, who has retreated northward. But these Nanking troops are said to be inefficient and the Hankow authorities are unable to spare any troops from the defense of the city.

A new defense line has been set up twenty miles southwest of Wuchang, where a stand is likely to be made, but Hankow is reported to be panicky as thousands of refugees are streaming into the city and adding to the apprehension. The general belief is that Hankow is likely to surrender peacefully if a large force of Southerners appears outside, although the possibility that the strong body of Communists which is occupying Tayah will move toward Hankow is not ignored.

In the North the Nanking Government continues to hold Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province, although Shanshi troops are near the city. The greatest feeling of apprehension exists there as Tsinan possesses a fairly large foreign community and it is feared the city may be caught between the two opposing forces if Nanking insists on holding it against the Northern advance.

Tokyo Delays Sending Army Officers

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TOKYO, June 6.—In view of the developments in China, the Japanese authorities have decided to postpone sending military officers to China for the purpose of training Nanking forces, it was said at the Foreign Office today.

With the Nanking troops' reverses, it is felt the future is too uncertain for Japan to send military instructors to Nanking. Baron Shidehara, Foreign Minister, is adhering strictly to a hands-off policy in the present Chinese war situation.

SHANGHAI, June 6 (AP).—The Nationalist Government's armies battled desperately today to hold back the rebel tide rolling both from the North and South toward Central China.

After fighting for a month to halt the Northern rebels driving through Honan and Shantung Provinces toward Nanking, the government was called upon to meet the menace from the South. Kwangsi Province rebels and bandit hordes numbering 80,000 from several provinces advanced today to attack the Nanking forces at their new base south of Yochow, Hunan Province.

Driven yesterday from Changsha by the rebels, 10,000 Nanking troops retreated northward to form defense lines with the large Tung Ting Lake on their right and the broad Yangtse River to their rear. The Nanking Government, realizing the gravity of this rebel thrust at the tri-cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, commercial and strategic centres of China, ordered all available troops mustered.

The American Consul was said to have urged Americans to leave the city. In Shanghai Nanking Government officials met to strengthen the financial sinews of war. Nearly two weeks ago Finance Minister Soong telegraphed President Chiang Kai-shek, leading the Nanking troops in Honan Province, that a speedy victory was imperative.

Mr. Soong said the government had been called upon to deal with nation-wide communistic and bandit depredations and economic distress due to depreciated silver, crop failures and paralyzed business, in addition to the expenses of the civil war. These, he said, were combined in the gravest menace the government has faced.

110 Americans in Tsinan.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—All Americans in Tsinan, and particularly the women and children, have been urged to leave the city by Edwin F. Stanton, American Consul there, as the Shansi troops advance.

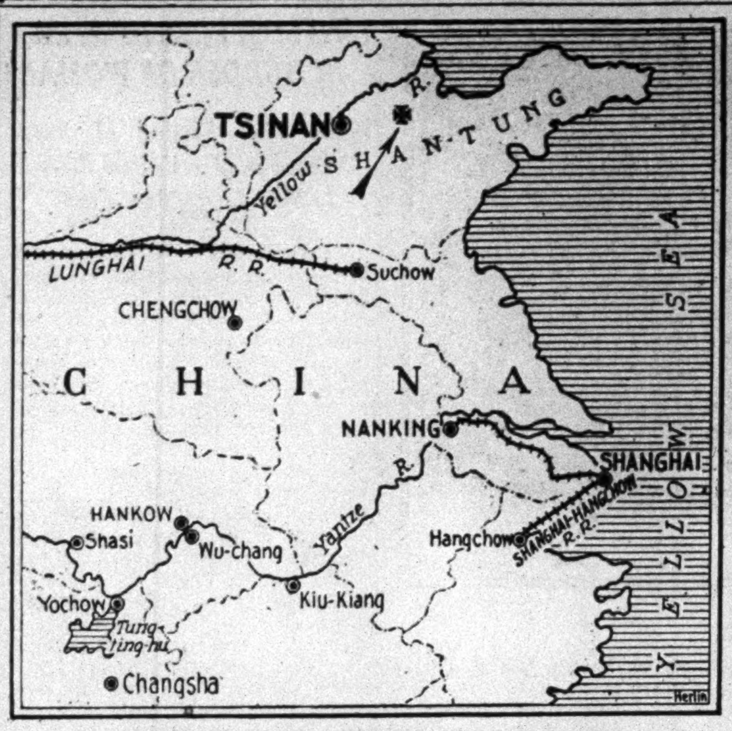
The Shansi troops two days ago were all along the northern bank of the Yellow River, Consul Stanton reported to the State Department, and were directing artillery and rifle fire against General Han's men at Lokow, five miles north of Tsinan.

A good many junks, including some loaded with cargoes of American oil, have been burned and sunk, Mr. Stanton reported. The city of Tsinan was very anxious as the smoke of fires and boom of cannon were seen and heard.

State Department records show a total of 110 Americans in Tsinan, of whom twenty-five are men, forty-seven women and thirty-eight children. Many are missionaries.

Among the organizations with representatives are the American Presbyterian mission, with 21 American attachés; the Church of God mission, 3; the Catholic mission, with 5; St. Joseph's Hospital, 8; Saul Trading Company, 1; Seventh Day Adventist mission, 5; Shantung Christian University, 51; Southern Baptist mission, 3; Standard Oil Company, 8; Y. M. C. A., 4; Y. W. C. A., 1.

The Rev. Clifford J. King of Techny, Ill., a missionary of the Society of The Divine Word, was captured last Saturday by Chinese bandits in Southern Honan Province, between Loshan and Chengyang, near Tunchang, according to a report received by the State Department today from Frank P. Lockhart, Consul General at Hankow.



AREAS OF CIVIL WARFARE IN CHINA.

Heavy Northern attack centres on Tsinan, capital of Shantung Province. In the South, Yochaw is likely to be the scene of a crucial battle between Nanking and Southern rebel forces.

STALIN EASY VICTOR IN RED CONFERENCES

Moscow Communist Group Also Vote Change in Lenin's Text on Soviet Peasant Power.

BUT 'RIGHTS' MAY BE HEARD

One Speaker Says Revolutionary Movement Threatens to Overwhelm India in Revolt Against British.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, June 6.—Joseph Stalin is winning hands down in the preliminary tests of strength before the Communist party convention. The Moscow party conference, representing 280,000 Communists, last night unanimously adopted a resolution approving the Kremlin's policies in all particulars and strongly denouncing attacks of the "Right" and the "Left" opposition in the Central Committee of the Communist party.

The resolution also approved the new administration of the United Labor Federations and especially denounced errors of the former administration, headed by M. Tomsky. That administration was removed after a stormy discussion among Communist executives in April of last year, when MM. Tomsky and Bukharin led the "Right" attack upon the Kremlin's policy.

The Moscow resolution approved entirely the proposed alteration of the Leninist text that henceforth "collectivists" should be regarded as the basis of Soviet power in the villages, whereas Lenin said, the basis was the poor peasants.

The Kremlin's new thesis on this point, recently advanced by Land Commissar Yakovlef, has been the subject of acute controversy during recent weeks. The Kremlin justified the change by the argument that collectivization had already introduced a new correlation of social forces in the villages, because such differences as might exist between the poor or middle peasants on entering a collective farm would be rapidly eliminated by joint effort and equal distribution of fruits.

This complete victory of such an important doctrinal matter is not the least proof of Stalin's strength. Indeed, as the situation appears now he is literally at the apex of his power.

The Moscow conference in voting a "salute" to the Red Army, the Comintern (Communist International), Pravda and the "Leninist headquarters staff" (the Central Committee of the Communist party), concluded its message thus:

"Hail to the world proletarian revolution—hail to the victorious Socialist construction in our country—hail to the Leninist Central Committee and its general secretary, Comrade Stalin!"

Similar encomiums were voted by the Leningrad and Ukrainian national conferences, where the Kremlin was represented by Commissars Molotof and Rudsutak, respectively. These two men are regarded as Stalin's nearest coadjutors.

At the Moscow conference the Kremlin was represented by a comparatively new Soviet official, M. Kaganovich, who has gained greatly in influence during the last two years and will probably be elected a member of the Politburo with M. Mikoyan at the party convention to replace the discredited "Right" leaders Bukharin and Tomsky.

The smoothness with which the Moscow and the other two conferences have functioned in favor of the Kremlin speaks volumes for the efficiency of the Communist party machine. As one astute diplomat remarked, "If ever the Russians get around to running their factories like this the capitalist countries may as well throw up the sponge."

There remains, however, the possibility that one of the "Rights," as, for instance, Bukharin or Tomsky, who might well feel that they had little to lose, will try to stampede the convention. If one of them said in substance:

"You damned us as cowards and traitors six months ago because we pointed out the danger of a hothead drive to collectivization. Then suddenly you condemn yourselves and make the very changes we advocated. And now you have the nerve to continue to call us names."

If that were said it might be somewhat awkward for the Kremlin to find an adequate reply.

A vigorous speech on the Far Eastern revolutionary movement was made at the session yesterday of the Moscow conference by M. Losovski, general secretary of the Profintern, or Red Labor International.

"The revolutionary movement in India," he said, "is paralysis of the nervous system of the bitterest foe of the Soviet State—British imperialism. Already it threatens to overwhelm India, where the bourgeoisie are seeking terms with the British.

"Peasant action spreads from province to province at first under the slogan, 'Pay no taxes,' but now it is proceeding to confiscation of the land. A new factor is the appearance of organized revolutionary groups called 'Red Shirts.' With the cry, 'Hail to the Revolution!' they summon the local population to a decisive struggle.

"And hand in hand with them is the League of Indian Youth, wearing the sickle and hammer and using the slogan, 'Workers and peasants of the whole world, unite.' They attack not only England but the whole system of Indian feudalism.

"The events in India have immense political importance, especially so now because of the connection between the revolutionary movements of India, China and French Indo-China. Even the bourgeois press admits the French Indo-China movement involves the great working masses, and in China a native Soviet power has already been established over regions with a total population of 70,000,000."

Doolittle and Two Others Give Stunt Exhibition—Continue Air Tour of Europe.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, June 6.—Major James Doolittle and two other American stunt pilots arrived in Vienna today, continuing their tour of Europe in Curtiss planes, and gave a daredevil exhibition of trick flying which kept a large crowd at Aspern Aerodrome breathless.

Flying a Curtiss Hawk, a United States Army pursuit plane with a 600-horsepower motor, Major Doolittle gave a thrilling exhibition of dives, rolling, tail spins and sideslips.

Captain F. K. Cannon took President Miklas of Austria up for a spin, but showed respect for the Presidential dignity by keeping his machine on an even keel.

The fliers came to Vienna from Budapest. They have visited Sofia, Belgrade, Bucharest and Istanbul. They will go from here to Prague and then to Berlin.

SAYS PALESTINE POLICY DEPENDS ON SIMPSON

Shiels Tells Mandate Body British Will Base Objectives on Sir John's Report.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, June 6.—How much the findings of a single investigator are likely to influence the future of Palestine was indicated here today during the continuance of the League of Nations Mandates Commisison's secret inquiry into the 1929 disturbances.

The questioning is centred on the immigration and land questions, which the Shaw commission stressed as being contributing causes to the disturbances, and which are now being specially investigated for Britain by Sir John Hope Simpson, former vice chairman of the League of Nations Refugee Commission in Greece.

The British Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, Dr. Drummond Shiels, told the Mandates Commission this afternoon that Britain, in continuing to develop the Jewish national home, would define its precise objectives on the basis of the report Sir John makes, and, of course, on the obligations the mandate imposes.

Questioned on the reasons for the sharp variations in the number of Jews admitted annually into Palestine. Dr. Shiels explained this was due to temporary circumstances and conditions in the country. He said Britain, since 1922, has sought to restrict immigration to the economic capacity of Palestine to absorb it, and meant to continue that policy. The number of immigrants into Palestine varied from the peak of 35,000 in 1925, to 2,200 in 1928. For some years, he added, there had been more Jewish emigrants from Palestine than immigrants.

The commission posed numerous questions about the temporary suspension of immigration, but Dr. Shiels is understood to have added nothing to his previous public declarations.

BOMB SENT TO PARISIAN BURSTS IN POSTOFFICE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—In the sorting room of the Paris general postoffice this morning a package addressed to Baroness Edouard de Rothschild exploded, fortunately without injuring any of the 200 employes at work in the room, but breaking all electric bulbs and causing a fire alarm to be sounded. This is the third time within a month a similar package has been sent through the mail to a prominent person.

In the first instance the Count Jacques de Vienne was slightly injured when he opened a package which had been sent him. In another, addressed to the Count de Boisgelin, which caused no injury, a letter was found making reference to the Count's horse, which had lost a race the previous day at Vincennes track.

This morning the package exploded when an employe threw it into a sorting tray. It was found that the leaves of a store catalogue had been torn out and a detonator, powder and scraps of metal had been packed between the covers.

ITALY NOW CHANGES HER TONE TO FRANCE

Friendly Moves Are Believed to Indicate Premier Regrets Bellicose Outbursts.

EUROPEAN UNION A FACTOR

Briand Is Expected to Produce New Arguments in Favor of Federation Further Insuring Peace.

By P. J. PHILIP.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—It is with extreme delicacy that the diplomatic game is being played just now between the French and Italian Foreign Offices. Since the flurry created by Premier Mussolini's speeches in Tuscany the Italian Government has multiplied its attentions to France, visits of the French Ambassador in Rome and the Italian Ambassador to France to the respective foreign ministries having become almost daily occurrences.

Foreign Minister Briand received Count Manzoni and Signor Bottai, Italian Minister of Corporations, today. At these interviews, however, it is no secret that only subsidiary matters were discussed, their object being only to create a better atmosphere and correct the impression that followed the Tuscany speeches.

It is even believed in French circles that Premier Mussolini has come somewhat to regret the violence of his language since he felt the reaction of world opinion to speeches which were so obviously intended for local effect that many of the most inflammatory passages were censored before they were given to the rest of the world.

Subtlety in Grandi Speech.

Foreign Minister Grandi's speech to the Italian Senate was, it is believed, intended to mark in some measure this cooling down process. Yet there was a subtlety in the Italian Foreign Minister's presentation of the Italian case which is considered far more dangerous than the outbursts of the Premier. Signor Grandi offered in his Senate speech to negotiate on the naval problem, a proposal which had already been made at Geneva with an accompanying move of a recommendation for a naval holiday between France and Italy while they discussed their differences.

This offer has not been made in any diplomatic document or communication. Its use is believed to lie only in its publicity and in the effect on world opinion which might follow its apparent rejection by France. To say it had been rejected is, however, only to fall in with the Italian manoeuvre.

It is not believed to have been seriously made, for it is said here Signor Grandi knows as well as any one else that the French naval program is not based solely or indeed even largely on that of Italy but takes into account all the factors in the naval situation: the extent of colonial possessions, the size of the British debt and German navies, the length of lines of communication and the whole series of reasons which were enumerated in the French memorandum last December before the London conference. To propose a naval holiday between these two countries is, in French opinion, simply a confession that the Italian Navy estimates and program are regulated simply by consideration of French strength, there being on other factors to invoke.

The second Grandi proposal, that an experts' committee begin discussion of the situation, was rejected by M. Briand at Geneva and was, indeed, not made very seriously, Paris believes. During the London conference Signor Grandi himself admitted that negotiations on various difficulties between Italy and France, such as the Tunisian and Tripolitan situation, which must precede a solution of the naval problem, could never be undertaken in a conference.

Danger in Parley Failure.

If the conference broke up without having reached a settlement, it is believed the situation would be much worse than when it started. With this view, expressed by the Italian Minister to London, M. Briand was and remains in agreement. At Geneva he replied he preferred discussion through the usual diplomatic channels, and this remains his opinion.

The way of opening such discussion has not been in the least closed by recent events, Paris contends. On the other hand, it would seem that the outlook is more encouraging than it was. The reaction from abroad to the Italian attitude has certainly been felt in the Italian Foreign Office and, except in rare instances, the manoeuvre has failed to make it appear that France had rejected any Italian offer.

Among other influences on which M. Briand is counting for a better period of cooperation and understanding with Italy is that of the proposed European federation. During the past few weeks the replies he has received have been most encouraging. Through the German Ambassador here what are described as "extremely helpful conversations" have been going forward.

M. Briand, too, who likes the rôle of magician, is credited with still having a card up his sleeve which he may soon lay on the table. Next week will, it is expected, bring the adhesion of France through approval by the Chamber of Deputies to the act of universal arbitration, which was proposed at Geneva, and when that is done it is expected the famous French formula of "security, arbitration and disarmament" may be modified so as to place disarmament less conditionally on the two others.

REICH TAX PLANS MEET OPPOSITION

Press of Coalition Groups Says Program Will Be Rejected by Reichstag.

CABINET LIKELY TO FALL

$200,000,000 Retrenchment Program Is Called Illusion by Government's Critics.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 6.—Chancellor Bruening's plans for filling up the $200,000,000 hole in the Reich's budget for the current fiscal year with emergency levies on bachelors, on the fixed salary of workers and on business men who earn fees as corporation directors fail to strike a popular chord and the newspapers identified with the parties comprising the Coalition Government freely predict the government proposal will not have the support of the Reichstag when that body reconvenes on June 16. Its rejection would mean the end of the Bruening Cabinet and new elections or the installation of a government empowered to act under the dictatorship provisions of the Federal Constitution.

In explaining the government's measure today, Dr. Adam Stegerwald, Federal Minister of Labor, admitted that more than $200,000,000 was needed to balance the Federal budget and meet the insolvency of the unemployment fund, out of which 2,000,000 jobless men and women now receive doles. To prevent a more serious situation in the labor market in the Autumn and Winter it will be necessary to appropriate about $50,000,000 to provide work to absorb the present army of the unemployed.

New Income Expected.

The proposed added assessment of 4 per cent on salaried workers and 1 per cent on bachelors is expected to yield $80,000,000, while a 1 per cent increase in the cost of unemployment insurance is expected to bring $50,000,000. Through overhauling the administration of unemployment expenditures the government hopes to save $25,000,000. It is admitted that doles are being handed out too generously.

Another $25,000,000 will be forthcoming from the sale of preferred shares in the Federal railway system, while an altered method of levying the tax on cigarettes is expected to increase the government's revenues by $12,000,000.

While the government's program balances on paper, its critics assert the hoped-for millions are illusionary and that it is tantamount to an admission that its financial experts have arrived at their wits' ends.

The fixing of 4½ per cent for unemployment insurance represents an increase of 1 per cent over the existing rate. Last October Chancellor Mueller's Cabinet was badly divided on the question of raising the premium ½ per cent. The opposition came chiefly from the People's party because the employers were opposed to paying half of the proposed increase. The deficit in the unemployment insurance fund then amounted to $16,000,000.

Dr. Stresemann, the only man who could dominate the Cabinet of his party, was summoned from a sick bed to the caucus of his party where he demanded support of the proposed increase. The late Foreign Minister on that occasion worked himself into such a frenzy in his vain effort to win over his party that he left the meeting completely worn out. His death followed four hours later. At that date the government was confronted with a deficit of 70,000,000 marks in the Reich's unemployment insurance fund.

Chancellor Mueller's cabinet went out of office last March because of a disagreement over the question of raising the insurance premium one-half per cent.

Capital Labor Move Menaced.

The government financial program is viewed as gravely interfering with the negotiations between the industrialists and trade unions for an accord on the question of lowering price levels and wages as the proposed increases in income taxes would upset the reduced price and wage scales. Meetings between representatives of industrialist organizations and trade unions continued today but will be adjourned to next week for Whitsuntide.

Representatives of various jobbers, wholesalers and retailers leagues have joined the conference. It is hoped to enhance the purchasing power of the home market and enable the German export industries to expand their activities abroad.

AFRIDI FORCE FLEES; BRITISH IN PURSUIT

Troops and Planes Combine to Drive Raiders Back Across Border Into Afghanistan.

THREE BRITONS KIDNAPPED

Two Army Officers and Wife of One Held in Afghan Camp—Friendly Chiefs Seek Their Release.

From a Special Correspondent.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PESHAWAR, June 6.—The raiding force of Afridi tribesmen [Afghans] which reached the outskirts here yesterday suffered heavily in the fighting that developed and is retreating to the hills. The Afridis failed to win support from the villagers.

It is impossible to estimate their casualties, but these are known to have been heavy.

The lashkar [armed force] of tribesmen broke up with astonishing rapidity. The Afridis were helped by the fact that many were nomadic tribesmen who were accustomed to come down and dwell in this district in the cold weather and consequently knew every inch of the ground and every hiding place.

Larger groups of them were driven from nullah to nullah, harried by troops and continuously bombed from the air. One party sought shelter in a nullah used for target practice by the Royal Air Force and marked off by large boards at either end.

Regiment Ambushed.

A platoon of a border regiment, making a reconnaissance in a nullah, was ambushed by Afridis and lost three men. So far, these are the only British casualties mentioned. One party of tribesmen kept up a heavy fire and was not dislodged until the 3.7 howitzers of a mountain pack battery were brought into action.

The British operations were hampered by the fact that all wires had been cut until active service communication was opened by the Royal Signal Corps. The intense heat made campaigning on the plains uncomfortable, but the British troops, a youthful-looking lot, stuck it out. The behavior of the Indian troops and their morale have been admirable. All the troops are coming into the city again tonight.

It was late before the weary troops reached here yesterday in a blinding dust storm. Their task was not ended, for, although the British outward thrust had prevented the Afridis from actually entering Peshawar, the broken ground and the shelter afforded by the villages had allowed many tribesmen to slip through the military net. Information brought by loyal villagers within three miles of the boundary wire indicated that the raiders were still determined to attack the cantonments. The troops therefore prepared for a troubled night after their heavy day.

Women Sheltered in a Club.

At dusk the few European women who remain here were collected in automobiles and taken to the Peshawar Club, where they slept in the ballroom. The night, however, passed peacefully, expect that about at midnight a sharp burst of rifle fire out of the darkness told of trouble on the Bara road. A cavalry patrol had been fired on, but there were no casualties.

The city awoke this morning to a sound like thunder from the south, where the Royal Air Force, converging from its airdromes on the outskirts of Peshawar and Kohat, was bombing parties of raiders along the Kohat road. It is believed these Afridis suffered considerable losses.

Meanwhile the troops advanced in a sweeping movement from a line running between Peshawar and Jamrul Fort, which stands guard over the entrance to Khyber Pass, now closed. Their objective was to mop up the triangle between the Peshawar-Jamrud Road and the road running northwest from Peshawar to Bara Fort. The next move will be to sweep the Afridis back across the Kajuri plain into the rugged hills whence they came.

Three Britons Kidnapped.

BOMBAY, June 5 (AP).—Two British officers and the wife of one of them are reported to have been kidnapped by Achakzai raiders from across the Afghan border. They are Major E. L. Marley, a sapper stationed at Quetta; Captain J. C. Frere of the Twelfth Secunderabad Infantry Brigade and Mrs. Frere.

The incident occurred Wednesday afternoon at a point seven miles from Chaman on the main Quetta-Chaman road [in British Baluchistan]. The three were traveling in two motor cars driven by Indians and were held up by a barricade of rocks. Scarcely had the machine stopped when the raiders fell upon the occupants and carried them across the Afghan frontier.

The first news of the event was received in Chaman from the engineer of a train which passed close to the spot shortly afterward. Seeing the barricade and the two empty cars, he stopped for an investigation and then rushed at full speed to Chaman.

Police and troops sped to the spot but were unable to overtake the raiders before they crossed the border into Afghanistan six miles distant.

It was learned that the kidnapped persons were placed on camels and taken to a nomad village near Kunchai, about twenty miles southwest of Chaman in Afghan territory, where they spent Wednesday and Thursday nights.

A jirga [tribal gathering] of local chiefs was sent to find the raiders and one of them, Hakem Spin Baldak, was requested to handle the negotiations. Yesterday he sent a small group to Kunchai and when their negotiations were futile, he went in person, accompanied by a body of Afghan troops in six motor trucks. It was believed the release would be effected shortly.

It was reported that the prisoners have been treated considerately. No motive for the kidnapping has yet been established.

The British-India army list gives Major E. L. Marley as being an engineer serving at Quetta and Captain J. G. Frere serving as Brigade Major of the Twelfth Secunderabad Infantry Brigade.

Calls India Forces Adequate.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 6.—The MacDonald government considers the present forces in India are sufficient to assure "both internal and external peace," Wedgwood Benn, Secretary of State for India, told the House of Commons this afternoon.

Regarding the situation in the Northwest Frontier, Mr. Benn said that, according to an official telegram yesterday, a party of Afridis (Afghan tribesmen) entered a village within a mile of the Peshawar cantonments and had endeavored to enlist the assistance of the villagers in an attack on the city. The villagers refused, and the Afridis thereupon retired to the south and southwest in small parties. The government, Mr. Benn said, had not received any news of actual combat between the rival forces beyond the bombing of a more permanent Afridi camp on the night of June 4.

Students' Photos Used to Foil Professional Test-Takers

Students of Long Island University taking final examinations yesterday were required to present identification cards for admission to the tests. This procedure was adopted to prevent professional examination-takers from taking the tests for the students, it was said at the office of the institution.

The identification cards are similar to passports and bear photographs of the students. Students without identification cards are barred from the examinations and are required to take a later examination, for which an extra fee is charged.

Yesterday, however, ten students who had no identification cards were admitted after being identified by their teachers.

SHOPS PICKETED IN BOMBAY.

Nationalists Turn Away Indian Customers From British Stores.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOMBAY, June 6.—Congress House, the headquarters of the supreme "war council" of Mahatma Gandhi's civil disobedience movement, was plunged into a state of consternation this afternoon when 300 Bombay policemen suddenly descended on the place and arrested the entire personnel of the council with the exception of its only woman member.

For a number of days now the major portion of the city where Indian shops are located has been picketed by women satyagrahists (civil disobedience volunteers), attired in saris (scarfs) of orange-hued "cloth of sacrifice," who have installed themselves inside the shops and when customers have come in have approached them with the request, in very few instances unsuccessfully, to buy only Indian materials. Every shopkeeper at the same time has been pledged to refrain from restocking with British or foreign cloths.

Men Picket British Shops.

Today, however, this phase of the congress activities became more serious when men attired in light brown congress uniforms appeared at the leading British-owned shops, such as the Army and Navy Stores and Whiteway, Laidlaw & Co. Seating themselves at the entrances, they proceeded to turn away all prospective Indian customers. This was described to me by a congress leader as merely an experiment. Only fifty men were employed today, in order to observe the reaction of the police. If the picketing was successful today, 200 pickets were to be sent out tomorrow, then 400, until the whole city had been covered.

The raid by the police, however, leaves the Gandhi movement for the moment without a leader, save Mrs. Perin Captain, whom the police refused to take along today.

They arrived at Congress House a few minutes after 2 o'clock, led by Deputy Commissioner Coghlan. They promptly threw a cordon around the adjoining street intersections to keep away the mob while Commissioner Coghlan and his chief officers proceeded into the main building.

Arrest All But a Woman.

There they found Jinabhai Joshi, president of the Bombay Provincial Congress committee; D. Desai, secretary, and eleven others, including Mrs. Captain. They presented warrants and quietly led away the congress officers under arrest.

Mrs. Captain urged the police commissioner to include her among the prisoners. "I have done as much as anybody, and the responsibility is as much mine as theirs," she pleaded. But, in accordance with the police policy not to molest or interfere with women in any circumstances, Commissioner Coghlan merely smiled and turned away.

A search of the congress offices was made, and seditious documents were seized, in addition to machinery employed in the publication of the proscribed congress bulletin, which is still appearing with as great regularity as ever.

The reason no action was taken directly against the pickets is that the Vice-Regal ordinance against the picketing of foreign cloth shops is not yet in force in Bombay Presidency.

No disturbances were occasioned by the raid. The police remained on the premises for two hours, after which they retired quietly with their prisoners while the crowds outside looked on mutely.

New Raid at Dharasana.

BOMBAY, June 7 (AP).—Advices from Dharasana say 167 volunteers from various parts of the country attempted another raid on the salt deposits there today.

Shaukat Ali, the elder of the Ali brothers who were Mahatma Gandhi's right hand men in the non-cooperation movement of 1921, today declared in an interview in The Indian Daily Mail that Mr. Gandhi's "untimely and ill-advised plan of campaign" had raised a wall between Hindus and Moslems.

SUGAR DISPUTE SETTLED.

Argentine Provincial Government to Make Up Price Difference.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TUCUMAN, Argentina, June 6.—The trouble between the sugar growers and the mills, which threatened to paralyze the chief revenue producing industry of the Province of Tucuman, has been settled by the Provincial Government agreeing to grant 80,000 pesos (about $304,000) to make up the difference between the price demanded for the crop by the growers and that which the mills say is the highest they can pay.

The mills had agreed to pay three pesos (about $1.14) for ten kilograms (about 22 pounds) of cane delivered at the mills. The growers refused to cut the cane unless they were paid three pesos thirty centavos. After a deadlock lasting several weeks, the Provincial Government agreed to subscribe the difference. The mills have agreed to pay 400,000 pesos, it being estimated the crop will cost 480,000 pesos.

Laborites Again Assailed on Soviet Relations; Henderson Says He Has Given 700 Replies

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 6.—The resumption of diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia again arose to plague the Labor Government in the House of Commons today, but this time the debate petered out from sheer boredom. The subject apparently is becoming hackneyed, as could be seen from the plaintive statement of Foreign Minister Henderson that he had answered 700 questions on the subject in Parliament since the agreement was signed last Fall.

Commander Oliver Locker-Lampson opened the attack for the Conservatives, alleging that "a defaulting and robber republic" was receiving greater trade facilities than the British Dominions. The result of renewing recognition of Soviet Russia, he asserted, was an outburst of abuse in the Moscow Press, a resumption of Communist interference in British industries and the spread of trouble throughout the Empire.

"While the Conservatives were in office nobody ever heard of Gandhi," he exclaimed. "The moment the Soviet was recognized Gandhi was revived."

Robert A. Taylor, Laborite, retorted that there had been troubles in the empire and in British factories long before Bolshevism was invented. As for the "defaulting" phase, he admitted the pre-war debts must be acknowledged, but he said there were large Russian counter-claims which could not be forgotten.

The advice given to the government by Sir Austen Chamberlain was that it must call a halt on the "ceaseless and continuous boasting" by the Soviet Government about the very incidents of which Britain had a right to complain. Mr. Henderson answered that he was not ready to make such a protest and insisted that breaking off of relations would not end propaganda but would merely hinder trade. He justified the government's policy as one of peace and begged the house to be patient.

"I do not deny that there is much to be dissatisfied with," said the Foreign Secretary, "but the government has set up machinery and will take appropriate action at the right time. The result we all desire is to bring about the cessation of propaganda, and meanwhile the government asks the House to continue its confidence."

PLANS TAKING SHAPE FOR BYRD RECEPTION

Military and Naval Parade Is Expected to Escort Explorer to City Hall June 19.

AVIATION DINNER JUNE 25

1,000 Leaders to Attend and Admiral Will Get Gold Medal—Ad Men and Merchants Arrange Fetes.

Although no definite plans have been made by the Mayor's Committee for the Reception of Distinguished Guests, headed by Grover A. Whalen, for the homecoming from the Antarctic on June 19 of Rear Admiral Byrd and his men aboard the City of New York and the Eleanor Bolling, it was said yesterday at the committee's office that a large military and naval parade probably would accompany the party from the Battery to City Hall, where Mayor Walker will receive the explorers.

The Board of Estimate, at its meeting at City Hall yesterday, voted an appropriation of $9,000 to pay the expenses of the city's reception to Admiral Byrd.

The two Byrd ships are expected to meet at Quarantine, where the bark City of New York will be boarded by the Mayor's committee. The vessels will then proceed to the Battery.

The City Hall reception will be broadcast over Station WNYC. Immediately following the City Hall festivities, the Admiral will go to the Advertising Club, where he will be the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the club. Governor Roosevelt, Mayor Walker, Major Gen. Hanson E. Ely, Rear Admiral Louis R. de Steiguer, Adolph S. Ochs and Charles C. Green, former president of the club, are, with Admiral Byrd, tentatively scheduled to speak. Charles E. Murphy, president-elect of the club, will preside.

Others invited to the luncheon include Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Sir Hubert Wilkins, Clarence D. Chamberlin, Captain H. H. Railey, Willis H. Booth, George S. Mand, Charles V. Bob, Dr. John H. Finley, Commander Charles D. Rosendahl and William H. Woodin. Mr. Whalen is chairman of the arrangements committee and Gilbert D. Hodges of the club reception committee.

Aviation Men Plan Dinner.

One of the chief dinners to be given to Admiral Byrd and his companions will be that of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel Astor on June 25, which, the chamber announced yesterday, will be the most brilliant aeronautical fête since the dinner at which the leaders of aviation paid homage to Colonel Lindbergh on his return from Paris in 1927. At the dinner Admiral Byrd will receive a gold medal in commemoration of his South Pole flight.

Nearly 1,000 guests have accepted invitations to the dinner. Headed by the names of the leading figures in the development of military and commercial flying, the list includes world renowned fliers, engineers and financiers who have made possible the growth of aviation.

The gold medal, which is the work of Julio Kilyeni, winner of the sculptural competition for its design, will be duplicated in silver for the other members of the expedition and 1,000 copies of it will be struck in bronze for the guests at the dinner. On one side a critical moment in the history of the flight over the Pole, as the monoplane Floyd Bennett strained to climb over the last barrier of ice to the polar plateau, is depicted. The American eagle stands on the top of the plane's wing with its head pointed forward. On the upper half of the obverse side is a head of Admiral Byrd in flying helmet and goggles. The lower half shows the two Poles explored from the air by the Admiral. The dates of each flight—May 9, 1926, for the North Pole flight, and Nov. 29, 1929, for the South Pole flight—are inscribed here.

The inscription on the medal represents the wish of Admiral Byrd that credit be given to his associates and collaborators. Part of the inscription reads:

To Be Honored by Merchants.

On the night of June 19 the Merchants' Association of New York will give a dinner at the Astor in honor of Admiral Byrd and his associates. The American Arbitration Association will give a luncheon in his honor at the Astor on June 25, at which he will receive the association's gold medal "for the peaceful advancement of science and commerce." James H. Perkins will preside at this luncheon and Mrs. Vincent Astor will present the medal. The speakers will be former Judge John Bassett Moore, Floyd B. Odlum and Felix M. Warburg.

On June 30 the New York Athletic Club will give a dinner at the clubhouse and 3,000 persons are expected to attend. Major William Kennelly, president of the club, received a message from Admiral Byrd on Thursday accepting the invitation.

Admiral Byrd will describe his experiences over station WABC on June 24 from 9 to 10 P. M. The coast to coast hook-up will be arranged by the Tidewater Oil Company.

Captain Railey, who is Admiral Byrd's New York representative, will arrive here on Monday and confer with Mr. Whalen on Tuesday.

WILL HONOR RUSSELL OWEN

Russell Owen, correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES with the Byrd expedition, will be the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Newspaper Club of New York on June 28 at the Hotel Astor, the club announced yesterday. Admiral Byrd will also attend the dinner. Mr. Owen belongs to the club.

Among those who have received invitations to the dinner are Edsel Ford and John D. Rockefeller Jr., as well as many government officials, aviators and newspaper men from all parts of the country. Special cars will bring guests from Buffalo, Rochester, Utica, Syracuse and Albany, and a Southern contingent will arrive in special cars from Richmond, Va. An elaborate souvenir edition of The Three Em Dash, the club's official newspaper, containing contributions from many of the most distinguished writers and artists in the country, will be distributed at the dinner.

A dance will follow.

HOPED TO SAIL YACHT FROM RHINE TO GENEVA

Dutchman Vexed When Told Mountain Must Be Crossed—Vessel Goes by Rail.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, June 6.—The Dutch millionaire, Mr. Van Vroegt, with his family and friends, arrived at Basle recently in his palatial yacht, having followed the Rhine from Rotterdam. He wanted to continue the voyage to Ouchy on Lake Geneva.

When he was informed that the Swiss rivers and lakes were not deep enough to carry such a large yacht from the Rhine to Lake Geneva and that, incidentally, a small section of mountain would have to be crossed, he became rather angry, saying he possessed a Summer residence at Montreux and wanted the yacht for the holidays.

Finally, it was arranged that the yacht should be transported by rail. The yacht had to be dismantled to get through the tunnels and two specially constructed trucks with low wheels were needed.

The rail journey was made by night, when there was less traffic. There were many shuntings, but after eleven days the yacht arrived at Ouchy, near Lausanne, yesterday, and was later launched, being the first yacht seen on Lake Geneva.

Mr. Vroegt paid more than $5,000 for the railway transport alone. It is expected the entire expenses of the journey will be double this sum.

7 DEAD IN MEXICAN FLOOD.

Bodies Are Recovered as River Waters Recede at Chihuahua.

MEXICO CITY, June 6 (AP).—Dispatches from the city of Chihuahua said tonight that seven bodies had been recovered following the recession of the flooded Chaviscar River, which inundated the lower part of the city yesterday.

Most of the victims were workmen who were bolstering up the levee that gave way after the river rose, following a heavy storm. Damage to property was heavy.

OUR AID IS LIMITED IN YOUNG PLAN LOAN

Bankers Say Markets Here Will Probably Not Cooperate After $300,000,000 Issue.

NEW FINANCING STUDIED

By CARLISLE MacDONALD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—The forthcoming Young plan loan of $300,000,000 will very likely be the only reparation financing in which American interests will participate. From authoritative American banking sources it was learned today that all future German financial operations destined to meet the Reich's war debt payments will probably be arranged without the cooperation of the New York market.

Just how the carefully worked out schedule of future Young plan payments will be met as the payments fall due is not clearly indicated, but it is known several plans are under consideration. Any of these, it was said, would make the fulfillment of the future obligations of the Reich to its allied creditors possible by more direct methods.

In American banking circles here, it was explained that the first Young plan loan was of world-wide significance, as it marked the evolution of war debts from a political to a commercial basis. With the $300,000,000 loan successfully launched, however, it is said there will be no further reason for American participation in other reparation mobilizations.

Investment bankers from the nine participating countries will assemble here next Tuesday for a plenary session, called to approve the terms of the general bond. The subcommittee of four has been working night and day upon the twelve-page document in six languages. Unless unforeseen difficulties arise, the ceremonial of signing the contract between the bankers and the Reich will take place the same day. The issue will then be floated two or three days later.

Besides the contract between the bankers and the German Government, the following documents will also be signed:

A contract between Germany, the creditor powers, the investment bankers and officials of the Bank for International Settlements, setting forth the detailed terms of the loan.

An agreement between the Reich, the creditor States, the investment bankers and the world bank regarding the terms of the prospectus to appear in six languages.

A formal statement by the German Finance Minister concerning Germany's responsibility as to interest and principle of the payments, which is to form part of the prospectus.

As soon as the general agreement is ratified it will be taken to Basle and deposited with the world bank—the intermediary appointed under the terms of The Hague accords to carry out reparation operations.

The so-called gold clause has been inserted into the text of the obligations, and while it does not guarantee the holder against slight fluctuations in the value of the metal, it does assure payment in gold of interest and principal within the terms of the agreement not to internationalize the bonds.

Stimson Approves Loan Here.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Formal approval has been given by the State Department to the application of a syndicate of bankers, headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., to float in the United States about one-third of the $300,000,000 German reparations loan of 1930.

The department stated today that it would make no objection to the flotation of the American share of the loan, which on its face value is $100,000,000, although the actual dollar value is only about $83,000,000.

The recent criticisms of the proposed loan by Representative McFadden of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Committee on Banking, on the ground that the loan was illegal, have had no great weight with government officials.

M'DONALD EXPLAINS TUNNEL REJECTION

White Paper Lays the Greatest Stress on Military Problems of Channel Project.

OBJECTS TO HUGE EXPENSE

Cabinet Doubts Committee's Argument of Trade Rise, Saying Many Fear Harm to Home Business.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 6.—English insularity has beaten the Channel tunnel again, just as it has done each time the project has been put forward during the last half century. The government White Paper issued today to explain its decision against the tube between Dover and Calais lays the greatest emphasis on the military factor and almost seems to justify the statement that the tunnel was turned down because of the danger of war.

Not once does the government, which on previous occasions made great use of the Kellogg pact, mention the anti-war treaty as having altered the old General Staff objections. Nor, indeed, does it mention seasickness or any modern remedies for it.

In great detail the White Paper sets out two arguments which would seem to cancel each other until such time as a fuller statement may be made, which may well bring out other reasons than those now stated. In the first place, the government says it sees no military advantage in the tunnel, and, in the second place, it points out the great effort it would take to protect it in time of conflict. Advocates of the plan will surely seek in the House of Commons next week for an explanation of the contradiction, which probably is only apparent.

Rejects Committee's Approval.

In taking its decision the government turned down the report of its channel tunnel committee, which strongly advocated construction of the tube. The white paper casts doubt on the business aspects of the proposition, emphasizes its great cost and finds that it would not contribute largely to solving the unemployment problem. But it is in the military aspect that it is positive and agrees with its military advisers that the late Earl of Balfour was right when he said: "So long as the ocean remains our friend let us not deliberately destroy its power to help us." It added that in making its adverse decision the government consulted Stanley Baldwin and David Lloyd George.

The White Paper estimates the cost of a tunnel at $150,000,000 and points to the fact that the capital now invested in cross-Channel transportation would be rendered unproductive. It states it would take eight years to build the tube. If the government sanctioned the project even under private auspices it would incur, it is stated, great responsibility for its completion. While the committee saw better business as a result of the tunnel the White Paper says the government found a great deal of doubt about that result and asserted many manufacturers feared it would increase imports and thus harm domestic business.

The Government said it had not been able to find any strong demand for the tunnel. It admitted it would greatly increase the number of passengers coming to England from the Continent "but doubts were expressed as to whether this would prove to the economic advantage of this country." Should the tunnel take more Englishmen to the Continent for pleasure that would mean an economic loss to England.

The Cabinet says that neither in the committee's report nor in the evidence it had collected can it find sufficient economic reasons for his Majesty's Government to construct or help construct the Channel tunnel.

Military Considerations Listed.

Then comes the military considerations. The White paper says:

"If this island were to be connected with the Continent by a tunnel the government's advisers on defense matters always have insisted and still insist that it shall be adequately protected, and this would cost a great deal of money."

The document says the matter has been investigated most thorouhgly and that "there is a multiplicity of forms of attack to which the tunnel would be exposed under modern conditions. It says that instead of emerging close to the coast the military authorities would have insisted that it emerge much further inland and that this would add to the construction cost. There would also be the cost of defenses to be constructed and maintained.

"One thing to which the government's advisers strongly object," says the white paper, "is the acceptance of a new and expensive military commitment at a time when our imperial defense forces have been reduced to a level which leaves no margin beyond our existing commitments. So long as there are great military establishments in Europe, a tunnel, if not adequately defended, becomes a potential danger; if properly defended, a military commitment would be incurred in which considerable forces would be locked up and immobilized."

Further on the white paper states: "The committee on imperial defense were unable to discover a single advantage from the military point of view which would follow from construction a Channel tunnel. On the contrary, it would result only in an increased military commitment, involving in certain happily remote contingencies an element of danger, to provide against which heavy capital and an annual expenditure would have to be incurred."

Firm for Old Policy.

In conclusion the government says: "Having regard to the element of doubt as to the feasibility of construction, the weakness of the economic case, the great cost, the long period before which the capital expended could fructify and the small amount of employment provided, the government has come to the conclusion there is no justification for a reversal of the policy pursued by successive governments for nearly fifty years in regard to the Channel tunnel."

In a London dispatch published in THE NEW YORK TIMES on May 30 it was predicted that the position of the Committee on Imperial Defense plus the position of Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, would result in rejection of the tunnel plan.

Irish Shark Caught Off Jersey; 15-Footer Battles Two Hours

LONG BRANCH, N. J., June 6.—Charles Holgerson and Gustave Gustafson, fishermen of North Long Branch, brought more than a tale of shark to Long Branch early today. They brought the shark. It was fifteen feet from tip to tip. It arrived without any advance publicity and, according to the local shark experts, had made pikers of all Channel swimmers by traveling under its own power from the West Coast of Ireland, its natural habitat, to fifteen miles off Long Branch, where the fishermen found it.

It is of the breed known as "basking," but it quit basking when it got tangled in the gill net the fishermen had spread for mackerel and gave them a two-hour fight. After breaking three oars, according to their story, they towed it ashore, alive.

ASSERTS KOUTIEPOFF HOLDS RED ARMY POST

Berlin Paper Says Ex-Czarist General Who Vanished From Paris Is in Moscow.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 6.—The former Czarist General Kuotiepoff, whose mysterious disappearance from Paris on Jan. 26 gave rise to innumerable theories and fruitless investigations, is living in Moscow of his own free will and is occupying a high position in the Red Army, according to the latest account of the old soldier's fate, published today in the weekly newspaper Das Kleine Journal.

General Koutiepoff, says the paper, overcome by a longing, natural to a true soldier, to be once again in command of troops, had recently been in indirect communication with Red Army officials for a long time.

The final conversation between the General and two G. P. U. agents, says the paper, took place on Jan. 20 "in a little hotel in Mittel-Strasse, Berlin," with two other G. P. U. agents listening in the next room. The first two agents were de Roberti and Popoff, former members of General Koutiepoff's staff who went over to the Soviet. They promised the General a position of trust, but said he must keep the agreement secret.

The General returned to Paris and told his wife that when a Russian was called he must heed the summons like a good soldier. It appears that one or another Russian taxi driver in Paris regularly telephoned the General in the mornings to ask if he wanted a driver. On Jan. 26 the General answering the usual query, said "no," and neatly disappeared.

The paper asserts it found all this out because de Roberti, passing through Cologne on May 14, "talked a bit too loudly," and adds, "a few days later de Roberti returned to Moscow, where on May 20 he was placed against a wall and shot."

WILL STUDY OUR METHODS.

Uruguay to Investigate Process of Refrigeration and Soil Chemistry.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MONTEVIDEO, June 6.—The Uruguayan Minister of Industries, Dr. Edmundo Castillo, is planning to send a representative to the United States to study several new developments in science and industry which he believes could be adopted to advantage in Uruguay.

A special study is to be made of new applications of chemistry in agriculture and of a new method of meat refrigeration, Uruguay being an exporter of chilled beef to the British market. The delegate will also investigate the use of charcoal as a fuel for tractors to determine the feasibility of replacing expensive imported gasoline with cheap domestic charcoal.

MACEDONIAN CHIEF DYING.

Instigator of Yugoslav Bombings Believed a Victim of Tuberculosis.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SOFIA, June 6.—Michailoff, the notorious leader of the Macedonian committee which was blamed for causing the recent international complications by its bombing attacks on Yugoslav towns, is reported to be dying.

To Michailoff's instigation is generally attributed the assassination of his rival leader, Protogeroff. Early reports were that Michailoff was a victim of an attempted assassination, but the Protogeroff party denies any attack. It is understood he is suffering from tuberculosis.

As Michailoff is sought by the police for a number of murders, the name of the sanitarium where he is confined has been kept secret by his followers.

LEAPS IN SEA MANACLED.

Notorious Finnish Liquor Runner, Unharmed, Recaptured on Island.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HELSINGFORS, June 6.—Captain Niska, the notorious Finnish liquor runner, has made another of his dramatic bids for freedom. While being taken from Sweden to Finland under arrest he contrived to evade his guards and, although manacled, jumped overboard when the steamer was near the coast.

The steamer hove to and boats were lowered, but Captain Niska kept sufficiently submerged to escape. He was sighted on a neighboring island the next day and a long chase with bloodhounds followed. Captain Niska finally was recaptured today, none the worse for his adventure.

KULAKS BURN COLLECTIVES.

Rich Peasants in Ukrainia Resort to Sabotage to Fight Soviet.

GOMEL, Ukrainia, June 6 (AP).—Kulaks, or rich peasants, enraged at the Soviet Government's plan of converting individual poor and middle-class farms into large State-controlled collective farms, today set fire to the two largest collective farms in this district.

Sheds containing agricultural machinery were destroyed, leaving the collectives without means of production. Members of the collectives appealed to the government to punish the Kulaks.

The rich peasants long have been fighting for their existence, as the government has determined to exterminate them.

BLOWN-UP BUILDING HELD BIG DISTILLERY

Federal Agents Find "Largest Plant in East" in the Ruins of Warehouse Where Three Died.

DENY ACCUSING FIREMEN

Puncturing of Many Containers of Alcohol and Other Mutilations Unexplained.

A six-story warehouse at 510 West Twenty-seventh Street, which burned last Wednesday after explosions that are believed to have killed three men whose bodies were found later in an upper floor, was described yesterday by H. J. Simmons, special agent of the Treasury Department, as one of the largest distilleries ever discovered in the East.

This announcement was made thirty-six hours after the fire, when for the first time while firemen and policemen were still in charge of the ruins of the building, Mr. Simmons and his agents were allowed to enter. Even then, at 11 A. M., the agents who said they had planned to visit the premises last week, were warned that the upper walls were shaky and that the rear wall was likely to collapse at any moment.

The agents denied last night that they had accused the firemen of destroying evidence or of barring their way into the building. However, the mystery of the fire and explosion was further increased, they said, by their discovery of 150 five-gallon cans that seemed to have been battered or hacked in, as if with some sharp instrument, after the fire.

Huge Distilling Apparatus.

The agents discovered also, they said, eighteen charred wooden vats, an eighty-foot copper column and what was left of four stills, once capable, they said, of making 10,000 to 15,000 gallons of alcohol.

The agents expressed regret that other evidence had been destroyed, though they supposed it had been done while the firemen were extinguishing the flames, which enveloped the midtown section with clouds of dense smoke.

Harry Schwartz, Assistant United States Attorney, arrived at the building soon after the firemen turned it over to agents of the Treasury Department. He began an investigation to discover the owner of the apparatus and 600 empty fire-gallon cans found in an adjoining building.

Mr. Schwartz said he would probably issue John Doe subpoenas for a Federal grand jury inquiry. At the same time an investigation was begun in the office of District Attorney Crain to fix responsibility for the deaths of the three men.

Expects to Find More Bodies.

George L. Ross, deputy fire chief, in charge, believes that more bodies may be found in the cellar, which is still flooded with ten feet of water. His men continued pumping out the cellar with the hope of finding the bodies of a watchman and an engineer, if they have been lost, as reported.

Police of the Homicide Squad gave little credence to the theory that the three unidentified victims had been murdered and that the murderers had set the fire to cover up evidence of the slaying.

Agents said they had been informed that the warehouse was supposed to have been occupied on the ground floor by the Meriden Oil Engine Corporation. The other floors, they said, were reported vacant. As a matter of fact, the agents said, they discovered much half-destroyed apparatus that had nothing to do with oil engines.

Huge copper pipes, they said, ran from the cellar to the roof and back again. There was storage place in the building, they said, for 200,000 gallons of alcohol. The agents conducted their search after discovering nine trucks next door loaded with yeast and brown sugar.

it was admitted that it might have been better had the White House discussion been abjured.

"It is a laudable ambition," said Mr. Frelinghuysen, "to aspire to the Presidency of the United States, but it is somewhat confusing when a candidate for the Presidency still retains a portfolio as Ambassador and also is a candidate for the United States Senate at the same time.

Calls for Morrow Statement.

"In the presence of these enthusiastic supporters Mr. Morrow made no protest to the proclamation in his behalf. If Mr. Morrow is a candidate for President he should take the people of New Jersey into his confidence and say so, as well as to inform the people at this time where he stands on the issues that will confront him as United States Senator.

"This applies to Mr. Fort as well. May we expect the announcement of his candidacy for President in a short time? I subscribe to the belief that a man should run for one office at a time and should become a Senator to serve the people of New Jersey and for no other reason."

Mr. Morrow was a target for attack from another direction when a letter written by the Rev. Dr. James K. Shields, New Jersey Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, was made public. In this letter Dr. Shields, whose organization is supporting Mr. Fort, urged dry Democrats who did not vote last year for one reason or another to go into the Republican primary on June 17 and vote for Mr. Fort.

The communication, addressed to pastors of the State, said that since Alexander C. Simpson, Democratic choice for the Senate nomination, was a wet, the only way to insure a candidate for the drys was to swing behind Mr. Fort. "This should be made plain to members of your congregation, adult Sunday school and Bible classes," the letter read.

Suspect Big Gifts by Wets.

"The superiority complex which has been urged in behalf of one candidate," the latter continued "is political camouflage. Mr. Fort is in every way the equal of any candidate in the field. He is courageously standing for a great principle that has been made the main issue of this campaign by the wets and is doubtless being heavily financed by the millionaires backing the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment."

At the Morrow headquarters it was denied that such financial support was being aligned for Mr. Morrow. It was learned that soon after the Ambassador made his demand for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and return of liquor control to States, numerous offers of large financial contributions reached the headquarters. It was said that Mr. Morrow insisted on limiting the amounts to be received.

With word from Washington that the Senate Campaign Fund Investigating Committee, headed by Senator Geradl Nye, had ordered agents into the State to inquire into charges that large sums were being expended, headquarters of all three candidates issued statements avowing that the statutory limit of $50,000 was being observed and that investigation would be welcomed and aided.

Nearly 2,000 persons attended the Paterson meeting. Mr. Morrow later spoke in similar vein at Passaic.

FUND INQUIRY ORDERED IN JERSEY CAMPAIGN

Senate Committee Hears Expenses Rival Illinois's—Oklahoma Investigation to Follow.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Investigation of charges that "money is being used unrestrictedly in the Republican primary" in New Jersey, and that excessive campaign funds are being expended in Oklahoma, was ordered today by the Senate committee investigating expenditures of Senatorial candidates.

Special agents were sent into both States to watch the progress of the primaries and inquire into the complaints that the primary law in New Jersey is "being openly flaunted."

In New Jersey, according to Senator Nye, chairman of the committee, the expenditures of a senatorial candidate is limited to $50,000 eight months before a primary election.

According to the charges made to the committee the law is being ignored in the New Jersey fight in which Dwight W. Morrow, Ambassador to Mexico; ex-Senator Frelinghuysen, both favoring repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and Representative Franklin W. Fort, upholding the amendment, are seeking the Republican nomination for the Senate.

While the complaints in several instances made specific charges of vast expenditures by one of the three Republican candidates, and asserted that the expenditures will closely crowd those in Illinois, Senator Nye declined to say what candidate is charged with the heaviest expenditures. He asserted, however, that all sides were accused of extravagant use of money.

There has been no complaint made against the illegal use of money by Democrats in New Jersey.

In Oklahoma, where Senator Pine has two opponents for the Republican nomination, and there is a healthy rivalry among the Democrats in the Senatorial primary, the allegations are that both parties are indulging in unusual campaign expenditures.

The agents, Senator Nye said, will inquire into the report, and after the primaries the committee will conduct an investigation into the situations in both States. The candidates will be summoned to Washington to give an account of their expenditures.

Inquiries by the committee into the primaries in Pennsylvania and Illinois are still pending. Senator Nye said he would soon leave for Illinois and confer with the investigators who have been going into reports alleging that vasts sums, unaccounted for by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, were expended in her behalf by the Thompson organization in Cook County.

PANTAGES WINS RELEASE.

California Supreme Court Frees Him for Heart Treatment.

LOS ANGELES, June 6 (AP).—Alexander T. Pantages, multimillionaire theatre owner, was released from the county jail late today under $100,000 bond after he had been in custody since October pending appeal from a sentence for criminal assault.

Pantages won in the State Supreme Court today the fight he had waged since December for release on bond in order that he might obtain expert medical care for a heart ailment, recurrent attacks of which had caused his confinement in the jail hospital for five months.

The court ruled the man's life was endangered by his confinement, after considering evidence presented at three hearings in the Superior Court at which Pantages failed to win temporary release.

In the corridors of the Hall of Justice Pantages was met by his wife, his daughter and one son, Lloyd Pantages. The family departed immediately for the Pantages residence, where the multimillionaire will remain under the care of his physicians.

FRELINGHUYSEN SAYS ISSUES ARE EVADED

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, N. J., June 6.—Asserting that his opponents for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, Dwight W. Morrow and Franklin W. Fort, had remained silent on all issues except prohibition, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen outlined his platform tonight and called upon Mr. Morrow to say where he stood on the World Court, public utility regulation, the London naval treaty and "ripper" legislation. Mr. Frelinghuysen's speech was a radio address over Station WOR from the Hotel Walt Whitman.

Mr. Frelinghuysen said that one of the important issues before the people of New Jersey was the proper regulation of the Public Service Corporation. "Senator Baird, recognized as the supreme boss of the Republican party in the State, is a director of the Public Service Corporation," he continued. "The Legislature is subservient to its interests. It is true that there is a Public Utilities Commission, but grave doubt exists among the people that they are being served.

"The ten-cent fare works a great hardship upon the people and they are powerless to obtain relief. There is no champion of their rights among the present political leaders nor have they any reason to believe that Mr. Morrow has any intention of being such a champion.

"There is now in process of formation in the United States a great power trust, in which the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey is an important link. I favor Federal regulation as I favor State regulation. Where does Mr. Morrow stand on this question? His entire business career has been spent as an associate partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., which now figures importantly in the ownership and control of the Public Service Corporation. In view of this fact, Mr. Morrow should tell the people of New Jersey whether he will protect their rights or allow his sympathies to be absorbed by the interests of of his former business associates."

Mr. Frelinghuysen declared that he was for an adequate navy and an adequate protective tariff. He asked where Mr. Morrow stood on these.

TONG HEADS HUNTED; TWO MORE DIE HERE

WARN OF DEPORTATIONS

One Man Is Stabbed to Death on Hester St.—Owner Shot Dead in Brooklyn Laundry.

The slaying of one Chinese on Hester Street and another in Brooklyn yesterday, bringing the toll here and in Newark to four in thirty hours, led District Attorney Crain and Police Commissioner Mulrooney to arrange for a conference this morning in the prosecutor's office with leaders of the Hip Sing Tong and the On Leong Tong. Both officials said they were convinced that the three killings marked a revival of the old feud between the two tongs.

Detectives were sent into Chinatown to round up six leaders of each of the tongs, including Eddie Dong of the Hip Sings and Henry and Frank Moy of the On Leongs, and insist that they appear at Mr. Crain's office at 10 A. M. today.

"We have learned that certain leaders of the two tongs who had not been in this city for some time appeared in Chinatown several days ago," Mr. Mulrooney said. "Their appearance followed reports received by the police that recently a group of On Leongs had joined the Hip Sings, in violation of an agreement made between the tongs a few years ago when an outbreak of tong killings resulted in many deportations."

When he was informed that detectives working on the killing in Brooklyn suspected it was the outcome of a "racket" among criminal Chinese, who demanded money from countrymen for protection, the commissioner said: "We are certain that, too, was a tong killing. The old feud between the Hip Sings and the On Leongs has been revived, with the Hip Sings on the defensive and the On Leongs on the offensive."

District Attorney Crain said that when the tong leaders appeared this morning an effort would be made to patch up their differences, with a warning that continuance of hostilities would be met with round-ups of Chinese throughout the city with a view to wholesale deportations.

In an altercation with another Chinese in front of 104 Hester Street last night Cheong Fook of 10 Chatham Square was stabbed fatally in the stomach with a breadknife. He chased his assailant as far as 67 Forsyth Street, where he dropped and died a few minutes later. Herman Firman of 400 Grand Street, passing in a taxicab, captured a man alleged to be the slayer after a brief chase and took him to the Elizabeth Street station.

Later, the alleged slayer was identified as Dei Get of 104 Hester Street. The police were told that he and Fook were both members of the Tong On Society, a neutral organization, with headquarters at 10 Chatham Square. The prisoner asserted that the victim had attempted to rob him.

Lou Sing, also known as Louis Lee, was shot and killed in his bunk in the rear of his laundry at 217 Watkins Street, in the Brownsville section of Brooklyn, by an unidentified Chinese shortly after 5 A. M. yesterday. The victim had operated the place under the name Y. M. Yung.

Five shots fired by the assassin were heard by a passer-by, who later told detectives that a few seconds after the shooting he saw a Chinese emerge from the front door, turn a key in the lock and walk away.

The Chinese arrested at 199 Clinton Avenue, Newark, shortly after Eng Sing, Hip Sing tongman, had been killed with a hatchet in his laundry shop at 509 Hawthorne Avenue, Newark, Thursday, were held without bail at Newark Police Headquarters yesterday. The two are Gong Tang, 60 years old, and Gong Ning, 30, said to be his nephew. The police said they believed one of the prisoners was among the group seen fleeing from the laundry man.

WEEKLY MESSAGES TO BARTLETT BY RADIO

KDKA Will Broadcast to Greenland Expedition Beginning Next Saturday.

Regular weekly messages to Captain Bob Bartlett and his crew on the schooner Morrisey are to be sent out beginning next Saturday, at 11 P. M., Eastern Daylight Time, by KDKA and its associated short-wave transmitters. The party, known as the Northeast Greenland Expedition, sailed from New York Thursday. The messages will be sent on KDKA's 309-meter channel as well as on the 25 and 48 meter waves, which are expected to reach the expedition under all conditions and in all seasons. Relatives and friends may send greetings to the men of the party by addressing communications to George Wendt, Canadian Westinghouse Company, Ltd., at Montreal, who will forward them by radio free of charge.

Other messages will be sent out by KDKA and associated short-wave stations to Dr. Herbert S. Dickey, who is on an expedition in South America; the party now on the Greenland ice cap, and to other bands of explorers in remote sections.

The Morrisey is adequately equipped with radio receivers and loud speakers, so all members of the expedition may hear the broadcast messages. The call letters of the expedition are VOQH. Edward Manley is the radio man of the party.

PRESS AGENTS ELECT.

Wallace Munro Heads Theatrical Press Representatives.

Wallace Munro, heading the candidates on the regular ticket of the Theatrical Press Representatives of America, was elected president of the organization, succeeding Beauvis Fox, yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting, held at Keen's Chop House, 107 West Forty-fourth Street.

Other officers chosen were E. V. Giroux, Helen Hoerle and Arthur Ryan, vice presidents; Ralph Kettering, Thomas La Brun, Al W. Sheehan, Lewis Haase, Sherman Danby, E. G. Cooke, G. G. Garrette, regional vice presidents; Helen Ingersoll, recording secretary; Francis E. Reid, corresponding secretary, and S. M. Weller, treasurer. Mark A. Luescher, Frank C. Payne, Mr. Fox, Ollie Alger, Arthur J. Levy, Cepha Day, Edgar Wallach and Victor Kiraly were elected to the board of governors.

The Theatrical Press Representatives were organized in 1922 by Wells Hawks. The membership exceeds 300.

DAILY ROUGHAGE IS AN ESSENTIAL IN ANY DIET

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Effective Relief for Constipation. Also Adds Iron to the Blood

Do you suffer from constipation? Are you one of those who have tried one "vest pocket cure" after another and still have no sense of permanent relief? If so, this is big news to you! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is natural, effective relief for both temporary and recurring constipation. It is the original—and today is included in the diets of millions of people who formerly suffered from constipation.

When roughage is missing from food, constipation is the consequence. The soft foods we eat today seldom include enough roughage. The simple necessity, then, is to see to it that sufficient roughage is included in our food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the bulk that your system requires.

In addition, it is rich in iron. Scientific research proves that nearly all this iron is absorbed by the system, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed. Your money will be returned if you are not satisfied. Be sure to include it in reducing diets as a preventive for both constipation and anemia.

There are so many ways you can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN and enjoy it. In any form, it is appetizing. It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals and soups and notice the added flavor. Many people soak it in fruit juices. Excellent in cooked foods. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. It is served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Ask for it! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DR. FINLEY WARNS OF 'DE-EDUCATION'

He Tells 193 Lafayette Graduates They Must Continue Their Intellectual Inquiries.

JUSTICE ROBERTS HONORED

Gen. Le Jeune Also Gets Degree—Seniors Present $2,000 Fund for Placement Bureau.

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Pa., June 6.—"It is imperatively necessary that an educated man continue his inquiries and intellectual endeavors or he will become 'de-educated,'" Dr. John H. Finley of New York told the 193 members of the graduating class of Layfayette College in his commencement address here today. He urged the proper use of leisure time, explaining that one of the major ends of education is to teach the right use of leisure time.

Dr. Finley said that Lafayette College, through the establishment of its alumni college, had taken a significant part in the progress of adult education, which, he held, was advancing as never before.

Care in Vocation Choice Urged.

Dr. Finley expressed the hope that education would not be over for those who were graduating this year, simply because their formal college course was ended.

"Here at Lafayette you young men have the book of the world open to you, but when you leave Lafayette you must not lose that book," he said.

Dr. Finely urged the members of the senior class to choose the vocation which will put them on their mettle by challenging their skill to the highest degree. Too many men, he said, choose vocations which in no way add to their education. To vegetate and lead a purely physical existence, he characterized as one of the greatest tragedies in life.

Dr. Finley paid a tribute to Francis A. March, for many years head of the Department of English at Lafayette, who he described as one of the greatest philologists of the time.

Dr. Finley received the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature; Owen J. Roberts, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and General Lejeune of the Marine Corps, each received the degree of Doctor of Laws; and the Rev. Dr. R. C. Hutchinson, dean of the American College at Teheran, Persia, and the Rev. Henry B. Master, secretary of the board of ministerial relief of the Presbyterian Church, each received that of Doctor of Divinity.

At the luncheon held in the gymnasium, Justice Roberts said he was "very proud to become an alumnus of the college and doubly proud that this honor came to me on the thirty-fifth anniversary of my graduation from the University of Pennsylvania, when I delivered the valedictory address."

Prize Winners Are Announced.

Semi-centennial diplomas, awards for alumni of Lafayette whose graduation took place fifty years or more ago, were presented to a group from 231 eligible to receive them.

NORMAL SCHOOL DEDICATED

Dr. Elliott Delivers Address at New Jersey City Institution.

No group in New Jersey holds a greater responsibility for the future of that State than the 27,000 teachers in the public schools, Dr. Charles H. Elliott, State Commissioner of Education, said yesterray at the dedication ceremonies for the newly completed New Jersey State Normal School, on Hudson Boulevard in the Greenville section of Jersey City. The future of the country as a whole, he said, depends on its educational institutions.

Governor Larson, Col. D. Stewart Craven, president of the State Board of Education; Harry F. O'Mealia, president of the Jersey City Board of Education, and Commissioner Arthur Potterson, director of Parks and Public Property for Jersey City, also took part in the ceremonies. The building was erected at a cost of $1,160,000.

RUTGERS BESTOWS 8 HONOR DEGREES

Dr. Day, Head of Union College; Prof. Davis of Columbia and Dr. J. H. Wycoff Get Titles.

356 RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Dr. Thomas Presents Citations at University's First Outdoor Commencement.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 6.—Rutgers University conferred eight honorary degrees at its 164th annual commencement here today, in addition to the 356 degrees conferred upon students. The degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Frank Parker Day, president of Union College. The Rev. Joseph R. Sizzo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C., received the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

The commencement exercises were held out of doors for the first time in the history of Rutgers. Dr. John M. Thomas, president of the university, presented the degrees. Frederick C. LaRocker of Bogota and Chester V. Stalker of New Brunswick, members of the graduating class, made the commencement addresses.

The citations as read by Dr. Thomas in bestowing the honorary degrees follow:

Frank Parker Day—Son of a Canadian circuit rider of the order of Peter Cartwright; graduate of Mount Allison University, Rhodes scholar from New Brunswick, Canada; holder of two degrees from Oxford University; great scholar, great teacher, great soldier, great in the elemental qualities that make a man, and by the grace of God also a great fisherman; promising successor of Eliphalet Nott at old Union, inheritor next to Rutgers of the Dutch tradition in these United States; Rutgers University is proud to welcome you today among its honorary alumni through bestowal of the degree of Doctor of Laws.

Joseph Richard Sizoo—Native of The Netherlands and graduate of Hope College and of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary; formerly pastor of churches of the Reformed Church of America, and chaplain of the United States Army in overseas service; called to be the minister of a church in the nation's capital which faint-hearted men had considered doomed to decadence and extinction, by strong and searching preaching, by sterling character and resolute will, and by devoted exemplification in personal life of the noblest precepts of the Christian faith, he has made his pulpit a commanding centre of religious life and service; Rutgers University confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Divinity.

Bergen Davis—Graduate of Rutgers College of the class of 1896. Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy of Columbia University, in whose faculty for twenty-seven years he has been a distinguished member of the Department of Physics; outstanding experimentalist in the field of X-ray spectroscopy; contributer of valuable knowledge on the division of incident X-ray quanta, reflection from crystals, and the herding of X-rays in crystals and prisms; your alma mater, on whom you have conferred honor by your fame in research, is pleased to honor you with the degree of Doctor of Science.

John Wyckoff Nettler—Graduate of Rutgers University of the class of 1899 and of the New York Law School of the class of 1901; builder of a great industry through superlative power of vision, judgment and courage; than whom Rutgers University has no son more loyal or more appreciative of the honor of its past and the possible greater honors of its future, and no trustee more devoted in service, more helpful in the maintenance of its outward beauty and its inner worth, or more sincerely loved by his associates and fellow alumni; your alma mater, with singular earnestness of approval of its governing board, confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws.

William Budington Duryee—Graduate of Rutgers University of the class of 1910. Teacher of the first course in agriculture offered in a New Jersey high school. First farm demonstrator in the State of New Jersey, a pioneer in the agricultural extension service which now reaches every farm and farm home in New Jersey. For five years Secretary of the State Department of Agriculture, under whose wise leadership the agriculture of New Jersey has adapted itself successfully to rapidly changing conditions and maintained its prosperity in the face of encroaching industry. Your alma mater on this twentieth anniversary of your graduation confers upon you the honorary degree of Master of Science.

Abram Duryee—Some time member of the class of 1893 and graduate of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary of the class of 1894. Minister of the gospel whose life has been nobly consecrated to the religious instruction of youth. Secretary of the Board of Publication and Bible School Work of the Reformed Church of America. Rutgers University confers upon you the degree of Master of Arts.

George Richards Morrison—Some time member of the class of 1914. Graduate of the New Jersey Law School, active in the practice of the law in his native city. Representative of Middlesex County in the legislation of New Jersey and distinguished for conscientious and efficient service. Rutgers University confers upon you the degree of Master of Arts.

John Henry Wyckoff—Some time member of the class of 1905, whose honored father of the class of 1871 was a member of Rutgers's famous first football team. Doctor of Medicine and Professor of Clinical Medicine of the University and Bellevue Hospital Medical College of New York. Cited for conspicuous and exceptional service in the Medical Corps of the American Expeditionary Force. Rutgers University, in token of your achievements, on this twenty-fifth anniversary of the graduation of your class and on the sixteenth anniversary of your wedding day is pleased to confer upon you the degree of Bachelor of Arts and to direct that your name be inscribed on the roll of its graduates of the class of 1905.

PEEKSKILL ACADEMY GRADUATES 60 CADETS

C. C. Paulding, New York Central Executive, Delivers the Commencement Address.

Special to The New York Times.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., June 6.—Sixty cadets were graduated at the ninety-seventh annual commencement exercises of the Peekskill Military Academy, held here today. The principal speaker was Charles Cook Paulding, vice president of the New York Central Railroad and a graduate of the academy in the class of 1885.

Warning against taking seriously "the solemn freaks who gravely assure us that we are in a state of moral decadence," Mr. Paulding declared that "it is my firm belief that we are today better as a people, morally, physically and mentally, than any people have been since the beginning of history."

Mr. Paulding drew a contrast between educational facilities in the past and in the present, asserting that graduates now "are more broadly educated, more intensively instructed and better fitted to face the world and the conditions they will meet than was ever before the case in history.

"It is fortunate that this is so," continued Mr. Paulding, "for competition in all lines of endeavor is greater than ever before."

Cornelius A. Pugsley, president of the board of trustees of the academy, presented the diplomas and the medal and trophy awards to the various prize winners. The principal prize awards were:

20 BOYS GET DIPLOMAS AT RIVERDALE SCHOOL

Twenty boys received diplomas and certificates last night at the annual commencement exercises of Riverdale Country School at Riverdale-on-Hudson and heard United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle speak on the opportunities that await modern youth. Mr. Tuttle cited Colonel Lindbergh's accomplishments as evidence of the adventure and achievement that lies within every boy's power.

"What one sees in life," said Mr. Tuttle, "is what one has already seen in one's self. The faith today is at flood tide. This is the time to yield to a richer religion. Your own country of 120,000,000 people is the world's greatest adventure today. We need a race of people to perpetuate our institutions as subjective, as a thing within."

Dr. Frank Hackett, headmaster, presented the awards. W. G. Claytor Jr., who delivered the salutatory, won the honors as head boy. Donald Haggerty won the award for the best athlete and Gordon F. Biehn got the prize for proficiency in scholarship.

Professor Archibald Douglas, president of the board of trustees of the school, addressed the graduates and Emile H. Kluge Jr. spoke for the class. The exercises were held in the gymnasium because of inclement weather. More than 200 persons attended.

Those receiving diplomas were:

John R. Adams
Coleman H. Benedict
Gordon F. Biehn
Walter R. Bode
Frank E. Campbell Jr.
W. G. Claytor Jr.
Clarence M. Condon
James R. Foster
Howard A. Golieb

GIVES SUBMARINE DIPLOMAS

Navy School at New London Turns Out 37 Graduates.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 6 (AP).—Diplomas were presented to thirty-seven naval officers today at the graduation exercises of the Submarine Training School.

Rear Admiral T. C. Hart, commander of the naval control force, addressed the class, which included twenty-four lieutenants and thirteen ensigns.

65 TO BE GRADUATED AT STEVENS TODAY

GRADUATE SCHOOL PLANNED

Trustees Decide on Expansion—New Courses Will Lead to Master of Science.

Sixty-five graduates will receive the degree of Mechanical Engineer this morning at the fifty-eighth annual commencement of the Stevens Institute of Technology in the William Walker Hall Gymnasium on the campus at Castle Point, Hoboken. The exercises will begin at 10:30, following the academic procession from the Administration Building to the gymnasium. Four honorary degrees will be conferred.

Conrad N. Lauer of Philadelphia, vice president of the United Gas Improvement Company, will speak. Norman Fraser of Palisades Park, N. J., will give the salutatory, and Andres G. Otero of Caracas, Venezuela, the valedictory.

Institution to Expand.

It was announced yesterday that the trustees of the institute, at their meeting on the campus on Thursday, had decided to expand the institution by adding a graduate school with courses leading to the degree of Master of Science. Heretofore the institute has awarded only the degree of Mechanical Engineer, after four years of undergraduate instruction. The decision to provide graduate work was reached after the institute had received a request from the United States Navy Department to give instruction to students of the Naval Academy in the use of the gyroscopic compass.

Walter Kidde of Montclair, N. J., was re-elected chairman of the board of trustees. He is an engineer, and former member of the State Highway Commission.

13 PRINCIPALS PICKED FOR PROMOTION TEST

The Board of Superintendents selected thirteen candidates yesterday out of a group of twenty-seven applying for the vacant district superintendency to take an oral test next Friday morning at 500 Park Avenue. All twenty-seven are school principals who were chosen out of an original list of sixty applicants. Their schools were visited by associate superintendents in an effort to gauge their respective efficiency.

Superintendent William J. O'Shea said that the names of the thirteen candidates would be made public on Wednesday.

The board also named five candidates for junior high school principalships. Three of these positions are vacant. The candidates who will be interviewed by the board on Tuesday are:

REGINA M. BURKE, principal of Public School 39, the Bronx.

MARY B. DILLON, principal of Public School 59, Manhattan.

ELIZABETH D. HAAS, principal of Public School 2, the Bronx.

HELEN NEWMAN, principal of Public School 65, the Bronx.

MARY KENNEDY, principal of Public School 18, Brooklyn.

KLEIBER IS ENGAGED TO AID TOSCANINI

Young Director of Berlin Opera Will Conduct Philharmonic for First Six Weeks.

CAREER IS PHENOMENAL

Viennese Has Risen From Comparative Obscurity to Eminence in Very Few Years.

Erich Kleiber, until recently general musical director of the Berlin Municipal Opera, has been engaged to conduct the first six weeks of next season of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, according to Arthur Judson, manager of the organization. He is one of the youngest German conductors. His rapid rise from obscurity to the post of general artistic director of the Berlin Municipal Opera within a few years has been extraordinary, even for a time like the present when opportunities for the younger men in the field are more customary than was the case a few decades ago. This is not Mr. Kleiber's first offer from this country. A post with the Metropolitan Opera House was tendered him about two years ago, when his contracts in Germany prevented his acceptance.

Mr. Kleiber was born in 1890 in Vienna, the son of a professor at the Gymnasium. He studied there and at both the Vienna Conservatory and the University of Prague. While still at the university he served as coach at the Landestheatre for half a season and conducted his first performances. From 1912 to 1918 he was conductor at the Hoftheatre at Darmstadt, also the scene of Felix Weingartner's early activities. Then followed two years of both opera and concert conducting at Barmen-Elberfeld, a year with the Düsseldorf Opera and as director of the local concerts, and a year as first conductor in Mannheim, which city has developed many famous conductors, among others Furtwaengler and Bodanzky.

ERICH KLEIBER,

director of Berlin opera, who will be an associate conductor of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra next season.

In the Fall of 1922 Mr. Kleiber came to Berlin as general musical director, replacing Leo Blech, who had been a royal favorite in pre-war days. The result of his appointment was the unseating of Max von Schillings.

Erich Kleiber has been described by the eminent Berlin critic, the late Adolf Weissmann, as having "a highly intellectual brow, strong chin and nose, and fascinating silhouette, whose eyes flash behind his glasses. Though of small stature, he has much suggestion of power. His conducting technic is quite definite and has an extraordinary rhythmic variety, life and power of nuance." Mr. Kleiber's interpretations of such varied schools as those represented by "Aida" and "Fidelio" have attracted attention, as has his power to unify the forces he commands.

The schedule for next season of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra is now as follows: Erich Kleiber for the first six weeks, Arturo Toscanini for the next two weeks, Leopold Stokowski for two weeks, Bernadino Molinari for five weeks and Toscanini for the final eight weeks.

The conductors of the Philadelphia Orchestra will be Leopold Stokowski and Ossip Gabrilowitsch. Alexander Smallens, the assistant conductor of the orchestra, will lead two concerts.

LAST HECKSCHER CONCERT.

Children's Symphony Orchestra Will Close Season Tonight.

The last concert of the season will be played tonight at the Heckscher Playhouse, Fifth Avenue and 104th Street, by the Heckscher Foundation Symphony Orchestra of ninety-three boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 16 years. The proceeds will help to provide vacations for 1,000 children at the Heckscher Summer Camp at Adams Corner, near Peekskill.

The orchestra will be led by Donald Murat, concert violinist, in the absence of Isidore Strassner, the regular conductor, who is in Europe with the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra. The program includes the symphony in G minor by Mozart, and the concerto in D minor for two violins by Bach. Adele Vasa, soprano of the American Opera Company; David Novick and Sindel Kopp, violinists, will appear as guest soloists.

SING "THE GOLDEN TRAIL."

Music Pupils Appear in Light Opera at the Heckscher.

Under the title of the C Group Opera, more than fifty pupils of six music teachers in this city appeared in a cooperative production of a light opera last night at the Heckscher Theatre, Fifth Avenue and 104th Street. The group has just been organized during the last year through the cooperation of the teachers, to give their pupils a better chance to appear in public than would be provided in private recitals.

The opera, which was the first to be presented by the group, was "The Golden Trail," a stirring drama of love and gold in the days of '49, by George Murray Brown, with music by Charles Wakefield Cadman. It was directed by J. Hartshim and incidental dances were arranged by Sidney Kelly. The group plans to extend its activities next year.

CAMERA MEN SPEND DAY WITH THE COOLIDGES.

Special to The New York Times.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 6.—It was the camerman's say with Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge today and a reporter had no chance at all on the grounds of "The Beeches," the former President's new home here. Sound pictures were barred as strictly as interviewers who attempted to enter the grounds.

But to the photographers here Mr. Coolidge was congenial.

With Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hurlburt of Lake Pleasant, N. Y., who were guests, the Coolidges were photographed in many beautiful nooks of the grounds. The Coolidges acceded to requests for various poses, some among the flowers, some under spreading trees, others with their dogs on the green lawns.

When the picture taking was all over, Mr. Coolidge passed cigars around to the eighteen camermen and chatted with them.

The former President was attired in a conservative gray suit and Mrs. Coolidge wore a gown of white.

Displaying a commendable indifference to the temperature, a group of energetic and obliging, if misled, Negroes took over the stage of the George M. Cohan Theatre last night and there, literally under the torrid glare of the Broadway electric lights, alternately ran and crawled through the first performance of a new musical comedy, "Change Your Luck." Needless to say, it was when they ran, or, to be precise, danced, that they were, in the manner of Negro musical show entertainers, at their best.

The frequent moments when the performers slackened their pace seemed to be the fault of a completely enervating and pointless book, a book which invariably raised its drooping head just when affairs were proceeding rather nicely without it. As a series of specialties "Change Your Luck" had its moments, as a Negro musical comedy is was often pretty sad.

By the second act the assembled blackamoors did manage to neglect almost completely the libretto that had been manufactured to encompass their native abilities. Such electric dancers as the quartet billed as "The Four Flash Devils" never actually became entangled in it, and they were among the pronounced hits of the evening. Another pair of hoofers—Louie Simms and Buster Bowie, to give them the mention they deserve—performed an expert number expertly, and there was at least one song, "Religion in My Feet," which developed into a frenzy of action and movement. But it is axiomatic that all black-and-tan musical shows contain fast and nimble dancing; this one, happily, was no exception.

Among the other assets noted last night were some above average choral numbers; an engaging comedian, Hamtree Harrington, who is not unknown to vaudeville patrons, and a dusky nymph, Cora La Redd, who likewise has been heard from before on Broadway. In Miss La Redd the comic spirit fairly bubbles, and she is an attractive figure in any show.

But despite these individual talents and some effectively crude settings by Cleon Throckmorton, who is also the entrepreneur, "Change Your Luck" never became a completely rounded, satisfactory entertainment, even judged by Summer standards. To complete this report, the score held a ditty which was as direct in its single meaning as anything in "Lysistrata," and the first act finale was listed in the program as the "reprisal." Against whom it was being made was a bit difficult to determine in last night's heat.

MUSICIANS UNION TO MEET.

Boston Convention Will Discuss Effect of Talkies on Earnings.

The effect of the talkies on the livelihood of musicians will be discussed at the convention of the American Federation of Musicians, which begins Monday in Boston, it was announced yesterday by Joseph N. Weber, president. The federation has between 140,000 and 150,000 members.

Mr. Weber said that a strong sentiment existed in the country for the employment of musicians in theatres and motion picture houses after an advertising campaign, inaugurated by the Music Defense League. According to Mr. Weber, the sound studios employ about 400 musicians, whose work is reproduced in the 20,000 talkie theatres. He estimated that the total income of the musicians in the United States and Canada had been cut $20,000,000 a year by the invasion of the manufactured music.

ARISTOPHANES MEETS WITH POLICE APPROVAL

Capt. Coy Gives "Lysistrata" a Clean Bill and 44th Street Acropolis Rejoices.

Aristophanes, a Greek poet and dramatist (444-380 B. C.), has received a clean bill of health from Captain James J. Coy, dramatic critic of the New York Police Department, which should be cause for rejoicing around the Acropolis that Norman-Bel Geddes has erected on the stage of the Forty-fourth Street Theatre.

Captain Coy, who can discuss Aristotelian theories and the Hamlet complexes of clowns with the best of them, reported yesterday to Deputy Commissioner Sinnott that he could find nothing objectionable in the current performance of "Lysistrata," the comedy which Aristophanes dashed off for the Lenaeum Theatre, Athens, 2,341 years ago.

Along with Aristophanes, among those vindicated by Captain Coy's decision were Gilbert Seldes, who adapted the play; Mr. Geddes, who staged and mounted it, and Miriam Hopkins, Violet Kemble Cooper, Ernest Truex and Sydney Greenstreet, who are in the cast. Likewise cleared is the producing organization, the Philadelphia Theatre Association, the list of whose patronesses includes some of the most socially prominent women in that city.

It was not entirely an academic desire to see the play of Aristophanes that directed Captain Coy to the opening performance here on Thursday night, for which he paid $11 for a ticket. The reason for his visit was a letter which had been sent to the department saying that if a representative were to visit "Lysistrata" he would find objectionable material. Captain Coy was assigned to discover the basis for this assertion, and he cast his vote with the majority of the newspaper reviewers.

Representatives of the Philadelphia Theatre Association said yesterday that they had received no complaints about the production.

TO ACT ON TICKET SCALPING

Theatre League to Put New Plan Into Effect Next Month.

Directors of the New York Theatre League met yesterday afternoon at the Empire Theatre and ratified the constitution which will be submitted to managers and ticket brokers for approval. After the meeting it was said that the plan of the league to eliminate ticket speculation would be put into effect some time next month. The organization to police the working of the plan is now being formed.

Arthur Hopkins, president of the league, said rigid enforcement would be sought of the law calling for an accounting by brokers to State authorities for all tickets sold. This law is said to be a dead letter because no appropriations for enforcement were voted by the Legislature. The league will meet again next Thursday.

SILENT ON "UNCLE VANYA."

Jed Harris May Find Substitute When Lillian Gish Leaves Cast.

Reports could not be confirmed yesterday that Jed Harris's revival of "Uncle Vanya" would close when Lillian Gish, whose return to the legitimate stage was received with critical approval, leaves the cast on Thursday to go abroad. Mr. Harris said he was undecided whether he would engage an actress to follow Miss Gish in the play or permit her understudy to assume the part.

The revival, which is now in its eighth Broadway week, has not fallen in receipts for two consecutive weeks below the stop clause in Mr. Harris's contract with the Cort Theatre, and therefore could not suddenly be withdrawn, it was said last night by Barney Klawans, manager of the house.

MAX GABEL SAILS.

He Will Complete in Europe His Chain of Yiddish Theatres.

Max Gabel, Jewish actor, playwright and producer, sailed last night for Europe on the White Star liner Majestic to complete the final link in a chain of international Jewish theatres which he organized here two years ago.

Mr. Gabel said that he would establish Yiddish theatres in England, France, Germany, Poland and Africa, which will be linked up with his playhouses in New York and the principal cities in the United States and Canada.

THE SCREEN

By MORDAUNT HALL.

"Louis Beretti."

BORN RECKLESS, with Edmund Lowe, Catherine Dale Owen, Lee Tracy, Marguerite Churchill, Warren Hymer, William Harrigan, Frank Albertson, Eddie Gribbon, Paul Page, Ben Bard, Mike Donlin, Paul Porcasi, Joe Brown, Roy Stewart, Ferike Boros and Pat Somerset, based on Donald Henderson Clarke's novel, "Louis Beretti," directed by John Ford; overture, "Die Schoene Galatea"; "Valse Bluette," with Patricia Bowman and others; aria from "The Star of the North"; "Putting on the Dog," with the Roxyettes; "A Russian Wedding." At the Roxy Theatre.

Further exploits of gangsters are beheld in "Born Reckless," a free audible pictorial translation of Donald Henderson Clarke's book, "Louis Beretti," which is now holding forth at the Roxy. John Ford, who won the last Photoplay Magazine gold medal award with his "Four Sons," is responsible for the able direction of this current offering, which is blessed with clever acting, keen humor and a minimum of stereotyped stuff.

Although it is very different from the original work, Mr. Clarke can at least feel that his story inspired the producers to make a thoroughly entertaining film. Edmund Lowe impersonates the redoubtable Beretti so capably that his few good deeds outshine his nefarious activities. This Beretti treats chances for a "rap" philosophically and even slightly. He is, however, more than slightly relieved when the District Attorney gives him and two others a chance to redeem themselves by going to fight in France instead of being incarcerated.

Prior to crossing the ocean Louis and the others have their clashes with sergeants and officers. When he is asked for "his line" Beretti ventures that he is a jeweler. Another man says that he is a ball player. A third hazards that his daily toil is that of an ice man. A rich young man says that he does not do anything but go to college, and a none-too-good-looking individual volunteers that he is a burglar, which is understood as a "bugler."

Beretti, not recognizing a General, in one scene asks the high officer for a light and addresses him as "Doc." Later in France, when he is flirting with a pretty French girl, he says "Sherman was wrong." The attractive wench says "Cheri," and Beretti, evidently believing that she meant "share it" (some sugar), offers to do so immediately. He is a hero on the battlefield and a bad man at home. He looks upon "old John Law" as pretty hard to beat.

One of the many laughable incidents in this film is where Charles Banks, who has proposed to Beretti's sister, is introduced to Louis's gang. They do not hesitate to make comments on the young man, and one of them calls him "Four Eyes." The harmless fellow with spectacles resents this, and as he passes through the door with Beretti he is heard saying that he dislikes being referred to as "Four Eyes." Little does he know of the type of men he has just encountered.

Like in George Bancroft's last picture, "Ladies Love Brutes," there is a kidnapping, but in this case it is more plausible than in the Bancroft film. Beretti hears from Joan, the sister of Frank Sheldon, his wealthy buddy who met death on the battlefield, that her child has been kidnapped. He suspects his gangster pal, Big Shot, of the crime, and after recovering the youngster, he takes the law in his own hands.

Although this film is not weighty material, it makes a good entertainment. Catherine Dale Owen may not be a Duse when it comes to acting, but she is very attractive. Others who help out in this film are Lee Tracy, William Harrigan, Paul Page, Frank Albertson and Warren Hymer.

There are several excellent stage numbers, including Beatrice Belkin in the aria from "The Star of the North," the Roxyettes in "Putting on the Dog" and "A Russian Wedding."

The Missing Witness.

SHADOW OF THE LAW, with William Powell, Marion Shilling, Natalie Moorehead, Regis Toomey, Paul Hurst, George Irving, Frederic Burt, James Durkin, Richard Tucker and Walter James, based on a novel titled "The Quarry," directed by Louis Gasnier; "Lanterns," a Chinese revue, with Joe Wong and others; Mrs. Jesse Crawford, organist. At the Paramount.

William Powell, the Philo Vance of three films of S. S. Van Dine murder mysteries, finds himself on the other side of the fence in "Shadow of the Law," an interesting but albeit somewhat implausible talking pictorial melodrama. It was adapted by Max Marcin from John A. Moroso's novel, "The Quarry." The introductory scenes are a little abrupt, but the others are expertly filmed.

The woman in this case is a peculiar specimen of humanity, for in the beginning she runs away because she fears notoriety, but subsequently she resorts to blackmail. At least five years pass by in this picture without either James Montgomery (Mr. Powell) or Ethel Barry (Natalie Moorehead) looking any older than when the story starts. Montgomery, for a scene or two, does show the results of his years in prison, but after his escape and congenial existence under another name the lines of care vanish and he is as he was in the opening scenes.

Montgomery encounters the ash-blonde, Ethel Barry, and is about to enter her room when she discovers that a paramour is already there. This individual is intoxicated and there follows a fight in which Montgomery strikes the other man and causes him to fall out of a window. The man is killed. He is a wealthy broker and Ethel flees, leaving Montgomery to face the music.

Montgomery is tried for manslaughter, convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. The police in the meantime have not been able to find Ethel.

Montgomery shares a cell in prison with Pete, who betrays a sense of humor when he refers to the dangers of life in the open. He tells Montgomery that when one gets into prison there's only one thing to think about, and that is getting out.

The prison warden, sensing Montgomery's intelligence, tries to prevail upon him to be a stool-pigeon, but the convict at once lets Pete know what the warden wanted him to do. Pete eventually aids Montgomery to escape, and the latter is carted away in a packing case in which there is a suit of dark clothes.

Two years later Montgomery, as John Nelson, is running Colonel Wentworth's large mill in North Carolina. Edith Wentworth, the Colonel's daughter, falls in love with Nelson, who, as time goes on, would like to clear himself of the crime of which he was convicted. Pete, having been released from prison, goes to see Montgomery, and the latter gives his jail mate $5,000 to pay Ethel Barry to tell the true details of the death of her paramour. For some reason or other Ethel, when found, senses a chance to make Montgomery pay ten times that amount, and, to complicate matters, she causes Pete to be arrested. As he is a jailbird, the fact that he has $5,000 in his possession is naturally looked upon with suspicion by the police.

The story harps upon blackmail and then reverts to the idea that virtually all the police have as proof that Nelson is Montgomery are his fingerprints. A hint of what Montgomery intends doing about the fingerprints is given during a factory scene, and soon he succeeds in carrying out his scheme to destroy his finger tips in the factory machinery. Miss Wentworth sees to it that there is a happy ending to this yarn.

Mr. Powell's acting is capital. So is that of Paul Hurst, who plays Pete. Natalie Moorehead does well as the strange Ethel Barry.

The stage entertainment consists of "Lanterns," designated as a "Chinese whoopee revue," in which Joe Wong is featured.

NOVARRO IN NEW TALKIE.

"In Gay Madrid" at Capitol Is Light and Enjoyable Film.

Ramon Novarro's latest singing and talking picture, "In Gay Madrid," now at the Capitol, is an excellent light entertainment, in which he sings no fewer than six ballads, and all are pleasing.

Careless handling of the sound controls was noticeable on several occasions yesterday afternoon when the players' voices rose almost to a shout. This flaw, however, like many other minor defects, is less apparent in retrospect.

One sees, for instance, a group of students of a Spanish university conducting themselves in a manner that is typical, on the screen at least, of American collegians; and one hears such "Spanish" expressions as "And how!" and "Real fun."

This film on the whole is interesting, amusing and enjoyable. The dashing and romantic Ricardo (Mr. Novarro) is sent, to escape feminine entanglements, from Madrid to Santiago, a small university town. One smiles at the singular fortune which throws him into contact with Carmina, a dainty señorita, who is known off the screen as Dorothy Jordan, and one sympathizes with Ricardo when his past escapades threaten his present and future happiness. Best of all, one is not conscious of being "let down" when the happy conclusion is reached.

At least a few words of praise, other than for the principals, are due to Claude King as Ricardo's father; to a most understanding duenna, Beryl Mercer; to Robert Z. Leonard, for his direction and to those responsible for the music and lyrics.

RUSSIAN FILM DEPRESSING.

"Cain and Artem," Based on Gorky Tale, Mainly Impressionistic.

CAIN AND ARTEM, a Russian silent film, with Emil Gall, Nikolai Simonov, Elena Egorova and Georgy Uvarov; based on the story by Maxim Gorky; directed by P. P. Petrov-Bytov; produced in Soviet Rusisa by the Sovkino; Pathe Sound News, a Russian newsreel and a Pathe comedy. At the Cameo.

"Cain and Artem," a Russian silent film adaptation of the story by Maxim Gorky, seems to have no definite plot or conclusion. It consists of a series of photographic impressions, most of which are vague and all of which are depressing.

The word "life" is flashed frequently on the screen, and is used to introduce variously views of the convulsive gills of an expiring, fly-covered fish; a turmoil of churning cogwheels; brass cymbals crashing rhythmically; tolling church bells; a fist landing against a bearded jaw, or a hand reaching for glasses or bottles of liquor. "Life" in "Cain and Artem" may mean many things, but they are all unpleasant.

The story, such as it is in film form, revolves about a market place in which a woman sits and silently rebels. Oppressed by the sordidness of her life and her fish-peddling husband, she begs Artem, a huge Volga longshoreman, to take her away. Artem is too stolid and too brutish to accept, but the husband does not know this and hires a band of assassins to kill him. Artem is attacked and left dying, only to be found and nursed back to health by Cain, a Jew. The woman, believing Artem is dead, commits suicide, while Artem, educated by Cain to a new view of life, looks out over the river and says: "Tomorrow will be a good day."

"Cain and Artem" succeeds in being only an interesting exhibit of photography. The acting is as unintelligible as the picture.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Two successful attractions will end long Broadway runs tonight. They are "Bird in Hand," which will be withdrawn from the Forty-ninth Street Theatre, and "Sketch Book," the Earl Carroll revue, which will close at Chanin's Forty-sixth Street. The Players revival of "Milestones" and "The Little Father of the Wilderness" will also finish its week's engagement at the Empire.

Helen Broderick has been made a featured member of the cast of "Fifty Million Frenchmen" at the Lyric Theatre.

"The Little Show," which ran at the Music Box most of this past season, will end its road tour in Chicago on June 14.

TIMES BEST MEDIUM FOR ADVERTISING SUMMER COTTAGES

The New York Times:

I have found over a period of time and much experimenting with newspapers, magazines, &c., that The New York Times was without question, in my judgment, the best medium of advertising my Summer cottages, at Lake Luzerne, N. Y.; in fact, the only medium worth while. If they don't see it in The Times, they don't see it anywhere.

VICTORS CLUSTER HITS

Outbursts in Second and Fourth Yield 9 Tallies—Jackson Returns to Winners' Line-Up.

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

Streak met streak at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The Giants, by their sixth straight victory, drew even with the St. Louis Cardinals in the pennant scramble. The 10 to 7 score slapped upon the Red Birds their tenth defeat in their last eleven games. The Giants and the Cardinals are tied for fourth place.

It has been a streaky Spring all the way for Giants and Cards alike, a Spring of ups and downs. The ups have landed each club on top of the league for a spell. The downs have knocked them off.

The Cards have strung together two winning streaks of nine and eight, respectively, and two losing streaks of seven and five. At this stage the Giants are on the up grade and No. 6 in their current rush of triumphs was signalized by the return to the line-up of Captain Travis Jackson.

Yesterday, with 9,000 on hand to see it, John McGraw's line-up for the first time took the field in its complete form as outlined by the veteran Polo Grounds master when he began his Spring trading ventures.

Proves Power of Punch.

As a test of McGravian soundness of judgment, the game proved the power of the punch packed in the 1930 Giant batting order. The line-up sprung a leak at one important sector, second base, where Hughie Critz, the jackrabbit grounder-strangler imported from Cincinnati, committed no less than three errors.

But since the little chap proceeded to grind out four singles in behalf of the common cause, his fielding misadventures did not make the day a bad one for him.

The Giants bunched ten of their seventeen hits into two slambang innings, scoring nine of their ten runs in the second and fourth. At first the game had a St. Louis trend, with the Cards clouting Fred Fitzsimmons for three runs in the first frame, mainly on a triple by Watkins.

In the second Fitzsimmons himself smote the blow that started the Giants to scoring, a single with the bases filled and two out. A few moments later Leach's single sent home two more, putting the Giants ahead to stay.

Triple Clears the Bases.

In the fourth Leach's run-driving became prodigious when he tripled over the right fielder's head with the bases filled. Thus the brilliant left fielder's first two hits drove home half of the Giants' run total.

The fourth inning outburst put the Giants six runs ahead. Jackson took the rest of the day off after opening this drive with a single and scoring the first of the inning's five runs.

Douthit's home run into the upper left-field stands, followed by two Critz errors, netted the Cards three runs in the sixth, but neither then nor in their ninth-inning rally did they come close enough to make it uncomfortable for Fitzsimmons.

PIRATES TRIUMPH ON HOMER IN 9TH

Comorosky's Drive Into Stands Provides Winning Margin Over the Braves.

BOSTON, June 6 (AP).—Pittsburgh defeated the Boston Braves by 4 to 3 today as a result of Adam Comorosky's homer into the left field stands in the ninth inning. Comorosky was the first batter in the final inning and the hit was made off Ben Cantwell.

FIVE RUNS IN EIGHTH TRIUMPH FOR INDIANS

Two Errors, Pair of Singles and Two Triples Account for Victory Over Red Sox.

CLEVELAND, June 6 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians made it three out of four in winding up the series with the Boston Red Sox today when they won, 9 to 4.

The score was tied at the last half of the eighth inning when the Indians marked up five runs against Danny MacFayden. There were two out when L. Sewell and Lind were safe on two errors, Jablonowski and Morgan singled and J. Sewell and Porter tripled.

ROOT, CUBS, BLANKS ROBINS WITH 2 HITS

Hurls Chicago to Ninth in Row as Mates Get 16 Safeties Off 3 Rival Hurlers.

VANCE VICTIM ON MOUND

Fans 7 Batters in First 3 Innings, Then Falters—Grimm, Hartnett Drive Homers.

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

Pitching with seeming nonchalance but with superb skill and control, Charley Root yesterday held the league-leading Robins helpless and shut them out with only two hits, a pair of singles collected by Frederick and Herman in the fourth inning, a lone Brooklyn scoring threat that was erased when Flowers hit into the only double play of the game.

It was the ninth straight triumph for the league champions. The final score was 13 to 0, the revamped Cubs assailing Dazzy Vance, Dudley and Master Newsom for sixteen safeties that included home runs by Charley Grimm and Gabby Hartnett, both of which were made off Vance.

Vance Fans Three in Row.

The only thing the crowd of 20,000 had to cheer about was the amazingly fast pitching of Vance in the first three innings, during which he fanned seven men, striking out Hartnett, Beck and Root in a row in the second inning following Grimm's bouncing homer into the left-field seats.

The Brooklyn speed-ball hurler fanned three more before he left the game for a pinch hitter in the sixth, but so many scoring hits were interspersed that the crowd stopped cheering to offer a few jeers.

From the fourth to the ninth inning, inclusive, the McCarthymen gathered two runs per inning, a procedure that put the scoreboard attendant to considerable trouble finding enough deuces to post the scores. The hitting of Hack Wilson, Cuyler, Stephenson, Hartnett, Grimm and English featured the continuous attack on Vance, the Cub catcher's home run with a man on base in the sixth being the final big blow struck off Vance.

Dudley Lacks Control.

The assault continued almost unabated on Dudley, aided somewhat by his lack of control, as he walked the first two men to face him in the seventh and gave up two more runs in the eighth when Root, English and Wilson inserted singles between force plays.

Newsom also started wildly, walking both Grimm and Hartnett, both of whom scored when Eddie Moore was charged with an error when Root's blazing grounder bounded off his shoe into centre field.

Root retired the Robins in order in six of the nine innings, and, excepting the singles by Frederick and Herman, only three balls were hit out of the infield, Herman, Gilbert and Bressler sending short flies to each of the three outfielders in different innings.

PHILS' ONSLAUGHT OVERWHELMS REDS

PHILADELPHIA, June 6 (AP).—The Phillies hammered the offerings of Benny Frey all over the lot today and scored a 14-5 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

Chuck Klein's home run in the fourth inning, his fifteenth of the season, put an end to the Cincinnati ace.

The Reds did all their scoring in the second inning when they hammered Collins for six hits and four runs. After that Collins was invincible until the ninth when the Reds scored their final run.

Denny Sothern, Philly outfielder, collected five hits and equaled the all-time major league record when four of his safeties were doubles.

NEWARK EVENS SERIES, BEATING JERSEY CITY

The Newark Bears squared the series with Jersey City at two games each at West Side Park, in Jersey City yesterday, by taking the fourth and final game, 4 to 1. Lefty Faulkner was in fine form and kept the home team's eight hits well scattered.

Jersey City's only run came in the third when Max West hit a homer over the left field fence. George Grant started on the hill for the losers, but gave way for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Jack Hopkins finished the game. Newark collected ten hits.

ATHLETICS QUELL BROWNS IN NINTH

Earnshaw Replaces Mahaffey, Fans Last Batter and Mackmen Triumph.

ST. LOUIS, June 6 (AP).—George Earnshaw put an end to a St. Louis rally in the ninth inning and the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Browns, 5 to 4, today, making it three games out of four for the series.

Mahaffey got into trouble in the final inning and was removed after two batters had been retired. With two men on base, Earnshaw fanned Manush to end the game.

Mahaffey hit a home run in the second inning.

YANKS AGAIN HALTED BY RAIN IN CHICAGO

Final Game of White Sox Series Is Unplayed—New York Club Opens in St. Louis Today.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The downpour of rain which broke up the third game of the series between the Yankees and White Sox in the third inning yesterday continued with scarcely any interruption today, putting the fourth and final game on the postponed calendar and concluding the series at one victory apiece. Tonight the Yanks entrained for St. Louis, where tomorrow they will open a four-game engagement with the Browns.

Reinforced by the addition of Harry Rice, Owen Carroll and George Wuestling, obtained in the trade with the Tigers, the Yankees feel they have an excellent chance of battering their way close to the leaders before this first Western tour is completed.

SLAVIN GETS DECISION.

Outpoints Neve in Ten Rounds at 106th Infantry Armory.

Jimmy Slavin of the Twenty-second Engineers received the decision over Frankie Neve of the Home Infantry in the ten-round feature bout at the 106th Infantry Armory last night before 4,000 fans. Slavin weighed 127½ pounds, Neve 125.

Louis (Kid) Santi, 135, of the Fourteenth Infantry, stopped Matty Guida, 133, of the Twenty-seventh Division Train, in the sixth of an eight-rounder. Guida was substituting for Ralph Esposito.

TROPHY COMMITTEE WILL ATTEND BOUT

Tunney Also Among Celebrities Who Will See Sharkey and Schmeling Fight.

WINNER'S NAME ON EMBLEM

Dr. Schwartz, Designated as Official German Representative to View Match, Is Commission's Guest.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

The Muldoon-Tunney Trophy Committee, which will award the championship emblem to the winner, will attend the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling heavyweight title struggle at the Yankee Stadium Thursday night in a group. Accompanying the five members of the committee will be William Muldoon who, with Gene Tunney, is a donor of the trophy, and Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan of the State Athletic Commission. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by the State Athletic Commission.

The committee consists of Bernard F. Gimbel, chairman; John McEntee Bowman, Herbert Bayard Swope, Jeremiah T. Mahoney and James A. Farley, chairman of the Athletic Commission. The coming bout is recognized by the commission as a heavyweight championship match, and it is the plan of the committee to inscribe the name of the winner on the trophy, which stands in the lobby of Madison Square Garden.

The name of every heavyweight champion in the modern era of the ring, from the day of John L. Sullivan down to Tunney, is inscribed on the emblem, with the number of years each held the title. Tunney, likewise, is to be a spectator at Thursday night's battle.

The commission yesterday rejected a proposal to have Sharkey and Schmeling don white boxing trunks instead of the regulation dark ones when they fight. The suggestion of the white trunks was made, it was announced, as desirable for improving the motion picture effects.

Dr. Paul Schwartz, who is to attend the match as the official representative of the German Boxing Federation, was a guest of the commission. Graham McNamee, radio announcer, was approved as the broadcaster for the struggle.

SHARKEY IMPRESSIVE IN FIVE-ROUND SESSION

Shows Good Form Against Three Sparring Mates—Weighs 198 After Workout in Camp.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 6.—Stanley Poreda, until recently a sparring partner with Max Schmeling, was a visitor to Jack Sharkey's camp here today. He watched the five-round glove performance with interest and afterward predicted that the Boston boxer would win from Schmeling by a knockout.

Sharkey entertained some well known visitors here today, among the crowd of more than 1,500 being Tom Donohue, the one-man boxing commission of Connecticut; Eddie Eagan, former amateur heavyweight boxing champion; Johnny Kilbane, former featherweight champion; Joe Lynch, former bantamweight champion, and Joe Jeanette, former Negro heavyweight star.

All were unanimous in the opinion that Sharkey is nearing the condition and boxing skill that will enable him to produce the fight of his career. Sharkey today gave probably the best boxing exhibition of his present training period. He stabbed with his left, hooked and crossed accurately and landed many solid punches on his three sparring mates.

He followed the usual routine in the ring. Johnny Grosso and Paul Cavalier alternated in the first four rounds and King Solomon followed. Sharkey had only one round of shadow boxing, following his glove work and then concluded with a session of calisthenics. He weighed 198 after the workout.

RAIN SENDS SCHMELING TO FISHING GROUNDS

German Fails to Don Gloves—Hopes His Speed Will Stop Sharkey Early.

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 6 (AP).—Six days before the battle, not a glove was donned today in the training camp of Max Schmeling. A chill rain supplanted the heat of the past few days, driving most of the inhabitants to cover and the German heavyweight from the golf links to the fishing grounds in Lake Aquagua, where even the bass failed to come out of hiding.

The German obviously will depend on the speed of his attack, youth, condition and a fine, sharp right hand to reach Jack Sharkey early. He hopes for a knockout within a few rounds. He expects that the fury of his onsalught will drive any preconceived plan of battle from the Boston fighter's mind and entice him into a slugging match.

The highlight of Schmeling's training is expected tomorrow, when Max will box with Charlie Belanger, Canadian light-heavyweight champion, who fought a close battle with Tuffy Griffiths and had Mickey Walker, the middleweight titleholder, on the floor in a recent match.

AIR REPORT TO GERMANY.

Radio Description of Fight to Be Sent in Teuton Tongue.

Radio listeners in Germany will hear a detailed description of the Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey fight at the Yankee Stadium next Thursday, National Broadcasting Company officials announced yesterday.

Harry Sperber, sports editor of The New York Staats-Zeitung and Herold, will be at a microphone. His account, given in German, will be carried to Schenectady, where it will be broadcast by the short-wave station of the General Electric Company.

The account will be picked up in Berlin by the Reichs Rundfunk Gesellschaft, the German system of stations, for distribution to its network.

Kelly Wins Scranton Bout.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 6 (AP).—Billy Kelly, Yonkers featherweight, won the decision over Danny Dempsey, Scranton, in a slashing ten-round bout tonight.

England Names Cricket Squad For Test Against Australia

LONDON, June 6 (Canadian Press).—The names of thirteen players from whom England's cricket team for the first test match with Australia, June 13, will be selected were officially announced today.

A. P. F. Chapman, Kent, who captained England in 1926 and again in 1927-28, will be captain. George Duckworth, wicket-keeper, Lancashire; K. S. Duleep-Sinhji, Sussex; W. R. (Wally) Hammond, Gloucester; Elias (Pat) Hendren, Middlesex; Jack Hobbs, Surrey; Harold Larwood, Nottingham; R. W. V. Robins, Middlesex; H. W. Sutcliffe, Yorkshire; M. W. Tate, Sussex; Dick Tyldesley, Lancashire; Jack White, Somerset, and F. E. Woolley, Kent, were the men chosen.

OLYMPIC PROGRESS HAILED BY KIRBY

U. S. Delegate, Back From Berlin, Stresses Importance of Ban on Professionalism.

Gustavus Town Kirby, chairman of the advisory board of the I. C. A. A. A. A., president of the P. S. A. L. and past president of the National A. A. U., arrived in New York yesterday aboard the steamship Bremen after a twenty-three-day absence from New York. He spent ten days in Berlin, from May 20 to May 30, attending the International Olympic Congress and various International Amateur Athletic Federation and committee meetings.

Mr. Kirby's trip overseas via the steamship Europa to Cherbourg, by airplane from Cherbourg to Paris and by Nord express train from Paris to Berlin in six hours less than six days is a record and received considerable comment in the German papers.

Mr. Kirby, the first American representative at the congresses to return, was highly pleased for the most part with the results of the meetings. On only two major points were the American viewpoints overruled; namely, as regards the use of starting blocks and concerning the number of entries in events.

Important Question Is Decided.

One of the important features of the meetings was the virtually unanimous decision that women and girls should not be eliminated from Olympic competition either for the main program at Los Angeles in 1932 or for the Winter sports at Lake Placid. This action, Mr. Kirby believes, makes it reasonable to assume that, as in the past, women will take part in the event set for them in the following games or sports: Track and field athletics, swimming and diving, fancing, lawn tennis (if any), yachting, gymnastics (possible demonstration) and skating.

The American plans for the use of starting blocks were rejected by the International Amateur Athletic Federation after an investigating committee had reported that starting blocks gave an unfair advantage to some who used them, but not to all.

The question is to be studied further by a committee and, although nothing may be done until after 1932, it is believed by Mr. Kirby that sooner or later blocks will be permitted.

Outstanding Move by the Congress.

An outstanding move by the congress in Mr. Kirby's opinion was that of going on record that the Olympic games were for amateurs and that compensation, in whatever form, was professional. The action was the same as that taken at Prague four years ago.

Mr. Kirby believes that Germany will be a strong competitor in every branch of the Olympics in 1932, for Germany is following the axioms: "The best savings bank for the nation is sound bodily culture derived through proper leadership on playfields and through participation in games and sports and in tramping in the open country" and "the child without a playground becomes a man without work."

LONDOS BEATS SHIKAT AND WINS MAT TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, June 6 (AP).—Jim Londos, Greek grappler, defeated Dick Shikat, Philadelphia, in a one-fall title match at the Phillies ball park tonight. Shikat, who had been recognized as world's champion by the Pennsylvania and New York Athletic Commissions, weighed 217 pounds. Londos scaled 200.

Londos won the title with a body hold after they had tugged and hauled at each other for an hour and twenty-three minutes. The finish came suddenly and unexpectedly to many of the 20,000 who witnessed the bout, a moment after Shikat had sent Londos to the rainsoaked mat twice with body slams.

As the referee slapped Londos on the back indicating that the champion had been pinned hundreds attempted to climb into the ring, and police rushed inside the ropes to keep the ring clear.

RULES ON CHESS MATCH.

Federation Gives Mlotkowski Victory Over Winter.

CAMDEN, N. J., June 6.—Stasch Mlotkowski, former Pennsylvania State chess champion, has received a radio message from the headquarters of the International Chess Federation at The Hague announcing the decision in his unfinished game with W. Winter in the recent cable match between Washington and London.

The decision gave him a victory, which consequently offset the triumph scored by Sir George Thomas for London. Mlotkowski was the only winner on the American side, inasmuch as the three other adjourned games were declared drawn.

These were between N. S. Perkins, I. S. Turover and F. B. Walker of Washington and R. P. Michell, V. Buerger and E. G. Sergeant of London, respectively. The game between G. E. Bishop of Washington and F. D. Yates of London was also drawn, but without adjudication. The total score of the match, therefore, is Washington 3, London 3.

SCHOLASTIC MEET WON BY LOUGHLIN

5 RECORDS SET, 1 TIED

Three of New Marks Made in Junior-Midget Competition, Annexed by St. Michael's.

By ARTHUR J. DALEY.

Athletes of the Catholic High School Athletic Association shattered five meet records and tied another in the fourth annual outdoor championship games at Boys High field yesterday, while Loughlin vanquished Brooklyn Prep, La Salle Military Academy and St. James in a bitter battle for the team title. A year ago Loughlin won by a point, and, in the indoor meet, tied with Brooklyn Prep and St. James for the crown.

There was no contesting Loughlin superiority yesterday, however. Of the ten events on the senior program, the champions won four and tied for another. This last named happening occurred when John Flynn of Loughlin and Maurice O'Reilly of Brooklyn Prep ran a dead heat in the half-mile run.

St. Michael's on Top.

In the combined junior-midget section of the program, St. Michael's was the victor with 20 points, while St. James was second with 16 and La Salle M. A. third with 14. In the senior division, the point totaling was: Loughlin, 25½; Brooklyn Prep, 22; La Salle M. A., 18¼, and St. James, 18.

The best performance of the day was a spendid 100-yard dash by John Carey of Loughlin, who flashed home in 0:10 1-5, two-fifths of a second better than the previous record. The only other senior mark of the day went to big Joe Sullivan of Brooklyn Prep, who tossed the 12-pound shot 48 feet 11½ inches to erase the old standard of 45 feet 5 inches.

One of the finest of the junior records was the broad-jumping feat of Bill Rooney of Fordham Prep, a pupil of Coach John E. Quinn. Rooney leaped 19 feet 9½ inches to tack three-quarters of an inch onto the old mark. The other junior standard to be set came in the high jump when Charles Ramirez of All Hallows high jumped 5 feet 2 inches, a full inch better than the old record.

Hurst Sets Dash Mark.

The midgets did not quite keep pace with the seniors and juniors, who each broke a brace of records. The little fellows smashed the 50-yard figures when Joe Hurst of St. James raced the distance in 0:06, three-fifths of a second better than the old time, but could only tie a previous record when Harold Fitzgerald of St. Michael's equalled the standard of 0:09 in the 75-yard sprint.

Brush, Defending Champion, and Sweetser Defeated in Westchester Title Golf

SWEETSER BEATEN IN TITLE GOLF PLAY

BRUSH ALSO ELIMINATED

Defending Title Holder Bows to P. Miller-Jones—Carr, R. A. Jones, Woolworth Survive.

By WILLIAM D. RICHARDSON.

Special to The New York Times.

BRONXVILLE, N. Y., June 6.—When Jess Sweetser decided at the last minute yesterday to play through the Westchester amateur championship in an attempt to work his game back into shape, he made an utterance that turned out to be prophetic.

"I'll probably lose tomorrow," he said. And he did. Eddie Sturges, Scarsdale veteran and a former Westchester district champion, trimmed the former American and British amateur champion, 2 up, in the first round at Siwanoy today.

As was the case yesterday when he took 77 strokes in the qualifying round over the course on which he holds the record with a 67, Jess's game was badly out of kilter and the brand new putter that he purchased in the hope that it would enable him to hole some putts has now joined a score of others that have failed to live up to his expectations.

Still resolved to finish and see if practice wouldn't make perfect, Sweetser continued in the beaten eight this afternoon and got his reward in the way of a 2 under 4s clip for fourteen holes against G. H. Heilbron of Ardsley, a pace that gave him a victory by 5 and 4.

Another Upset Recorded.

Outside the setback received by Sweetser in the first round of the first metropolitan event in which he has played for many years, the most striking happening in today's two rounds was the defeat of George Brush of the Westchester Country Club. Twice winner of the Westchester championship and the defending titleholder, Brush bowed this afternoon to Pennington Miller-Jones, former Richmond County ace, who now carries the colors of the Green Meadow Club into battle.

The defending champion was defeated, 3 and 2, in a match that was decided on the fourteenth hole when Brush hooked his drive behind a tree.

The other survivors for tomorrow's semi-final are Donald Carr and Richard Woolworth of Mount Kisco, the former holding down the post of president of the association and the latter a former district champion, and R. A. Jones Jr. of Westchester Hills, former metropolitan junior champion and yesterday's medalist.

Carr advanced to the next to the last round at the expense of Sturges, Sweetser's conquerer. Theirs was one of the few matches that came as far as the last green. It was a ding-dong fight all the way. They were even at the turn, and still even coming off the thirteenth. On the seventeenth it looked as if Carr would be 2 up, but Sturges holed a twenty-foot putt to keep the match alive.

Woolworth Eliminates Scribner.

In the second round, Woolworth defeated Sam Scribner of Green Meadow, 2 and 1. Jones, who had a comfortable victory over P. H. Brown of Scarsdale in the morning, beat D. D. Jackson Jr. of Ardsley in the afternoon, his putter throwing off sparks on the first nine holes and enabling him to leave the ninth green 2 up and out in 36.

The Miller-Jones-Brush match was a hard-fought affair throughout. They were both out in 37 and all even. Miller-Jones got the upper hand when he holed the short twelfth in par. He missed a putt of less than a club's length to be 2 up on the thirteenth. Miller-Jones played one of his finest strokes, a spoon shot off a sidehill lie that finished on the green and left him putting for a 3, which he almost got. The finish came when Brush, with the match dormie 3, putted the sixteenth.

The cards:

Out—
Miller-Jones	5	4	4	5	4	2	5	4	4	—37
Brush	4	4	3	6	5	3	4	4	4	—37

Match all even.

In—
Miller-Jones	4	4	3	4	4	4	4
Brush	4	4	4	4	5	4	5

Miller-Jones wins, 3 and 2.

DUNLAP WINS TWICE IN NEW JERSEY GOLF

Princeton Star Puts Out Wild and Wingate in Advancing to Semi-Finals.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., June 6.—George T. Dunlap Jr., the Princeton golfer who was medalist in the national intercollegiate championship last year, gained the semi-final round in the New Jersey State amateur championship at the Crestmont Golf Club today when he defeated E. M. Wild of Baltusrol, 2 and 1.

Earlier in the day, in his first-round match, Dunlap put out Robert Wingate of Galloping Hill, former city champion of Jacksonville, Fla., 5 and 4.

In both matches Dunlap was practically even with par. He was out in 37, even par, to turn 4 up on Wingate, and in the afternoon against Wild the Princetonian shot standard figures.

The standard of play in all the second-round matches probably was the highest in the history of the Jersey championship. Two who gained semi-final brackets, Kenneth Wolcott of Trenton and Kenneth Smith of Montclair, went out in 35, two under par.

Wolcott, a newcomer to the New Jersey district, formerly was three times champion of Akron, Ohio. He put out Linton H. Foster of Ridgewood, 5 and 3, after Foster had provided the principle upset in the morning by eliminating the only former holder of the title left in the field, J. Wolcott Brown of Spring Lake.

Smith played at a 70 clip this afternoon in defeating J. Nevins McBride of North Jersey, 4 and 3. In the fourth well-played match of the afternoon, the medalist, F. Paul Anderson, scored a 74 in defeating Max Kaesche of Ridgewood, 2 and 1.

THE SUMMARIES.

Championship Sixteen.

CORKRAN, CHAMPION, LOSES

Eliminated From Middle Atlantic Golf Play—Final on Today.

RICHMOND, Va., June 6 (AP).—Bernard W. Corkran of Baltimore, defending champion, was eliminated from the Middle Atlantic States golf tournament today by Alex Knapp, also of Baltimore.

Corkran's defeat was in the quarter-final of the tourney, by a score of 5 and 4, after he had eliminated Walter McCullum, Washington veteran, 2 and 1, in the first round play.

Knapp will meet Jack Howard of Richmond and Johnny Shorey of Washington will face Billy Howell of Richmond in the semi-finals tomorrow morning. The finals will take place tomorrow afternoon.

MILLER TAKES GOLF TITLE.

Wins Southeastern Pro Crown With 289 at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 6 (AP).—Playing consistently, Eddie Miller, Gadsden Country Club professional, wrested the Southeastern Professional Golf Association title from Charles Hall of Birmingham today at the Richland Club. He turned in a 72-hole score of 289, one over par.

Hall, professional of the Birmingham Country Club, trailed Miller with 291. Arnold Mears of the Richland Golf Club was third with 296. Danny Goss of Birmingham, who was in a three-way tie with Miller and Hall for the lead at the halfway mark with cards of 146 each, was fourth with 298.

VON ELM CAPTURES FRENCH GOLF TITLE

Detroit Star Crushes Morrison of England in Amateur Tourney, 9 and 8.

SHOOTS A 70 IN MORNING

American's Sensational Work Gives Him Lead of 5 Up Over Rival at Noon.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LA BOULIE, France, June 6.—Playing brilliantly through all stages of the game, George Von Elm of Detroit today easily won the French international amateur golf title in the final of the tournament on this course just outside of Versailles. The former United States amateur golf champion won by 9 and 8 from R. G. Morrison of the Chantaco Golf Club, England.

Von Elm consistently showed championship style. His excellent distance and direction featured his drives, while his putting was superb. On the other hand, the wind seemed to bother the Englishman when he was driving, and his nervousness on the greens was costly.

Large Gallery Sees Match.

Bright, warm sunshine brought out a large crowd of spectators, but the master golfer, Bobby Jones, was not in the gallery today to encourage his compatriot, as he did yesterday. It is doubtful if Jones himself could have bettered Von Elm's fine performance today.

The American was 2 up on Morrison at the ninth hole this morning. He had gone out in 35, which was three under par for La Boulie. The Englishman took only 37, however, and up to this point was giving Von Elm quite worthy competition.

After the morning eighteen holes, Von Elm led Morrison, 5 up, having covered the last nine holes in 35, or even par. His total, 70, for the eighteen holes gave him a comfortable margin over Morrison's 75. The Britisher required 38 to come back.

Morrison's Confidence Shaken.

Morrison's confidence in himself appeared shaken when play was resumed in the afternoon and he lost five of the first nine holes. He halved three others, which left only one on the credit side of his ledger.

The American was 10 up after the twenty-sixth hole, but his opponent succeeded in taking the twenty-seventh, making the score 9 up and nine to go. Then Morrison just managed to halve the twenty-eighth and so lost the match.

Von Elm turned in the afternoon in 34, four under par. He had surpassed his own good all-round playing of the morning, his putting especially having been spectacular.

Von Elm is the second American in two years to win the title. Jack Westland of Chicago, champion last year, did not defend.

The cards:

Morning Round.

BOSTON TEAM GAINS IN GOLF CUP PLAY

Defeats Philadelphia Women, 8 to 7, in Griscom Trophy Event at Brookline.

Special to The New York Times.

BROOKLINE, Mass., June 6.—Boston's team of women golfers defeated Philadelphia in the second set of matches for the Griscom Cup at the Country Club, Brookline, today by 8 points to 7. After losing the first three points the local golfers improved their defense and took the next five in a row, with victories by the Misses Stebbins and English, Mrs. Ferris, Mrs. Quimby and Mrs. White.

By winning today the Boston team has a chance of capturing the trophy for the first time in years. It will face the New York team tomorrow, and the winner of the match will get the Griscom Cup. Philadelphia in its two matches scored 14 points, but it can finish no better than second in the annual triangular competition.

Miss Frances Williams, new Eastern champion, started Philadelphia to an early lead by defeating Mrs. E. H. Baker, Boston's ranking player, after a stubborn uphill battle that went to the nineteenth hole.

Miss Williams finished in spectacular fashion after being 1 down facing the eighteenth. She won the eighteenth with a great four and followed that with another birdie at the extra hole, which Mrs. Baker could not match.

THE SUMMARIES.

Miss Frances Williams, Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. E. H. Baker, Boston, 1 up (19 holes).
Mrs. H. Stetson, Philadelphia, defeated Miss Dorothy Richards, Boston, 5 and 3.
Mrs. Ralph Raynor, Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. D. M. Delcher, Boston, 7 and 6.
Mrs. Wm. Ferris Jr., Boston, defeated Miss Ruth Perry, 1 up.
Miss Frances Stebbins, Boston, defeated Mrs. W. A. Johnson, 6 and 5.
Mrs. W. C. Quinby, Boston, defeated Mrs. J. Disston Jr., 2 up.
Mrs. L. Q. White, Boston, defeated Mrs. C. E. Anderson, 4 and 3.
Miss Grace English, Boston, defeated Mrs. R. L. Robey, 1 up.
Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Philadelphia, defeated Miss Rosamond Vahey, 6 and 4.
Miss J. McUller, Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. H. F. Prunaret, 5 and 2.
Miss Martha Brewer, Boston, defeated Mrs. C. Button, 2 up.
Mrs. E. Fitler, Philadelphia, defeated Miss Edith Stevens, 4 and 3.
Mrs. Walter Tufts, Boston, defeated Mrs. T. Weidersheim, 6 and 4.
Miss Elizabeth Morris, Philadelphia, defeated Miss Margaret Curtis, 3 and 1.
Mrs. Edward F. Shay, Boston, defeated Mrs. Bowman Wheeler, 4 and 3.

Suzanne and Buckaroo Score for U. S. Army Team as Tuxedo Horse Show Opens

ARMY TEAM WINS AT TUXEDO SHOW

BUCKAROO ALSO TRIUMPHS

Veteran Brown Gelding, Ridden by Captain Bradford, Beats Five Others in Jump-Off.

By HENRY R. ILSLEY.

Special to The New York Times.

TUXEDO, N. Y., June 6.—Fresh from their many triumphs at the West Point Horse Show the members of the United States Army team made an excellent start today by carrying off three of the four ribbons in the open jumping class at the first day of the annual Tuxedo exhbition, which opened this morning in the ring of the attractive horse show grounds in Tuxedo Park.

Their laurels were not easily won, however, since there was a jump off, in which six participated, all having gone clean in their first appearance over the four-foot jumps. An old favorite gained the blue and first money when Captain W. D. Bradford jumped Colonel Pierre Lorillard Jr.'s veteran brown gelding Buckaroo to his second perfect performance.

All the others had faults scored against them in the jump off, but the Army's bay mare Suzanne had only one slight touch and took second under Captain Bradford's handling. Miss Doris Hofheimer of Warrenville, N. J., was third with the bay gelding Tantalizer, jumped by Mike Devaney. Fourth was the Army's black mare Nigra, jumped by Major Harry D. Chamberlin.

Captain Bradford on Winner.

The Army team also scored in the military class for limit jumpers, taking all four ribbons. Captain Bradford and Lieutenant Wofford divided honors. The former won first with Suzanne and took third with his own brown gelding, The Judge. Lieutenant Wofford was second with the Army's bay gelding Garcon and fourth with the bay gelding Muskogee. Two jump offs were necessary to settle the class.

First and second went to the Army in the limit class for jumpers, Suzanne being the winner and Muskogee being second. Miss Hofheimer was third with her brown gelding High Ho.

Suzanne won her third blue when she scored in a class for military jumpers.

There was a large class of hunter-hacks, which were first shown over the jumps and then at the three gaits. The prizes were well distributed, the blue going to the well-known bay gelding Prince Charming.

Prudence Gains Honors.

The noted prize winner, the chestnut mare Prudence, now being shown by Edwin C. Feigenspan of Newark, N. Y., made her appearance and proceeded to carry away two blues in succession.

In the class for saddle horses over 14.2 hands, in which conditions called for ladies to ride, Prudence again was first, defeating the West Point champion, the chestnut mare Sutherland Rose, owned by William H. Nicolls of Roslyn, L. I. Third was William Boardman's chestnut mare Miss Edith.

Miss Ryan and Miss Palfrey Gain Final in English Tennis

LONDON, June 6 (AP).—Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California and London, and Miss Sarah Palfrey of Boston will meet in the final for the women's singles in the North London lawn tennis championships at Stamford Hill.

Miss Palfrey won her semi-final match from Miss Mary Greef, Kansas City, 7—5, 6—3, while Miss Ryan defeated a British player, Miss E. R. Clarke, in the other semi-final, 6—2, 6—1.

HALL ELIMINATED IN HARTFORD TENNIS

Defending Champion Beaten by Wiley in Semi-Final Round of New England Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 6.—J. Gilbert Hall of East Orange, N. J., the defending champion, was eliminated from the New England tennis tournament this afternoon by the diminutive Hartford veteran, Leland H. Wiley, who will meet Frank Shields of New York in the championship round tomorrow.

Mrs. William Shedden of Boston repeated her victory of a year ago and won the women's championship, and later, coupled with Miss Dorothy Blodgett, also of Boston, won the final in the women's doubles.

Wiley surprised the gallery by taking the first set from Hall, 6—4, but he lost the second, 6—4. The pace had told on Hall and he began to bat shots into the strong down-court wind that went far beyond the base lines. Finally, Wiley won a love game on Hall's service and took the next for the match.

Shields had to display everything he had to take the first set from David Jones of New York, 9—7, but the junior champion clearly outclassed his fellow-New Yorker and took the second set handily, 6—1.

THE SUMMARIES.

Men's Singles.

Semi-Final Round—Leland H. Wiley, Hartford, defeated J. Gilbert Hall, East Orange, 6—4, 4—6, 7—5; Frank Shields, New York, defeated David Jones, New York, 9—7, 6—1.

BUCHSBAUM HORSES ANNEX FIVE FIRSTS

500 WATCH THE EVENTS

Strassburger Entries Capture 3 Blues, 5 Other Places—Miss Graham's Jumper Scores.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., June 6.—William Buchsbaum's Boxwood Farm entries captured five blue ribbons and placed in two other events as the fifth annual Montclair Horse Show opened its two-day program today at the ring in the Eagle Rock reservation in West Orange. Thomas McCray rode four of the Buchsbaum mounts to victory and William Buchsbaum Jr. was in the saddle on the fifth.

Many persons socially prominent in Montclair, the Oranges and Maplewood were numbered among the 500 who attended today. Every available ringside space was taken and all have been reserved for tomorrow.

The Boxwood Farm scored its first victory in the opening event, the model saddle-horse class. Gladys Glad, a chestnut mare, was the winner. The same horse was awarded another blue ribbon in the saddle mares over 14.2 hands class. Mountain Rosebud, a chestnut gelding, also scored a double victory, winning the saddle-horse class over 14.2 hands and then taking the saddle-gelding class.

Brownie Wins the Blue.

The fifth blue ribbon was awarded to Brownie, a brown mare, which displayed fine ability in winning the lightweight hunters' class.

Horses owned by Perry B. Strassburger of Montclair were also prominent in today's competition. Strassburger mounts won three blue ribbons, three seconds, one third and a fourth.

One of the most interesting events of the program was the class for three saddle horses. There were ten groups entered, making it an unusually fine display. Three Strassburger horses, Guiding Star, Cock o' the Walk and Let's Go, ridden by Mr. Strassburger, Miss Suzanne Strassburger and Miss Dorothy Curtis, captured first place.

Miss Graham's Entry Wins.

In the competition for jumpers Clud Inspector, owned by Miss Betty Graham of Short Hills, won two ribbons and placed second in another event. Bobby Cunneen, also of Short Hills, handled the Graham entry in each event.

Miss Mattson Wins Tennis Title.

Special to The New York Times.

Philadelphia, June 6.—Miss Mary Mattson, 16-year-old Germantown High School player, today won the Philadelphia and district girls' tennis championship by beating Miss Cecilia Bowes of Merion Academy, 6—3, 6—2. The doubles championship was won by Miss Betty Vanneman, Peirce School, and Miss Bowes, when they beat Miss Betty Taussig, Springside School, and Miss Mattson, 6—4, 2—6, 6—0.

AUSTRALIA CAPTURES 2 DAVIS CUP TESTS

Crawford and Hopman Beat British Singles Rivals—Italy and Austria Divide.

EASTBOURNE, England, June 6 (AP).—Australia took the first match in the third round of Davis Cup tennis play with Great Britain today, Jack Crawford defeating H. G. N. Lee in a five-set match, 3—6, 6—2, 4—6, 6—2, 6—2.

Australia also captured the second singles match to gain a 2-0 lead in the series. This victory was contributed by Harry Hopman, who downed the burly English player, J. Colin Gregory, 8—6, 6—4, 9—7.

Italy Breaks Even.

VIENNA, Austria, June 6 (AP).—H. W. Artens, Austria, defeated Pietro Gaslini, Italy, in straight sets in the third round of Davis Cup tennis play today. The score was 8—6, 6—2, 6—2.

Italy squared matters with Austria in the second singles match when Baron Humbert de Morpurgo, the Italian ace, defeated Franz Matejka, first ranking Austrian player, 6—2, 6—2, 6—3.

COCHET AGAIN TRIUMPHS.

Borotra Also Advances in Belgian Championship Tennis.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, June 6 (AP).—Henri Cochet of France won another straight set tennis victory today, defeating Lacroix of Belgium, 6—2, 6—2, 6—4, in the quarter-final round of the Belgian championships.

Another of the French "Musketeers," Jean Borotra, had extreme difficulty in beating his countryman, Alain Gerbault, the solo ocean navigator, 9—7, 3—6, 6—4.

EASTERN TEAM WINS IN SEARS CUP PLAY

Led by Miss Goss, Eliminates Middle States' Tennis Players by 8 to 1 Count.

NEW ENGLAND ALSO SCORES

Defenders Gain Clean Sweep Over Middle Atlantic Contingent—Final to Be Held Today.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 6.—With the South extending its hospitality for the first time in these intersectional tournaments, the representatives of the Eastern New England Lawn Tennis Association, almost entirely from New York and Boston, scored crushing victories today in the opening round of the fourth annual Sears Cup matches at the Baltimore Country Club.

Led by Miss Eleanor Goss, the Eastern contingent eliminated the Middle States players from Philadelphia, 8 to 1, while the New England team, marshaled by Miss Edith Sigourney, scored a clean sweep over the Middle Atlantic representatives assembled by Miss Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va.

The two winning combinations will meet tomorrow afternoon in the final, with New England in the rôle of defender of the cup.

Six matches in singles and three in doubles were played in each of the two engagements today, and it was not until the last one of the afternoon that either of the losing teams broke into the winning column. In this match Miss Virginia Hilleary and Miss Anne Page of Philadelphia defeated Miss Goss and Miss Dorothy Andrus, 6—3, 7—5.

The uniform strength shown all along the line by the Eastern and New England players, who came through the twelve singles contests without the loss of a set, presages a hard-fought battle when they meet for the honors tomorrow. Standing out as the feature engagement will be the meeting between Miss Goss and Miss Marjorie Morrill of Dedham, Mass.

Both of these players, each of whom has gained repute on European as well as American courts, came through their tests today in particularly satisfying fashion, and of the two it must be said that Miss Morrill looked a little the more impressive. In defeating Miss Penelope Anderson, a wearer of the Wightman Cup shield, at 6—0, 6—2, the Boston girl served notice to her opponents of the season to look for much stiffer opposition from her than she furnished last year.

Miss Morrill's forehand driving battered down all opposition, and Miss Anderson, for all the stoutness of her defense and the sheer beauty of her own strokes, was helpless to stay her hand. The Virginia girl did not have either the control or the length that marks her game at its best, but it was no easy task to collect her forces in the face of the barrage that was beating down upon her back court within inches of the baseline.

Miss Goss, hitting with her accustomed severity in the forehand and holding her ground stanchly at the net, won from Miss Hilleary by the totally unexpected margin of 6—3, 6—1. Miss Hilleary gave so splendid an account of herself in the Southern tournaments, defeating Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup at White Sulphur Springs, that it was believed Miss Goss had reason to look to her laurels.

But the Philadelphia girl, except for a brief period in the opening set, when she went from 1—5 to 3—5, was sadly off her game. Her strokes lacked vitality and depth and her control was shaky, and when she sought to meet the issue at the net Miss Goss passed her repeatedly.

THE SUMMARIES.

HUDSON

Easy to buy—Inexpensive to Operate

The great and envied cars of the world are Eights. Except for cost all would own them.

Swept aside, now, is that barrier of high price and upkeep costs. And Hudson's Great Eight, through an amazing development, is giving thousands the brilliant performance and distinction that only the exclusive few have known.

Come, see and ride in this most modern of Eights. Beautiful, luxurious and powerful, it is excelled by no car in fast get-away, smoothness and reliable operation. It will renew your first glorious zest in motoring. It will thrill you with the power of its eight-cylinder motor. And it will delight you with operating economies never before achieved in a car of equal performance.

These are the reasons why Hudson is being praised everywhere, even beyond the great successes of Hudson's past.

From the moment you take the wheel you will be conscious of its superiority. You need scarcely touch the gear shift. Loaf along in high, slowly as on a Sunday stroll. Then push your foot to the floor and dart ahead at express train speed. For Hudson delivers its power surely and without effort.

Sixty miles an hour will seem as quiet and easy as thirty. The steepest hills will level out before you with a rising speedometer. The brakes will bring you to a sure, smooth stop, no matter what your speed. Its roadability is so sure that you will feel secure at all times. And, you will say, as thousands are saying, "Here is a car."

Syracuse Nine Defeats Fordham, Driving Andrews From Box

FORDHAM IS UPSET BY SYRACUSE NINE

Maroon Unable to Make Headway Against Balsley's Offerings and Loses, 9 to 5.

ANDREWS DRIVEN FROM BOX

Retires After Topol's Second Homer in Fifth, Which Comes With the Bases Loaded.

In a game featured by three home runs by the winners, the Syracuse nine defeated the Fordham team, 9 to 5, at Fordham Field yesterday. All the four-baggers were made off Neil Andrews, Fordham ace, who was driven from the mound in the fifth inning after Byron Topol, Orange third baseman, had clouted a homer with the bases loaded. It was Topol's second circuit smash of the game, the visiting star having hit one on his previous time at bat. Abe Stoneberg accounted for the other home run in the second inning with two on base.

Basil Balsley, winning hurler, held Fordham to a single run and only two hits until the seventh inning, when he eased up and Fordham collected seven more safeties and four runs. Joe Aube was the Maroon's best batsman, smashing a double and a triple in five times at bat, while Warren Stevens of Syracuse was credited with three singles in five trips to the plate. Besides hitting his pair of homers, Topol also collected a single and batted in six of the winners' nine runs.

After Fordham had scored a run in the first inning, when Captain Jack LaBorne walked and came in on Aube's triple, Syracuse came back in the second with three runs. Topol singled, as did Stevens, and both registered on Stoneberg's homer. Topol's first home run raised the winners' total of runs to four in the fourth, and in the next inning the Orange batting star hit for the circuit with the bags filled.

Fordham fought back to account for four runs on five hits in the eighth and ninth, but the winners were in no danger and added their ninth run in the last inning.

Only one more game remains on the Fordham schedule, the Maroons playing an alumni team on Fordham Field today.

VILLANOVA DEFEATED AFTER ELEVEN IN ROW

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Pa., June 6.—Lafayette broke Villanova's eleven-game winning streak today when the Maroon won the annual Commencement Day contest, 6-3.

Jack Balentine allowed only five hits. Hiller, who started for Villanova, and Mulvenna, who relieved him, also gave five hits.

Lafayette scored four runs in the fourth on two hits and three errors. In the next inning Jack Thompson of Lafayette hit a home run with a man on base.

Columbia Baseball Players Name Obey as 1931 Captain

J. Edward Obey of Pittsburgh has been elected captain of the 1931 Columbia baseball team, it was announced yesterday by Graduate Manager Reynolds Benson. Obey was elected by the letter men of the past season's squad upon the return of the men from Princeton.

Obey has been a regular outfielder for the past two seasons and has been one of the strongest hitters on the nine. He has also played basketball for the past two years. He is chairman of the student board, undergraduate governing body at Columbia.

HARVARD INSIGNIA RECEIVED BY 142

Athletic Association Announces Recipients of Awards for Spring Season.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 6.—The Harvard Athletic Association today announced the names of 142 who received insignia for sport activities in the Spring outdoor season. Only twenty-two of this number were major "Hs," for the varsity track and field team is the only major letter division that has completed its season.

Of the twenty-two major letters awarded, twenty were given for places won in the annual Harvard-Yale dual meet.

Vincent Hennessy, '30, and Captain-elect Vernon Munroe Jr. of the record-breaking relay team of the indoor season and also members of the winning one-mile outfit at the Pennsylvania relay carnival, were awarded letters for their feats.

COAST TEAM LEADS IN MEET AT CHICAGO

Southern California Qualifies 12 in National Collegiate A. A. Title Games.

SIMPSON AND WYKOFF STAR

Both Cover 100 Yards in 0:09.6—Rothert Shatters Meet Standard for the Shot-Put.

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP).—Athletes from the University of Southern California made their bid for national track and field supremacy today in competition with 425 of the greatest stars in America.

The Trojans, already victorious in the Eastern Intercollegiate and Pacific Coast championships, raced through a cold, drizzly rain and biting wind that swept Stagg Field today to place twelve athletes in nine out of ten of the preliminaries of the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship meet. As a result of their performances in the trials, the Trojans will enter the finals tomorrow heavy favorites to beat off the challenges of Ohio State, Washington and Illinois.

Ohio State, Illinois and Washington were next in the ranking with six men apiece, while Nebraska, Notre Dame, Stanford and Kansas each placed four in the record-breaking field of athletes of ninety universities and colleges, from the Pacific to the Atlantic and from New England to Florida. If weather conditions are favorable tomorrow, a half-dozen records for the meet, and perhaps world's records, may tumble.

Drizzle Slows Up Course.

A disheartening drizzle fell throughout the afternoon, slowing up the course and adding to the discomfort of contestants and spectators. The rain, however, did not stop the runners from turning in marks that came dangerously near records, or prevent Harlow Rothert, Stanford weight star, from smashing the N. C. A. A. record in the shot-put. Rothert threw the slippery 16-pound shot 51 feet 1¾ inches, to eclipse his own record of 50 feet 3 inches made a year ago.

Discarding the controversial starting blocks which caused the International Amateur Athletic Federation to throw out his world's record-breaking performance of 0:09:4 for the 100-yard dash, George Simpson of Ohio State, with Frank Wykoff of Southern California, turned in the fastest time for the century trials.

The Buckeye Bullet and Wykoff each broke the tape in winning their heats in 0:09:6. The final in the century tomorrow will bring together the greatest field of sprinters in the nation. Arrayed against Simpson and Wykoff will be Eddie Tolan, University of Michigan negro star and holder of the world's record; the two Texas streaks—Claude Bracey of Rice Institute and Cy Leland of Texas Christian University; Hubert Meier of Iowa State, who is credited with having run the century in 0:09:4; Al Toppino of Loyola, New Orleans, and George Hutson of Denison.

Simpson Fastest in 220.

Simpson also turned in the fastest time in the 220-yard dash, winning his heat in 0:21:4. Tolan, Bracey and Leland also qualified, together with Farmer of North Carolina, Root and East of Chicago, and Wells of Iowa State.

Edward Gordon, Negro star from the University of Iowa and defending champion in the broad jump, who was reported dropped from the Hawkeye squad yesterday after a dispute with Coach George Bresnahan, competed in the event today and led all qualifiers. After the Hawkeye team left Iowa City last night, Gordon paid his own carfare and made his appearance on the field when the meet opened. He jumped 25 feet even—the best leap of his life. Edward Hamm of Georgia Tech, the American record-holder, was second to Gordon with a leap of 24 feet ¾ inch.

COLUMBIA TRACK DINNER SET

Team Will Be Honored at Columbia Club Next Friday.

Columbia's track team, sixth-place winner in the I. C. A. A. A. A. meet at Cambridge last week, will be honored at a dinner by the track section of the Varsity C Club at the Columbia University Club next Friday evening. The Lions scored ten points and ranked third among the Eastern teams.

Gorton H. S. Winner in Baseball.

Gorton High School's baseball team defeated the Saunders Trade School, 10 to 1, in a five-inning game at Gorton Field, Yonkers, yesterday.

KENT EIGHT SAILS FOR RACES ABROAD

Connecticut School Crew Departs for Tests in England With Eton and Rugby.

The Kent School crew of Kent, Conn., sailed on the S. S. Majestic yesterday for England, where the Connecticut sweepswingers will participate in a series of races, with the Thames Challenge Cup, a part of the Henley regatta program, as the chief objective.

The Kent oarsmen, despite an indifferent season against American competition, are confident of making a good showing on the English courses. Father Sill, headmaster of the school and guide of the crew on its European trip, has arranged for races against Eton and Rugby during the week preceding the Challenge Cup event, and expects to round his oarsmen into shape for the Henley fixture.

The Henley regatta will be conducted from July 2 to 5 and will be the 100th anniversary of the historic meet. The Thames Cup last year was won by an American schoolboy boat when the colors of the Browne and Nichols crew were brought over the line first.

In this year's race there will be two American eights entered, for in addition to Kent the 150-pound crew from Princeton will compete. Other entries include Trinity College, Dublin; Delft University, Holland, and Club Cannottiari Italiani Galeria, Buenos Aires.

The best performance turned in by Kent this season was a dead heat rowed against the Harvard 150-pound crew. Both the Yale and Columbia freshman eights defeated the Connecticut schoolboys, as did the Hun School of Princeton and the Belmont School of Boston.

MORRIS TAKES 2D PLACE.

Ken Auer hurled the Morris High nine to a 3-2 triumph over George Washington High in the final Upper Manhattan-Bronx P. S. A. L. game for both at George Washington High Stadium yesterday. The triumph clinched second place in the final divisional standing for Morris.

COLUMBIA OARSMEN HOLD DOUBLE DRILL

Four Shells Have Morning and Afternoon Sessions on Hudson at Poughkeepsie.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 6.—The winner of the 1930 Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta here on June 26 will have to "beat the Navy."

That was the opinion expressed today by Coach Richard J. Glendon of Columbia as the Blue and White sweepswingers held morning and afternoon practice sessions on the Hudson River.

"The midshipmen have the power, the weight and the experience," said young Dick, "to last it out over the four-mile course." Annapolis is coached by Richard A. Glendon.

Columbia continued to hold sway today as the only crew in camp. The oarsmen were out in four shells for the two workouts. The morning paddle of about six miles was under a blistering sun, the evening workout being conducted under the welcome shadow of overcast skies and intermittent showers.

As the shells were launched today, Ed Lozier of Brooklyn still was absent. His seat in the varsity, filled yesterday by Spiller, was taken today by Muller, 4 in the jayvee boat. Spiller was back stroking the junior varsity eight. Nordstrom, who stroked the second shell yesterday, was transferred to Muller's oar today.

Glendon said that Triska of the junior varsity boat would receive a tryout in the senior boat.

Columbia will hold another workout tomorrow as the only crew on the river, and on Sunday will be idle and watch the arrival of Pennsylvania's oarsmen.

ROUGH WATER MARS WORKOUT OF CREWS

Yale and Harvard Eights Also Hampered in Practice by Strong Southwest Wind.

DOUBLE DRILL FOR ELIS

Leader Takes First and Second Varsity Out Both in the Morning and Evening.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 6.—All the Yale and Harvard crews were hampered in their workouts today by a stiff southwest wind and water that was rough enough to show occasional whitecaps.

Coach Ed Leader had his first and second varsity crews paddle above quarters both in the morning and evening. The combination and freshman coaches also chose the smoother water up stream tonight.

Tomorrow the exams at Yale's quarters will end and beginning Monday the combination eight and the freshmen will resume their practice both morning and evening. The morning workouts for these two crews have been omitted during the examination period.

Fred Spuhn, the yearling coach, this evening said his crew was advancing rapidly in watermanship. Don Grant, who is in charge of the combination eight, also spoke encouragingly of the progress made by this crew.

Harvard has much faith in its freshman crew, but is not boasting about the speed of the combination outfit. At the present time it looks like a toss-up as to which is the better of the two.

YALE AND PRINCETON MEET IN POLO TODAY

Old Aiken Trio of Rathborne, Mills and Iglehart Will Play for Eli Four.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 6.—Yale's polo team, which will meet Princeton on Phipps Field tomorrow in the closing game of the school year, will include in its membership the old Aiken three—Mills, Rathbonne and Iglehart.

The line-up announced tonight is as follows: No. 1, Phipps; 2, Mills; 3, Captain Scott or Iglehart; back, Rathbone. Bostwick, Porter and Potter also will probably get into action.

The Princeton four will include: No. 1, Freeman; 2, Captain Lattimore; 3, Firestone; back, Macdonald. The Tiger reserves are Dodge, Gray, Henry, Lamp and Van Dorne.

Yale has entered the intercollegiate championships at the Rumson Country Club, starting June 14, with Harvard, Princeton, Army and Pennsylvania Military College.

Smith to Lead Wesleyan on Track.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 6.—Kenneth Smith of Orlando, Me., has been elected captain of the Wesleyan track team for next season.

WHAT DOES "B. P." MEAN TO YOU?

TO SOME IT MEANS

BEAUTY PARLOR

BAYUK

. . . the salon of vanishing creams and disappearing blemishes . . . where a gal can go in looking like Orphan Annie and come out looking like Helen of Troy. But to thousands, "B. P." means "BAYUK PHILLIES"—the cigar that gives the biggest half-hour of smoke-happiness ten cents ever bought!

"PHILLIES" are ripe tobacco. We take the Best Plants of the tobacco-crop and single out the center leaves. What Nature does for ripe peaches and apples, she does for these leaves. Makes them luscious, mellow, and mild. But words won't win you over. Nothing can tell you how good "PHILLIES" are! Try one, and you'll be a "PHILLIE" fan for life.

By BRYAN FIELD

The most perplexing question on the American turf—who will win the Belmont Stakes—will be answered today. Nearly 50,000 persons will crowd their way into Belmont Park this afternoon to find the answer in the sixty-second running of the historic test for three-year-olds, which first was run at Jerome Park in the days following the Civil War. The purse of approximately $80,000 is the richest anywhere in the world for horses of this age.

Only five are scheduled to run the mile and a half, but the difficulty concerning which will finish in front arises because of the equal merit of William Woodward's Gallant Fox and Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone. The turf world is divided into two camps, divided in a manner which has not been seen in years, and what the outcome will be, the afternoon alone will reveal.

Gallant Fox is running with a stablemate, Flying Gal, while James Butler's Questionnaire and Walter J. Salmon's Swinfield complete the field. Questionnaire, Swinfield and Flying Gal are good horses, but the other two stand so far above them on performance that it all comes down to a question of which of these two is the better.

Both Are Undefeated.

Both are undefeated this season. Gallant Fox has won in succession the Wood Memorial, the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby, three of the country's greatest three-year-old tests of speed and stamina. He is the largest money winner of the year this morning, but by night may be second to Whichone, winner in his two starts—the Ballot Handicap and the classic Withers.

It is quite clear that on performance this season Gallant Fox has the better record. Yet Whichone has been the future book favorite right along and is expected to go to the post the favorite, 4 to 5. These colts, finely trained and splendidly equipped as they are, have raced against each other before. In the Futurity of last year Whichone won and Gallant Fox was third, beaten several lengths by Whitney's horse, which became the biggest money-winning two-year-old in 1929 when he won the purse of more than $100,000. There was no question of the place at the top which Whichone occupied in the two-year-old division.

This is another year, however, and as matters stand now Gallant Fox has the best claim to the three-year-old championship. Victory this afternoon would confirm it in a manner to make his position impregnable no matter what happens later in the campaign.

Will Carry Level Weight.

By the same token, Whichone can gain that championship by whipping the horse which has defeated the best of the division, East or West. The colts will carry level weight, 126 pounds, and Flying Gal, the only filly, will have a sex allowance of five pounds and be in the race at 121.

Earl Sande, regarded as the greatest jockey on the turf by many, will be in the saddle on Gallant Fox, as he was in all of that horse's triumphs earlier this year. Raymond (Sonny) Workman will ride Mr. Whitney's horse, and he needs no apologies made for him, as he has won his spurs as one of the greatest drivers in the game, although he still is a youngster, ten years Sande's junior. Sande is 31 years old.

Mr. Woodward, vice chairman of the Jockey Club, sat in the stewards' stand yesterday and smiled when asked about the outcome. He said he didn't know, but hoped it would be the gallant son of Sir Gallahad III. Mr. Whitney was not at the track.

Jim Fitzsimmons, trainer of Mr. Woodward's horse, and Tom Healey, trainer of Whichone, are two of the greatest known to the turf. Both have turned out champions before this, but they, too, smile and shake their heads.

Veterans in racing these many years, Fitzsimmons and Healey are friends, and were it not for the fact that each has his highest duty in winning, each would get great pleasure in seeing the glory go to the other.

Details on $80,000 Belmont For Three-Year-Olds Today

The $80,000 Belmont Stakes, which will be run this afternoon at Belmont Park, is the richest 3-year-old race in the world. At a mile and a half, the Belmont is a test of stamina as well as speed. First run in 1867, it is the oldest 3-year-old race in America.

Following are the horses, weights, probable jockeys and probable odds:

Horse.	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. Odds.
Whichone	126	Workman	4-5
aGallant Fox	126	Sande	6-5
aFlying Gal	121	Abel	6-5

THREE RIDERS HURT IN BELMONT CHASE

TOREADOR II, 30-1, WINS

Hermitage, Favorite, Goes Down at Last Barrier—Starpatic Easy Victor in Ornament Handicap.

By BRYAN FIELD.

For the second day in succession the steeplechase at Belmont Park resulted in serious injury. Of the eight horses that ran in the Manhasset yesterday, two fell and a third unseated his rider with the result that Jockey A. Campbell is in the hospital with a fractured collar bone and a broken rib and wrist. Jockey H. Jeffcott received contusions about the face and legs and C. R. White, an amateur rider, suffered a fractured rib.

Campbell, one of the best of the Negro jockeys, was riding Walter J. Salmon's Hermitage, favorite in the race and seemingly a sure winner, when he fell at the last jump. Hermitage got to his feet and galloped off but before he could do so Mr. White on Rockover fell over him. Rockover broke his neck.

The horse that had been running in front while all this was happening was Toreador II, a 30-to-1 shot from the Flying Horse Farm. He was stopping fast and seemed about to fall an easy prey to the challenges of Hermitage and Rockover when the accidents took place. Despite his weariness Toreador II galloped on to win by two lengths from Huette, which came from far back to land the place. Brown Stout was third.

Friar McGee Spills Jeffcott.

Jeffcott suffered his spill from Friar McGee, the second choice, at one of the early jumps. When Hermitage and Rockover spilled later it took most of the competition out of the race.

The race that had the place of honor on the card was the Ornament Handicap for 3-year-olds and it produced a popular victory when Frank E. Brown's consistent Starpatic was the winner by three lengths over Dunsany, with Hornpipe third. Nine in all ran and Starpatic was the 13-to-10 favorite, although many thought he would have a hard time of it with the top weight of 126 pounds.

A fast early pace set by Buckeye Poet, which ran coupled with Breezing Thru, was no help to Starpatic either. These two bore E. R. Bradley's colors in the Kentucky Derby, and the way Buckeye Poet went to the front in the Ornament gave many who had backed Starpatic a sinking feeling. Starpatic could not hold to this pace, or else Sonny Workman was rating him behind it. What Workman was doing was hard to see, for the favorite was swallowed up in a rush of horses, with Buckeye Poet well in front. This was on the far turn.

Starpatic on the Outside.

On the bend Workman took Starpatic to the outside and the son of Starmaster came on in great fashion. He was up with the leaders going into the stretch, ran down Buckeye Poet and came on to win as he pleased. Dunsany had run second most of the way but Hornpipe had to come from well back to land the show.

Starpatic finished the mile in 1:37, and earned $1,010 by the victory, which was his first at the meeting. Since coming out this season Starpatic has won four out of eight starts and never has been out of the money.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

OFFICER, he's in again. What is to be done with this Primo Carnera? And who will volunteer to do it? It was most inconsiderate of Primo the Ponderous to bowl over Meyer Christner at this time, with Sharkey and Schmeling so close to a fight for the world's heavyweight title by authority of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Comparisons are odorous, but this same Christner gave Jack Sharkey a busy evening at Madison Square Garden last year. It may be recalled that the Bostonian had to turn on a full head of steam to take the decision from Meyer in the closing rounds. In contrast to that performance, the voluminous Venetian whacked Christner to the canvas in the fourth round, and the referee had nothing to do except to help drag the sleeping beauty to his corner.

All this may not be important, but it is a discordant note. There seems little use in trying to make sense of the heavyweight program, anyway. The Scott-Sharkey scramble at Miami was a cross-word puzzle, with the spectators providing the cross words. Carnera, who was almost knocked out several times by mysterious strangers in his tour of the country, has come through to knock out a fighter who gave Sharkey plenty of trouble.

More Mysteries.

Max Schmeling gained his reputation and drew the nomination for the title bout on his work in three fights in this country, but he has been practically idle for a whole year.

Billy the Kid Stribling held Sharkey very close, and the phrase is used advisedly, at Miami a year ago. Carnera and Stribling met twice, exchanging fouls in a very courteous way.

George Godfrey is generally left out of the reckoning altogether, but he was once permitted to tackle Johnny Risko at Ebbets Field, and he failed to take any advantage of his opportunity.

Possibly, there are lumbermen or truck drivers around the country who could mop up the floor with Jack Sharkey and dust the mantelpiece with Max Schmeling. But luck is with these two chaps. One of them will get the Tunney-Muldoon Trophy, and both will be richly rewarded for whatever they do at the Yankee Stadium next week.

Under Suspicion.

The Carnera tour was under suspicion from the very start, and the suspicion was in no wise dissipated by the discovery of the California Boxing Commission that a helper from the Carnera camp threw in a towel for an opponent who was giving Primo the Ponderous a brisk battle on the Coast.

The Carnera-Christner affair was scanned with suspicion, but competent observers noted nothing wrong with it. Christner hit Primo with all he had and hurt nothing except his own knuckles. In due time, Primo hit Christner, and the burying party was called in.

Primo doesn't look like an athlete, and perhaps a real heavyweight would cut him down in short order, but he is big and strong and a sure shot to beat clumsy fellows who come rushing at him. Christner was in that category.

Comparative Scores.

Comparative scores are worth practically nothing in football and less than that in pugilistic circles, but, coming at this time, the clout that laid Christner low must have shaken the whole Sharkey camp.

Christner was defeated by Paulino, who, in turn, was badly battered by Max Schmeling. That redounds to the credit of the Hammer of Hamburg, the more so because nobody else had been able to make Paulino's knees bend even a little bit.

But there is no way of showing that Sharkey is a world-beater through any evidence taken in the Christner case. On the contrary, the comparative scores put Primo the Ponderous to the fore.

The Carnera forces will use this as a theme song for a while, and doubtless it will have an invigorating effect on the ballyhoo for the Carnera-Godfrey bout in Philadelphia.

Straight Hitting.

What this proves, if anything, is that Carnera can hit harder than Sharkey. That doesn't mean much. It is generally agreed that Schmeling hits harder than Sharkey yet it is reported from all sectors that Sharkey will enter the ring a betting favorite.

Billy the Kid Stribling hits harder than Sharkey, yet the Bostonian defeated Stribling in a placid bout at Miami Beach. Dempsey was a harder hitter than Tunney and gave conclusive proof, if any was needed, in the seventh round of their second debate.

The hardest blow struck in the last Miami fight was a right-hander delivered by Fireman Phil Scott, but it was Falling Philip who hit the canvas four or five times during that short and frightful evening.

There are fellows who hit harder than Sharkey, but he has been able to beat most of them just the same. Tommy Loughran was no hitter at all, but he went along for some years giving boxing lessons to fellows who would have knocked him through the sides of numerous buildings—if they could have hit him. Only one man was fast enough to hit him, and that man was Jack Sharkey.

On the Top Rung.

For that matter, there have been several world's champions, and worthy champions, who were not famed as deadly hitters. John L. Sullivan was a hitter. So was Jim Jeffries. Bob Fitzsimmons, though a comparatively small man, was a terrific hitter, according to history. Jack Johnson was a marvelous combination of hitter and boxer. Jack Dempsey was as wicked a puncher as any of them.

But Gentleman Jim Corbett was a boxer and so was Gene Tunney. It's true that Tunney was a damaging puncher, but he generally started out with the idea of wearing his opponent down rather than knocking him down. It wasn't spectacular, but it was effective.

Thus the fact that there are harder hitters around the country than Jack Sharkey is no indication that Sharkey won't wear the purple. Another point about Sharkey is that he can take a punch and still keep going. Only one fellow stopped him in recent years and that was Jack Dempsey. Schmeling looks like Dempsey, and if the resemblance is more than skin deep, it may be bad news for the Bostonian. But if Schmeling is a heavy hitter, Sharkey is fairly fast on his feet and quick with his hands. In picking the winner of this bout a man should be allowed at least two guesses.

Blind Lane was much the best. She ran into the lead early, but tired in the final furlong. However, she managed to stall off the rush of Beau Jolie. The latter finished with a rush and was next best. Zinn was bumped at the start, recovered and closed a big gap. Alpine Girl is improving. Abduction ran in blinkers, which may account for his bad race.

aE. R. Bradley entry.

Starpatic was eased back off the early pace, moved up very fast around the turn and, taking the lead, won nicely in hand. Dunsany was kept close to the pace and, saving ground, just lasted to save the place. Hornpipe came with a rush. Aldershot had no mishap. He broke well and was kept up with the pace, but quit. Buckeye Poet had speed for seven furlongs. Breezing Thru is improving. Phillip tired after showing early speed.

FEATURE HANDICAP TO STARS AND BARS

Mrs. Whitney's Entry, Paying $21.48 for $2, Triumphs at Washington Park.

THE NUT FINISHES SECOND

Stages Rousing Spurt to Take Place From My Dandy, the Heavily Played Favorite.

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP).—Overlooked by the betting gentry, Mrs. Payne Whitney's good 4-year-old colt Stars and Bars captured the Lincoln Highway Handicap from a field of crack handicap performers at Washington Park today.

The race, one mile, was run over a muddy track and the time for the distance was 1:44. The Nut staged a rousing finish to take the place, and My Dandy, the heavily played favorite, finished third, after showing the way for more than three-quarters.

The lightly-weighted Stars and Bars trailed the field until they straightened out for the run home. Jockey Willie Fronk took his mount to the centre of the track and shook him up vigorously. Stars and Bars had planty of run in him and he raced on past the leaders.

My Dandy showed great early speed but tired under the impost of 126 pounds in the heavy going and yielded the place to The Nut in the last few strides. Stars and Bars paid $21.48 for each $2 investment.

Bermuda Will Have Yacht In Race From New London

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 6 (AP).—Bermuda will be represented in the ocean yacht race from New London, Conn., to Bermuda, beginning June 21, by the Zena. Clarendon Masters, the owner, has lent the yacht for the race, the expenses being defrayed by public subscriptions. She will fly the flag of the Hamilton Dinghy Club.

The Zena already has sailed for New London with a crew of five, which includes the Darrel brothers, well-known yachtsmen. This will make their third attempt at winning this race. In 1923 they sailed the Dainty, which finished second in its class, and in 1925 they struck bad weather, finishing third in a field of five.

ROSE OF ENGLAND WINS ENGLISH OAKS

Lord Glenely's Filly Scores by Three Lengths in 148th Renewal at Epsom Downs.

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 6 (AP).—Rose of England, owned by Lord Glenely, won the historic Oaks Stakes today at the 148th renewal of this famous race.

Rose of England is by Teddy, out of Perce—Neige. Lord Howard De Walden's Wedding Favor was second and Lord Beaverbrook's Micmac was third. Fifteen ran.

Rose of England won by three lengths over the mile and a half course. There were two lengths between second and third.

The winner was a 7-to-1 shot, while Wedding Favor was quoted at 33 to 1 and Micmac 33 to 1.

The race was first run in 1779. It is an event for 3-year-old fillies and has a value of £2,000, with extras.

NEW MAST FOR ENTERPRISE.

Metal Spar Replaced by Lighter of Two Wooden Sticks.

Special to The New York Times.

BRISTOL, R. I., June 6.—The metal mast of the Vanderbilt-Aldrich America's Cup sloop Enterprise was taken out today and replaced with the lighter of her two wooden masts. The only explanation was that after three or four trials, the metal stick was not satisfactory in its present condition. There appears to be a bend in its upper section.

The metal mast is now on the wharf at the Herreshoff shipyards. Whether it will be tried again is not known, but as workmen were removing the cheek blocks that supported the shrouds, soon after the mast was taken out, it may mean that it will go back again with a new standing rigging to give a different distribution of the strain.

YANKEE TO ARRIVE HERE NEXT WEEK

Boston America's Cup Yacht to Be Towed From Marblehead to City Island.

SAILS WILL BE INSPECTED

Weetamoe Reaches City Island, While Whirlwind Is Hauled Out There to Be Cleaned.

By JAMES ROBBINS.

Yankee, the Boston built and owned America's Cup yacht, is to snap out of her isolation at Marblehead, Mass., and come here. John S. Lawrence, manager of her syndicate, decided last night to have the racer towed down across Massachusetts Bay, through the Cape Cod Canal and Block Island and Long Island Sounds to City Island. She is expected to arrive the middle of next week.

When the other cup yachtsmen heard of Yankee's coming they expressed the hope that Mr. Lawrence would decide to start her in the New York Yacht Club's races off Glen Cove on Wednesday and Thursday. That would bring together all four new defender hopefuls, along with Resolute and Vanitie, the old boats.

The real reason for Yankee's coming here is to enable George Ratsey to observe her sails, which he made, and to make any changes that may be desired in them. Mr. Ratsey made the sails for all the cup yachts and, while he has been at Marblehead and sailed on Yankee, there is demand here for him by all the other boats.

To Be Tuning-Up Contests.

It was pointed out that if Yankee should leave Boston by tomorrow she would be here in ample time for the Glen Cove races. They will have no bearing on the selection of the defender to meet Shamrock V, being merely tuning-up contests. Yankee also has had many sailing tests off the Massachusetts coast. Her crew, however, has not had any work in setting sails in competition.

Weetamoe, the New York Yacht Club flag officer boat which George Nichols will sail, arrived yesterday afternoon at City Island, which suddenly became a Mecca for the cup fleet. Vanitie also put in an appearance, and Enterprise and Resolute were reported heading there. Weetamoe put in at New London on Thursday night after leaving Newport under tow.

It was Weetamoe's first appearance in Long Island Sound. She had a number of sailing spins in Narragansett Bay after she was launched and rigged at the Herreshoff yard in Britsol, R. I., and then was tried out off Newport. She will be taken out under sail in the Sound today.

Whirlwind Out of Water.

Whirlwind was hauled out at Robert Jacob's yard in City Island and her underbody rubbed down. It will receive two coats of paint. Mechanics were busy assembling her duralumin mast, which will be stepped after the Glen Cove races. She will sail in those with her present hollow wooden spar.

Yankee's spare mast has not been built as yet. Frank C. Paine, her designer, held it back until after her trials with her first stick. Work on the new one may be started today. Weetamoe's extra mast is being rushed together at Bristol, being encased in a canvas bag through which hot air is blown to dry the glue faster.

Yankee was back yesterday afternoon at the Lawley yard on Dorchester Bay, where she was built, and she will be hauled out there this morning to have her bronze underbody cleaned. She has been in the water four weeks.

SUGGESTS RADIO MAY TRANSMIT HEAT

Dr. Whitney Sees Possibility as "Fever Tube" Tests Are Made at Schenectady.

DOG GAINS BY TREATMENT

New Growth of Hair and Added Weight Are Achieved Under the Experiments.

Special to The New York Times.

SCHENECTADY, June 6. — The new "fever tube" developed in the radio research laboratories of the General Electric Company has suggested to its inventor, Dr. W. R. Whitney, director of all the research laboratories of the company, that radio may eventually be used for bodily heat in homes, office buildings, factories and, in short, wherever people must have artificial means to keep warm.

The purpose of heating a room is to keep its occupants from suffering from cold. It may be possible by using an adaptation of the "fever tube" to eliminate the tremendous waste in heating a whole building by simply heating its occupants, according to Dr. Whitney. Why heat thousands of cubic feet, he asks, merely to keep a body warm. Maintain sufficient heat in the person, instead of an excess of steam in radiators. The "fever tube" equipment, as it stands today in a small cubicle of the laboratories of the company, consists to the layman's eye of two plates made from a synthetic composition resembling hard rubber in appearance. It is similar in principle to the short wave transmitter with a wave length of five meters, featured by a tube oscillating at from 10,000,000 to 14,000,000 cycles a second. The current is concentrated between the condenser plates.

The possibility of providing warmth by radio was suggested by Dr. Whitney in a discussion of the new apparatus with other engineers.

It was suggested that the plates and tube might be placed in the walls of a room, the waves directed across the path of greatest activity, and then with windows open, no furnace in the cellar, no radiators and expensive pipes to look after, and in a house otherwise cold, the inhabitants themselves would be comfortably warm basking in the influences of radio.

"Nothing has been done in the way of experiment to bring this about," a representative of the company said today, "but the idea is interesting, and the engineers consider it worth studying."

The "fever tube," a bi-product of radio reasearch, has apparently found a place in medicine, although still very much of an experiment. Medical science is seriously considering fever as a valuable means for killing certain germs, such as those of malaria, and the "fever tube" is being used in research work of this sort, the patient in whom fever or heat is to be generated being placed between the plates.

Curative research has been limited to date to some interesting experiments on the "radio pup," an undernourished bull terrier picked up in the streets by one of the research engineers just ahead of the dog catcher.

The "radio pup" has earned its name by submitting to scores of experiments with many types of rays and radio beams and is to all appearances thriving.

He has been suffering from what had been diagnosed as an incurable skin infection when brought to the laboratory. He was quite hairless and utterly devoid of ambition.

That was several weeks ago. Today he is wearing his full complement of hair and is putting on weight. He is a regular subscriber to the use of the fever tube.

TWO WOMEN FIGHT IN 5TH AV. APARTMENT

Art Dealer's Wife Held After Struggle in Which Both Are Cut —Jealousy Believed Cause.

The fashionable Fifth Avenue apartment house where former Governor Smith lives was the scene early yesterday of a struggle between two women, as the result of which Mrs. Daniel G. Sunderland, 34-year-old wife of a Fifth Avenue art dealer, was held last night in $1,000 bail on a charge of felonious assault.

The 16-months-old baby of Mrs. Elsie Wilhelm Cohen, the other woman involved, who suffered a severe gash on the cheek, was the only witness of the struggle, which apparently had been caused by jealousy.

Mrs. Sunderland called early yesterday at 53 Fifth Avenue and a maid admitted her to the duplex apartment of Mrs. Cohen, who is said to be separated from her husband. Mrs. Sunderland accused Mrs. Cohen of trying to steal her husband from her, it is alleged. An altercation followed between the two women, who had never met before. Mrs. Cohen's cheek was cut and Mrs. Sunderland's right hand was slashed.

According to the story which Mrs. Sunderland later told detectives whom she summoned, she has had private detectives watch her husband for about a year. She was informed that Mr. Sunderland and Mrs. Cohen were "extremely" good friends, she said, and she called at the Fifth Avenue home for an explanation.

She told the police that she pleaded with Mrs. Cohen to let her husband alone. Mrs. Cohen took a sharp instrument from a drawer and attacked her, Mrs. Sunderland alleged. While defending herself she received the cut on her hand. Mrs. Sunderland insisted that Mrs. Cohen had cut herself in the cheek during the struggle.

Mrs. Cohen refused to tell the police her side of the affair. At her apartment the maid said she was out.

Mrs. Sunderland wept when Magistrate Maurice H. Gotlieb in Essex Market court held her in bail for a hearing next Friday. She was not reached at her home last night at 235 West End Avenue. Attempts to reach Mr. Sunderland at his office at 225 Fifth Avenue received the response from his secretary that the art dealer "would not be in today."

OREGON LAKE BILL VETOED BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP).—Acting upon recommendations of Attorney General Mitchell, President Hoover today vetoed the House bill authorizing the United States to be made a party to a suit by the State of Oregon in the Federal District Court to determine the title to lands constituting the beds of Malheur and Harney Lakes.

It was the second time in two weeks that the Chief Executive has exercised his veto power, his disapproval of the Spanish-American war veterans' pension bill later being overridden by both the Senate and House.

The Oregon veto message was accompanied by the ruling of the Attorney General, who held that the Supreme Court was the proper place to settle the litigation involved.

Asserting that the purpose of the bill seemed to be to provide a tribunal by which the State and citizens claiming an interest in the disputed territory could settle their differences, the Attorney General's letter said that the "constitutional jurisdiction of the Federal courts does not include such a controversy and it is doubtful, to say the least, whether such jurisdiction would be constitutionally conferred upon the district courts by this act."

RYAN GETS TAX FIGHT WRIT.

State Board Ordered to Prove Whole Income Is Taxable.

ALBANY, June 6 (AP).—Supreme Court Justice Daniel D. McNamee today issued a writ of certiorari against the New York State Commission ordering it to present proof within the next twenty days to substantiate its claim that the entire income of John D. Ryan, chairman of the board of the Anaconda Copper Company, is subject to income taxation by this State.

Mr. Ryan has contested the attempt of the commission to tax him for an income of $982,560 derived from sources without the State, contending he is a resident of Butte, Mont., and not of New York.

MRS. HAMMERSTEIN IS FOUND GUILTY

Magistrate Smith Convicts the Widow of Impresario of Immoral Conduct.

TO BE SENTENCED MONDAY

Appeal Said to Be Probable—Women Leaders Plan Campaign Against "Corrupt Practices" in Arrests.

Mrs. Emma Swift Hammerstein, widow of Oscar Hammerstein, who was once considered one of the most beautiful women in Broadway theatrical circles, was found guilty yesterday of immoral conduct in Jefferson Market Women's Court by Magistrate Earl A. Smith.

The conviction was the climax to a hearing which has been in progress, with many adjournments, since May 12, when she was arrested in the Hotel Winthrop, Lexington Avenue and Forty-seventh Street, by four policemen of the staff of Deputy Chief Inspector James S. Bolan.

After the trial yesterday several women prominent in social and civic circles expressed their intention of using the conviction of Mrs. Hammerstein as an example to show that "corrupt practices are carried on in the arrest of women brought to the magistrates' courts in New York City."

Nearly twenty of them met yesterday in the corridor of the court and expressed their displeasure at the result of the trial. Led by Mrs. Catherine Parker Clivette, president of the Greenwich Village Historical Society, they declared that an organization would be formed soon to aid women arrested on immoral conduct charges when the "unknown man" was not also arrested.

Mrs. Clivette said that an effort would be made in the future to "protect women and girls against corrupt public officers who will perjure themselves to besmirch womanhood," and to "clean the magistrates' courts as far as women are concerned." The situation, she said, has come to "the limit of endurance."

Henry H. Klein, counsel for Mrs. Hammerstein, attempted to place privately before Magistrate Smith and the prosecutor, Assistant District Attorney Joshua Egelson, "secret" information regarding the arrest which, he said, could not be corroborated by witnesses and which would implicate "prominent people and give private telephone numbers." On the objection of the prosecution the court refused to hear him.

Two matrons of the East Sixty-seventh Street police station were the only witnesses yesterday. They testified as to the physical condition of Mrs. Hammerstein on the day of her arrest.

As Mrs. Hammerstein was pronounced guilty by Magistrate Smith "on the testimony and demeanor of the defendant" and remanded until Monday for sentence, she turned white and for a moment clutched a chair in front of her. Without saying anything, she walked quietly from the court room with a matron. Her attorney said an appeal would probably be taken.

Among those in court who expressed their disapproval of the decision, in addition to Mrs. Clivette, were Sarah Graham-Mulhall, Mrs. Marie Lassell, Mary Hamilton, Juanyta Clivette, Laura B. Prisk and Mrs. D. McClellan Smith.

BRONX HEALTH CENTRE TO RISE ON ARTHUR AV.

Estimate Board Selects Site After McKee Rebukes Woman for Opposing It.

The Board of Estimate approved a site for the municipal health centre in the Bronx yesterday. After Aldermanic President Joseph V. McKee had taken sharp issue with Mrs. Anna B. Mahler of the Tremont Property Owners Association on her statement that the site picked for the Bronx health centre was made dangerous by traffic. Mrs. Mahler said that although she would profit by the erection of the building on Arthur Avenue, she was opposed to that site because of the traffic dangers to women and children who would use the centre. She suggested a site at Webster Avenue, 176th Street and Carter Avenue instead.

"We have been trying for three years to get this project under way," Mr. McKee said sharply. "I am ashamed of the attitude of some of the people of my borough have taken on this matter. A committee of three disinterested citizens appointed by the Mayor has chosen this site as the best. There is no more danger from traffic there than at the site you suggest."

Commissioner of Public Works Flynn of the Bronx said the building would become part of the Bronx civic centre, according to tentative plans for grouping all the borough buildings near the health centre. It is to be built on a plot 125 by 100, known as 1,826-1,838 Arthur Avenue. The site was approved by the Board of Estimate and sent to the Board of Aldermen with a request for approval there.

M'CORMACK IN COURT FOR ATTACK ON SHEA

Robert McCormack, 62 years old, known to the police as "English Bob," and said by them to have a record of twenty arrests and five convictions covering a period of more than thirty years, appeared in West Side Court yesterday for hearing on a charge of suspicion of felonious assault. McCormack was arrested at seven o'clock Monday morning, shortly after he was alleged to have struck and felled William Shea, race horse owner of 314 West Seventy-fifth Street, in front of the latter's home. Mr. Shea broke his left arm in falling.

McCormack appeared in court in impeccable dress and carrying a cane. He left in an automobile after the hearing, which was adjourned to June 13 with bail of $10,000 continued. The police charge that McCormack accosted Mr. Shea Monday morning as the latter was leaving his home. Mr. Shea is said to have hurried on, whereupon McCormack became enraged and struck him. Mr. Shea is in St. Vincent's Hospital.

Wanamaker's Redleaf-London Straw Hats

FROM THE FOUNDER'S WRITINGS

There Are Many Men and More Women Than Men who are obliged to work too hard. But they are not to be pitied as much as the women and men who do not work at all. Labor of some kind is a necessity for well-being to every human being. There are those who consider that the architect with his pencil, the banker with his figures of the production and movement of crops, the chemist with his laboratory reports and experiments with chemicals, are not workers like the blacksmith's apprentice making a horseshoe. Nevertheless, labors of the mind are often more severe and health-destroying than the blacksmith shop. To be of use in the world we live in we shall be much healthier and happier if we have something to do, and do it well.

BOARD OF ESTIMATE ACTS ON 800 ITEMS

Committee for Assessment Reforms Provided at Final Meeting of Season.

EAST FIFTIES A TRADE ZONE

Area Between Lexington and Madison Avenues Opened to Retail Business.

BRIDGE LANES PUT OVER

The Board of Estimate wound up its regular weekly meeting program yesterday by disposing of a calendar of nearly 800 items, which had been accumulating since the board opened its sessions last Fall. A special meeting, to consider a few items to which the board could not give time yesterday, will be held next Friday.

The report of Controller Berry, warning the city that it must reform its method of levying local assessments, resulted in a special committee to take up the reforms recommended by the Controller being appointed on motion of Mayor Walker. To give the committee time to act, practically all local assessment measures were adjourned until the first regular meeting in the Fall, on Sept. 26.

The board by a vote of eleven to five practically ended as a residence district the streets in the East Fifties, between Madison and Lexington Avenues, by including the side streets, from Fifty-first to Fifty-sixth Streets, in the retail zone classification.

33 Police Lieutenancies Provided.

The board also voted to add thirty-three new police lieutenants to the staff of the Police Department. Emergency action was necessary because the present eligible list expires June 23. An appropriation of $73,666.44 was passed to make the resolution effective.

The committee to consider the assessment reforms will consist of a Supreme Court Justice to be named by the Presiding Justice of the Appellate Division, Corporation Counsel Hilly, Controller Berry; Herman H. Smith, chief engineer of the Board of Estimate; George Byrne, president of the Board of Assessors; James J. Sexton, president of the Board of Taxes and Assessments, and Peter Grimm, chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Tax Revision.

Before the resolution was reached on the calendar, the Mayor issued a warning that no local assessment matters would be decided yesterday by the Board of Estimate unless an emergency existed.

The zone change was one of the most important ones decided by the board in recent months. It changed from residence to business districts all of the side street property on East Fifty-first, Fifty-second, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Streets, from 100 feet east of Madison to 100 feet west of Park Avenue, and from 100 feet east of Park to 100 feet west of Lexington, the corners already being in the retail zone.

West 185th Street to Be Extended.

The board voted yesterday to open West 185th Street, from Pinehurst to Fort Washington Avenues, crossing the northern end of a small park at that point. The park at present abuts private property, at the northern end, with no intervening street.

The action was taken over the protests of some property owners in the neighborhood, who said that the improvement was doubtful in value, and would bring a heavy assessment on their properties. Others favored the proposal, and it was adopted on the recommendation of the Chief Engineer.

Action on the final agreement between the Port of New York Authority and the city for the approaches to the new Hudson River bridge was laid over until the special meeting next week. The Mayor asked for a written, instead of a verbal report on it, from Consulting Engineer Tuttle.

Contained in the approach scheme is a plan for a tunnel to carry traffic from the bridge under Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue to the Speedway.

BOARD APPROVES SITE FOR FREIGHT TERMINAL

After J. W. Danahey of the Eighth Avenue Association suggested a third possible site for the Port Authority's inland freight terminal and had it rejected by Commissioner Howard S. Cullman of the Port Authority yesterday, the Board of Estimate went on record as approving the Port Authority's site on the block bounded by Eighth and Ninth Avenues, Fifteenth and Sixteenth Streets. Having failed to induce the Port Authority to consider a block-square site bounded by Seventeenth and Eighteenth Streets, Ninth and Tenth Avenues, Mr. Danahey said he was prepared to offer another site comprising three blocks which could be arcaded to form a single plot. He said this site was 40,000 square feet larger than the Fifteenth Street site and could be bought for three-fifths of its cost.

Commissioner Cullman said any three-block site would be entirely unacceptable and reminded the board that its province was not to pick a site for the building, but to pass on objections to the site offered by the Port Authority.

"Well," said Mr. Danahey in a discouraged tone, "it seems that anything we suggest this side of heaven will not be acceptable to the Port Authority."

"Why not try the other side," the Mayor suggested. "There is nothing for the board to do except to say that it has no objection to the Port Authority site. Remember that the Port Authority has agreed to pay the city compensation for the taxes it will lose when the Port Authority takes over the site."

Commissioner Cullman made a specific promise to that effect and the board formally endorsed the site.

9,000 in Day Seek City Jobs; Rush for Clerkships a Record

The largest "business" in the history of the Municipal Civil Service Bureau was done yesterday, when Henry Neibling, chief of the Bureau of Applications, reported 9,000 application blanks given out, together with 10,000 lists of sample questions, preparatory to examinations for second grade clerks in the city departments. In 1927, he said, when the last examinations were held, there were only 1,491 applicants, while in two hours yesterday 3,741 applicants entered the office.

Since Jan. 1 there have been more applicants than during all of 1929, it was said. June 20 is the closing date for the applications, and the examination date has not yet been set. The clerkships pay from $1,200 to $1,800 a year.

TRANSIT BOARD GETS ELEVATED PROBLEM

Mayor Says Board of Estimate Will Await Decision on Transportation Necessity.

The Board of Estimate will take no further action on the proposal for immediate condemnation and removal of the Sixth Avenue elevated line from Trinity Place to Fifty-third Street until the Transit Commission has ruled whether the structure should be retained as a matter of "public convenience and necessity," Mayor Walker declared yesterday.

His declaration followed adoption by the board of a resolution giving official notice to the Transit Commission that the project was under consideration by the city and asking the State agency to exercise the concurrent jurisdiction conferred upon it by the 1924 law authorizing condemnation of the line.

The Transit Commission will set a date for public hearings within a few days. It has received already and referred to its counsel, George H. Stover, a petition by the Interborough Rapid Transit Company seeking public hearings.

The Board of Estimate voted yesterday its approval of contracts for new subway construction and equipment involving the expenditure of about $15,000,000. It also set June 13 as the date for public hearings on two of the routes embodied in the $800,000,000 second stage of the city's transit construction program. One of the routes is the proposed three-mile extension of the Fulton Street line in Brooklyn to a connection with the B. M. T.'s Liberty Avenue line. The other is the Worth Street, East Broadway and Grand Street line, which will connect with the new Eighth Avenue subway route and provide transfer connections with the Interborough's east side line.

Chief among the contracts approved by the board was that for construction of the $12,285,000 tunnel under the East River from Rutgers Street, Manhattan, to Jay and Nassau Streets, Brooklyn. Other contracts approved were those for rails, electrical equipment, subway station finish, entrances and exits, cable equipment and miscellaneous items, including an appropriation of $500,000 for personnel expenses in connection with the drawing of plans for the midtown vehicular tunnel under the East River to Long Island City and the similar tube under the Narrows from Brooklyn to Staten Island.

ALLOWS REMOVAL OF ELEVATED SPUR

The city's application for condemnation and removal of the Interborough's elevated railroad spur in East Thirty-fourth Street was granted yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Levy. His decision, which confers upon the city the right to take title to the structure and its attendant easements, clears the way for removal of the spur which extends from Third Avenue to the East River. Officials of the Thirty-fourth Street-Midtown Association and the First Avenue Association, which have been active in the campaign to remove the spur, declared that every effort would be made to have the Board of Estimate act in time to have the structure torn down by Fall.

Before title vests in the city the Board of Estimate must act by resolution. The next step will be the preparation and letting of demolition contracts by the Sinking Fund Commission.

The Thirty-fourth Street spur was opened for travel in 1880 and served as a connection with ferry routes to Long Island City. The opening of the Queensborough Bridge and the Pennsylvania Terminal caused a sharp decline in its traffic. At present a one-car shuttle train is operated on the spur, carrying an average of 140 passengers a day. According to the Thirty-fourth Street-Midtown Association real estate values in the area adjacent to the spur line have risen almost 100 per cent in the past year, in anticipation of its removal.

JAIL PLANS APPROVED.

Westchester Gets New Site—Nassau to Build Addition.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 6.—The State Commission of Correction approved a change of site of the Westchester County jail today from White Plains to near the county penitentiary at East View. The general layout of the jail was approved and the final plans are before the board for its action.

A new county jail for Steuben County at Bath was approved by the commission and an addition to the Nassau County jail at Mineola.

Westchester County supervisors have authorized an appropriation of $950,000 for the jail and additions to the heating plant of the penitentiary and other changes.

THREE CONVICTED IN UTAH LEAD CASE

Company and Two Publications Also Found Guilty of Fraud in Promoting Stock.

STATISTICIAN IS CLEARED

Verdict Follows the Conviction of Three Lawyers for Jury "Fixing" at Earlier Trial.

A verdict of guilty against the Utah Lead Company, a Delaware corporation, and three of the four men who have been on trial on charges involving use of the mails to defraud in the promotion and sale of the company's stock, and also against two Wall Street publications promoted by one of the principals, was returned last night by a jury in Federal Court.

The jury had been out for about ten and a half hours, having received the case at 12:13 P. M. and reporting its verdict at 10:45 P. M. Charles Beadon, the principal defendant, was found guilty of mail fraud and conspiracy to use the mails to defraud. Two tipster sheets he sponsored, "The Trend of the Market" and the "The Stock Market Reporter," were also found guilty of mail fraud and conspiracy. Michael Barnett, Philadelphia lawyer and president of the lead company, and Harry H. Phillips, Philadelphia and New York stockbroker, were found guilty of conspiracy. Joseph Morris, a statistician employed by Beadon, was found not guilty on all counts. The Utah Lead Company was found guilty of conspiracy.

Federal Judge Knox set June 17 as the date for sentencing the men. Bail of $15,000 for Beadon and $7,500 each for Barnett and Phillips, was continued.

Another defendant, William H. Rankin, pleaded guilty and testified for the government. All five were tried in March, but the proceedings resulted in a mistrial, and their lawyers, Arthur N. Sager, Joseph Shalleck, brother of Municipal Court Justice Shalleck, and Edward H. Reynolds, were sentenced to prison after being convicted of jury bribing.

Rankin pleaded guilty at the retrial, which began about five weeks ago. The defendants were accused of using tipster sheets to sell stock in the lead company.

PLOT TO BREAK JAIL BY MARINE FOILED

Underdown, Murder Suspect, Feigns Insanity in Alleged Attempt to Kill Warden.

Special to The New York Times.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 6.—A plot to kill Warden Ward Clayton and liberate the prisoners in the Ocean County jail was frustrated tonight when Lester Underdown, indicted for the murder of Robert Evans and Albert Duffy and who will go on trial on Tuesday, was discovered hidden under a mattress on his cot.

Underdown feigned insanity and screamed that some one was throwing cold water on him. Officers questioned Claude Carmichael, also indicted in the Evans-Duffy murder, who has the adjoining cell, and Carmichael said Underdown told him he intended getting the warden into the cell, beating him to death and, after taking his jail keys, liberate the prisoners and escape.

A bloody uniform cap, said to belong to Underdown was found tonight at the Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, where he is believed to have hidden it. The cap has Underdown's name in it and he told Carmichael that if the officers found his cap now "they will hang me sure."

Madison E. Chappel, a third marine, also was indicted for the murder of Evans and Duffy, who were shot to death after a drunken quarrel in Evans's house, a lonely dwelling in the woods on the Homestead Farms Road, Lakewood, on May 15. Mrs. Hattie Evans, widow of one of the murdered men, is also held as a material witness.

Carmichael, in an alleged confession made before Prosecutor James M. Davis of Ocean County, said Underdown was responsible for the killings and that Underdown was in love with Evans's wife and wanted to get rid of her husband. He said that on the night of the murder Underdown succeeded in getting him and Chappel intoxicated and then induced them to go to Evans's home with their rifles. He declared that Underdown did all the shooting, killing Duffy on the principle that dead men tell no tales.

Nine days ago a rifle identified as that issued to Underdown was found in the woods near the Evans house.

BOROUGH HEADS REJECT WALKER PLANNING BILL

Mayor Reported Standing Alone at Executive Session of the Board of Estimate.

Mayor Walker's proposal to set up a City Planning Commissioner, with advisory powers over public improvements, was rejected yesterday by the Borough Presidents in an executive session of the Board of Estimate. It was reported that the Mayor stood alone for the bill, introduced by him in the Municipal Assembly two weeks ago.

Aldermanic President McKee was reported to have joined with the borough heads in opposing the measure, while Controller Berry remained silent and neutral.

That the Mayor was irritated with the stand taken by the borough presidents, who see in the bill an effort to curtail their powers and centralize the direction of civic improvements from City Hall, was evident during the afternoon session of the Board of Estimate. He made repeated references to the help a Planning Commission or Commissioner would be in keeping the calendar of the Board of Estimate free from disputes over zone changes and similar matters.

Heat Wave Eases Slightly on Fourth Day; Woman Dies Here; Cooling Winds Today

The heat wave that has gripped New York mercilessly since last Tuesday relented slightly yesterday, when the mercury went up to a maximum of 86 degrees, only four below the high mark of Wednesday and Thursday. One death and one prostration were reported. More relief will come today, according to the Weather Bureau forecast. Clearing and cooler weather and fresh to strong northwest winds were predicted.

New York's millions, suffering for the fourth consecutive day, were disappointed in the weather man's promise of cooling showers yesterday. After a day that seemed as warm as Wednesday and Thursday had been, although it was officially registered as being a trifle cooler, showers fell shortly after 7 P. M. The shower went almost as soon as it came, however, leaving the city's streets as warm as ever.

Weather Bureau officials expected that the mercury would drop to 65 degrees during the night. Yesterday's high temperature of 86 degrees was recorded at 1:30 P. M. The minimum temperature for the day was 68 degrees at 7 A. M. The day's average temperature was 77 degrees, ten degrees above the normal average of 67 for the date.

Mrs. Rachel Kerchner, 60 years old, collapsed and died of the heat at 588 Fox Street, the Bronx, late last night while walking to her home at 646 Fox Street.

The heat victim here was Chester Gannon, 40 years old, of 522 Audubon Avenue, who was overcome in front of 3,460 Broadway. After being attended, he went home.

For the third time this week, a drowning was reported. Howard Levine, 18 years old, of 21 Wayne Street, Glendale, Queens, lost his life while bathing in Jamaica Bay off Howard Beach, Woodhaven. The body was recovered four hours later by the police emergency squad from Richmond Hill Station.

In Elizabeth, N. J., where the mercury jumped beyond the 90-degree mark, the hot weather was blamed for the suicide of Joseph Soltis, 46 years old, a worker on the night shift at the Standard Oil Company plant in that city. His son, Frank, 14 years old, who said his father had complained of the heat after returning from work to his home at 178 Fourth Street, found the body in a gas-filled bedroom, when he came home from school. Elizabeth had two heat prostrations during the day.

Albany had its third heat death within two days, according to The Associated Press. The temperature there was well above 90 degrees most of the day.

SEIZE ILLEGAL RADIO AFTER A NOVEL HUNT

USE UNUSUAL DETECTOR

Act After Coast Guard Operator Intercepts Strange Messages—Two Seized, Held in $7,500 Each.

Early last month a Coast Guard operator, casually listening to whatever might be coming in by his radio, heard some strange signals. He was unable to identify the sending station, and the messages from it were so peculiar that he decided to report the matter. Tuesday night—after just four weeks' intensive investigation—the set was seized in a vacant house of Brooklyn.

The unsung Coast Guard operator who first heard the signals reported them to Chief Radioman Wendell Patten of the guard. He enlisted the aid of Assistant Radio Supervisor E. H. Lee and Assistant Radio Inspector for the district Forest F. Redfurn. They set to work at once with the newly developed apparatus of their trade. Within a few days they had narrowed down the search, which started over hundreds of square miles, to one that was within a few feet of the real location. Then it was just at matter of looking.

Equipment for Detection.

This equipment comprises a special short-wave receiver with a rotating loop to pick up the broadcast signals. It is small and can be carried by automobile through the territory thought to house the sending apparatus. When the loop is turned to a position parallel with the direction of wave travel, the received signal is loudest. Conversely, when the loop is rotated to a position about at right angles to the angle of the strongest signal, the device picks up the least amount of radio energy from the broadcaster and the signal is weakest. The directions on the weak signals are then put on charts.

The investigators went through the operation from various spots in and around Brooklyn, placing their findings by way of thin straight lines drawn over the map of the borough. Where the lines crossed one another was the place they wanted. When they got near the suspected position they brought another device—one that measures the strength of the waves—into play. This deposited them neatly in front of a two-story building at 1,759 Troy Avenue.

Raid Place, Seize Two.

Tuesday night the authorities decided to raid the place. They went in, found the set with one of its operators, and while they were there the other owner walked in for his evening's duty. Placed under arrest for having an unlicensed transmitting station, the two gave their names as James Leo Pelkey, 28 years old, of 135-24 226th Street, Laurelton, Queens, and Harry C. Willis, 42, of 123 West Seventy-third Street. Both were later held in $7,500 each by United States Commissioner Epstein for a hearing June 26.

United States Attorney Amell explained after the arraignment that while the officers were trying to locate the sending apparatus they had taken down many of the signals. These had not been decoded as yet, he said, so he was unable to tell definitely whether the radio was connected with the bootlegging industry.

Denies That Dawes Will Resign.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A report that Ambassador Dawes would resign and would be succeeded at London by Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania was denied officially today. Secretary Stimson said he had no knowledge that Mr. Dawes contemplated resigning and scouted the report. Senator Reed laughed at the report, which started during the recent Pennsylvania primary.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS BACK FROM FRANCE

PASS CUSTOMS SPEEDILY

But Inspectors Resent Lowman Order Not to "Harass" Returning Delegates.

The first group of Gold Star mothers and widows who visited French and Belgian battlefields as guests of the government returned yesterday on the United States liner President Harding. Their return was quiet and unostentatious but indirectly resulted in arousing the ire of minor customs officials at an order issued by Seymour Lowman, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

The phrase in Mr. Lowman's memorandum most objected to, instructed higher customs officials here to see that inspectors did not "harass" the returning Gold Star mothers. The order read:

"Several groups of Gold Star war mothers are returning from Europe. While we have no authority to grant free entry, nor do they come under the provisions providing for an expedite, except in the instance of sick and infirm individuals, I have a feeling that these mothers should be given every facility for prompt handling. They will come in groups and I would suggest that you assign special customs examiners so they can be promptly cleared.

"Above all things, do not permit the investigators to harass these women, and see to it that they are treated with every courtesy."

The memorandum, under the Treasury Department seal, was addressed to Collector of the Port Philip Elting and signed by Mr. Lowman. It was forwarded to the men of the force by Henry C. Stuart, Assistant Collector.

Customs agents said yesterday that they could not understand the order, inasmuch as they had never had authority to "harass" any one and would not under any circumstances consider that a part of their duty.

The memorandum, it was said, has caused a widening of the breach between customs inspectors here and their higher officials in Washington, which developed with the secret investigation of customs practices several months ago. In this survey letters addressed to individuals asked them if they had ever given money to their examining inspectors or if the agents had asked or hinted for money.

The Gold Star mothers and widows of soldiers who are buried in American cemeteries abroad came back full of gratitude for the opportunity afforded them by the government.

One voiced the opinion of many others that the sight of the rows of grave markers was "the best deterrent of war." She is Mrs. Charlotte Butler of Orlando, Fla., who visited the grave of her son, Corporal Paul T. Butler, who died at Château-Thierry.

"Every mother in the United States should go and see the cemeteries of France, especially every young mother," Mrs. Butler said. "To see those rows and rows of crosses, to see the black crosses of the German dead, would be the greatest appeal to them that I know for world peace. I think that this was the feeling of most of the mothers—that the loss was not in vain if it will end war."

This sentiment was echoed by Mrs. Sarah G. Thompson of 224 East Forty-ninth Street, who stood by the grave of her son, Lieutenant Hugh S. Thompson of the Ninety-sixth Aero Squadron, who was shot down over St. Mihiel in September, 1918. She also placed a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Paris, sent in her care by Clarence Chamberlin, the transatlantic flier.

The women said that they were treated with the greatest care and attention by the French people.

When they came down the gangway they were met by customs inspectors and the entire group, numbering 227, passed through the examination in record time.

APPELLATE COURT DISBARS FOUR HERE

Shalleck and Sager, Convicted in Utah Lead Case, on List of Expelled Attorneys.

MORRIS KATZ IS DROPPED

Is Linked to Fake Accident Ring—Furstenburg Is Fourth—Two Others Are Censured.

Four lawyers were disbarred by the Appellate Division yesterday, one of them as a result of the ambulance-chasing investigation before Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel. Two others, Arthur N. Sager, formerly an assistant in the office of the Attorney General of the United States, and Joseph Shalleck, brother of Municipal Court Justice Shalleck, were automatically dropped by reason of their conviction of bribing a juror in the Utah Lead case.

The fourth, Samuel Furstenburg, was dropped on charges by the bar association. David Gluckman and his partner, Max Steuer, escaped with "severe censure."

Disbarred for Faking Cases.

The ambulance-chasing disbarment was against Morris H. Katz, who is the fifth attorney to be dropped from the rolls as a result of being implicated with the fraudulent accident claim business carried on by David M. and Benjamin Laulicht, who, according to the testimony, maintained a staff to simulate accidents throughout the city.

Presiding Justice Dowling in his opinion noted that Katz, who was admitted to practice in 1923, had only 30 negligence cases in 1924 and 82 in 1925, but that in 1926 the number jumped to 523 and in 1927 to 1,192. With few exceptions the suits were filed in the Second District Municipal Court. Katz contended that he did not solicit the claims or pay to get them but that they came from organizations which he represented.

The court upheld the referee in the case in ruling that there was no proof of solicitation, but found evidence that he participated in two false claims planned by the Laulichts.

In the case of David Gluckman and Max Steuer, who is not to be confused with Max D. Steuer, the court accepted the findings of the referee that charges of solicitations were not sustained, and accepted the contention of the accused that their extensive negligence practice was due in part to the fact that they represented eleven casualty insurance companies including several taxicab insurance concerns. They had 4,000 suits for the Yellow Taxicab Company in 1926 and about 4,000 for the Manufacturers Liability Insurance Company. Since their partnership was formed and until May, 1929, the court said that their bank deposits ranged from $600,000 to $750,000.

Scores Settling of Cases in Bulk.

The court held that there was no evidence of fraud by the attorneys or of any loss to any client although they settled many cases "in bulk."

Justice Dowling said that the two lawyers contributed to the congestion of the court calendars by filing many suits in the Second Municipal Court which did not belong there, and in permitting the cases to remain on the calendar after they had been settled or discontinued. "For the method in which these respondents conducted their business, although we find no instance of fraudulent or corrupt practices, they should be severely censured," the court ruled.

In the case of Shalleck, Justice Dowling said that if the case were only a misdemeanor, which does not require disbarment automatically, "the nature of the crime was such, striking as it does at the very integrity of the administration of justice, that we should feel required to disbar an attorney convicted of such an offense as one involving moral turpitude."

Furstenburg was found to have bargained to have a criminal prosecution in Florida against a client dropped upon the payment of $10,000 to the complainant and to have given the $10,000 back to the client after the Florida District Attorney had quashed the case. Furstenburg represented Louis Waxenberg, who was alleged to have helped swindle Samuel Waldman of Providence, R. I., out of more than $50,000 by fake horse race bets.

ADDS THREE JUSTICES TO SPECIAL SESSIONS

Estimate Board Approves Creation of Positions—Sets Hearing for East River Plan.

At the request of Chief Justice Kernochan and the other justices of the Court of Special Sessions the Board of Estimate approved yesterday the appointment of three additional justices of that court. They will serve in Queens, Richmond and the Bronx, where terms of the court are now held only one day a week. The new justices will receive $17,500 a year, the same salary paid to those already sitting. Mayor Walker said the present arrangement in Queens, the Bronx and Richmond inflicted hardship on prisoners unable to obtain bail, since they were often incarcerated a week before their cases came to trial. The new justices will begin their work on June 15.

Borough President Miller of Manhattan suggested a public hearing on Sept. 26 on the plan for the East River Drive from East Fifty-fourth Street to South Street at Montgomery Street, and the board set that date to consider the apportionment of the assessment and the plans for park spaces in connection with the drive. The assessed valuation of property through which the drive will pass is $5,450,000 and the estimated cost of its construction is $7,000,000. According to the present plan, 80 per cent of the cost will be placed on the Borough of Manhattan and the remaining 20 per cent on the local area.

Breaking away from its former practice of authorizing architect's fees on the basis of actual cost of public buildings, the board voted to keep such fees within a percentage of the estimate cost of such structures. The action was taken on a resolution drawn for the approval of a fee of $222,080 to be paid to Charles B. Meyers for preparing plans and specifications for the proposed new health, hospitals and sanitation building.

Will Rogers Makes Known Record of Claremore Airport

To the Editor of The New York Times:

CLAREMORE, Okla., June 6.—Breakfast in Beverly and dinner in Claremore. These are the two cities we been needing to have joined by a regular passenger line.

The town is so crowded here we have to have our airport in the edge of Tulsa, and that Tulsa and Claremore airport broke a world's record. In May, just past, they hauled 10,212 passengers.

That's ten thousand, not hundreds. Croydon, England, was second with 4,690. They expect 15,000 a month during the Summer from here. Cheap rates and safe service is what's doing it.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ROOSEVELT TO WIN AGAIN, SAYS SMITH

$600,000 GIFTS ANNOUNCED

$1,250,000 Sought for Expansion of Facilities for Treating Infantile Paralysis Victims.

Former Governor Alfred E. Smith paid warm tribute to Governor Roosevelt and predicted another term for him in the Executive Mansion at a luncheon yesterday in the Bankers Club, 120 Broadway, attended by friends of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation.

The former Governor's endorsement of his successor came during a discussion of plans to enlarge the facilities at Warm Springs and its work for the treatment of victims of infantile paralysis. Organized by himself and a board of trustees in 1927, the foundation has been particularly close to Governor Roosevelt's heart, and he has just returned from a month of treatment at Warm Springs himself.

"I was one of those," said Mr. Smith, smiling at his successor, sitting next to him, "who against his better judgment persuaded Mr. Roosevelt to be Governor. I know what the position is. There is no rest in it. It is a night and day job. Unquestionably he was asked to do more than might have been expected from him. For that one thing he had to be taken away for a while from Warm Springs.

"It is a satisfaction for me now to come here to say that the citizens should heartily support this foundation on its own merits and also in tribute to the Governor who laid aside his personal and business interests to administer the State in the remarkable way that he has cared for it during his first term. I feel he is not going to get a chance to get away from his office. He is going to be made to stay there."

Although he had helped to take Governor Roosevelt away from Warm Springs, the former Governor pointed out that he had provided a swimming pool for his successor in what was formerly the hot house behind the Executive Mansion in Albany.

"I went back there visiting," Mr. Smith continued, "but when I found out that the temperature of the pool was 89 degrees I said that was no place for a Fulton market swimmer. I'll wait until Coney Island opens."

Mr. Smith pointed out that the value of Warm Springs was attested by the fact that it was among the beneficiaries of the Conrad Hubert fund distributed by himself, former President Coolidge and Julius Rosenwald among the select of a host of philanthropies.

Speaking earlier, Governor Roosevelt said that after nine years he had finally been able to resume horseback riding. He outlined the development of the Springs and said the present program was to replace an old wooden hotel at the Springs with a new building and to increase other accommodations so as to house 150 patients. The capacity at present is 100. A revolving patients' aid fund is also planned.

William H. Woodin, president of the American Car and Foundry Company, host at the luncheon and chairman of the finance committee of the foundation, announced that $600,000 had been raised for the enlargement program but $1,250,000 is the total needed.

Among the finance committee members and guests at the luncheon were Barron Collier, Nelson Doubleday, George A. Fuller, John J. Raskob, Percy S. Straus and Harry M. Warner.

TROLLEY LINE PLANS BUSES IN QUEENS

B. M. T. Subsidiary Will Seek Authority to Shift Service to Relieve Traffic Jams.

The Brooklyn and Queens Transit Corporation, surface car subsidiary of the B. M. T., announced yesterday that it would ask the Board of Estimate for authority to replace its trolley cars in Queens with electric buses. William S. Menden, president of the company, declared that the change would be made in an effort to cooperate with Borough President Harvey's campaign to relieve street congestion and to solve the problem of maintaining pavement in the area of trolley tracks. It is not expected that definite steps for the substitution of buses will be taken before Fall.

The substitution of the electric buses, it was said, would relieve conditions on such highways as Corona and May Avenues, Woodhull Street, Flushing Avenue and Metropolitan Avenue, where the traction company has surface car routes. Mr. Menden said that the removal of the tracks undoubtedly would relieve traffic congestion.

The Board of Estimate, on motion of Mayor Walker, turned down yesterday the competing applications for bus franchises in the Rockaway, Far Rockaway and Rockaway Beach district and ordered the Department of Plant and Structures to take over bus transportation in that area at once and provide service until Oct. 1. Mayor Walker expressed the hope that before that time a financially responsible, well-equipped operating agency would be able to include the area in a bus service schedule based upon a borough-wide franchise.

ACTION SURPRISES LEADERS

State Convention to Be Held Sept. 29 in Rochester—Buffalo Loses Due to Differences in Erie.

With a movement, said to have strong support among influential leaders in the Democratic State organization, now under way to bring about the retirement of M. William Bray, leader in Oneida County, as chairman of the Democratic State Committee, Mr. Bray yesterday after a brief conference with Governor Roosevelt, said that he expected to remain until his term ends, following the primaries in September.

The statement caused surprise among persons identified with the plan to effect a change. As they view it, the Governor could scarcely have said anything to prompt the statement of Mr. Bray. They have insisted that the Governor has been conversant with what has been done and in sympathy with the purpose, even though for obvious reasons he has taken no open stand in the matter.

The promoters of the plan had hoped that Mr. Bray might be induced to resign either before or at the meeting of the State Committee to be held at Albany on June 17 to issue the formal call for the State convention. They had expected to be in position to elect James A. Farley, State Athletic Commissioner and secretary of the Democratic State Committee, as successor to Mr. Bray.

Protege of Smith.

While in view of the developments yesterday it would appear that Mr. Bray had received assurances to render him confident that he will retain his post for the rest of the term, it was said last night that the State Committee meeting might prove the occasion, unless the Governor should intervene, for a demonstration to make the Oneida County leader change his mind. The chances are, however, in the opinion of close and disinterested observers, that more pacific counsel will prevail.

Mr. Bray is a political protégé of former Governor Alfred E. Smith. He was made State Chairman while Mr. Smith was Governor. It was pointed out that any hostile move against Mr. Bray might be construed by friends of the former Governor as aimed against the latter, and that if the State Chairman should be placed in a position where to save himself from humiliation he would be compelled to make a fight, the State committee meeting might bring about an exciting division in the State committee on the question of his replacement, which, with a State campaign coming on, would not prove profitable to party harmony.

Mr. Bray left last night for Utica. His conference with the Governor occurred at the Roosevelt residence, 49 East Sixty-fifth Street. When questioned at the Hotel Commodore shortly before the visit with regard to rumors in circulation for several days that he was ready to quit, Mr. Bray said:

"Yes, I have heard that talk, of course, but I am not ready to say anything. I have not seen the Governor since the day when he left for Warm Springs and I may not see him until next Monday when he is going to make an address at our Democratic dinner in Utica."

Denies Discussing Change.

It was soon afterward, however, that Mr. Bray went to the Governor's home and had his talk with him. When Mr. Bray came down from the library, where Governor Roosevelt received him, he was questioned regarding the conversation.

"We discussed the dinner next Monday and the welfare of the Democratic party," Mr. Bray said with a smile. "Perhaps the Governor will tell you something about it."

"What are your plans with regard to remaining or quitting as chairman of the Democratic State Committee?" was asked.

"I think I am going to stay until September when my term ends and do all I can in preparation for the campaign," he replied.

Governor Roosevelt, when asked about his talk with the Democratic State chairman, confirmed what the latter had said with regard to the Democratic dinner at Utica having been discussed. He said the retention of Mr. Bray in his present position had not been touched upon at all during their conversation.

The Democratic State Convention, it was learned yesterday, will be held at Rochester on Sept. 29 and 30, the two last dates on which State conventions can be held under the provisions of the election law.

REPORT TO CONGRESS ON PARTY FINANCES

Republican National Committee Free of Debt—The Democrats Owe $526,937.

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP).—The Republican National Committee reported to Congress it had $60,388 in its treasury June 1, while a report of the Democratic National Committee showed a balance of $15,863, with outstanding obligations of $526,937.

The reports, filed under the corrupt practices act, showed that the Democratic organization had borrowed $375,000 from the Bankers Trust Company of New York City, and $150,000 from John J. Raskob, its chairman. The Republican committee had no financial obligations outstanding.

The Republican committee reported it had expended $87,975 and received contributions totaling $12,000 since Jan. 1, while the Democratic committee showed it had expended $50,087 and received contributions totaling $42,030, including four individual donations by Mr. Raskob during the last quarter.

AN AMBASSADOR'S TROUBLES.

What other envoys have thought and privately expressed, General Dawes, always terribly candid, has said publicly in an address at Cambridge. He strongly indicated his annoyance at the efforts of fond and often foolish Americans to be presented at court. This unimportant part of an Ambassador's duties has long caused our representatives more trouble than delicate negotiations of political or economic importance. If this had been the first public appearance of Mr. Dawes as Ambassador, the stir caused by his remarks would have been greater. But he has definitely established a reputation for frankness, and his manner is now accepted as an integral part of his personality.

Those who know anything about the striving and scrambling to obtain the presentation of which he spoke will sympathize with the weary Ambassador, now about to return home for holiday. Broken hearts and defeated social ambitions line every inch of the way up the Mall to Buckingham Palace. Every wire is pulled by influential cities, provincial and metropolitan, and the pressure upon the Ambassador comes from most unexpected sources. In behalf of the male American it may be pointed out to the British and to Mr. Dawes that the ambition to be presented usually originates with the female of the species. By the workings of the ironic law of compensation, this social distinction has come to mean very little back home unless the home is in a small city. "She was presented to their Majesties" doesn't get a girl or a matron very far now in what is loosely termed "society." But the appetite persists, and so long as men go with their credentials as Ambassador to the Court of St. James's the applications will pursue them.

All that Mr. Dawes said by way of contrasting compliment to the Gold Star mothers is true, of course. But most observers of the human scene will not be so harsh about the wish to be presented at court as is our harassed Ambassador. It is a trivial but a harmless aspiration, and does not necessarily consign the possessor to the category of hopeless frivolity. American women have been presented at court and lived to be excellent wives, mothers and electors.

AFTER A TARIFF BILL.

With the approach of final action on the tariff bill it is in accord with precedent that discussion of its effect on the business situation should become more animated. Opinion in the matter has been conflicting. Whole-hearted supporters of the measure take the familiar ground that higher tariffs cannot fail to promote prosperity; but there has been less than usual of such enthusiastic hopefulness. Criticism and protests by well-known industrialists may have perplexed the issue, and the general public has seemed to take no very great interest in the matter except for the wish to get a tiresome controversy ended, one way or the other.

Wall Street, however, has lately inclined to seize on the possibility that the bill's enactment will help business out of its depression. No one, to be sure, goes to the length of the opinion thrown out last Autumn, that October's Stock Exchange panic had been caused by delay in tariff legislation. But the point is stressed that uncertainty as to the future duties on a number of articles must at least have caused hesitation in plans of merchants and producers; an attitude all the more possible because, with slack consumption and falling prices, there was little inducement to take chances. Naturally, the Wall Street prophets coupled this with the traditional idea that enactment of a higher tariff could not on general principles fail to have "sentimental influence."

In all this discussion there has been little talk of what actually happened after other tariff legislation. Probably most people had a general idea that a law reducing duties has usually been followed by trade reaction. This was true of the Wilson tariff in the Autumn of 1894, and measurably true of the Underwood tariff of October, 1913, though there was perfectly good reason to believe that other causes, such as the troubles of our currency in the one year and the ominous European situation in the other, had superseded other influences. But the present question is, what happened after enactment of other bills for a higher tariff?

The story is singularly varied, but the record implies that the influence of such a law in benefiting trade has been altogether overrated. During the past forty years four laws raising the tariff have been passed. On two occasions, 1922 and 1897, enactment was in due course followed by recovery of trade; on the other two, 1909 and 1890, serious business reaction was the almost immediate sequel. That tariff legislation caused the trade depression of the two last-named years has never been asserted except in so far as expectation of higher duties had occasioned widespread speculation in the commodities affected. The subsequent trade reaction was sufficiently explainable by other causes; in 1890 by the approaching crisis in the Treasury and the currency, in 1909 by the postponed after-consequences of the panic of 1907. But the essential fact was that, on both occasions, trade revival as a direct result of the higher tariff had been promised and expected, whereas the sequel was exactly opposite.

Trade recovery after the tariff acts of 1922 and 1897 was even more completely disconnected from any possible results of altered customs duties. In the earlier year, business revival came unmistakably as a consequence of immensely expanded export trade, on which higher tariffs could have had no influence, unless of an unfavorable character. In 1922, some business revival after nearly two years of trade depression, and when the high cost of money and the falling prices had at last been checked, was to have been expected, with or without a tariff law; but as it happened, actual trade recovery even then was only brief. Renewed trade reaction soon ensued; it was more than two years after the tariff bill's enactment that sustained business prosperity returned, and this was then ascribed by every one to other causes. In the great revival of 1925, no one so much as mentioned the tariff act of 1922.

The truth of the matter is that the infallible prosperity which is always to follow high tariffs, like the infallible adversity which is to follow downward revision, is a myth. Its hold on the popular mind of a generation ago came because of reiterated assertions in political campaigns. Prediction of immediate prosperity as a result of tariff legislation has repeatedly turned out to be politically dangerous; for such a result always depends on other circumstances and, if the promise is not quickly realized, the public invariably shows its resentment at the polls.

A JUDGE ON JUDGES.

Mr. Owen J. Roberts, who took his seat in the Supreme Court of the United States last Monday, was confirmed by the Senate without opposition. A question had, indeed, been raised concerning one statement made by him in an address to the New York State Bar Association. It had to do with his belief that the Eighteenth Amendment was out of place in the Constitution. But it was explained in his behalf that this was only a "legal opinion," and did not imply that Mr. Roberts was opposed to prohibition. So a tired Senate let that go. But some Senators might have been roused against Mr. Roberts if they had taken due note of another part of the same address.

This was where Mr. Roberts was speaking of the right of judges to give a jury full instructions about not only the law but the weight of evidence. He made this explicit reference to a project long a favorite with a surprising number of Senators:

> You are familiar with the fact that there has been in Congress, session after session, a statute which has got pretty far, to deprive Federal judges of any right or power to outline the evidence or comment on the facts to a jury. You are familiar with the fact that in a number of States that is now the law. Indeed, there are some States, as I understand it, where a judge is permitted to charge before counsel addresses a jury and to charge only on points of law, and therefore the learned gentleman, after having acted more or less as a referee during the rounds of the battle, sits up and reads a legal essay, and then must subside into silence while counsel roam over the field and do pretty much as they like.

All this, asserted Mr. Roberts, was not at all his idea of a trial or his conception of a judge. The presiding judge in an important case knows how easily a jury may become confused by conflicting evidence, and feels it his duty to set the facts right. Of course, he may do it improperly. If a judge were both clever and partial, he might be able to bring about an unjust verdict by his comments, but because of this possibility, asked Mr. Roberts, are you going to take away from upright judges the right to guide a juror's mind toward a just result? In his opinion, that question answers itself. He was firmly of the belief that to take away from the judge the power to give help in reaching the correct decision in a difficult trial was simply to "crucify the administration of justice "and make a mockery of it."

If Senator Norris of the Judiciary Committee and other Senators who, like him, wish to reduce Federal judges to the rôle of a mere automaton, as described by Mr. Roberts, had given their minds to these heretical views, they might have hesitated long before making their author an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

WHEN IS A WATCH A WATCH?

Yesterday the conferees on the tariff bill came to at least "an informal agreement" on specialty cheese, frozen cherries and rayon filaments, but the paragraphs on watches, written in a hieratic language about as clear to the ordinary reader as Basque or Etruscan, graveled them. Representative Reed of Illinois, a distinguished savant in this branch, and Senator Barkley of Kentucky, who had made two points of order against two paragraphs in the watch and clock schedule, were called in to perform an operation. We hope it will be successful, although we should have been perfectly willing to trust Mr. Smoot's watch expert from the Tariff Commission.

Into the mysteries of tariff speech only the rash will wish to enter. Mr. Barkley exhibited actual watches so that the ordinary man might hope to see the time of day even in a densely wooded land. Here is a stem-winding watch such as is used in an automobile or on a bicycle. It is a watch under the present tariff. It was a watch under the House bill and the Senate bill. Since it is not worn on the person, the Conference Committee report has moved it among the clocks, put it upon the clock schedule at a higher duty. Another watch, stem-winding, enclosed in a case, not worn on the person, is similarly made to join the clocks. Mr. Smoot says that Mr. Barkley is all wrong; that the conference report has treated no watches as clocks. Well, says Mr. Barkley, what does this mean in the House bill:

> Time-keeping, time-measuring or time-indicating mechanisms, devices and instruments, whether or not designed to be worn or carried on or about the person.

Doesn't that include everything? Not a bit of it, answers Mr. Smoot. It doesn't include watches. They are more specifically provided for. In every tariff bill every article specifically provided for takes a specific rate. So the hasty reader mustn't assume that a watch is not a time-keeping, time-measuring or time-indicating mechanism. Mr. Barkley was a little unkind to Mr. Smoot, whom protection protects against humor:

> Of course the Senator knows that no time-keeping mechanism except a watch would be carried on the person. Nobody goes around with a Seth Thomas clock hung over his neck or in his pocket. The only time-keeping mechanism that a human being carries on his person is a watch.

"Grant that that is so," replied the cautious Mr. Smoot. If we have not been misinformed, no true Senator carries a watch. He will not recognize time. As for the senior Senator from Utah, he gets his chronology from a fine grandfather's clock, bought or "planted" at East Haddam, Connecticut. It has recorded no change of time since 1890, nor has the Senator.

UNIFIED REPRESENTATION ABROAD.

Indignation expressed by the French press over the activities of secret agents of the American Treasury Department in seeking information in France to help check smugglers may apprise many Americans for the first time that we have representatives abroad in no way connected with our diplomatic and consular services. As a matter of fact, five other departments besides the Treasury and the State Department have their agents abroad—Labor (in connection with immigration), Agriculture (to study special problems), War and Navy (in the person of the Military and Naval Attachés) and Commerce, with its host of well-informed commercial attachés.

Nominally, these various agencies are linked—with the possible exception of the secret agents of the Treasury—but in actual practice they do much duplicating of work. This is particularly true of the political studies made by military, naval and commercial attachés, and of the commercial information gathered by consuls and the Commerce Department agents. Even within the State Department's foreign representation there is no little duplication of work between consular and diplomatic officers.

On this last point some interesting observations are made in the May number of The American Foreign Service Journal by Mr. Robert P. Skinner, American Minister to Greece. He had a distinguished career in the Consular Service before being appointed Minister. He not only points out that in many instances the work of the consular and diplomatic services is along parallel lines, but makes a strong plea for the training of our foreign personnel so that it will be familiar with both types of work. This was the original purpose of the Rogers act reorganizing and consolidating the foreign service, but as yet the number of men trained in both branches is necessarily small. There is still a feeling of dislike among many of the personnel against being available for both. Mr. Skinner goes so far as to assert that the foreign service training ought to include "a constant weaving back and "forth from consular to diplomatic "functions."

The late Ambassador Herrick used to urge greater cooperation between the representatives of the different departments as well as between the two branches of the foreign service. His long experience led him to believe that the government's activities abroad should be centralized in the person of the Ambassador or Minister, and that he should be cognizant of the reports of all the various attachés and secretaries. In practice this often occurs. But it is not unlikely that if ever Mr. Hoover's expected commission to study the reorganization of the government bureaus begins to function it will find that, just as the Departments of Commerce and State were working along similar lines abroad—usually in ignorance of each other's activities—so there is much waste effort due to the too great independence of our various representatives in foreign countries.

THE DUCHESS OF ATHOLL, LL. D.

Recently the spokesman of a labor delegation, zealously urging a point before a parliamentary committee of which the Duchess of Atholl was a member, forgot her title and addressed her as "my good woman." She was said to have been delighted. President Butler, in bestowing an honorary degree upon her at this year's commencement, quoted lines of a Scotsman in his citation:

A ministering angel in woman we see
And an angel need covet no other degree.

Though she had no need to covet a degree even from Columbia University, she must have coveted for herself the felicitous sentences in which the honor was conferred. A collection of President Butler's academic citations during the last quarter of a century would itself be an "anthology of praise," worthy to be put beside Dean West's characterizations, recently published, in presenting candidates for honorary degrees at Princeton University.

Nature conspired with the Columbia authorities to make the setting for commencement brilliant and impressive. The university could not have adorned herself in more regal splendor if she were still King's College. Nor were degrees conferred with such distinction even in the days when the first President at the first commencement descended from the pulpit in St. George's Chapel (after one member of the graduating class had successfully defended against another member the revolution of the earth around the sun and the theory of gravity) and in solemn manner announced the honors given by the college. In no other respect has a greater change been made in these nearly two centuries than in the academic recognition of women. The degree awarded the Duchess of Atholl is a striking illustration of the American attitude, compelled by the remarkable record woman has made sitting side by side with man "upon the skirts of time," both "full summed in all their powers."

A Duchess who needed to envy no degree has won it for womanhood. Her title has not deterred her from service that would not so long ago have seemed beneath her dignity. She has joined a sturdy Scotsman in giving not alone to Britain but to the world at large "the best that Scotland has to give"—and, one asks, what better is there?

IN THE HIGHBROW TRENCHES.

Man's inhumanity to Humanists does not, perhaps, make countless thousands mourn, but it is certainly productive of lots of excitement. The Humanists seem destined to spend the Summer in a galling cross-fire from two camps. To the young generation of this elapsing decade of naturalism, experimentation and self-expression, the Humanists with their insistence on the principle of restraint are sheer reactionaries. To the generation which retains its religious beliefs the Humanists with their insistence on human values and standards do not commend themselves. It is true that 1930 Humanism shows a tendency to recognize the need of finding support for human conduct outside of human sanctions. But this does not go far enough to appease the religious minded of the Right and contains just enough religion to make the young Naturalists wilder than ever.

All three camps have revealed an admirable gift for strong language, both in the matter of calling names and ascribing motives. But it is the Left Wingers who seem to feel most deeply. To them Professor Irving Babbitt and his associates of the Humanist general staff are embodied Reaction. The Humanists are White Guards engaged in bringing back the Czar, Queen Victoria and Mrs. Grundy. Is a person to be blamed under the circumstances for referring to the Humanists as a blight, or to invite them to apply the Humanist principle of the will-to-refrain to the writing of Humanist books? This is the intellectual equivalent for a Ninth Avenue exhortation to close your trap.

The merits of the controversy are too complicated for presentation during a heat wave. Enough time may be snatched to remark that the heavy anti-Humanist salvos are usually followed by a cautiously worded suggestion that there is perhaps something in what the Humanists say, if only it had not been said by Humanists and said in that way. But for the moment the thing that counts most is the significance of the whole Humanist shindy for the intellectual growth and promise of America. From that point of view the rioting is greatly to be welcomed. It is a sign of America's approach to intellectual adulthood that Americans should lose their tempers in intellectualist controversies. If until the last few years quarrels over ideas were almost unknown among us, the justified implication was that we were not sufficiently interested in ideas. We are thus approaching the European level of ferocious fighting over things of the mind. In an age of ardent faith men are prepared to burn their opponents at the stake. In an age of ardent devotion to sport, colleges will engage in mental hostilities. Surely it means well for the progress of American thought that Humanists and Naturalists should be calling each other names that might almost do for a prohibition debate.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Exchequers Prefer Bachelors.

When a Minister of Finance finds himself particularly hard up, he goes gunning for bachelors. The German Cabinet has just decided upon an additional 10 per cent income tax for unmarried men. On the surface the motive is not the same as that which recently impelled the Mussolini Government to clap a tax on bachelors. In Italy the official purpose was to tax the selfish celibate into useful married life. But we take it that even Mussolini's Finance Minister would be rather put out if all the bachelors in Italy were to turn up with a new wife on the left arm and an exemption blank in the right hand.

In virtually every country, as a matter of fact, the unmarried man carries an extra burden under the fiscal laws. He may be stigmatized directly as a bachelor or may be hit indirectly by the exemptions granted to married men and heads of families. In unemployment relief, which bulks so large now in Europe, the married man receives a larger benefit in addition to allowances for children. After the war in Germany there was introduced by law a wage differential between married men and single.

College Men and Employment.

A definite contradiction of the notion that all college graduates, and this year's crop in particular, go forth in June timidly looking for any kind of job comes from President Lewis of Lafayette College. He characterizes the jests of incredulous cartoonists and business men as entirely out of date.

To substantiate his own heartening statement he gives the facts at Lafayette for this and other years. "Up to and including May 31 of this year, one week before graduation, despite a general employment depression throughout the country, a total of 325 offers of employment have been made to the members of the senior class who registered for positions." There are 120 graduates. Those who had not presented themselves for placement through the college bureau were either entering professional schools or had made their own arrangements for work.

Forty years ago, when Andrew Carnegie said that the college graduate had no chance against the boy who had been shipping clerk or office boy since 14, it was generally agreed that college was not a good preparation for business. Today industry is on the lookout for men who have been trained to assimilate specialized knowledge in a short time, who are capable of accepting responsibility and able to meet rapidly changing situations. Business believes that college turns out that kind of men. This year, for the first time, according to President Lewis, a large corporation is offering jobs to the leaders in scholarship. Good and average students are also being employed, but the best opportunities and a cash bonus of $25 a month starting salary go to those who made the highest grades.

Humanity in Gastonia.

After a Winter of violence and labor troubles in the Southern textile regions, a tender tale comes from Gastonia via The Charlotte Observer and the Osmond Barringer Company. Its hero is the management of forty local mills. There is no villain. Here are no wearying discussions of factory conditions, wage scales and labor agitation. The picture is presented of happy mill-hands hurrying home early, with the gracious consent of the "interests," to add to their happiness and culture. At the request of the operatives the mills now close at 5:45 instead of 6 o'clock P. M. The purpose is that the workers of Gastonia may reach their radios in time to tune in on Amos 'n' Andy.

Mr. Gradgrind would not have done this. How Lawyer Marks would have sneered at such a request, and Simon Legree would have cracked his whip (although these Gastonia workers are overwhelmingly Caucasian). Yet, though many of the mill managers are Yankees, they accede to the request, and the South sits by its radios in a grateful but astonished glow of happiness. The only obstacle to complete enjoyment of the benefit is the heartless government of the United States. This soulless corporation permits an S O S to interrupt anything, even Amos 'n' Andy. It did so the other night when a ship was sinking. Fortunately, the Gastonia mill managers are cast in gentler mold.

Bartlett and East Greenland.

The coast of East Greenland, which Captain Bartlett with a scientific party will explore this Summer, is not so familiar to him as the west coast. He knows the latter as probably no other man does. It is said that the archaeologists will make a search in the neighborhood of 70 degrees North, where Captain D. Clavering reported a tribe of Eskimos. This was in 1823, when, as commander of the Griper, he made pendulum observations and pushed through the ice beyond 75 degrees, far above Scoresby Land, which was discovered and named the year before.

More than forty years later Koldewey and Payer, of a German expedition, made Latitude 77, and named a cape after Bismarck. Nearly as long a time was to elapse before the Mylius Erichsen expedition traversed the coast from Cape Bismarck to Cape Bridgman, in territory discovered by Peary. There seems to be no record of Eskimo settlement so far north. Herring, from whose Danish traditions Knud Rasmussen compiled much of "The People of the Polar North," in a preface to that book speaks of the East Greenlanders as "formerly the inhabitants of the southeast coast," and says that it "is now quite deserted, except for the area of Angmagsalik."

For the Bartlett expedition there is an encouraging statement in a handbook prepared by the historical section of the British Foreign Office in 1920:

"Along the whole of the east coast, except in Peary Land, there are numerous signs of former Eskimo occupation, but only at Angmagsalik do Eskimos remain in any considerable number."

Captain Clavering's report of a settlement of these people in Latitude 70 degrees North is no doubt authentic, and the explorers, representing the Heye Foundation, may come upon rich finds. It is a stormy coast, and Captain Bartlett may be trusted not to tarry too long in a waning Summer.

Playground Apparatus Needed.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Swings, slides, and similar playground fundamentals, even when made of the stoutest oak, seem to be flimsy and fragile when children are around. Children are around the roof playground of Riis House constantly, and their small hands and feet have simply reduced the play apparatus to masses of dejected, worn timbers.

Those readers who are always warm in response to children's doings might help us replace our swings and slides. The roof is highly popular through the hot months, and we have to take care of its small patrons. MARY RIIS.

New York, June 3, 1930.

Dusty Playgrounds.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Times publishes the plan for the future disposal of the old reservoir in Central Park. It reads well, but if the space assigned to a meadow is not properly guarded it will soon become a dirt playground, similar to the one on the driveway in the Nineties.

On a windy day the dust rises from this and flows across the park in clouds.

MOUNTAIN TIME.

You said that it is ten by mountain time.
I looked from our train window—there they were,
Wrapped in an early mist of lavender.
I saw an opal cloud about to climb

The highest ridge, and then I looked again
Into a valley where anemones
Were drinking yellow sunlight, as a breeze
Blew them in tides of gold across the plain.

I saw green rocks upon a mountain-side,
The color of the sea at sunrise hour;
And on a higher crest a mountain flower
Bled sudden crimson where a hawk might hide.

Another mile, and suddenly there fell
A veil of shining water, and below
I watched it leap and surge; I heard it flow
Like silver music of a silver bell.

Noon came—and dusk—and then the night's blue wings
Brushed on the pane, and stars bloomed overhead;
It's midnight now by mountain time, you said.
What can they know of time—these timeless things?

A WASHINGTON MEMORIAL.

That Being Built in the Capital Deserves Best Consideration.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Among the many memorials to the Father of his Country, the building being erected in Washington in his honor which is to be dedicated two years hence on the 200th anniversary of his birth, deserves the best consideration of the American people. The government has given the land, and the people should do the rest.

The main feature of the George Washington Memorial Building is to be a large auditorium which will be a memorial to the signers of the Declaration of Independence. It is proposed to use it for all national and international conventions, inaugural balls and important welfare functions. There will be a banquet hall, permanent quarters for national associations, students' rooms and rooms for the thirteen original States and other States that contribute a sufficient amount toward the erection of the building. One floor will be given over to the purposes of a George Washington Museum.

One of the principal objects of the George Washington Memorial Association of which Mrs. Henry F. Dimock is President, is the promotion of the unfulfilled wish of our first President to "promote an institution for the general diffusion of knowledge." Washington left a bequest in Potomac Company bonds to establish a National University, but on reorganization of the company the bonds became valueless and the scheme was abandoned. As Mrs. Dimock says, "it has therefore seemed that we can carry out Washington's wish in the broadest sense by building this memorial."

It is proposed to unite the members of the Sulgrave Association in England and those of the English-Speaking Union to join in this birthday celebration.

Early last year the late Chief Justice Taft wrote to Mrs. Dimock strongly approving of the plan to thus celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of the founder of the Republic. In the course of his letter he remarked:

"What we need is a great, beautiful building that shall not only be a triumph in architecture worthy of him, but a structure which shall be a model auditorium, a spacious and comfortable place for the gathering and seating of thousands of Washington's countrymen, reminding them constantly of the wonderful treasure we have in his example.

"We have the site. We have the foundations of the building. It would be bad enough if we had no structure at all. It would be a glaring omission. But worse, far worse, would it be if all that we should have would be humiliating evidence of effort made to honor the real father of our country and ignominious failure.

"I am sure you will in the next two years find back of you a grateful mass of men and women who will seize the opportunity here presented and make their love of country speak in stone and marble."

Sky Fireworks.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Those who know the eighty-eight constellations forming the United States of the Sky, like they know the map of the United States of America, are preparing not to miss the fine display of celestial roman candles, "spitting devils" and other energetic forms of celestial fireworks scheduled by famous astronomers between now and June 9, in the constellation or sky-State Hercules.

Hercules is now well up in the mid-evening eastern sky between two bright stars—Vega in the northeast and Arcturus in our very high east.

Extending the curve of the handle of the Big Dipper the full length of the dipper finds Arcturus. The line from Arcturus to Vega passes through "the keystone" or "flower pot" in Hercules, a little more than half-way from Arcturus.

On June 9 Arcturus will cross New York's meridian (north-south line) at 10 P. M., Daylight Saving Time, four hours and twenty-five minutes ahead of Vega, which will have been above the horizon since 5 P. M.

Those who have forgotten their sky geography should get in touch with the outdoor astronomy club in their neighborhood. Any member will be glad of the opportunity to introduce them to Hercules, and also to Vega and Arcturus.

Brooklyn Also Has Slums.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The interests of Brooklyn always seem to be subordinated to those of Manhattan. Today's newspapers announce a program to wipe out the city's slums and mentions a number of agencies which are participating in this work. Except for one representative Brooklyn name, there is no indication of including Brooklyn in the program. In fact, the emphasis seems to be on relieving Manhattan conditions for the purpose of stemming the movement of population from Manhattan.

While there is no intention to vie with Manhattan as to the existence of slum sections, it is unfortunately the fact that there are areas in Brooklyn which are eyesores, obsolete and a detriment to the community. GEORGE BOOCHEVER.

An American Sculptor's Work.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I call attention to the presence in our midst of a truly great work of art? Any one who wishes to see an artistic masterpiece which is going to be a great delight to posterity has only to travel over to the Brooklyn Museum and view the equestrian statue of Pizarro by Charles Carey Rumsey, an American artist. A little care in looking at this wonderful statue will not fail to reward any one with some realization of its rare perfection and beauty. H. HOWLAND.

SAYS COMMUTERS CAUSE CITY LITTER

Dr. Schroeder Holds 6,000,000 Enter Daily—Asks Children to Aid Cleanliness.

EIGHT PRIZES AWARDED

Merchants' Association Gives Honors to Winners in Essay Contest Among Pupils.

The need for educational programs, to further the New York Merchants Association's anti-litter campaign, was emphasized yesterday by speakers when prizes in the anti-litter essay contest conducted by that organization were awarded. More than 250 children, representing 8,000 block captains in the association's drive for a cleaner city, attended the ceremonies in the association's headquarters in the Woolworth Building. H. Boardman Spalding, chairman of the Committee on City Conditions and Ordinances, presented the prizes. Cash awards of $10 were given to first-prize winners. Second prizes were $5.

The commuters to New York were blamed for the dirty condition of the streets by William Schroeder Jr., Commissioner of Sanitation, who asserted that 6,000,000 persons came into New York daily. They left more litter on the streets and in the parks than the 6,000,000 inhabitants of the five boroughs, he told them.

He urged the children to spread the gospel of cleanliness among their friends and families. "If we have a clean city we have a healthful one," he said. "A barrel of rubbish in the street is a breeding place for dirt. The allotted life of man is three score and ten years. Only by preventing the breeding of disease can he ward off sickness which might curtail that period," he concluded.

Nelson Ruttenberg, Deputy Police Commissioner, who addressed the children as "fellow cops," congratulated them on their work. He urged them also to continue to preach the needs of safety. He announced that 222 children and 373 adults were killed on the streets in 1928. In 1929 the figures were 190 children and 412 adults, he said.

Other speakers were Frank A. Rexford, civic director of the Board of Education; Dr. Thomas Darlington, former Health Commissioner, and J. V. Burgevin, landscape architect of the Department of Parks.

The winners in the contest were:

MANHATTAN—Emma Dinda, Kelly Junior High School, first; Pauline Sisko, Corlears Junior High School, second.
BRONX—Sophie Pincus, Theodore Roosevelt High School, first; Elsie Jacobson, Junior High School 60, second.
BROOKLYN—Joseph Leonard, James Madison High School, first; Veronica Walsh, Eastern District High School Annex, second.
QUEENS—Eileen L. Drury, Richmond Hill School, first; Lillian Feurhahn, Bryant High School Annex, second.

Honorable Mention.

MANHATTAN—Hattie Fifer, Haaren High School; Solomon Cohen, Stuyvesant High School; Dorothy Cohn, Junior High School 60; Saul Morris, Junior High School 471.
BRONX—Florence Lessing, Evander Childs High School Annex, P. S. 33; Henry Steiner, James Monroe High School Annex, P. S. 29; Mildred Steinberg, Junior High School 10; Benjamin Lemkowitz, Junior High School 37; Loretta Loughman, Junior High School 45; William Jones, Junior High School 51.
BROOKLYN—Robert Grant, Boys High School Annex, P. S. 35; John Allen, Brooklyn Technical High School; Anna Einbinder, Eastern District High School Annex, P. S. 51; Rita Freund, Girls High School Annex; Rose Bertio, Junior High School 148; Lilly Kasher, Junior High School 178.
QUEENS—Earl Silvertone, Jamaica High School; Vincent Sherman, Newtown High School; Jerry Krajicek, Newtown High School Annex, P. S. 89.

REPORT HOSPITAL SERVICE.

Five Institutions Tell Facilities for "White-Collar" Patients.

Reports of their facilities and plans to meet the needs of the "white-collar class" for hospital service, received from five of the fifty-seven member hospitals of the United Hospital Fund, were made public yesterday. The most expensive special provisions for such moderate-priced services were reported by Mount Sinai Hospital and Lenox Hill Hospital. Others reporting were the Neurological Institute at the Medical Centre, Community Hospital and St. John's Hospital, Brooklyn.

An eleven-story building is now under construction for Mount Sinai, which is to be devoted exclusively to moderate-priced service. A gift of $700,000 has been made to Lenox Hill Hospital, it is announced, toward the cost of a building in which particular attention will be paid to the needs of patients of moderate income. When the structure is completed, it was announced, there will be provision for eighty semi-private beds on the seventh floor and perhaps seventy on other floors.

The Neurological Institute reported private rooms at $6 to $9 a day, with laboratory, and other treatments and services are furnished to patients occupying these rooms at a reduced price. The Community Hospital reported that it had established a $50 rate for thorough physical examination.

HOOVER HAILS NORWEGIANS.

Congratulates Those Here on 25th Independence Anniversary.

President Hoover has issued a message of congratulation to all Americans of Norwegian origin on the twenty-fifth anniversary of Norway's independence from Sweden, which will be celebrated today, according to an announcement made yesterday by the Nordisk Tidende, the local Norwegian weekly newspaper, through which the message was sent by the President. The message reads as follows:

"I am glad to express through the Nordisk Tidende to all Americans of Norwegian origin my congratulations upon their celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the independent life of the land of their origin, and my deep appreciation of the contribution made by the Norwegian people to the life and thought and progress of this country."

Justice Cohn Is Honored Here.

Supreme Court Justice Albert Cohn, who is chairman of the Bronx section for the Allied Jewish Campaign, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given at the Biltmore Hotel yesterday by Felix M. Warburg, honorary chairman of the campaign. In addition to Mr. Warburg, the speakers included Albert Goldman, Commissioner of Plant and Structures; James N. Rosenberg, city chairman for the campaign; State Senator Benjamin Antin, County Judge Harry Stackell, Louis Altschul, Assistant Corporation Counsel M. Maldwin Fertig, Rabbi Alexander Basel and Bernard S. Deutsch.

LAUDS PIONEERS OF MOHAWK VALLEY

URGES TOURIST ATTRACTION

Scenery, History and Industry Are Equal to Those of Any Part of the Country, He Says.

Special to The New York Times.

SCOTIA, N. Y., June 6.—Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman opened the Mohawk Valley Exposition here tonight, after speaking at a dinner attended by a group of Mayors, Representatives in Congress and Senators and persons active in the civic and industrial sections of the valley. Thirty-seven communities are represented at the exposition, which will continue for a week.

Declaring the opening of the exposition an important event for the State as a whole, Lieut. Gov. Lehman said in part:

"Almost every part of your territory is rich with historic associations which date back to earliest Colonial days. The first settlers in this valley were pioneers in the finest sense of the word, men and women of courage, of determination, of vision and of boundless energy and physical and moral strength.

"The Mohawk Valley can rightfully claim a leading place in the struggles that led to and brought about our American independence and when lasting peace came these pioneers turned rightfully and naturally from the sword to the plowshare, to the forge, to the shop, and helped build our nation in peace, just as they had in the heroic struggle that had preceded it.

"Few other parts of the country have played so important a rôle in its historical, industrial and commercial development from its very earliest growth to the present day as has this one.

"But success does not come just for the asking. It must be based on sound principles of intelligent effort. It seems to me that you must let the world know what this valley has and what it can offer, and in that effort, in which State and community should cooperate, this exposition can and undoubtedly does play an important part.

"In this State we have done little to advertise our resources, our scenic beauties, our historical associations and the industrial and residential advantages that are so obvious to us who live within its boundaries. European nations and the Western domains of our own country each year derive a very large revenue from their tourist trade. They do this because they advertise the things which they have to show people; they do not let their attractions or advantages be known only within their limited communities, but they broadcast them to the far corners of the earth."

MULROONEY'S OLD POST IS GIVEN TO SULLIVAN

Commissioner Praises Record of New Head of Detectives—Other Promotions Announced.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney, in the presence of 250 detectives and officials of the department at Police Headquarters yesterday, promoted Deputy Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan to Assistant Chief Inspector in charge of the Detective Division, the position held by Mr. Mulrooney when he was appointed Commissioner.

In making his first promotions as Commissioner, Mr. Mulrooney told of Inspector Sullivan's record. He said that Inspector Sullivan thrice had received departmental commendations for his work in homicide cases, and that he had been commended several times by grand juries for his police work.

Inspector Vincent J. Sweeney was promoted to Deputy Chief Inspector to command the detectives in Brooklyn. He shares command with Deputy Chief Inspector Thomas Cummings, who is at the head of the uniform force in that borough.

Acting Inspector Ernest L. Van Wagner, in charge of Staten Island detectives, was promoted to an inspectorship, and Captain Cornelius O'Leary of the Traffic Division was made a Deputy Inspector.

G. D. EATON DIES; FOUNDED PLAIN TALK

Magazine Editor Had Been Newspaper Man—Wrote a Novel and Many Articles.

G. D. Eaton, founder and editor of the monthly magazine Plain Talk, died last night in St. Mark's Hospital of heart disease.

The first number of Plain Talk made its appearance on Sept. 14, 1927. Among the contributors were Will Durant, Clarence Darrow, Emil Ludwig, Don Seitz and Silas Bent. Mr. Eaton had previously been literary editor of The Morning Telegraph.

In February he announced that he was going to sue George Bernard Shaw on behalf of his magazine, because Shaw's objection to the publication of certain old letters of his had caused Mr. Eaton to stop the presses of Plain Talk until he satisfied himself that he could legally publish the letters. The press stoppage cost the magazine $45 an hour, he said.

He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1923. For a time he was on the staff of The Associated Press here. He worked on several newspapers in Detroit. He had published a novel, "Back Furrow." Many magazines, notably The American Mercury, printed articles by Mr. Eaton.

He was born in Michigan. His mother lives in Detroit.

W. H. KELLY DIES AT 66; INVENTOR OF AMALGAM

"Kelly Metal," Formed of Lead and Copper, Is Used in Airplane Engine Bearings.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 6.—William H. Kelly, inventor of "Kelly metal," died today at his home here after a long illness. He was 66 years old. The invention that brought him fame is an amalgam of lead and copper and is used in airplane, automobile and marine engine bearings.

Mr. Kelly followed the sea for many years and was the youngest chief engineer ever to take a ship out of San Francisco. For a long period he served on several United States transports, including the Meade and the Buford. When the Morgan City was lost in the Spanish-American War he went down in a diving suit and retrieved a $250,000 sack of postage stamps and other valuable cargo. He also directed operations which saved the steamship Novarro and her crew in a storm in Alaskan waters.

JOHN DEARBORN DEAD.

Chairman of Board of Warren Brothers Company.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 6.—John Dearborn, chairman of the board of directors of Warren Brothers Company, road builders, died at his residence here today in his sixty-second year. He was born in Dorchester and was a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, class of 1890.

He became associated with the Warren Brothers Company as a stockholder in 1905. He was elected a director and vice president a year later, became treasurer in 1910 and on Jan. 12, 1921, was elected president, an office he held until March, when ill health obliged him to resign. He was then elected chairman of the board and of the finance committee.

He was a member of many clubs here, including the Algonquin and Eastern Yacht Clubs.

The company offices will be closed on Monday, when the funeral will be held at noon at the First Unitarian Church.

GEORGE H. FEARONS DIES SUDDENLY

A LEADER OF CATHOLICS

He Was Formerly General Attorney of the Western Union Telegraph Company for 26 Years.

George Hadsall Fearons, who was general attorney for the Western Union Telegraph Company from 1892 until his retirement in 1918, died suddenly at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon of an attack of heart disease that came upon him as he was seated in the library of his home at 30 East Fifty-fifth Street. The recent hot weather had been very trying to Mr. Fearons, but he had not been ill. He is survived by a widow, his second wife, the former Marion F. Phillips, and their son, George H. Fearons Jr.

Mr. Fearons was treasurer of the board of trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral, where a requiem mass will be offered at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

The son of the late George Richard Fearons, one of the leading Kentucky lawyers of his day, Mr. Fearons was born Nov. 9, 1853, at Newport, Ky., where his father had been Mayor and judge. His paternal ancestry traced to France, whence his forebears moved to England, then Dublin, Ireland. Mr. Fearons attended Mount St. Mary's College, studied with the Jesuit Fathers at St. Xavier's in Cincinnati, and then entered St. Louis University. Post-graduate work in Paris, Stuttgart and Heidelberg followed before he began the study of law in 1872 in his father's office and later entered the Cincinnati Law School.

In 1875 Mr. Fearons came to New York and opened his own law office. Ten months later he married, returned to Kentucky and practiced with his father. He also taught school for three years, 1877-1880, at Toledo and Cincinnati, acting as principal at both places. In the Fall of 1880 he began his association of thirty-eight years with the Western Union, starting as a clerk in the office of the superintendent at Cincinnati. The next year he was brought to New York as an assistant in the company's law department. In 1885 he was ranked as attorney, and in 1892 general attorney.

Mr. Fearons was general counsel for the Southern Bell Telephone Company from 1885 to 1904. He helped organize the American District Telegraph Company of New Jersey in 1902, which brought together the district and electric signal companies operating in the United States. He became vice president and counsel for the new organization. For twenty years he was counsel in the United States for the Anglo-American Cable Company.

Among the important cases in which Mr. Fearons appeared was the "Primrose" case, tried before the United States Supreme Court, in which he successfully presented his views of his company's rights and liabilities under the contract on the telegraph blank. In recent years he had retired from all his directorships except that of the City Investing Company.

MISS JULIA WRAY DIES.

Descendant of Sir Christopher Wray and of Colonial Families.

Miss Julia Wray, a descendant of Sir Christopher Wray, Lord Chief Justice of England in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and a member of several leading American families, died on Thursday night in her apartment in the Sherry-Netherland Hotel, where she had been ill for several months. She was 87 years old. Her New York home was at 17 East Fifty-sixth Street and her Summer residence at Southampton, L. I.

Miss Wray was born in New York, the daughter of the late Stephen Wray, a prominent merchant of his day, and the late Mary Ann Harkness Wray. Her mother was descended from Walter Palmer, one of the first settlers of Ponquetannock, Conn., in 1629.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 6.—Josiah Bunting, for fifty-three years buyer of woolen and cotton goods for the Wanamaker store here, died yesterday at his home in Ardmore in his eighty-sixth year. Illness forced him to retire last Christmas. He had been in the dry goods business himself before he became associated in 1877 with the store then actively operated by the late John Wanamaker. He lived with his son, Aubrey R. Bunting.

Mrs. Delia A. Cleary.

Mrs. Delia A. Cleary, widow of John Cleary and the mother of John A. Cleary, local advertising manager of The Brooklyn Eagle, died on Thursday at her home, 252 Sullivan Place, Brooklyn, of heart disease. The funeral will be held Monday morning from the funeral parlors at 187 South Oxford Street, followed by a solemn requiem mass at St. Ignatius Church.

Dr. William J. Ryan.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 6.—Dr. William J. Ryan, 62 years old, of 105 North Chelsea Avenue, this city, who retired from active practice five years ago, died at his home yesterday.

A. L. MOHLER DEAD, RAILROAD LEADER

BEGAN CAREER AS CLERK

Was Employe and Executive of Many Other Roads During Nearly Half Century of Work.

CHICAGO, June 6 (AP).—A. L. Mohler of New York, former president of the Union Pacific Railroad and many other transportation companies, died this afternoon in the St. Anthony Hospital. He was 80 years old.

He fell ill from heart disease a week ago while traveling through Chicago to a fishing camp in Northern Wisconsin. Yesterday he suffered a paralytic stroke.

No member of his immediate family was with him at the time of his death. His wife is ill in Paris, and his only living child, a daughter, is married and living in Milan, Italy.

Mr. Mohler spent nearly a half century as employe and executive of various railroads, mostly during the early days of railroad expansion through Western plain and mountain regions.

Went to Work at 15.

Mr. Mohler was president of the Union Pacific Railroad Company from Oct. 1, 1912, until his retirement on July 1, 1916. He was born on May 6, 1850, on a farm at Ephrata, Pa. He was descended from early American settlers on both his father's and his mother's side.

He received only a public school education, going to work at the age of 15 years, and three years later, in 1868, he entered the railroad business, getting work as a warehouse and office clerk with the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad Company at Galt, Iowa, and beginning a long career marked by rapid advancement.

In 1870 he became station agent of the Rockford, Rock Island & St. Louis Railroad at Erie, Ill. A year later he was a clerk of operating accounts in the auditor's office of the same company at Rock Island, Ill. For the next eleven years he was with the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northwestern Railway as traveling auditor and pioneer agent, chief clerk in the freight department, assistant general freight agent and general freight agent.

General Freight Agent in 1882.

In October, 1882, he became general freight agent of the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and remained in that position until March, 1886, when he became a land commissioner. In January, 1887, he was made general freight agent of the Great Northern Railway system; from April to October, 1888, he was general superintendent of these lines and from October, 1888, to September, 1889, he was assistant general manager. In that month he also became manager of the Montana Central Railway, serving until December, 1893.

He became general manager of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad in July, 1894. From July, 1897, to April, 1904, he was president and general manager of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company.

He was appointed general manager of the Union Pacific Railroad Company in April, 1904, and was made a vice president the next year.

DAVID CROCHERON.

Clerk in Magistrates Courts for 49 Years Dies at 75.

David Crocheron, who had been a clerk in the magistrates' courts of New York City for forty-nine years, last serving in the Bronx traffic court, died yesterday morning at the age of 75 at his home, 360 East 166th Street, the Bronx, after a year's illness of cancer. He had been in bed for the last three months. A daughter, Mrs. May Howard of 2,730 Sedgwick Avenue, the Bronx, survives. Funeral services will be held at 2 P. M. tomorrow in the Cook Parlors, 190th Street and Jerome Avenue, the Bronx. Interment will be in Woodhaven Cemetery.

When Mr. Crocheron began his long service as a court clerk the present magistrates' courts were known as police courts. He knew nearly all the judges well. He was especially helpful to new magistrates through his long familiarity with court routine.

John A. Walsh.

John A. Walsh, an inspector in the Brooklyn Bureau of Buildings and formerly for twenty years in the undertaking business, died on Thursday at his home, 87-31 Eighty-sixth Street, Woodhaven.

Marcel S. Levy-Falk.

PARIS, June 6 (AP).—Marcel S. Levy-Falk of Chicago, a prominent member of the American colony in Paris, died Wednesday night after a brief illness. He was aged 44.

INDUCT DR. COMPTON AS NEW HEAD OF M.I.T.

Noted Educators, Scientists and Alumni Take Part in Ceremony at Cambridge.

HE INDICATES HIS PROGRAM

Suggests the Need of Greater Emphasis on the Fundamental Sciences.

FOR FIRST GRADE TEACHERS

Declares Industries Must Enable Institute to Retain Technical and Scientific Leaders.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 6.—Before an audience of more than 4,000 assembled in the quadrangle of Eastman Court Dr. Karl Taylor Compton was inaugurated as eleventh president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology this afternoon. By his side was Dr. Samuel W. Stratton, whom he succeeds. Dr. Stratton becomes chairman of the corporation.

At least 2,000 in the audience were alumni, gathered for the all-tercentenary reunion which opened today. Many of America's leading universities, as well as several foreign institutions, were represented among the official delegates.

The graduating class, clad in caps and gowns, assembled at the president's house and escorted President Stratton and Dr. Compton, who headed the line, to Eastman Court. Behind them was John F. Bennett of Springfield, Vt., president of the class of '30, and Philetus H. Holt of Denver, Col.; David Q. Wells of St. Louis, Edgar M. Hawkins of Rochester, N. Y., and David T. Houston of Maplewood, N. J., the marshals.

The academic procession, composed of delegates, members of the institute corporation, the entire faculty and former presidents of the alumni association, wearing academic dress, formed two abreast in the corridor of the main building to await the arrival of the presidential procession. The presidential and academic bodies entered from different sides of Eastman Quadrangle and marched slowly forward to meet at the main aisle.

Chief Marshal Alexander Macomber led the academic procession to the platform. Marching directly behind him and his aides were President Hibben of Princeton, President Lowell of Harvard, the Rev. Henry K. Sherrill, Bishop-elect of Massachusetts, and Dr. Samuel C. Prescott, chairman of the institute faculty.

Dr. Compton Presented.

Chief Marshal Macomber opened the ceremonies by introducing the Rev. Henry K. Sherrill, who made the invocation. Dr. Stratton gave the opening address, in which he spoke of the coming of Dr. Compton. He presented Dr. Compton with the following tribute:

"I have the honor of presenting to you the choice of the corporation for the next president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Professor Karl Taylor Compton, chairman of the Department of Physics at Princeton University, eminent investigator in the field of physics, with a long list of original contributions to knowledge in this branch of science to his credit; honored by degrees from many institutions for his brilliant work in science; member of the National Academy of Sciences and an active leader in the organized bodies of American scientists; sympathetic with the applications of science in the fields of engineering and industry; who rendered most important scientific service during the late war, and, above all, a man who is universally loved and admired by all who know him.

"To you, President Compton, I commend a corporation composed of successful men, actively interested in the affairs of the institute. As its leader I foresee a constructive cooperation for you: a loyal faculty, appreciative of your leadership; a serious, energetic, self-governed student body, which will be your greatest inspiration."

Dr. Compton's Address.

Responding with his inaugural address, Dr. Compton said he saw no reason for changing either the purpose of the institute—"the development of science and its useful application through continual study and research combined with the training of men"—or its ideals.

He counseled, however, "greater emphasis upon the fundamental sciences, both in their own rights and as the basis of the various branches of engineering," and emphasized the "supreme necessity of maintaining a faculty of absolutely first-grade men, despite the increasing difficulty of doing so."

"An institute of technology today, to perform its greatest service, must take the lead in actually developing science and its applications, as well as in technological instruction," he continued. "In fact, no proper or adequate teaching in these days can be done except as it is permeated with the spirit of research.

"The folly of sending our youth to second-rate teachers in the hope of obtaining a first-class training is too absurd to discuss. And yet there is a very real danger, for industry is competing with universities for the best men, often taking them and then perhaps later finding fault with the institution for not giving its students a first-class training.

"On the other side, this demand for men by industry is stimulating and is really an evidence that the institute has been successful. If the demand by industry for men ceased it would be nothing short of a calamity.

"The solution of the situation must be found according to the regular economic laws, that is by the institute's being in a position to offer to the man it needs a sufficient emolument in salary and advantages to hold him or, failing that, to secure another first-class man in his place. And the industries must, for their own ultimate self-interest, see to it that the institute is financially able to retain on its staff the leaders in the various scientific and technical professions.

"It has been well said that 'civilization is measured by the ability to forego present pleasures for the sake of future benefits' in regard to the point which we have just been discussing. It is certain that only a few of our leading industries can be said, upon this basis, to be civilized at all. Had it not been that many individuals have, by their generosity and vision, proved themselves 'civilized' to a high degree, our technological institutions and the industries which have been so indebted to them would both now be in a pitiable state."

Congratulated by Hibben.

President Hibben expressed the regreat of all at Princton on the departure of Dr. Compton, but congratulated him on the opportunity for high achievement in his new position.

President Lowell recalled the growth of technology during his years at Harvard and, turning to Dr. Compton, he said:

"We have met to welcome you to the title and duties of president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Much have we heard of, and greatly do we esteem, your contributions to physical science pure and applied; and now we look forward to your administration of a body founded for these aims. In your manifold labors you will be helped by the experience, the wisdom and the vast knowledge of Dr. Stratton, to me a near neighbor and a cherished friend."

Among those attending the ceremonies were Admiral Philip Andrews, representing the United States Navy; General Merriweather Walker, commandant of the First Corps Area of the army; Dr. Payson Smith, Commissioner of Education, representing Governor Allen; Mayor Russell of Cambridge, Mayor Curley of Boston and Sir William Bragg, one of England's most distinguished scientists, who will be the speaker at commencement next Tuesday.

15 TO GO WITH HOOVER TO CAMP ON RAPIDAN

Whole Party Will Start With the President Today, Returning Tomorrow or Monday.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—President Hoover will depart tomorrow for a week-end visit to his Rapidan fishing camp in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia. Fifteen guests will accompany the President and remain with him until he returns to Washington Sunday night or early Monday morning.

In the party will be Secretary of War Hurley, Under Secretary of the Treasury Mills, Walter F. Hope, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Charles P. Sisson, Assistant Attorney General; Seth W. Richardson, Assistant Attorney General; Governor Roosevelt of Porto Rico, Robert Lucas, Commissioner of Internal Revenue; Thad Brown, general counsel of the Radio Commission; Ira E. Bennett, editor of The Washington Post; Hanford MacNider, newly nominated American Minister to Canada; John Richardson of Boston, Ashmun Brown, Washington correspondent of The Providence Journal; Robert A. Taft, former Solicitor General of the United States; Lawrence Richey and Captain Joel T. Boone.

Mrs. Hoover is at the camp recuperating from the effects of the accident she suffered when she fell and strained the muscles of her back two months ago. She and her friend, Mrs. Stark McMullin of Palo Alto, will remain there for several weeks.

ROBINSON ASSAILS HOOVER.

Arkansan Accuses Administration of Misrepresenting Unemployment.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., June 6 (AP).—Accusing the Hoover Administration of using "unworthy and contemptible methods" to misrepresent conditions, Senator Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, declared the country was passing through a period of "unparalleled adversity" and "hard times" in an address at an open-air meeting here tonight.

The Senate minority leader said that business generally was in the grip of a major depression. He attacked the pending tariff bill, which he declared instead of providing parity between industrial and agricultural rates, "only emphasizes the former and existing disparity" between them.

The elimination of the debenture clause left the administration farm relief program without its "most valuable remedy," he said.

"The reckless misstatement of unemployment statistics and ill-advised prophecies of the speedy return of prosperity by high authorities in the national administration tend to confuse and mislead the public," he continued. "It is wise to face the facts with courage. These are hard times and the turning point has not been reached."

CONFEDERATES REFUSE REUNION WITH G. A. R.

Southern Veterans Turn Down Proposal Because of Ban on Their Flag in Parade.

BILOXI, Miss., June 6 (AP).—Feeble and gray men who went forth as youngsters in an era long past to fight for the cause of the Southern Confederacy marched again to martial music today, not as warriors but as heroes on parade before admirers in a new generation.

Firearms were replaced by walking sticks in the parade closing their annual reunion. Their wives, sons and daughters and the widows of many who fell in the conflict marched with them. The very feeble rode in autos.

The business of the reunion terminated with the election of General W. L. Stephens of Coushatta, La., as commander-in-chief and the unanimous decision of the old fighters of the Southland not to meet the veterans of the North in a joint reunion.

The vote against a joint reunion was recorded after denunciation of the proposal of the Grand Army of the Republic that the Confederate flag should not be carried in the joint parade.

WRITING IRKS KIPLING.

"It's an Awful Trade," He Says on Sailing From Montreal.

MONTREAL, June 6 (Canadian Press).—Even an author has his troubles.

"It's an awful trade; I mean it," said Rudyard Kipling in a farewell message to the writers and authors of Canada before leaving Montreal for England on the Duchess of Bedford today.

"Wish them good luck for me," he added and asked in his quick, imperious way, "how many of them are there?"

When told that 250 delegates of the Canadian Authors' Association from all parts of Canada would gather here in convention from June 25 to 27, he said he was surprised to learn that the number was so large.

HONOR FOUNDING OF ELMIRA COLLEGE

WAS PIONEER FOR WOMEN

It Has Represented All Churches and Not One Faith, President Tells Presbyterian Inquirer.

Special to The New York Times.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 6.—Elmira College commemorated today in Park Church its seventy-fifth anniversary in an impressive ceremony. An imposing line of educators from every part of the country joined members of the faculty and students in the procession to the church, where the history of the founding and development of the oldest college for women in America was reviewed.

Speakers representing departments of education, the Federal and State Governments, churches and colleges offered congratulations in appropriate addresses. Greetings from the City Government were extended by Mayor Frank P. Robinson.

Dr. Robert L. Kelly represented the Association of American College, of which he is secretary.

President Lent recalled that in a recent letter Dr. Stockwell had inquired whether Elmira College still followed the teachings of the Presbyterian Church. In reply Dr. Lent said that he wrote that "Simon Benjamin, the founder of the college, had stressed the fact that he hoped the college would represent always not one church but all churches."

POPE STUDIES REPLY TO BRITAIN ON MALTA

Vatican Expects to Show That Government Interfered in Church Affairs.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VATICAN CITY, June 6.—Pope Pius had a longe conference today with Cardinal Pacelli, the Vatican Secretary of State, personally examining and selecting documents which will be included in a Vatican White Book in answer to the British Blue Book on the Maltese controversy. Meanwhile, pending arrival of the actual text of the Blue Book, the Vatican refused any comment.

Some impression, however, was created by comments in the British press, which, as far as can be judged from here, are almost unanimously against the Vatican. The Holy See is confident, however, that publication of the White Book giving its side of the controversy will show that the Vatican never strayed outside the purely religious into the political field.

The opinion expressed in Vatican circles is that if either of the two sides can be accused of meddling in affairs outside its jurisdiction it is surely the Maltese Government. Church officials hold that the controversy was started by an order to a monk from his superiors to leave the island because he was guilty of political activities. The Maltese Government, it is said in Vatican circles, intervened and refused to grant the monk permission to leave Malta. This, in the Holy See's view, not only was unwarranted interference in matters of a purely religious character but also is said to prove that the Church always has discouraged and punished political activities on the part of ecclesiastics.

GOV. ROOSEVELT WARNS BANKERS OF CHAINS

Tells Westchester Convention They Are 'Absentee Landlordism' and Deplores Tendency.

Special to The New York Times.

BRIARCLIFF MANOR, N. Y., June 6.—Opposition to chain banking was indicated tonight by Governor Roosevelt at the annual dinner of the Westchester County Bankers' Association at Briarcliff Manor. About 400 bank executives representing fifty-three banks attended.

Comparing chain banking to absentee landlordism, Governor Roosevelt said that "something tells me that in dispensing with individual initiative in community banking we will be running a great risk." He said he regretted the growing sentiment for branch banking in Congress.

Referring to a warning by Robert G. Abercrombie, president of the association, that New York banks are eagerly watching the Westchester field for opportunities to expand, the Governor warned that "if New York City absorbs most of your banks it isn't likely that the process will stop there. It will go on from Montauk Point to Niagara Falls."

Mr. Abercrombie had asked his audience if they desired the absorption of Westchester banks by the great New York City institutions and they had responded with an overwhelming chorus of "No."

Other speakers included William Muldoon, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, and Cornelius A. Pugsley, banker.

DUCHESS OF ATHOLL SAILS.

Member of Parliament Hurries Home After Receiving Degree.

Among the passengers who sailed last night for England on the Cunarder Caronia was the Duchess of Atholl, Conservative member of Parliament for Kinross in West Perthshire, who arrived last Sunday aboard the same vessel to take an honorary LL.D degree at Columbia University.

Speaking of her visit, the Duchess said that she could not find words to express her appreciation of the kindness shown to her here.

"My only regret is that it has been so very short," she continued. "I must hurry back to Parliament because I am also a member of the Royal Commission that is in session now. That keeps me busy in addition to my Parliamentary duties."

The Duchess said she did not know when she would be able to visit America again, as the work of the Commission will require at least another year.

CHURCHES URGE PIETY ON 1900TH PENTECOST

Federal Council's Appeal Urges Emphasis on the "Central Spiritual Mission."

A call for the celebration tomorrow of the 1,900th anniversary of Pentecost, or the coming of the Holy Spirit, which is called the birthday of the Christian Church, was sent out yesterday to all the Protestant churches in this country by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America through its administrative committee.

The appeal urges that the anniversary emphasize "the central spiritual mission of the Church." "We note with satisfaction that the movement for the observance of Pentecost, in contrast with many undertakings," says the call, "is being carried forward with a minimum of external organization, without artificial promotion or the setting of financial and statistical goals, and that attention is being concentrated upon leading the members of the churches into a deeper personal experience of the presence of the living God. While we are emphasizing the application of religion to the many problems of modern life, we need to recall that we can never apply a thing which we do not really possess. Why should not the churches during the period of Pentecost, so far as possible, lay aside their absorption in various programs, which, however good, derive their final value only from their relation to the will of God, and devote themselves to meditation and prayer and renewed dedication? Out of such an experience every church would surely receive a rich Pentecost of its own."

LABOR PLANS CHAUTAUQUA.

Textile Workers' Program Will Start Monday at Danville, Va.

A labor Chautauqua beginning on Monday and continuing all week will be held in Danville, Va., next week under the auspices of the United Textile Workers, it was announced yesterday by Thomas F. McMahon, president of the union.

Mr. McMahon said that the purpose of the gathering, which will be addressed by prominent labor leaders, Representatives and Senators, will be to acquaint the people of Virginia with the aims of the union in its campaign to organize the textile workers.

The Dan River Mills at Danville, with 3,500 workers, is almost 100 per cent organized, said Mr. McMahon. Recently, he declared, a wage cut of 10 per cent was instituted.

Among those expected to make addresses are:

Senator ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE.

Senator BURTON K. WHEELER.

WILLIAM GREEN, president of the American Federation of Labor.

FRANK MORRISON, secretary of the American Federation of Labor.

GEORGE L. BERRY, president of the Pressmen's Union.

PAUL J. SMITH, chairman of the Southern Organizing Committee.

250 CHILDREN CONFIRMED.

Cardinal Hayes Officiates at the Mission of Immaculate Virgin.

Cardinal Hayes paid his annual visit yesterday to the Mission of the Immaculate Virgin at Pleasant Plains, Staten Island, and confirmed a class of 150 boys and 100 girls of the home. He was assisted by Mgr. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral. As the Cardinal entered the grounds, 1,250 boys and girls of the home were assembled on the lawn. He was escorted to St. Joachen and St. Anne's Church, where he confirmed the class. A luncheon followed the ceremony, after which the Cardinal inspected the institution buildings.

Dinner for Missionaries.

The annual dinner given by the Presbyterian Social Union of New York City to newly appointed and furloughed missionaries of that denomination will take place Thursday evening in the Hotel McAlpin. The chief speakers will be the Rev. Dr. W. C. Johnston, secretary of the African Mission, who has been in the field thirty-five years, and Mrs. Anna Ewing Goshen, who has been stationed at Vengurla, India, for twenty-five years.

Liberal Churches Conference.

The Metropolitan Conference of Unitarian and Other Liberal Churches will be held this afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock and continuing through tomorrow, in the Staten Island Unitarian Church, 68 Clinton Avenue, New Brighton.

TOPICS OF INTEREST TO THE CHURCHGOER

Rev. Dr. Scherer of Holy Trinity Lutheran Will Preach in London During Summer.

CARDINAL TO ORDAIN TODAY

Collegiate Sabbath to Be Held in Several Orthodox Synagogues—St. Columba to Be Honored.

The Rev. Dr. Paul Scherer, pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Central Park West and Sixty-fifth Street, will sail July 3 for England, where he will preach until the last of September in Congregational and Presbyterian churches. The tour has been arranged by the Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, English Bible lecturer, now pastor of the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia.

Dr. Scherer will preach in the Westminster Congregational Chapel, Buckingham Gate, London, of which Dr. Morgan was for many years the pastor and where he was followed by the late Rev. Dr. John Henry Jowett, who went to that pastorate from the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, this city. Dr. Scherer will also preach in the Frognal Presbyterian Church, London, to the pastorate of which the late Rev. Dr. John Kelman went from the Fifth Avenue church here. Dr. Scherer, who is 38 years old, is the son of the Rev. Dr. M. G. G. G. Scherer, secretary of the United Lutheran Church in America.

This morning Cardinal Hayes will ordain twenty-three young men in St. Patrick's Cathedral. The ceremony will begin at 8 o'clock. After the service, the newly ordained priests will dispense their first blessings in Cathedral College, Madison Avenue and Fifty-first Street. All are graduates of St. Joseph's Theological Seminary, Dunwoodie, N. Y.

Mgr. Michael J. Lavelle, rector of the cathedral, will today complete fifty-one years in the priesthood. A year ago there was a week's observance of the golden jubilee of his ordination. On Memorial Day, Mgr. Lavelle was seventy-four years old. Cardinal Hayes will preside Wednesday at the annual commencement of Cathedral College.

Seven young men will be ordained by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Trexler, the president, at the second annual convention of the United Lutheran Synod of New York to be held in the Church of the Reformation, Rochester, N. Y., from June 16 to 19. They are Herman Briele, called to St. Luke's Church, Valatie, N. Y.; Morris R. Skinner, called to St. Paul's Church, Richmondville, N. Y.; Theodore J. T. Erdman, called to St. John's Church, Jersey City, N. J.; John A. W. Kirsch Jr., called to the Church of the Redeemer, Buffalo, N. Y.; Albert Paul Schilke, called to Trinity Church, Castleton, N. Y.; Harry Pfunke, called to Holy Trinity Church, Leonia, N. J.; Dorr R. Crounse.

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Dr. Trexler will dedicate the new edifice of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, Northern Boulevard and 165th Street, Flushing, of which the Rev. Peter C. Schroeder is the pastor. Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock Dr. Trexler will preach the silver anniversary sermon at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, Columbia Terrace, Weehawken, N. J.

"Collegiate" Sabbath will be celebrated today by the Union of Orthodox Congregations of America through its Collegiate Branch, of which Joseph I. Freiman is president. Students from the various colleges will occupy the pulpits of a number of orthodox synagogues in this city and vicinity and also in Boston. All college men are invited to attend a synagogue holding collegiate services. Among these will be the Institutional Synagogue, 37 West 116th Street; West Side Branch of the Institutional Synagogue, 148 West Eighty-fifth Street; Kehilath Jeshurun Synagogue, 117 East Eighty-fifth Street; Jewish Centre, 131 West Eighty-sixth Street; Beth Jacob Synagogue, Union City, N. J.

The Feast of St. Columcille, the first of the great Irish churchmen, who brought Christianity to Scotland in the sixth century, will be observed in several Roman Catholic and Protestant Episcopal Churches tomorrow. At the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, the Rev. Dr. Charles K. Gilbert, Suffragan Bishop-elect, will refer to the work of St. Columcille. The Rev. Dr. Joseph P. McComas, the vicar, will preach tomorrow morning on St. Columcille in St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Chapel, Trinity Parish, Broadway, between Vesey and Fulton Streets. There will be an Irish service at the Church of the Good Shepherd tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The members of the Derry Association of New York will honor their patron by attending the 9 o'clock mass tomorrow morning in St. Columba's Church, Twenty-fifth Street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues.

The Five Points Mission, through the Rev. Dr. George W. Grinton, the general secretary, has issued an appeal for financial help in sending throughout the Summer mothers and babies to its Fresh Air Home at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson. It costs $10 a week for a mother and baby and $8 a week for a child. Friends who are interested in this work are invited to send checks to Florence A. Carmichael, treasurer, Five Points Mission, 69 Madison Street, says the appeal.

MISS WALKER WED TO D. M. LOVEJOY

Ceremony at Home of Her Parents Performed by the Rev. Dr. Frank W. Crowder.

THREE SISTERS ATTENDANTS

Bride's Brother Gives Her in Marriage—Following a Reception, Couple Leave on Motor Trip.

Miss Winifred Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Alfred Prosser of 14 East Seventy-sixth Street, was married to Donald Meston Lovejoy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Lovejoy of New Rochelle, N. Y., yesterday afternoon at the home of her parents. Easter lilies, pink and white peonies and gypsophilia combined with Southern smilax decorated the house. The Rev. Dr. Frank Warfield Crowder, rector of St. James's Church, Madison Avenue and Seventy-first Street, officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Robert W. Prosser, wore a gown of ivory colored satin and an old family point lace veil. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses and African daisies.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Joseph M. Bilisoly, and her three sisters, the Misses Edith, Ethel and Elizabeth Prosser. They wore frocks of pink chiffon combined with lace and pink horsehair hats. They carried Colonial bouquets of delphinium and sweetheart roses.

Vernon Lynn was best man for Mr. Lovejoy. There were no ushers.

The ceremony was followed by a reception, during which there was music by the orchestra of Anna Byrne.

Mr. Lovejoy and his bride, after a motor trip, will live in Greenwich, Conn., for the Summer. Next Winter they will be in New York.

New York Times Studio.

PAUL POIRET IN CLASH WITH APPRAISERS HERE

Dressmaker Appeals to France in Seizure of Dresses as Undervalued.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—The intervention of the French Ministry of Commerce with Washington in connection with another clash of a noted French dressmaker with American customs authorities has been asked and the request will be acted upon within a short time, it was learned tonight.

It was the Poiret house, which sold dresses to Mrs. Robert L. Dodge on which she was forced to pay a fine when taking them into the United States. Paul Poiret shipped to the United States a large quantity of the latest dresses for exhibition and sale in New York, but when they arrived there the customs officials disputed the declarations of value, seized them pending legal proceedings and threatened a heavy fine.

M. Poiret contends that his estimate was based upon cost of production, and was faithfully made, but the American customs appraisers, according to the report to the Minister of Commerce, contend that the prices should have been listed as equivalent to the prices which would have been asked of purchasers at his Paris shop. M. Poiret's petition to the Ministry of Commerce protests his good faith and asks intervention on behalf of a Paris firm victimized by the complicated American customs rulings.

The Ministry of Commerce is now investigating the affair and, it is believed, will ask the Foreign Ministry to make representations at Washington.

PARKED CAR TAGGING FAVORED BY MAYOR

Moves to End Overtime Evil as Advisers Fail to Agree on Plan for 500-Car Garages.

Convinced that additional police action against all-day parking in the streets is necessary, Mayor Walker said yesterday that the time was ripe for the city to begin "tagging" parked cars or to extend the serving of summonses for overtime parking, after a committee he appointed to consider the proposed 500-car parking garages had reported inability to agree.

Edward M. Bassett, chairman of the committee, informed the Mayor and the Board of Estimate that opposition to the plan came from Bronx garage owners, who complained that they were unable to fill existing garages because cars were allowed to remain on the street. The garage owners said 23,000 cars could be parked in garages between Twenty-third and Fifty-ninth Streets, but that motorists were loath to pay a parking fee if they could park on the street.

The Mayor continued the public hearing on the proposal until the board's first meeting in the Fall, on Sept. 26. Some definite agreement is expected by then among those concerned.

ACTORS' FUND GETS CRABTREE BEQUEST

Through the efforts of Sam A. Scribner, treasurer of the Actors' Fund, that organization will receive the income from a trust fund of $100,000, established by the late Lotta M. Crabtree, actress, to give assistance to deserving members of the theatrical profession. The income, which will amount to $5,000 a year, will be used in the charitable work of the Actors' Fund.

Mr. Scribner, former head of the Columbia Burlesque Theatres, went to Boston recently to arrange the matter of the trust fund with the executors of the Crabtree estate. The actress is said to have left a fortune of $5,000,000, of which $2,000,000 was set aside to aid disabled or wounded soldiers and sailors who were in the service of the United States in the war.

The officers and members of the Actors' Fund Board of Trustees will make their annual visit to the fund home at Englewood, N. J., tomorrow. An entertainment for the guests has been arranged by Walter Vincent, vice president.

The Royal Order of the North Star, with rank of knight, was given to Dr. Carl Gustaf Labergren of St. Paul and to Professor Thor Rothstein of Chicago.

FRITZI SCHEFF HURT IN FALL.

She Is Taken Unconscious From Stage in Chicago Theatre.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Fritzi Scheff was carried unconscious from the stage of the Palace Theatre here tonight in view of the audience after she had tripped over a bolt lying in her path as she was backing to the wings at the close of her second show.

Miss Scheff regained consciousness when the members of her company, "Fritzi Scheff's Eight Bachelor Buttons in Songs and Steps of 1930," had laid her on the couch in her dressing room. At the Ambassador Hotel Miss Scheff said she had struck her head on the floor when she fell, but that no serious after effects were discernable. She will leave for New York tomorrow.

DR. A. L. FEINBERG SAILS; WILL STUDY MUSIC

Rabbi Who Left Ministry Is a Passenger on Ile de France—Notables Off for Europe.

Dr. Abraham L. Feinberg, who resigned from the ministry of Temple Israel early this year because he believed that the world's moral problems could be approached more successfully through other channels than the "over-organized, timorous and decaying Church," sailed yesterday on the French liner Ile de France to start musical study abroad.

He has received a Summer scholarship in France and says he will try there to perfect himself in the arts and equip himself for the kind of religious teaching in which he believes lies the world's salvation—the equable coordination of beauty and goodness.

Admiral Carey T. Grayson, physician to the late Presidents Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson, sailed on the Ile de France, accompanying Bernard M. Baruch, capitalist, and Miss Rene Baruch.

Also on board was Baron Philippe de Rothschild, author.

Others on the liner were:

Mrs. MORTIMER DAVIS, who on the stage is Rosika Dolly.
SAMUEL INSULL of Chicago.
Colonel SOSTHENES BEHN, president of the Ile de France International Telephone and Telegraph Company.
SIMON GUGGENHEIM, president of the American Smelting and Refining Company.
DAVID MANNES, conductor of the free symphony concerts at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Decline Again—Money and Sterling Little Changed, Silver Fractionally Lower.

Prices drifted downward again on the Stock Exchange yesterday, with total transactions not much greater than in the recent inactive days, but with losses in a dozen of the more active shares ranging from 6 to 12 points. It was again, apparently, a day of purely professional operations, the only indication of the market's actual position being the absence of any aggressive support on the day's declines. The course of the day's market reflected to this extent the attitude in financial circles, that the spirit of uncertainty has of late undoubtedly become more general and expectation of business recovery at a prescribed date possibly less confident.

Despite the now familiar irregularity of movement, the course of the bond market was measurably toward higher values. United States Government bonds were particularly strong, two of the Liberty Loan issues going to higher prices than on any previous day this year. As yet, prices for bonds have made no such response as was expected, either to the great ease in money or to the inactivity of stocks. The present "averages," although something like 4 points above the low level of last November, are only a fraction above the lowest of midsummer, 1928, and lower than any reached in 1927 after the first month or two. But the price of high-grade bonds is even now not low, judged by other years. When the rise in the bond market began along with the easy money and trade reaction of 1924, the averages were 11 points below yesterday's figure.

Yesterday's money and sterling markets hardly moved. Silver bullion sold down ¼ penny per ounce at London, after its violent recovery of 15-16 penny the day before. The price of wheat continued to be strongly supported, although the various "crop dispatches" gave no great enlightenment on the prospect. The only strong probability of the moment seems to be that Europe will have a satisfactory harvest. If anything like actual shortage were impending on that continent, it would have been visibly indicated before this. Yesterday's preliminary compilations of the week's exchange of bank checks showed the largest decrease from 1929 in many weeks, clearings for New York being lower by 28¼ per cent, with 23 per cent reduction for the rest of the country. This reflects the great curtailment of business activities, but also the extremely small business done on the Stock Exchanges.

The week-end mercantile reviews reported an altogether unchanged business situation, with results in general trade described as "largely of an indecisive character." Improvement in one direction seems to be counterbalanced by increasing slackness in another. But it has now become difficult to distinguish basic influences on the course of current trade from the superficial influence of approaching midsummer relaxation.

RULINGS ON THE EXCHANGE.

Punta Alegre Sugar Debentures Must Be Dealt In "Flat."

The New York Stock Exchange posted the following notices yesterday:

"Having received notice that the interest due July 1, next, on Punta Alegre Sugar Company fifteen-year 7 per cent sinking fund convertible debentures, due 1937, will not be paid on said date, the committee on securities rules that beginning June 9, and until further notice, the said bonds and certificates of deposit therefore shall be dealt in 'flat' and that the bonds to be a delivery must carry July 1 and subsequent coupons.

"The committee on securities rules Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company common stock be quoted 'ex-rights' on June 11, and rights be admitted to trading on that date. Rights must be settled June 24 and will expire July 23.

"The committee on securities rules Corn Exchange Bank Trust Company capital stock be quoted 'ex-rights' on June 12 and rights be admitted to trading on that date. Rights must be settled June 17 and will expire July 3.

TO HEAD BANK FUSION AT 80

Furst Is Slated as Chairman of $46,000,000 Baltimore Concern.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, June 6.—Frank Furst, octogenarian Democratic political leader and financier, will, it was reported here today, be chairman of the $46,000,000 Maryland Trust Company, made up of the Maryland Trust Company, the Drovers and Mechanics National Bank and the Continental Trust Company.

The plan of consolidation will be submitted soon to the directors and stockholders of each institution. Heyward E. Boyce, president of Drovers and Mechanics National, is slated to be president of the new company, it is said. W. J. Casey, president of Continental Trust, and Louis S. Zimmerman, head of Maryland Trust, are expected to become senior vice presidents.

CLEVELAND BANK RATE CUT.

Federal Reserve Announces Reduction to 3½ Per Cent.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Indicating a further easing in the money market, the Federal Reserve Board today announced a reduction from 4 to 3½ per cent in the rate at the Cleveland bank, effective tomorrow. The Boston bank established a 3½ per cent rate May 6 and New York dropped to 3 per cent May 2.

Officials said that the change was without particular significance and was in accordance with the general tendencies in the money market.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

Speculators for the decline made effective use yesterday of the overnight announcement of a $79,000,000 increase in brokers' loans. The general list on the Stock Exchange sold off again, but in dull trading. Transactions totaled 2,184,860 shares, the greater part of which total represented the activity of Wall Street professionals. Net losses of from 1 to 6 points were recorded in the more active issues, the leaders of the decline including United States Steel, Warner Brothers, United States Industrial Alcohol, United Aircraft, North American, Electric Power and Light, Air Reduction, American Can, Columbia Graphaphone, Radio and Johns-Manville. The sharp increase in brokers' loans announced by the Federal Reserve Board contributed to the general discouragement of market interests, since it was taken by some as indicating unsatisfactory distribution of new securities. The market itself contributed little, if any, to the expansion in loans, as trading was unusually dull and price movements narrow throughout the period covered by the Reserve Board's compilation.

Lack of Support Seen.

An operator suggested yesterday, in a complaining tone, that both the dullness and heaviness of the market could be traced to the apparent indifference of interests which ordinarily are depended upon to furnish support on reactions. Such pools as had not folded up, he said, were standing aside waiting for public interest to revive. Investment trusts and wealthy investors were known to feel that the market was within a "buying zone," he pointed out, but they were not demonstrating their faith by buying stocks. Persons in touch with the investment trust field, however, dispute him on this point, insisting that there has been quiet accumulation from these quarters.

Cleveland Cuts Rediscount Rate.

The action of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland in reducing its rediscount rate from 4 to 3½ per cent yesterday was believed in banking circles here to presage a similar cut by other regional banks which now have the 4 per cent rate in effect. At present the New York bank rate is 3 per cent, and Boston and Cleveland 3½, with all others 4 per cent. The last previous change in the Cleveland rate took place on March 15, when it was reduced from 4½ to 4 per cent. There have been no other changes in the rates of any of the Federal Reserve banks since May 8, when the Boston bank dropped its rate ½ of 1 per cent to 3½ per cent.

The Radio Report.

The reorganization of the Radio Corporation of America, which has been going on this year, has undoubtedly brought many changes in its accounting methods and alterations in the nature of funds received and those expended by the company. The company's request that the New York Stock Exchange permit it to dispense with a statement for the first quarter of this year, however, was connected by some with the drastic liquidation of inventory in the early months this year. Large stocks intended for the Christmas trade were not fully sold because of the conditions following the market crash, it was said. Abnormal seasons of this kind have occurred in the history of every industry at infrequent intervals. It was considered extremely doubtful, however, if this passing condition alone would have influenced the company's management. It took the unusual scope of the recent organic changes to decide the officials not to issue a quarterly statement, which at best could be only a transitional report of doubtful use to stockholders.

New Highs for the Liberty Loans.

Reflecting the outlook for easier money, bidding was brisk yesterday for United States Government obligations, with the net result that both the first and fourth Liberty loans again touched new highs for the year, while the rest of the active government issues closed generally higher for the day. Corporations are reported to be heavy buyers of government bonds and yesterday's statement of the Reserve Bank showed a gain in holdings. In the outside market, where the bulk of the trading in government bonds is done, dealers reported several large orders in the market, not all of which had been filled at the close of business yesterday. The demand, of course, is strictly a domestic one, since all of the issues are selling above par, so that foreign governments are unable to purchase bonds at a discount and turn them in at par in lieu of cash on their war debts.

Trust Market Activities.

The reported buying by investment trusts yesterday and the day before has apparently made little impression on the market. Several trust executives admitted that they had placed scale buying orders on the market on Wednesday and Thursday. Some of them frankly said then that their buying might prove to have been a bit premature, but they believed many issues had reached a point where they seemed too promising to miss. The extent of trust buying, however, is generally believed to be small, in view of the fact that many companies used much of their available cash to buy in the decline of a month ago.

Coal Stocks at Low Levels.

The statistical position of bituminous coal stocks, which are at the lowest level since the Autumn of 1922, offers additional traffic possibilities to the railrados in the event of any increase in industrial activity. On April 1 total bituminous coal stocks were about 33,100,000 tons. With supplies at such a low point, a quick increase in both the production and shipments of this commodity would be necessary to supply consumers should there be any material improvement in the industrial situation. The decline in coal shipments during the last few months has been an important factor in the comparatively poor earnings reports of the railroads.

MONEY.

Friday, June 6, 1930.

Money market was a listless affair, business continuing on small scale, while rates in all sections remained unchanged. On the Stock Exchange, 3 per cent was the trading rate, but 2½ was paid in the Street. Supply was good, demand light. Curb funds were 3½. Time money, acceptances and commercial paper developed no variations.

R. C. A. WILL OMIT QUARTERLY REPORT

FULL STATEMENT LATER

Corporation Announced at May 6 Meeting That Business Was Showing Improvement.

The New York Stock Exchange yesterday granted a request of the Radio Corporation of America for permission to omit the filing of a statement covering earnings for the first quarter of this year. The statement is already one month overdue, if the precedent of previous years be taken as a standard.

The reason for the Radio Corporation's request is the recent recapitalization and unification plan, which the company said makes it impossible to show a complete and correct picture for comparison. Stockholders of the company approved the reorganization last month.

The plan entails delivery to General Electric and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing of 6,580,375 common and an unstated amount of Class B preferred shares of the Radio Corporation in exchange for radio manufacturing activities of the former companies and other considerations. The reorganization is the object of a suit recently brought by the United States Government for alleged violation of the anti-trust laws.

It is understood that the Stock Exchange authorities gave the Radio Corporation permission to omit its first quarter report this year on the understanding that the company issue a statement covering the six months ended June 30 and quarterly statements thereafter.

In the absence of General James G. Harbord, chairman, and of David Sarnoff, president, officials of the company would not comment on the omission of the first quarter's report yesterday, nor was any statement issued on behalf of the Stock Exchange.

Precedent on the Exchange.

The Radio Corporation has set a precedent in asking for permission to omit its quarterly report, as no instance is recalled of any prominent corporation requesting permission to dispense with a regular earnings statement. There have been cases, however, where a company has failed to issue a report without obtaining the sanction of the Stock Exchange authorities. The latter make it a condition for the listing of shares that a company shall "publish periodical statements of earnings." Such agreements do not always provide for quarterly reports, but do call for continuous statements by comparable periods.

At the annual meeting on May 6 Mr. Sarnoff said the business of the company was showing improvement and that inventory carried over from the end of last year had practically all been disposed of.

Inventories at the close of 1929 were carried on the books at $31,946,798, less reserves. About one-half of the finished stocks were disposed of during the first quarter of the year and a good part of the balance subsequently, reports in Wall Street have indicated. New production, it was said, has placed inventories at normal levels.

There is no official statement to show whether or not any loss was sustained in liquidating the heavy inventory remaining at the end of last year, the volume of which is said to have been due to a large extent to the falling off in public demand for radio sets and equipment after the market crash of October and November.

Statements for Four Years.

Quarterly statements of gross income and net profit for the past four years were as follows:

Bank of Manhattan Trust Company, Fiscal Agent.

The following information has been obtained from B. Stuevold Hansen, Esq., Chairman of the Board:

"Kingdom of Norway Municipalities Bank (Norges Kommunalbank) was established by the Norwegian Government in 1926 for the purpose of granting loans to municipalities and similar political subdivisions in Norway. The capital of the Bank, amounting to $5,360,000, has been fully paid in by the Government, together with a reserve fund of $804,000. The Bank operates under the supervision of the Ministry of Finance and all loans must be approved by the Ministry of Justice. It is governed by a Board of three members, the Chairman being appointed by the King of Norway and the other two members by the Storting (Legislature).

The Bank is authorized to secure loanable funds through issuing internal or external bonds. By Royal Decree it is required to assure itself of the satisfactory status of the borrower before extending loans, and is empowered by law to impose certain restrictions upon further financing by such borrowers.

The Bank retains, subject to modification by the King, 5% of the principal amount of every loan granted by it as a 'participation fund' and issues therefor to the borrower an equivalent par value of registered non-negotiable participation certificates. Dividends of 5% per annum on the capital and of 4½% per annum on the paid-in reserve and on the participation fund are currently being paid; undivided profits must be added to reserves. At least two-thirds of the Bank's capital and all of its reserves are to be invested at all times in cash and/or Government or Government guaranteed securities.

The Bonds shall constitute direct liabilities and obligations of the Bank, shall be unconditionally guaranteed as to principal, interest and sinking fund, by endorsement, by the Kingdom of Norway and the Bank covenants that if while any of the Bonds shall be outstanding the Bank shall create or issue or guarantee any bonds or obligations secured by lien on any of its revenues or assets, or assign any of its revenues or assets as security for any guaranty of any obligations, the Bonds shall be secured equally and ratably with such bonds, obligations or guaranty.

The aggregate amount of bonds at any time outstanding is limited by law to eight times the sum of the capital and that part of the participation fund which exceeds $1,340,000. Including this and the Kronor issue, there are presently outstanding $31,490,000 principal amount. The Bank has never failed to meet promptly the service requirements on its bonds. By law of June 21, 1929 all bonds issued by it are unconditionally guaranteed by the Kingdom of Norway.

The high credit enjoyed by the Norwegian Government is indicated by coupon rates of 3%, 3½% and 4% on its pre-war external loans, and there is no record of a default ever having taken place on a National Government loan.

The direct public debt, as of June 30, 1929, totalled approximately $422,904,000 and the guaranteed debt, about $184,000,000. The national wealth has been estimated at $3,350,000,000. For each of the past two fiscal years ordinary revenues have exceeded expenditures, and for the year ending June 30, 1930 the budget balances at $104,091,200.

Conversions of Norwegian kroner into United States currency have been made at gold parity of 26.80 cents per krone."

Application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

ROYAL DUTCH PLANS HYDROGENATING OIL

Agreement on Patents With Standard of New Jersey and I.G.F. of Germany Announced.

NET INCOME IS AT RECORD

Company, in Annual Report, Says Producers in Venezuela Agreed on Rational Output.

The Royal Dutch Company has made an agreement with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the I. G. Farbenindustrie to participate in the development of the hydrogenation patents and to pool its interests with this group, according to the annual report of Royal Dutch for 1929.

"By combining with other interested parties, some of which are large chemical industries," the report says, "all further inventions and improvements will be concentrated in one central body, and thus this process [hydrogenation], by which high-grade products can be made from greatly varying raw materials, can be applied on the widest possible scale."

Development of the hydrogenation process for the refining of oil is a joint undertaking conducted for several years by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the I. G. Farbenindustrie. By this process it is possible to recover approximately 100 per cent of refined products from crude petroleum, liquified coal, shale oil and coal tar, it is said. The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has a hydrogenation plant under construction at Bayway, N. J., with a daily capacity of 5,000 barrels, which should be in operation in August.

Despite the overproduction of crude oil and the highly competitive conditions in the petroleum markets, the Royal Dutch Company reported the largest net income in its history, amounting to 126,471,391 florins after expenses and taxes. This is equivalent after dividends on its 4 per cent and 4½ per cent preferred stock to 25.11 per cent on the 503,624,000 florins ordinary stock outstanding and compares with 103,367,780 florins, or 24.75 per cent, on the 412,103,000 florins ordinary stock outstanding in 1928. A florin is equivalent to approximately 40.2 cents in United States currency.

Profit on Ton of Oil Decreases.

"It will have been noticed that in the last few years," the report states, "the profit per ton of oil produced has been decreasing This is due to various circumstances apart from competition. In the first place, the fact that the whole industry is being conducted on an increasingly scientific basis necessarily involves much higher salaried employes both in the production and in the refining of crude oil. Further, present-day methods of retailing the products to the public result in the cost of distribution forming a factor of increasing importance, while last, but not least, the sums which have to be paid in taxation either in the form of import duties or as direct taxes are assuming ever-greater proportions."

A feature of the report was the statement that in last November an agreement was made among the principal producing companies in Venezuela that made possible a more rational method of production. This agreement, understood to be still in effect, involves only the producing companies operating around Lake Maracaibo. The three principal groups in the agreement are the Royal Dutch, Gulf Oil Corporation and the Lago Petroleum and Transport Corporation, a Pan-American Petroleum and Transport subsidiary.

It is believed that each company is producing its allowable capacity. In April, the output of the Royal Dutch companies in Venezuela averaged 152,901 barrels daily, of Lago 104,120 and of Gulf 62,613.

Peak for Royal Dutch Output.

Crude production of Royal Dutch reached a new peak again in 1929 with 25,184,387 metric tons, compared with 22,063,411 in 1928. The company's output in Venezuela for the first time exceeded its production in the United States and led all other areas, amounting last year to 8,799,547 metric tons, against 7,125,339 in 1928. Royal Dutch companies produced 7,583,552 metric tons in the United States during 1929, compared with 7,703,000 in the preceding year. Operating subsidiaries of Royal Dutch and estimated to have produced last year about 12 per cent of the total crude oil yield of the world.

The report shows also the extent of the company's losses through confiscation of its properties in Russia. These include three refineries with daily capacity of 6,100 tons and storage capacity of 1,254,000 tons, 244 depots with a storage capacity of about 640,000 tons, and a large number of tankers, lighters and steam tugs on Russian waters. In addition, £2,150,000 in cash and about 1,000,000 tons of products which represented a value of £8,000,000 were taken by the Soviets.

"The taxes burdening the petroleum industry are still too heavy and will have to be considerably lightened to enable Mexico to compete successfully with other producing companies in the world market," the report said.

Royal Dutch Orders 20 Ships.

At the beginning of this year Royal Dutch ordered twenty motor ships of 11,500 tons loading capacity each, to be ready in 1931.

SALE TO STANDARD DENIED.

But Amerada President Admits Partnership Exists.

Reports that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was about to absorb the Amerada Corporation were denied yesterday by A. Jacobsen, president of Amerada.

"As announced at the time," he said, "a sale was made last year by Amerada to a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana of an undivided one-half interest in Amerada's non-productive acreage in the States of Oklahoma and Kansas, for a total consideration of $10,000,000. Drilling operations to date on these jointly owned properties have shown very gratifying results, but beyond the partnership in these properties there is no community of interest between the Standard of Indiana and the Amerada."

Pure Oil Re-elects Board.

RISE IN GOLD HITS DEBTORS

"Open Market Control" by Central Banks Urged at Dinner Here to Sir Josiah.

Economizing in the use of gold and scientific handling of it were urged by financial experts who asserted at a dinner in honor of Sir Josiah Stamp at the Harvard Club last night that gold physically controls the social and industrial destinies of the world.

The dinner, given by Frederic A. Delano, president of the Stable Money Association, had for its keynote the importance of eliminating the wide fluctuations in the purchasing power of money, with their disastrous effects upon trade and business and the relations of debtors and creditors.

International emphasis upon the necessity for stabilized money was given by the receipt of messages from financiers in other countries, some of them pointing to the present business depression as a striking example of the need for relief.

Sir Josiah, British industrialist and economist, supported this view with the declaration that a shift in money values was responsible for the business situation today.

"A violent change of this kind, unprecedented in its magnitude, is now affecting not only business but political relations throughout the world," he asserted. "Many evils which are being attributed to some immediate cause, such as overproduction in a particular commodity market, are actually due to this underlying and general cause."

Debtors All Over World Affected.

The rise in the value of gold and the accompanying fall in commodity prices has been making the position of debtors all over the world more serious, he said, estimating that the change in gold value had been 25 per cent in the past four or five years.

"This has added the equivalent of over $7,000,000,000 to the British national debt at a time when everybody imagined that it had been diminished by substantial sums being paid off," he continued. "It has substantially increased the indebtedness of various countries tied to their creditors on account of war debts and reparations, and to that extent is having an important influence on the balance of trade and is greatly aggravating the adverse effects of high tariffs."

To attain stability in the unit of purchasing power Sir Josiah appealed for an "enlightened and uniform" practice in different countries in provinding credit and an intelligent international handling of the existing gold reserves. He said that the production of new gold probably would lag behind the increase in the production of other commodities, but a balance could be maintained by the better use of existing gold and scientific measures for preventing artificial deflations or offsetting them. He suggested that the new International Bank might provide a directing agency.

The same explanation of the business depression was given in a message from Sir Herbert Holt, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, who said: "The steady downward trend of commodity price levels during recent months has created an extremely serious business situation.

Big Gain in Value of Dollar.

Dr. Edwin W. Kemmerer of Princeton University, member of several financial missions in foreign lands, a speaker with Sir Josiah at the dinner, declared that the purchasing power of the dollar rose more than 60 per cent from the middle of 1920 to May, 1930.

Such fluctuation, he declared, "seizes wealth here and gives it out there; it takes property from one class without rhyme or reason and gives it to another."

"That is the problem of monetary stabilization with which the nations of the world are confronted today. The central banks can, through their 'open market operations' and changes in their rediscount rates, exert considerable control over this engine of distribution, particularly over its minor operations.

Mr. Delano, a former member of the Federal Reserve Board, urged the formulation of scientific technique and rules of procedure.

Among those who sent messages in tribute to Sir Josiah were:

SIR CHARLES ADDIS, Director, Bank of England.
DR. E. BENES, Minister of Foreign Affairs, Czechoslovakia.
EMILE MOREAU, Governor, Bank of France.
ROY A. YOUNG, Governor, Federal Reserve Board.
E. K. VENIZELOS, Premier of Greece.
EMILE FRANCQUI, Foreign Minister of Finance of Belgium.

CHANGES IN CORPORATIONS.

L. E. Lentz in New Post With the Elliott Fisher Company.

L. E. Lentz, former head of the service department of the Elliott-Fisher Company, has been appointed vice president in charge of engineering and manufacturing.

John W. Gaser, formerly sales and merchandise manager of the Paris Company of Salt Lake City, has been appointed sales manager in the Denver district for Montgomery Ward & Co.

George C. Frolich, who since 1923 has been general managers of the medicine department of the United Drug Company of Boston, has been made general sales manager, succeeding H. L. Simpson.

TOBACCO PRODUCTS TO REVISE STOCKS

Corporation Proposes to Change Class A and Common From $20 Par to No Par.

SHAREHOLDERS TO DECIDE

Holdings in United Cigar Carried at Figure Above Market Value, It Is Stated.

The Tobacco Products Corporation has submitted to stockholders a proposal to change the Class A and common stock from $20 par to no par and to reduce the capital represented thereby to $5 a share. Stockholders will be asked to vote on the proposal at the annual meeting to be held on June 25.

In a letter to stockholders, Frederick K. Morrow, president of the company, said the corporation's investment in the common stock of the United Cigar Stores Company of America was carried on its books at an amount in excess of either its market value or the value of the net tangible assets of United Cigars Stores Company of America and subsidiaries.

"Because of this fact," Mr. Morrow said, "and even though consideration be given to the substantial value of the corporation's ninety-nine-year lease with the American Tobacco Company, directors have felt that there might be such a substantial impairment of the capital as now constituted as to prevent the resumption of dividends out of current earnings. Directors have, accordingly, recommended the change in stock to stockholders.

"Such a recapitalization would permit the corporation to reduce the book value of its investment in common stock of the United Cigar Stores Company of America to its approximate present value, based on the net tangible assets represented thereby, and also to permit the resumption of the payments of such dividends out of current earnings as the directors might feel to be justified by the financial condition of the corporation. It is believed that the changing of the shares of Class A and common stock into an equal number of shares of the same class without par value and the proposed reduction in the capital of the corporation will be in the interests of all of the stockholders."

The Tobacco Products Corporation and subsidiaries for 1929 show a net profit of $4,574,635 aft'er interest, Federal taxes and other charges and after deducting $519,533 loss on the sale of United Cigar Stores Company of America common stock. This is equivalent, after allowing for a full year's dividend requirements on the $20 par value Class A stock, to 44 cents a share on 3,296,652 shares of $20 per value common stock. In the preceding year the net profit was $8,386,963 after Federal taxes and other charges, equivalent after Class A dividends to $7.96 a share on 659,330 common shares then outstanding.

DOMESTIC BONDS

$53,328,518 SOUGHT BY MUNICIPALITIES

Increased Offerings for Next Week Include $20,000,000 State of New Jersey 4s.

MARKET OUTLOOK BETTER

New offerings of State and municipal bond issues next week will show a sharp increase over this week's aggregate, with a total of $53,328,518, representing the requirements of eighty-one communities. This week's aggregate, according to revised figures, was $26,174,154, comprising 111 individual issues. The weekly average for the year to date is $32,375,071.

The largest issue scheduled for next week is that on Tuesday of $20,000,000 State of New Jersey 4 per cent road bonds. While the issue is not likely to go to a New York banking syndicate because of inability to pay par for an issue of 4s, various New Jersey banks that may use State bonds as security for State deposits are expected to take varying amounts of the issue. The last long-term financing was done by the State on June 18 last, when $10,000,000 4½s were awarded to thirty-five New Jersey banks at from 103.96 to 100.565.

Other important issues to come up for award next week include $2,035,000 City of Richmond (Va.) 4½s on Monday, $6,889,000 City of Camden (N. J.), $2,000,000 City of Kearny (N. J.) and $1,700,000 Nassau County (N. Y.) bonds on Wednesday and $3,980,000 City of Milwaukee (Wis.) 4s and 5s on Thursday.

Several Large Issues Sold.

One feature of the week was the closing of syndicate books on several of the largest issues offered. These included the $5,000,000 State of Mississippi certificates of indebtedness, $2,790,000 Hudson River Regulating District, (N. Y.) bonds, and $1,000,000 Louisville (Ky.) bonds. In addition, several other issues marketed in the last few weeks were closed out, chief of which was the issue of $2,202,000 City of Houston (Texas) 4½s.

The outlook for the municipal bond market is more cheerful than for several weeks in view of the expected easing in money rates. The new highs reached at the close of the week on the first and fourth Liberty 4¼s have greatly stiumlated business in municipals. Several dealers reported more sales of municipals yesterday than on any other day in the last fortnight.

Although little actual marking up of prices took place yesterday, the undertone of the market was firm, and many dealers predicted slightly higher prices early next week. While next week's offerings bulk considerably larger than this week, the fact that all or most of the $20,000,000 State of New Jersey 4s are expected to go to New Jersey institutions cuts the total scheduled awards to about normal proportions.

The following list of important issues scheduled for award next week and on subsequent dates are compiled from a calendar prepared by The Daily Bond Buyer:

Census Causes Buying of Bonds That Will Go Into 'Legal' List

Municipal bond dealers were unusually active yesterday in endeavoring to pick up blocks of bonds of municipalities throughout the country which are now non-legal for investment by savings banks and trust funds in this State. They expect that the new census figures will put these communities in the legal class. The legal list, though, will not be revised by the State Banking Department until the Federal census has been completed.

Under the New York banking law communities in adjoining States must have a population of at least 10,000 to have their obligations legal for investment for savings banks, and when the population is more than 45,000 unlimited tax requirements do not apply. Municipalities throughout the country whose population is in excess of 150,000 may, under certain qualifications, be eligible for the super-legal class. Thus, the re-enumeration of the population is expected to have a far-reaching effect on the municipal bond market.

NORWEGIAN OFFERING IS SOLD HERE AT 97

A new issue of $5,360,000 Kingdom of Norway Municipalities Bank 5 per cent sinking fund bonds, due June 1, 1970, was sold yesterday by a syndicate composed of the International Manhattan Company, Inc., Lehman Brothers and W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc. The securities were quickly taken and the books were closed.

The price was 97, to yield about 5.17 per cent. The offering represented the American half of a total issue of $10,720,000, the balance of which was sold in Sweden at 98½. A part of the American issue will be placed in Holland by Hope & Co., and Warburg & Co. of Amsterdam.

The Kingdom of Norway Municipalities Bank (Norges Kommunalbank) was established by the Norwegian Government in 1926 for granting loans to municipalities and other political subdivisions. Its capital, $5,360,000, has been fully paid by the government, together with a reserve fund of $804,000. The bank's outstanding bonds are limited to eight times the capital and participation fund with the latter now exceeding $1,340,000. The bank retains 5 per cent of all loans granted, placing this amount in the participation fund.

The new issue, which is unconditionally guaranteed by the Kingdom of Norway, is callable as a whole or in part at any time after June 1, 1940. Application will be made to list the issue on the New York Stock Exchange.

BONDS SELL AT 2.95 RATE.

Record Made on $2,344,020 Westchester Certificates.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 6.—Westchester County placed today certificates of indebtedness valued at $2,344,020, one of the largest issues of certificates at any one time, at the lowest rate ever reached in the fiscal history of the county, according to County Treasurer Miller.

The interest rate at which the certificates were sold to a New York concern was 2.95, in marked contrast to the rates demanded last year. On occasion last year the county was forced to pay nearly 6 per cent on its certificates.

At the same time Westchester wound up the recent sale of bonds and certificates of indebtedness in the amount of $19,775,000, the largest single issue of bonds ever put out by the county, representing the accumulated floating bond indebtedness for the last two years. The county issued no bonds last year.

County Controller Milleman, County Treasurer Miller and County Attorney Davidson delivered the printed and signed bonds to the Chase Securities Corporation in New York, head of the syndicate which purchased the county's $19,775,000 issue.

$69,132,000 BONDS OFFERED THIS WEEK

Total Compares With $49,428,000 Marketed Last Week and $63,057,000 Year Ago.

RAIL ISSUES TOP THE LIST

Canadian National in the Lead With $15,750,000—German Annuities Loan Is Awaited.

As was the case last week, new offerings of bonds this week aggregated considerably less than $100,000,000. However, a total of twenty-one individual issues were brought out, of which thirteen were State and municipal loans. The new bond issues marketed this week amounted to $69,132,000 compared with $49,428,000 last week, $181,083,000 the previous week and $63,057,000 a year ago.

Railroad financing topped the list this week with a total of $29,790,000, comprising two issues of equipment trust certificates, one of $15,750,000 by the Canadian National Railways and the other, $14,040,000, by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific. The former was offered at prices to yield 4.15 to 4.85 per cent and the latter to yield 3.50 to 4.60 per cent.

The State and municipal issues ranged in size from $5,000,000 State of Mississippi 5½ per cent short-term obligations to issues of $300,000, of which there were two. The foreign loans this week comprised $5,360,000 Kingdom of Norway Municipalities Bank 5s, marketed on a 5.17 per cent basis, and an issue of $5,000,000 city of Brisbane (Australia) 6s which were offered on a 6.30 per cent basis.

Two issues of notes for the Indian Refining Company and the Signal Oil and Gas Company comprised the industrial financing of the week. The public utility financing consisted of an issue of $3,000,000 5 per cent notes of the Hackensack Water Company and an issue of $2,500,000 Southwestern Natural Gas Company 5s, due 1943.

The new offerings of bonds, by groups, for this week and last week, follow:

	This week.	Last week.
Railroad	$29,790,000	$3,510,000
State and municipal	17,482,500	4,718,000
Foreign	10,360,000	4,200,000
Industrial	6,000,000
Public utility	5,500,000	37,000,000
Total	$69,132,500	$49,428,000

The light bond financing during the last two weeks is ascribed to the sizable blocks of unsold bonds in the hands of dealers from the heavy offerings of previous weeks, and to the fact that investment bankers wish to leave the way clear for the German annuities loan, the offering of which has been delayed owing to the fact that all of the details have not yet been worked out. The usual nature of the issue and the infinite details involved in the offering of the loan in the principal money markets of the world have required additional time and planning.

CHAIN STORES ISSUE BONDS

National Family Has $1,500,000 Convertibles Underwritten.

An issue of $1,500,000 of National Family Stores ten-year 6½ per cent sinking fund convertible gold bonds, authorized by stockholders yesterday, has been underwritten by a banking syndicate headed by A. C. Allyn & Co. and F. A. Brewer & Co.

The conversion feature entitles the holder to convert these debentures into common stock at prices ranging from $20 to $40 a share from Nov. 1, 1930, to maturity in 1940. Preferred and common stockholders will have the right to subscribe to the new issue on a basis of one $1,000 debenture for each 175 shares held. The new offering is being made to reimburse the company for capital expended in acquiring and opening new stores, of which there are seventy-nine in sixty cities.

Chicago Bond Payment Likely.

Word was received yesterday from Chicago by municipal bond houses which has been active recently in the bonds of the city and of its various taxing subdivisions, that it is practically certain that the obligations of the Chicago Sanitary District which will mature on June 15 will be paid. The maturities include approximately $4,500,000 6 per cent notes, payable from 1928 taxes. It is reported that since the reassessment and the mailing out of the tax bills for 1928, payments are being made rapidly.

BOND FLOTATIONS.

Middle West Utilities.

Offering of a new issue of $50,000,000 Middle West Utilities Company 4½ and 5 per cent notes will be made next week by a syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc. The issue will consist of $10,000,000 4½s, due on June 1, 1931, which will be priced at par, and $40,000,000 5s, due $10,000,000 annually from June 1, 1932 to 1933. The notes due in 1932 will be priced at par and the balance to yield 5.37 to 5.62 per cent.

According to the bankers, advance subscriptions have already been received in excess of the amount offered. One of the reasons ascribed for the quick response to the new loan is the scarcity of short-term issues in the current bond market. The note will be convertible into common stock of the company on the basis of twenty shares for each $1,000 bond until Dec. 31, 1932, and thereafter, prior to maturity of the bonds, into seventeen and a half shares.

Proceeds from the sale of these notes will be used in the development of subsidiary companies and for general corporate purposes. The preferred and common stocks of the Middle West Utilities Company are listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange, and at current quotations have an aggregate value of more than $500,000,000.

GOVERNMENT BONDS LEAD DAY'S TRADING

CONVERTIBLES IRREGULAR

A brisk demand for United States Government obligations featured trading in the listed bond market yesterday. The First and Fourth Liberty 4¼s were pushed up to new highs for the year at 102 and 102 17-32, respectively. The First Liberty 4¼s closed at the day's high, up 6-32 point, and the Fourth 4¼s finished at 102 16-32, up 2-32. The balance of the group closed 1-32 to 6-32 net higher for the day.

Domestic corporation bonds were slightly lower on the average in moderately active trading. Convertible bonds were irregular in sympathy with stocks. American Telephone and Telegraph convertible 4½s of 1939 dropped 3¼ points and General Theatres Equipment convertible 6s of 1944 were down 1¼ points, but in most instances the balance of the active convertibles showed only fractional net changes.

Heavy trading in National Dairy Products 5¼s was a feature of the industrial issues. This issue, which has been traded within a range of 97 to 100½ so far this year, eased off ¼ of a point to 97½ for the day. Sugar, oil and rubber bonds were dull and comparatively little changed. Shubert Theatres 6s dropped 2½ points in light trading.

Railroad bonds were active. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul adjustment 5s moved off half a point in heavy trading, while Cleveland Union Terminal 4½s were up the same amount in a sizable turnover. The heavily traded Pennsylvania 4½s of 1970 moved up ⅛ of a point, as did the active Wabash 5s of 1976.

All transactions in German Government 7s were done at 108, unchanged from the previous close, and the actively traded Japanese Government 5½s of 1965 were unchanged at 90⅞. South American loans were irregular.

FOR ELECTRICITY IN MEXICO

Company Chartered to Acquire American Company Holdings.

The Empresas Electricas Mexicanas, Inc., has been incorporated in Delaware for acquiring the interests of the American and Foreign Power Company, Inc., in the Compania Nacional de Electricidad, S. A., of Mexico. The new company temporarily has nominal capitalization.

The National Electric Company placed in operation in January a new steam-electric generating station near Torreon, Mexico, with installed generating capacity of 36,000 horsepower, and has completed a new 200-mile transmission line to supply the power requirements of many mines in Northern Mexico. Power is being supplied also for irrigation in the Laguna district, a developing cotton-growing section.

NEW INVESTMENT COMPANY

First Personal Bankers Corporation Will Specialize in Holdings.

A new investment and holding company of the management type, to specialize in securities of financial institutions and to be known as the First Personal Bankers Corporation, was announced yesterday. The directors include John C. Darrah, Schuyler B. Eddy, Howard S. Hadden, Clarence J. Hessler, Alfred J. L'Heureux, Sir Hector MacNeal, George C. Richards and Malcolm R. White.

An offering of gold debenture bonds and cumulative preferred stock will be made soon.

TRACTION SALE ORDERED.

Receiver of Indiana Company Must Dispose of Property by July 2.

Special to The New York Times.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 6.—Receivership proceedings of the Union Traction Company of Indiana which began Dec. 31, 1924, when Arthur W. Brady, president, was appointed receiver, were advanced in Madison County Circuit Court today when Judge Carl F. Morrow, after a ruling on various liens and creditors, entered a decree with an order to the receiver to sell all property of the company at auction here on July 2.

While technically any person or group of financiers may make bids, only one, the Insull-controlled Midland Utilities Investment Company, will be in a position to make the lowest bid. Through dealing with bondholders, the Insull interests in the last year have a contract to buy more than 60 per cent of the outstanding bonds of the Union Traction system, and with these in their possession will be in an advantageous position as prospective purchasers. Approximately $2,829,000 had been paid by the Insulls for the $14,201,000 of outstanding first mortgage bonds.

Deposit Date Extended in Merger.

An extension until June 18 in the time for depositing Wilcox Rich B stock in accordance with the terms of the Wilcox-Rich-Eaton Axle merger was announced yesterday. J. O. Eaton, chairman of the board of Eaton Axle and Spring Company, announced that the amount of stock deposited had increased to 291,105 shares, which is approximately 90 per cent of the total amount of Wilcox B stock outstanding.

Gilt-Edges Up on English Exchange, but the Internationals Show Weakness.

FRENCH STOCKS IRREGULAR

Brisk Selling on Eve of the Three-Day Holiday—Advances on German Boerse.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 6.—A sharp rise in the 5 per cent war loan from £102 to £102 5-16 marked a general recovery among the gilt-edge securities on the Stock Exchange today. The funding loan also advanced 5-16, but internationals were weak, owing to the Wall Street setback.

Radio Corporation slumped ¾ to $51, and His Master's Voice Gramophone fell 1-16 to £4 7-16. International Nickel closed ½ lower at $31⅞, International Holding ⅛ down at $6 and Hydro-Electric ¾ lower at $46½. Brazilian Traction also was marked down to $49⅝.

Textiles were strong, while tobaccos also were good, with the exception of Carreras, which touched £8, the lowest level for five years. Cunard rose to 20s 9d among the shippings and Royal Mail was steady at £17½, awaiting the report published later in the day. The price of rubber rallied to 6⅜d, with a corresponding recovery in shares. Rhodesians weakened in the afternoon and Rio Tinto again slipped to £37¾. Among the diamonds, De Beers rallied to £8 after touching £7⅞, which was the lowest since 1920.

Money was still easy in Lombard Street, with the overnight loan rate at 1½ per cent. Discount rates stiffened to 2 13-16 for three-month bills. Sterling exchange hardened to $4.85⅞.

Market Uneven in Paris.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, June 6.—On the eve of the three-day holiday over Whitsuntide many holders sought to liquidate on the Bourse today with the result that there were declines in numerous stocks. The electricals, chemicals, banks and a good many internationals were affected. At the same time there was activity in mines and some of the internationals, making the general tone of the market irregular.

Rentes remained steady and closed as follows: The 3 per cents, 87.65; 1918 4s, 101.42; 1920 amortizable 5s, 133.95; 1928 5s, 102.50; 1920 6s, 101.95; 1927 amortizable 6s, 105.85.

Tone Firmer in Berlin.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 6.—Tendency at today's session of the Boerse was toward firmness and the market was stimulated by covering and speculative purchases. Shipping stocks, Dye Trust, the potash group, beer and spirits, Thueringer Gas, the electricals and several issues of the mining group were sought and improved. Julius Berger of building group rose 6 and Waldhof of the celanese division 3 points. The money market was easier. Call loans were 3¼ to 5½ per cent. The next session of the Boerse will be held on Tuesday.

PERSIA LIMITS EXCHANGE.

Government Action Delays Payments to American Exporters.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—As a result of the vigorous enforcement of the exchange restrictions by the government whenit adopted the gold standard, some American exporters are having difficulty in obtaining payment for merchandise sold in Persia, Hugh Millard, second secretary of the legation at Teheran, reported to the Department of Commerce today.

The gold standard was adopted, according to an announcement by the Persian government, because of the steady decline in the price of silver upon which the Persian currency was based. Foreign exchange in Persia was put under the control of a government commission and exchange on foreign countries has been made available only for transactions having government approval.

Pennsylvania's Net Income Off.

The Pennsylvania Railroad reports for the quarter ended March 31, 1930, net income after charges of $11,449,666, compared with $12,496,656 in the corresponding quarter of 1929. 27-8% RATE IS SET FOR TREASURY ISSUE

New $400,000,000 Offering Carries Lowest Interest Since 1925.

CUT IN DEBT WILL FOLLOW

Preference Will Be Given in Allotments to Series TJ 1930, Offered in Payment.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Carrying the lowest interest of any government securities since 1925, the treasury will make an issue of approximately $400,000,000 of 2⅞ per cent certificates of indebtedness June 16, Secretary Mellon announced today.

In 1924 and 1925 there were two issues of six and twelve months certificates bearing the rate of 2¾ per cent. The rate of the new issue compares with 4⅞ per cent on those to be retired this month and to 3¼ per cent on the issue of March 15.

The issue will result in a substantial reduction of the public debt, since the maturing 4⅞ per cent certificates amounted to $550,000,000. It was anticipated that there would have to be one or more issues of treasury bills between June 16 and September 15, the next tax payment period. Also June 16 the treasury will pay out about $95,000,000 interest on the public debt.

Applications will be received at the Federal Reserve banks.

From June 16 to June 30 the income and corporation tax collection will amount to something over $500,000,000.

Tax Exemptions Listed.

In announcing the issue Secretary Mellon said:

"The treasury will accept in payment for the new certificates at par treasury certificates of indebtedness of Series TJ 1930, maturing June 16. Subscriptions for which payment is to be tendered in certificates of indebtedness maturing June 16 will be given preferred allotment up to $150,000,000."

The official circular states, in part:

"The Secretary of the Treasury, under the authority of the act approved Sept. 24, 1917, as amended, offers for subscription, at par and accrued interest through the Federal Reserve banks, treasury certificates of indebtedness of Series TJ 1931, dated and bearing interest from June 16, 1930, payable June 15, 1931, with interest at the rate of 2⅞ per cent per annum, payable on a semi-annual basis.

"Bearer certificates will be issued in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000 and $100,000. The certificates will have two interest coupons attached, payable Dec. 15, 1930, and June 15, 1931.

Interim Receipts Provided.

"Payment at par and accrued interest for certificates allotted must be made on or before June 16, 1930, or on later allotment. After allotment and upon payment, Federal Reserve banks may issue interim receipts, pending delivery of the definitive certificates.

"Any qualified depositary will be permitted to make payment by credit for certificates allotted to it for itself and its customers up to any amount for which it shall be qualified in excess of existing deposits, when so notified by the Federal Reserve Bank of its district. Treasury certificates of indebtedness of Series TJ 1930, maturing June 16, 1930, will be accepted at par in payment for any certificates of the new series now offered which shall be subscribed for and allotted, with an adjustment of the interest accrued, if any, on the certificates of the series so paid for.

"As fiscal agents of the United States, Federal Reserve banks are authorized and requested to receive subscriptions and to make allotment on the basis and up to the amounts indicated by the Secretary of the Treasury to the Federal Reserve banks of the respective districts."

CHECK PAYMENTS CONTINUE LOW

The Volume of Last Week Was Below That of the Previous Week and Last Year.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—As measured by the volume of checks presented for payment, business was lower during the week ended May 31, than in the preceding week, and below the level of June 1, 1929, according to the weekly statement of the Department of Commerce.

Contracts awarded for new building for the latest reported week were fewer than for the preceding week or the corresponding period in 1929.

Wholesale prices showed but slight change from the week before and were lower than in the last week in May, 1929. The composite iron and steel price, remaining unchanged from the preceding week, was 9 per cent lower than a year ago.

Bank loans and discounts while showing no change from the previous week were more than 4 per cent greater than in the week ending June 1, 1929. Prices for stocks, showing an upward trend, were higher than in the preceding week, but lower than in the corresponding week a year ago.

Interest rates remained unchanged from the preceding week and were materially lower than last year.

Business failures were fewer than in the previous week but greater than a year ago.

	May31, 1930.	May24, 1930.	June1, 1929.

$94,500,000 POWER PLAN.

Shawinigan Water to Develop 1,208,000 Horsepower on the St. Maurice.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, June 6.—The Shawinigan Water and Power Company has prepared plans for the development on the upper St. Maurice River of a total of 1,208,000 horsepower, at an estimated cost of $94,500,000.

The project was revealed today when the company obtained from the Quebec Public Service Commission a certificate enabling it to proceed with the first stage of the development at Rapide Blanc. Complete installation at this section of the river is expected to produce 240,000 horsepower, and production is expected to commence in the Fall of 1932. When 75 per cent of the power has been sold the work of construction will be begun on a second section of the river.

Buys Three Specialty Concerns.

United Printers and Publishers, Inc., has acquired the Magill-Weinsheimer Company of Chicago, the Springfield Leather Products Company of Springfield, Ohio, and the Bosca-Reed-McKinnon Company, also of Springfield. The first-named property deals exclusively in colored printing for advertising purposes, the second in leather specialties sold through stationery stores, and the third deals exclusively in leather handbags distributed through large department stores.

I. S. Stroock Sells Curb Seat.

The regular membership of Irvin S. Stroock in the New York Curb Exchange has been transferred to Herbert E. Steiner of Steiner, Rouse & Co., it was announced by the Exchange yesterday.

BANK CLEARINGS OFF 13% FROM YEAR AGO

Decline Throughout the Nation, However, Is Smaller Than in Several Weeks.

GAINS AT SEVERAL CITIES

Total for All Centres Outside New York Is 8.2 Per Cent Less Than in 1929.

Bank clearings this week again were lower than at this time in the preceding two years, although the decline is somewhat smaller than in recent weeks. The total at twenty-three leading cities in the United States of $11,283,947,000 shows a decrease of 13.2 per cent from the amount a year ago. At New York City clearings of $7,880,000,000 are 15.2 per cent lower, while the aggregate for the principal centres outside of New York of $3,403,947,000 is 8.2 per cent below last year's.

The week this year covers the six business days ending on Thursday, so that the comparison with last year is on an even basis. At several cities outside of New York bank clearings exceed those of last year. Among them are Philadelphia, Cleveland, Minneapolis, Baltimore, Richmond and Louisville, while at a number of other cities the reduction this year is only for a small amount.

Clearings for this week, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., and average daily bank clearings for the year to date are compared as follows:

CURB MARKET LEADERS CONTINUE TO GO LOWER

Utilities, Industrials, Oils and Investment Trusts Join in Down Trend.

Declines continued among leaders on the New York Curb Exchange yesterday, with American Gas and Electric, Deere & Co., Goldman Sachs, Electric Bond and Share, United Light and Power A and American Superpower among the more active issues to lose ground.

In the oil section Humble, Vacuum, Cosden and Standard of Indiana were depressed in moderate trading and many utilities sagged slightly in response to the general downward trend. Shenandoah, Central States Electric and Transamerica Corporation declined in the trust section.

Among the industrials Cord Corporation, Cuneo Press and Technicolor eased somewhat, with the greater part of the list dull and fractionally lower.

ILLINOIS COAL CORPORATION

First Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series A, 7%

BONDHOLDERS' AGREEMENT DATED AS OF SEPTEMBER 1, 1925

To the Holders of Certificates of Deposit for the First Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series A, 7% of Illinois Coal Corporation:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned Committee acting under the Bondholders' Agreement dated as of September 1, 1925, between the Committee therein named and such Holders of the First Mortgage Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series A, 7% of Illinois Coal Corporation who shall become parties thereto, have adopted and filed with The Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, as Depositary, and with Guaranty Trust Company of New York, as Sub-Depositary, an amendment to said Bondholders' Agreement, which amendment provides that there shall be added to said Bondholders' Agreement the following paragraphs, to wit:

SIXTEENTH: The Committee is authorized from time to time, and in such manner as it may deem advisable, to carry into effect and/or modify or to abandon the Agreement or any modification of the Agreement dated April 25, 1928, signed by George K. Reilly, as Chairman of the Committee, and C. S. Newhall, as Chairman of the Committee of the Holders of the General Mortgage Gold Notes of ILLINOIS COAL CORPORATION, pursuant to which the properties of ILLINOIS COAL CORPORATION were purchased.

The Committee is authorized to deal with and in respect of JEFFERSON COAL CORPORATION and LINCOLN COAL CORPORATION and the stock and securities of such corporations to which title was transferred to the properties of ILLINOIS COAL CORPORATION purchased at the Receiver's sale by George K. Reilly, and with and in respect of JEFFERSON SOUTHWESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY and its stock and securities, the stock of which was purchased by C. S. Newhall, in such manner as the Committee may deem necessary or advisable in the interests of the Depositors.

The Committee is further authorized, in its discretion, to liquidate, or cause to be liquidated, its interest in said corporations and/or in their stocks and/or properties, and in respect of any or all other assets held by or for the Committee or in which the Depositors are interested, in such manner and to such extent as the Committee may deem advisable, including power to effect or consent to the sale of such stocks and/or properties, or any thereof, to such persons, at such prices and upon such terms as the Committee may deem advisable.

SEVENTEENTH: The Committee is authorized to provide for the liquidation and/or refunding of its obligations, indebtedness and liabilities including advances, compensation and expenses of the Committee made or incurred or to be made or incurred in such manner and at such times as it may deem advisable, and in its discretion to invite the Depositors to contribute not less than their proportionate shares thereof, and to provide for the subordination in whole or in part of the rights of non-contributing Depositors to the rights of contributing Depositors and/or such other distinctive rights and privileges as between contributing and non-contributing Depositors as the Committee may deem just and as shall be stated in the invitation. To the extent that contributions are not received from the Depositors within ten days after invitation by the Committee, the Committee may accept contributions from any other person or persons (whether or not Depositors), and may accord to them on account of such contributions and/or advances heretofore made or hereafter to be made the same (or, if so stated in the invitation, greater or different) rights and privileges as are accorded to contributing Depositors.

EIGHTEENTH: No depositor shall, after June 23rd, 1930, under any circumstances, have any right to withdraw from this Agreement or to receive any notice of action by the Committee except such notice as in its discretion it shall deem practicable or advisable to give.

NINETEENTH: Articles SIXTEENTH to NINETEENTH inclusive of this Deposit Agreement have been added by amendment to the Deposit Agreement in accordance with the provisions of Article NINTH thereof, and in case of conflict between any of the provisions of said Articles and of the preceding Articles of said Deposit Agreement the provisions of said Articles SIXTEENTH to NINETEENTH shall govern. Said Articles SIXTEENTH to NINETEENTH inclusive shall be construed in all respects as enlarging the powers of the Committee and not as limiting in any way the authority of the Committee hereafter to exercise any power previously possessed by it.

Holders of the above-mentioned Certificates of Deposit who do not surrender their Certificates, with notice of their dissent from the amendment above set forth, to the above-mentioned Depositary or sub-Depositary on or before June 23, 1930, and withdraw their bonds and pay such amount as the undersigned Committee, subject to the provisions of the aforesaid Bondholders' Agreement, may fix upon such withdrawal, shall be conclusively deemed to have consented to such amendment and be bound thereby.

The Adams Family—
"America's Most Noted"

A line which contributed the second and sixth Presidents of the United States (father and son), in this generation a Secretary of the Navy; and is noted for the "continuity which it has exhibited, during a long period, of strong character and intellectual productivity"—that is the record of the Adams family. It has been set down by James Truslow Adams—not a connection. Allen Sinclair Will reviews it. He says the disposition of the author is sympathetic, "but he hides nothing, he evades no questions and he gives no evidence of seeking to glorify any cause."

THE NEW YORK TIMES BOOK REVIEW

TOMORROW, SUNDAY

COTTON PRICES FALL AS CROP IMPROVES

New October Delivery Nears Season's Low, With General List Off 12 to 20 Points.

STATISTICS HAVE EFFECT

Mills Said to Have on Hand More Unspun Staple Than Had Been Expected.

Prices on the Cotton Exchange moved lower yesterday, and new October sold within 12 points of low records of the season. More beneficial moisture in Georgia and Alabama, with favorable growing temperatures throughout the belt, brought the market under pressure. July contracts sold off a quarter cent to the lowest quotations reached since the latter part of March. Several houses sold July against purchases of later positions for interests that plan to deliver surplus stocks and replace with contracts at a substantial discount.

The list closed 12 to 20 points lower. Certificated stocks increased to 675,000 bales.

A reduction in the floating short interest left the market with diminished buying power in the face of steadily improving conditions for the new crop. While reports from the Southwest continued to reflect slow progress in many sections owing to low temperatures last week, private advices generally indicated the plant responding to higher temperatures in the last few days.

With another week of unfavorable statistics, smaller spinners' takings and a light reduction in the visible supply compared with a year ago, the market came under pressure soon after the opening. A light spot demand from both export and domestic mill sources and the action of the stock market influenced the course of cotton.

According to the Staple Cotton Association, the general curtailment is giving mills more unspun cotton on hand than had been expected. This will curtail to a considerable extent the normal Summer demand of domestic consumers.

COVERING OFFSETS SELLING OF WHEAT

IRREGULAR FINISH IN OATS

Buying of Corn Slackens, With Recession in Values—Rye Lacks Trend.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Local grain operators were bearish at the start today, but selling failed to have much effect on values, as commission houses took the buying side. Later, when Winnipeg started upward, short covering carried prices 1⅛ to 1⅝ cents above the low, and the finish was at net gains of ¼ to ⅝ cent.

American markets lagged, compared with Winnipeg, as the latter gained 1 to 1⅛ cents for the day on buying attributed to less favorable crop reports from Alberta. Besides, a good export business was intimated as having been put through, although the seaboard reported only 250,000 bushels sold. Foreigners were credited with having sold futures here early and with having bought later, but close observers credited most of the day's buying to profit-taking by shorts headed by a house that has been bearish for some time.

The latter has not changed its opinion as to the future trend. A local professional was said to have covered a short line and turned bullish.

No rain was reported in the Canadian Northwest overnight and dry weather reports are being received again, with The Modern Miller commenting on the lack of subsoil moisture both sides of the international line. No rain was forecast for over the week-end, with somewhat higher temperatures. Foreign crop comments were generally less favorable, with rainy weather reported on the Continent and North Africa.

Primary receipts were 691,000 bushels; a week ago was a holiday, and a year ago 856,000 bushels. Shipments were 645,000 bushels and a year ago 633,000.

In the last two days more than 400,000 bushels of cash corn have been booked to arrive from the country, and local handlers have sold about an equal quantity for shipment. Cash interests were sellers of futures, presumably against purchases in the country for ten to twenty day shipment. The buying was less aggressive, resulting in net losses of ⅛ to ½ cent for the day. Crop reports were generally favorable and rains in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Missouri were beneficial.

Primary receipts today were 839,000 bushels and a year ago 553,000. Shipments were 613,000 bushels and a year ago 582,000.

Oats held within narrow limits and closed ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, with cash interests buying, while local longs sold. Complaints regarding continued dry weather were received from part of the belt, but the rains overnight were fairly well distributed and some improvement in the outlook is expected.

Rye finished ⅛ cent higher to ⅜ cent lower, the bulk of trade representing spreading operations.

Prices for the principal grains were as follows:

COUNTER PRICES SAG IN LIGHT OPERATIONS

Utility Preferred Stocks Only Make Gains as a Group—Some New Lows Among Banks.

The downward trend continued in light trading in yesterday's over-the-counter securities market, with virtually all groups except the utility preferred stocks showing decided weakness. Gains were made by New Orleans Public Service preferred, Metropolitan Edison preferred C and Illinois Power and Light first preferred.

Bank stocks declined almost uniformly in a dull market, with some falling to new lows. The list was without one significant gain. Insurance issues were inactive, prices falling into line with the sagging tendency of the market and no important rises being recorded.

Industrials, public utility common stocks, communications, chain stores and bonds fell off in trading that was almost at a standstill.

WOOL IN LIGHT DEMAND.

Manufacturers Move Conservatively, Foreign Markets Steady.

BOSTON, June 6 (AP).—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow: "While the demand for wool has been less keen in the Eastern seaboard markets this week, prices have been fairly maintained and are if anything against the buyer. Fine wools are first in volume of sales but quarter-blood combing wools for knitting purposes have been prominent in the trading, both in territory and bright wools.

"Foreign markets are firm on fine wools and barely firm on crossbreds. The Yorkshire textile strike is apparently near an end, with operatives accepting the reductions demanded by the mills.

"New clip operations are extending into the Northwest and contracting is reported in southern Montana at 21-23 cents. Eleswhere, prices are about unchanged, although buying pressure is less in certain localities.

"The manufacturing position is considered sound and encouraging, although manufacturers still adopt a very conservative attitude."

DIVIDEND ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Disabled Locomotives Increased.

Class I railroads in the United States on May 15 had 8,625 locomotives in need of repair, or 15.4 per cent of the number on line, an increase of 403 compared with May 1, according to the American Railway Association. Locomotives in need of classified repairs totaled 4,822, or 8.6 per cent, an increase of 259, while 3,803, or 6.8 per cent, were in need of running repairs, a gain of 144. Serviceable locomotives in storage numbered 7,101, compared with 7,294 on May 1.

DIVIDENDS OMITTED BY AMERICAN ALCOHOL

Corporation's Directors Point to Unfavorable Market Since First of the Year.

The American Commercial Alcohol Corporation yesterday omitted both cash and stock dividends on the common stock, which have been paid at the annual rate of $1.60 a share in cash and 5 per cent in stock.

"Unfavorable conditions in the alcohol industry have developed since the first of the year. General industrial depression has affected the large users of alcohol and decreased the demand. This, with lower prices for alcohol, due to price cutting in the industry in keen competition for business, makes results problematical for the last half of the year.

"The company's financial position is fairly sound. Current assets on April 30, 1930, were $3,673,510, of which $465,000 was cash, against current liabilities of $879,490, a ratio in excess of four to one. There are no fixed charges. Therefore, stockholders may look forward to resumption of dividends as soon as earnings are again normal and the future of business more clearly determined."

TO EXTEND TANK CARS.

General American Corporation Plans Expansion Abroad.

Plans for the expansion of the European operations of the General American Tank Car Corporation are under consideration, Elias Mayer, president, announced yesterday. The program, he said, calls for the creation of a large system of tank and refrigerator cars transportation to serve the petroleum, wine, olive oil, fruit and vegetable industries of Europe.

"The company last year formed Germania Allgemeine Transport Leihgesellschaft in Germany and early this year organized a Swiss holding company, Société de Moyens de Transport," Mr. Mayer said. "These units, if present plans carry through, will form the nucleus for a tank and refrigerator-car system taking in the principal European countries."

Lester N. Selig, a director of the company, conferred here yesterday with Mr. Mayer before sailing on the Ile de France to join Max Epstein, chairman of the board, in Europe.

STEEL INGOT OUTPUT OFF SHARPLY IN MAY

Production for Five Months 3,770,781 Tons Under That of 1929 Period.

Steel ingot production in May was 129,072 tons less than in April, despite the fact that there was one more working day in May, according to the estimate of monthly production announced yesterday by the American Iron and Steel Institute. Last month's production was 1,261,552 tons less than in May, 1929, which was the peak month of last year's boom.

The calculated production for May, based on reports from companies that manufactured 94.27 per cent of the total output last year, was 4,024,778 tons, compared with 4,153,860 tons in April and with 5,286,339 tons in May, 1929.

In the five-month period ended on May 31 production was 3,770,781 tons less than the total for the first five months of 1929. The decline in output in May followed a decline of 146,145 tons in April, compared with the output for March. The high mark for this year so far was reached in March, when ingot production totaled 4,299,905 tons, or 275,127 tons more than last month.

The decline in output for May brought the industry's production below the level of February, when the output was 4,078,327 tons, despite the fact that there were three less working days in February than in May. The output for May was still substantially above the low point for this year reached in January, when the production totaled 3,796,090 tons.

Actual production for the plants reporting to the institute for May was 3,794,158 tons, which included 3,265,190 tons of open hearth and 528,968 tons of Bessemer. In May, 1929, the reported tonnage was 4,982,645, including 4,275,161 tons of open hearth and 707,484 tons of Bessemer.

The following table gives the estimated monthly production for the last three years, of all companies, in tons, based upon the percentage reporting to the institute:

April	4,153,860	4,950,139	4,305,382
March	4,299,905	5,068,265	4,507,217
February	4,078,327	4,328,789	4,043,457
January	3,796,090	4,500,209	3,990,902
December	2,898,269	4,018,208	3,175,484
November	3,513,025	4,266,835	3,127,015
October	4,511,650	4,649,968	3,316,292
September	4,510,879	4,147,893	3,268,881
August	4,927,258	4,178,610	3,498,549
July	4,838,093	3,805,598	3,204,135

Month.	1930.	1929.	1928.
May	149,066	195,790	155,823
April	159,764	190,398	172,215
March	165,381	194,983	166,934
February	169,930	180,366	161,738
January	140,596	166,674	153,496
	1929.	1928.	1927.

July	186,080	152,224	128,165
June	195,255	143,996	134,446

SHIPPERS PREDICT DROP.

Southeast Advisory Board Expect 6% Decline This Summer.

Special to The New York Times.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 6.—Although shippers expect a slight reduction in volume of shipments in the next six months as compared with last year, individuals and committees reporting to the Southeast Shippers' Advisory Board, in session here today, expected an improvement soon over present business conditions. The net volume of business was put at 6 per cent less for July, August and September as compared with the same period in 1929.

Gasoline and petroleum products movements were expected to increase 5 per cent over 1929, and the agricultural outlook was given as ahead of last year. More than 400 attended the sessions representing fifteen States, although not all included in the Southeastern territory. The next meeting will be at Biloxi, Miss.

CORPORATION REPORTS.

In the three months ended on March 31, 1929, net profit was $263,295, equivalent to 91 cents a share.

Allied Products Corporation.

The Allied Products Corporation reports for the four months ended on April 30 net profit of $36,956 after charges and taxes, equivalent, after preferred dividend requirements, to 41 cents a share on the common stock. April net profit after charges and taxes was $25,221.

Bunker Hill and Sullivan.

The Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating Company reports for April a profit of $244,182 after charges, but before depreciation and depletion. Profit for the four months ended on April 30 was $916,969.

Greene-Cananea Copper Company.

The Greene-Cananea Copper Company and the Cananea Consolidated Copper Company, S. A., report for the year ended on Dec. 31, 1929, net income of $3,013,254 after Federal taxes, depreciation and other charges but before depletion. This is equivalent to earnings of $6.02 a share on the outstanding stock. In 1928 the companies reported a net income of $1,974,047, equivalent to $3.95 a share.

In 1929 the Greene-Cananea Company produced 58,826,951 pounds of copper, 402,030 ounces of silver and 12,365 ounces of gold. Construction expenditures in the year amounted to $939,195, mainly for remodeling the flotation and concentration plants and installation of waste heat boilers.

Moto Meter Gauge.

The Moto Meter Gauge and Equipment Corporation and subsidiaries report for the three months ended March 31 a net loss of $57,395 after taxes, interest and charges.

Canadian Vickers, Ltd.

MONTREAL, June 5 (Canadian Press).—The annual financial statement of Canadian Vickers, Ltd., for the fiscal year ended on Feb. 28, 1930, showed a sharp reduction in operating profits due, it was stated by the president, to a falling off in the earnings of the company's marine and aviation departments, the reduction in volume of the former type of work offered being largely the result of delayed wheat shipments. It was said that earnings for the early part of 1930 compare favorably with those of the same period last year.

Operating profit for the year amounted to $300,960, compared with $437,311 in the preceding report. A deduction of bond interest at $165,000 left a balance, before depreciation, of $135,000, against a similar item last year of $300,284. Depreciation, at $181,000, left a net deficit on the year of $45,000, against a net profit last year of $125,284. Payment of preferred dividend, $89,250; discount on sale of stock subscribed and allotted, $45,000; written off for research and development work, $153,879, and reserves of $155,000 brought the total deficit for the year to $488,169, wiping out the profit and loss balance and leaving a net deficit of $343,886, shown in the balance sheet.

INVESTMENT TRUSTS.

International Superpower.

In the period from Jan. 1 to May 30 the liquidating value of the outstanding shares of the International Superpower Corporation has increased $13.34, or from $40.58 to $53.93, according to an announcement yesterday. The statement says that on May 31 investments had a market value of more than $11,000,000, while cash on deposit and call loans were approximately $2,900,000.

REALTY SECURITIES

The price trend on the New York Real Estate Securities Exchange turned downward yesterday on decreased trading. Seven bonds and $1,000 in mortgage certificates changed hands.

AUTO OUTPUT DROPS 31% IN 5 MONTHS

MACAULEY IS RE-ELECTED

Seven Per Cent Fewer Cars Made in May Than in April, but New Sales Are on Increase.

Automobile production for the first five months of this year was 1,970,849 cars, a decline of 31 per cent from the same period of last year, it was reported at the annual meeting of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce at its headquarters, 366 Madison Avenue, yesterday.

Alvan Macauley, head of the Packard Motor Car Company, was re-elected president of the chamber for the second year. The new board of directors includes, besides Mr. Macauley, A. J. Brosseau, president of Mack Trucks, Inc.; A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker Corporation; William E. Metzger, president of the Federal Truck Company; E. L. Cord, president of the Auburn Automobile Company, and L. A. Miller, president of the Willys-Overland Company.

May production for the industry was given as 433,328 vehicles, a decrease of 7 per cent under April and of 32 per cent under May of last year. This figure was taken as indicating that manufacturers have been gearing output to dealers' requirements, as planned by most of the makers at the beginning of the year.

Sales of new cars were reported to be steadily increasing, following a record disposal of used cars which, it was said, had cleared dealers' stocks to make way for the present models.

Exports of American cars were placed at 75,401 in April, with a total of 270,165 for the first four months, a figure greater than had been generally expected. The decrease in truck production for the five months was reported to have been "very much less" than that of passenger cars.

Some of the executives who took part in the discussion expressed the opinion that the second half of 1930 would see a greater volume of sales. Manufacturers, it was said, were working with a full recognition of the changes from last year and have adapted themselves to the new conditions.

It was voted to hold the New York Automobile Show from Jan. 3 to 10, and the Chicago show from Jan. 24 to 31.

At a special session the truck manufacturers, under the leadership of Mr. Brosseau, endorsed the recent action of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety in amending its code to provide for complete reciprocity for all vehicles and for increased weight limitations on trucks.

Robert C. Graham vice president of the Graham Motor Car Company, was appointed chairman of the chamber's export committee, in place of John N. Willys, who resigned after his appointment as Ambassador to Poland.

Ripley Wins Radio Program Suit.

Supreme Court Justice Lydon denied yesterday an application by the Famous Speakers Inc. to restrain Robert L. Ripley from broadcasting and from accepting vaudeville engagements. The plaintiff contended that it has a contract calling for Mr. Ripley's services but Justice Lydon found that the contract covers only lectures which the court forbade him to give except under the management of the plaintiff.

New Life Insurance Company.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 6 (AP).—A group of Charlotte business men, headed by E. B. Jones, banker, announced today organization of a life insurance company which they plan to incorporate at $1,000,000. The new company will be known as the Pyramid Life Insurance Company and will take over the existing Charlotte Life Insurance Company.

MILLS LIMIT WORK HOURS.

Nearly All "Narrow Sheetings" Plants on 55-50 Maximum.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 6 (AP).—Ninety-eight per cent of the "narrow sheetings" textile mills in the United States are operating under the "fifty-five fifty" maximum hours for labor and machinery, George E. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute of New York City, told forty leading cotton mill men of Georgia and South Carolina at an informal meeting here today.

Sixty-eight per cent of the eighty-three "narrow sheetings" mills in Georgia, Alabama and North and South Carolina are among those operating under the new system, Mr. Sloan said.

"This recommendation looking to greater regularity in employment," Mr. Sloan added, "has gained national recognition as the most constructive movement that has come within the cotton industry during the past decade.

SUGAR, COFFEE, COCOA.

Sugar.

The expected advance in the price of raw sugar took place when the Revere Sugar Company announced an advance to 4.60 from the 4.50 price which had prevailed since Tuesday. The Spreckels Sugar Refining Company made the same announcement and then withdrew it, and late in the day the American Sugar Refining Company announced a 4.60 price effective at the opening of the market Tuesday morning. Practically all other refiners followed this schedule in subsequent announcements.

At the same time the refiners announced an increase in the differentials applying to barrel and package goods.

At the opening of the raw sugar market the price was firm at 1½ cents a pound c. and f., and sales of 45,000 tons at this figure were reported in Cuba, and 24,000 tons of Porto Rico at its equivalent of 3.27 cents duty paid. The first easing in this price came in the sale to a New Orleans refiner of 3,000 tons of Cuba at 1 31-64th, c. and f., and then sales stopped. At the close of the market sugar was freely offered at 1 7-16, c and f. and 3.21 duty paid, but buyers had withdrawn from the market.

Sales in the futures market yesterday amounted to 26,550 tons and the price range was as follows:

LIVESTOCK IN CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The hog market was strong at the start today, but closed weak, some sales showing losses of 5 to 10 cents. The top was steady at $10.50, with the day's average unchanged at $10.20. Most sales were at $10.05 to $10.40, with 160 to 250 pound averages $10 to $10.50, 250 to 350 pound butchers $9.90 to $10.40 and packing sows $9 to $9.75. Packers bought 20,900 and shippers 4,500, with 3,000 left over. Receipts were 21,000, with 10,000 estimated for tomorrow.

Offerings of cattle were not large and quality was lacking. The market was steady to 25 cents lower. Best steers sold at $13, with the bulk of the sales at $10 to $11. Receipts were 2,500.

Lambs met with better demand and sold at about the same prices as on Thursday, with most natives going at $12 to $12.50. The first Idaho lambs of the season were received and sold at $13. Sheep were weak at $3.50 to $4.50. Receipts were 12,000.

LIVE STOCK AND MEATS.

These prices were reported yesterday in the New York and New Jersey markets by the United States Department of Agriculture:

CATTLE.

One load medium steers 25c lower at $11.50. Cows scarce, 25c to 50c lower. Bulls steady. Common to medium cows, $6 to $7.50. Low cutters and cutters, $3.50 to $5.50. Common to medium bulls, $7.25 to $8.25.

VEALERS AND CALVES.

Vealers scarce, about steady, no choice grades. Few cull Southern calves on vealer order, $7.50.

SHEEP.

Lambs in moderate supply, steady to weak, few 25c off. Good to choice mostly $12 to $12.75. Deck $13. Few common throwouts, $10. Deck common 96-pound aged wethers, $6. Few good ewes, $5.

HIDE EXCHANGE ACTIVE.

Year's Operations Total $43,500,000, Its President Reports.

The first year's operation on the New York Hide Exchange exceeded the annual production of hides by the big packers in this country, according to Milton R. Katzenberg, president of the New York Hide Exchange. The Exchange on June 3 completed its first full year of operation, during which time it was shown that the mechanism set up was adequate and efficient for the trading in hide futures along similar lines as trading on other commodity exchanges.

A summary of operations for the year shows that the total sales amounted to 269,120,000 pounds, representing an approximate value of $43,500,000.

Reports Gain in Rhodesian Copper.

The Rhodesian copper industry is enjoying increased prosperity as a result of the discovery of new copper deposits there, according to A. Chester Beatty, chairman of the Roan Antelope Copper Mines, Ltd., and of the Rhodesian Selection Trust, Ltd., who arrived in this country yesterday on the Bremen. He said that although there are probably at least 220,000,000 tons of ore hidden in Rhodesian copper fields, the banking groups behind these deposits will not allow any situation to arise which would cause anything like a serious price fluctuation.

Amity Copper Meeting.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, June 6.—At the first shareholders' meeting in two years of Amity Copper and Gold Mines, Ltd., today in the King Edward Hotel, D. O. Johnston, president, said further advances were not likely for the present. There is no work at the property now, he said.

New Linen Sun Suit Offered.

A new type of sun suit for children up to 6 years of age has just been placed on the market here. It features the use of a scientific blend of linen mesh for almost the entire part of the garment, permitting free circulation of air and passage through the mesh of the ultra-violet component of the sun's rays. The garment has a novelty binding of contrasting color and is cut high in front, with an exposed back down to the waist. It is priced to retail at $2.95.

Conference for Wool Stock Trade.

A petition of the Wool Stock Council, Inc., for a trade practice conference has been granted by the Federal Trade Commission, Benjamin Schwartz, chairman of the executive board, announced yesterday. A special meeting of the board has been called for June 12 to determine the date and place for the conference and to plan a set of resolutions to be submitted, Mr. Schwartz said. Commissioner Charles W. Hunt of the Federal Trade Commission has been assigned to preside at the conference.

Look for Larger Anthracite Sales.

A better movement of anthracite in both wholesale and retail quantities is looked for during the present month, Saward's Journal will say today. The wholesale demand last week was better than it usually is at this time of year. The fact that the local retail price of anthracite is due to advance 50 cents per ton on the first of next month gives rise to the belief that retail dealers here will receive a great many fill-in orders during the remainder of the month. Conditions in the bituminous market remain about the same with tonnage moving at a normal Summer pace.

Good Reports on Retail Sales.

Reports on retail sales during the week proved uniformly favorable. Both local and out-of-town stores were said to be showing turnover gains stimulated by the higher temperatures which have prevailed. This was said to be particularly true of departments handling Summer dresses, sports wear and beach apparel. It was pointed out that the last named merchandise has as yet only begun to move in fairly active volume and will probably be a feature of later consumer buying this month. Retailers continue to put forth promotional efforts along numerous lines, with increasing attention to vacation and travel needs.

Rug Mills Plan Longer Shut-Downs.

Reports that several of the larger carpet mills intend to extend their usual Summer shut-downs to a month this year were current in the local floor coverings market here yesterday. Although the reports lacked official confirmation, it was understood by those in close touch with the industry that the slack demand will prompt mills which ordinarily close for two weeks during July to remain idle for a longer period. The curtailed production schedule under which most of the manufacturers worked during the Spring is also expected to be extended until the demand for goods returns to normal.

To Act on Inter-Trade Meetings.

Decision on the question of whether inter-trade conferences will be held here during the week of July 14 will be made at a conference here on Tuesday between representatives of the Garment Retailers of America, the Affiliated Dress Manufacturers, Inc., and the Industrial Council of Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers, Inc., it was stated yesterday by John W. Hahn, executive director of the retailers' organization. The Fall style show of the association, he pointed out, will be held on July 15 and the suggestion has been made that the week generally be marked by conferences to discuss Fall promotional plans under the combined auspices of the three groups.

May Fur Sales Total $7,692,149.

Sales by members of the American Fur Merchants' Association, Inc., last month totaled $7,692,149.17, according to the monthly report of the association issued yesterday. The total compares with $8,361,584.79 in April. Starting with the current report, the association has discontinued the practice of comparing sales for one month with those of the corresponding month last year, on the ground that conditions this year are so different from last that the comparison is of no value. Indications that the Summer and Fall will bring increased activity are bright, the report states.

See Reptile Trims Favored.

The course of recent buying of women's shoes for early Fall has tended to substantiate previous expectation that immediate interest in reptile effects would be largely concentrated on reptile trims, rather than all-reptile shoes. The view prevails that lizard will dominate for the season in this type of merchandise. Kid, calf and suede, however, have accounted for the largest volume in the puchasing to date. The business has been spread over strap, Oxford and pump models. Some immediate delivery business is still noted on sports and fabric shoes for Summer selling.

Terms Campaign Grows Stronger.

Evidence continues to multiply that the trade associations in the cloak and dress trades will put forth strong pressure to see that regular terms are observed in purchases during the approaching Fall wholesale season. The associations, for one thing, are determined to see that their memberships adhere to the terms, thus meeting the contention advanced by retailers that the solution of the question is largely up to the sellers themselves. It is also indicated that the terms question is likely to be at the forefront of the proposed joint trade relations survey between the retailers and cloak trade.

Gray Goods Market Dull.

Except for a slight improvement in the demand for fine yarn goods, the gray goods market yesterday remained unchanged. Buyers continue to display indifference toward printcloths and sheetings and only limited quantities of such cloths changed hands. Prices were virtually the same as have prevailed throughout the week. Sales of 38½-inch 64-60s were made at 5⅞ cents and small lots of 38½-inch 60-48s were disposed of at 5 cents. There were few calls for 39-inch 68-72s at the present price of 6¼ cents.

WILL FIGHT DESIGN PIRACY.

League Organized to Coordinate Work for Vestal Bill.

To coordinate the work of individuals and organizations interested in the passage of the Vestal bill, for the copyright protection of design, the League for Suppression of Design Piracy has been organized, as a result of a series of meetings at the Art Centre, 65 East Fifty-sixth Street.

An executive committee has been appointed, including:

HENRY D. WILLIAMS, author of the bill and chairman of the patent committee of the American Bar Association, chairman.
EGMONT ARENS, executive chairman.
C. ADOLPH GLASSGOLD, secretary of the American Union of Decorative Artists and Craftsmen, secretary.
WILLIAM ARLT, president, Textile Designers Guild.
ALON BEMENT, director of the Art Centre.
MARY BENDELARI.
WILLIAM EXTON JR.
SYLVAN GOTSHAL.
ALBERT T. REID, chairman of the copyright committee of the Artists' Guild.

The new organization will also have a council, to include all artists, manufacturing associations and industrial corporations favoring the passage of the bill. Art patrons who are interested in securing protection for the work of artists will be invited to become sponsors of the organization. The league is raising a preliminary campaign fund of $10,000. Its office will be at 65 East Fifty-sixth Street.

PACKING MERGER IN VIEW.

Several Small Chicago Concerns Reported in Negotiations.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Negotiations for merger of several of the smaller packing companies, which produce meat specialties, are under way, according to reports current in financial circles. The concerns mentioned are Miller & Hart, Inc., and Mickelberry's Food Products Company.

Arthur C. Allyn of A. C. Allyn & Co. and a director of Miller & Hart said tonight that he knew nothing of any merger negotiations being carried on by the company. The company, whose preference stock is listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange, reported net sales of $10,507,343 in its last fiscal year, ended Oct. 31, 1929. Earnings on the common stock were equivalent to 61 cents a share, but no dividends were paid on the stock.

Mickelberry's is a closed corporation and its financial position or earnings record has never been made public. The company is said to be the leader in the negotiations.

BUSINESS BUREAU ACTIVE.

Answered Over 6,000 Queries, the Annual Report Points Out.

Correction of unfair advertising and selling practices through voluntary self-regulation and the taking of aggressive action against financial swindlers and medical fakers were cited as outstanding activities of the National Better Business Bureau in its annual report made public here yesterday by Edward L. Greene, general manager.

During last year the bureau issued 300 special bulletins to periodical publishers, most of them dealing with medical subjects. Over 2,400 inquiries from publishers on advertising claims were answered during the same period, Mr. Greene reported. More than 100 special bulletins were issued to classified advertising managers of newspapers on fraudulent or questionable propositions using the classified columns.

In all, the commercial and medicinal departments of the bureau answered more than 6,000 inquiries, 2,000 of which necessitated new investigations to determine the facts, according to Mr. Greene.

LATEST DEALINGS IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

FOUR FLATS SOLD IN WEST 59TH ST.

Denison Realty Corporation Buys Plot 100 by 100 Feet Near Columbus Circle.

DEAL IN WEST 52D STREET

Investor Gets Three Tenement Houses on Extreme West Side —Other Transactions.

Four five-story apartment houses on a plot 100 by 100 feet at 335-341 West Fifty-ninth Street were sold yesterday by Morris Steinberg to the Denison Realty Corporation. The buildings are 300 feet west of Columbus Circle and were sold for all cash through the Charles F. Noyes Company, as broker.

There are stores and eighty apartments in the structures, which were sold at voluntary auction by Joseph P. Day in April, 1929, for $346,000 to Louis Kovner for a twenty-story club. The project was not carried out and the site was acquired by Mr. Steinberg last March.

An investment deal was closed on the extreme west side when the three five-story tenement houses at 505, 507 and 509 West Fifty-second Street were sold by the Kestor Realty Corporation to an investing client of the Philip A. Payton Jr. Company, broker. The houses occupy a plot 75 by 100 feet.

In the Yorkville area T. Argintar, broker, sold for the Fannie Pechner estate the property at 1,382 and 1,384 First Avenue, southeast corner of East Seventy-fourth Street. The property consists of two six-story apartment houses, accommodating forty families and containing eight stores. This was the first sale of the property in twenty-nine years.

An investor bought the five-and-one-half-story tenement house at 164 Henry Street through J. Finkelstein & Son, brokers. The property was recently foreclosed by the Citizens Savings Bank.

In Harlem the estate of David Barnett sold the three-story dwelling at 54 West 114th Street on a lot 17 by 100 feet. The house was bought by a client of Goodwin & Goodwin, brokers, for occupancy.

Goodwin & Goodwin also sold for the Beckwill Realty Company the vacant plot, 75 by 95 feet, on the east side of St. Nicholas Avenue, 126 feet north of West 141st Street, to a builder. The buyer plans to erect a six-story elevator apartment house. The purchaser owns the adjoining 30 feet north of this plot and has a combined plot of 105 feet frontage.

Alexander M. Welch, as trustee of the will of Isaac Dyckman, has sold to the Lien Securities Corporation, 51 Chambers Street, for a stated consideration of $900, a gore piece at the southeast corner of Payson Avenue and Beak Street, which is one block north of Dyckman Street, facing on Payson Avenue for 12 feet and on Beak Street for 85 feet, the easterly boundary of the gore being the east side of old Bolton Road, now closed, as it curves, as shown on the map of Dyckman Homestead made by R. Rosa dated June 7, 1871, subject to all taxes and assessments, and sales for the same.

BRONX PROPERTIES SOLD

New Dealings in Private and Apartment Holdings.

The six-story apartment house at 1,501 Nelson Avenue on a plot 150 by 100 feet was sold by the Zaslav Estates, Inc., Louis H. Reuben, president, through Adams & Co., brokers. The same brokers sold for Zaslav Estates the five-story apartment house at 1,525 Nelson Avenue on a plot 75 by 96 feet. The consideration for the properties was $450,000, according to the brokers.

The Alfieri Realty Company sold to P. Rainone of Easton, Pa., a dwelling on Edenwald Avenue, near Gunther Avenue, for the De Filippo Construction Company.

The Harmon National Real Estate Corporation has sold residential plots in its Nassau Shores development near Amityville, L. I., to Charles F. Holmes, Theodore J. Andrews, Charles M. Cosgrove, Albert H. Mason, Frank A. Mills, Alice E. Burnett, Susan J. Reece, Estelle M. Brooks, William F. Miller, Emil T. Miller, John J. Campbell and Francis E. Brandon.

City Files Plans for an Armory.

The city of New York, as owner of record, filed plans yesterday for a three-story armory and administration building for the 369th Regiment on the west side of Fifth Avenue, between 142d and 143d Streets. The building will occupy the whole blockfront and will cost $1,053,000, according to an estimate of Van Wart & Weiss, the architects.

Westchester Bathhouses to Open.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 6.—The Westchester County Park Commission's bathhouses at Glen Island, Kingsland Point and Croton Point will open tomorrow instead of on June 15, as previously planned, the commission announced today. The parking space at Glen Island, near New Rochelle, has been enlarged.

Rego Park Corner Changes Hands.

REAL ESTATE NOTES.

Koppel Brothers, Inc., acted as brokers in the recent purchase of 153-157 East Forty-fourth Street by Irving Judis and Joseph Silverson, who intend to erect a thirty-five-story office building upon this parcel and the northwest corner of Third Avenue, adjoining.

The sixth annual golf tournament of the Real Estate Club of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies will be held at the Oak Ridge Golf Club, Tuckahoe, on Wednesday, June 18.

PUBLIC WORKS AWARDS ABOVE THE 1929 TOTAL

But Industrial and Other Building Contracts Are 30 to 40 Per Cent Below a Year Ago.

Heavy construction and engineering awards in the United States during May totaled $417,097,000, or 89 per cent of the total in the same month last year, according to The Engineering News-Record. Engineering construction activity is said to show a strong increase since the middle of March, contracts let for all classes of work in the first five months of the year amounting to 81 per cent of the total for the same period a year ago.

Activity continues higher in public work than in private construction. Streets and roads, waterworks and unclassified projects advanced over last year and heavy early lettings of highways and streets continue. Industrial and other buildings, however, are 30 to 40 per cent under the 1929 level.

The geographical distribution of engineering contract values shows the same characteristics as do the cumulative figures. The New England and Middle Atlantic States are well above last year's figures; the Middle West, 13 per cent below, and Mississippi to the Pacific Coast, 30 per cent below. Every section of the country reports active public lettings except the South.

According to classes, the sums involved in heavy construction and engineering jobs for which contracts were let up to June 1 follow:

Commercial buildings*	$650,821,000
Industrial buildings	17,063,000
Streets and roads	242,960,000
Bridges	53,281,000
Waterworks	22,348,000
Sewers	34,481,000
Excavations, &c.	8,351,000
Federal Government	44,733,000
Unclassified	320,605,000
Total	$1,548,643,000

A 10-cent drop in the price of steel shapes lowered The Engineering News-Record construction cost index number to 203.36 for June, which compares with 205.86 in May.

AUCTION SALES TODAY.

Murphy, Day and Kennelly to Sell Various Properties.

Properties in Westchester, New Jersey, Queens and Brooklyn will be offered at auction sales to be conducted today.

Eighty residential plots in Westminster Ridge, near North Broadway, White Plains, will be sold by James R. Murphy at 2:30 in the afternoon on the property.

Major William Kennelly, auctioneer, will sell at 2 o'clock this afternoon, on the premises, the residential estate known as The Magnolias, at 125 South Broadway, Irvington-on-the-Hudson, comprising a three-story frame dwelling, garage, cottage, greenhouse, &c., on a plot of six acres. Also, this afternoon, the Kennelly organization will sell, at 2 o'clock, on the premises, 100 business, residential, industrial and apartment house sites on Washington Avenue and River Road, Nutley, N. J. The tract is 275 feet south of Park Avenue, the new 100-foot wide State highway. The industrial sites front on the Passaic River, with 300 feet bulkheaded.

Vacant lots and dwellings in Queens and Brooklyn will be auctioned at 2:30 P. M., on the respective premises, by the Joseph P. Day organization. The Queens offering includes 110 lots in Forest Hills West on and adjacent to Queens, Nassau and Yellowstone Boulevards and Ninety-eighth, 102d, Quality and Roxton Streets. The Brooklyn sale comprises seven business plots and three homes, including a block front at Avenue Z, Jerome Avenue and Delamere and Mansfield Places.

RECORDED MORTGAGES.

The Seamen's Bank for Savings lent $137,500 more to the Rhodian Holding Corporation on property fronting 163 feet on the north side of Fifty-seventh Street, 237 feet east of Ninth Avenue, and facing on Fifty-eighth Street for 138 feet at a distance of 257 feet east of Ninth Avenue. This is consolidated with fifteen other mortgages held by the bank to make a single lien on the premises for $700,000, due June 4, 1935, at 5½ per cent.

On the southwest corner of Eighth Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street, 25 feet 5 inches by 100 feet, the E. R. F. Realties, Inc., Louis Fischer, president, gave a mortgage for $45,000, due according to the bond, to the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

When the Aleph Realty Corporation, Harry Werstein, president, bought from the Denison Realty Corporation and others 194 William Street, the former gave thereon to the Liberty Place Holding Corporation a mortgage for $38,000, due June 5, 1935, at 6 per cent, with $300 to be paid off half-yearly.

Crate Realty, Inc., John C. Crate, president, having bought from the executors of Grace E. Ferguson, for $54,000, the parcel fronting 52½ feet on the east side of Hudson Street, 30 feet 10 inches north of North Moore Street, and gave back a purchase money mortgage for $40,500, due June 5, 1935, at 5½ per cent.

When 175 Macdougal Street was sold by the executors of John H. Davis for $80,000 to 175 Macdougal Street, Inc., Adelaide Goan, president, the buyer gave two mortgages thereon, one for $45,000, due according to the bond, to the West Side Savings Bank, and one for $10,000 to Emily Goan, due June 5, 1933, at 6 per cent, with $500 to be paid on the principal semi-annually.

On 32 Jane Street, 55 feet east of West Fourth Street, the Lennoc Realty Holding Corporation, James F. Connell, president, gave a mortgage for $15,500, due in three years, at 6 per cent.

On the four-story building at 306 Fifth Avenue, owned by the Fandalen Realty Corporation, Morris W. Haft, secretary, the Union Dime Savings Bank has extended its mortgage for $150,000 to May 1, 1935, at 5½ per cent.

The Yorkcity Realty Corporation, Simon Pfliaster, president, gave a mortgage for $55,000, due June 25, 1935, at 5½ per cent, to the Lawyers Mortgage Company on the southeast corner of Second Avenue and Seventy-seventh Street, 27 feet 2 inches by 88¼ feet, $500 to be paid on the principal semi-annually.

Earl Carroll, who holds two mortgages totaling $9,250 on the five-story structure at 154 East Fifty-fifth Street, between Third and Lexington Avenues, owned by the 154 East Fifty-fifth Street Corporation, Charles V. Miller, president, has agreed to consolidate these two liens as one, payable June 1, 1931, at 6 per cent.

The Title Guarantee and Trust Company has taken an additional mortgage for $22,500 from the St. Nicholas Holding Company, Inc., Heyman Willet, president. This is consolidated with two other mortgages held by the mortgage company to make a single lien for $125,000, due according to the bond, on the property on the west side of St. Nicholas Avenue, 372 feet 5 inches north of 141st Street, and having a frontage of 189 feet 10¼ inches.

When 22 Beekman Street was sold by Fanny Fairet de Tuite and others to John H. Berk for $70,000, he gave back a purchase money mortgage for $50,000, due June 4, 1935, at 6 per cent. Mr. Berk has sold this property to Henrietta Landsman and Frances Boylan.

Two mortgages held by the Central Savings Bank on 173-77 West Eighty-ninth Street, owned by the Steinwell Realty Corporation, Isidor Goldstein, president, have been consolidated as one lien of $100,000 on this property, due May 29, 1935, at 6 per cent.

On the land, with the buildings to be erected thereon, fronting 106 feet 4 inches on the east side of St. Nicholas Avenue, 126 feet 8 inches north of 141st Street, the Postal Life Insurance Company lent to the Jaymers Realty Corporation, Samuel Fisher, president, $225,000, due Nov. 15, 1935, at 6 per cent, and to be amortized $2,000 quarterly beginning Feb. 15, 1931.

A mortgage for $343,000 held by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on the twelve-story loft building at 119-25 West Twenty-fourth Street, owned by the Graf Realty Corporation, has been extended to April 1, 1935, at 5½ per cent.

SALES IN NEW JERSEY.

Union City and North Bergen Buildings Exchanged.

A frame building at 160 Nineteenth Street, between Palisade and Gregory Avenues, Union City, has been acquired for investment by Maurice Wenzelberg, a local attorney, from Sackerman & Rieth of Jersey City. The structure, on a plot 25 by 100 feet, contains one store and five apartments. The sellers took in part payment a two-family brick house at 979 Maple Street, in the New Durham section of North Bergen. Max Bernfeld, Inc., was the broker.

Mrs. Grace Hartman of New York City added to her holdings in Country Club Estates on the west shore of Budd Lake, giving her a 400-foot plot upon which she intends to erect a Summer home. John F. O'Brien, Inc., the developer, also sold sites for dwellings to Mrs. Winifred Hadley of Princeton and William B. Huxter of Budd Lake.

The Greenville United Building and Loan Association sold the two one-family houses at 15A Oak Street and 127 Orient Avenue, Jersey City, to the Home Plan, Inc.

Louis Weinstein conveyed to Gussie Weinstein the three-story frame store building at 249 Central Avenue, Jersey City, and the two three-story frame store buildings at 914-16 Bergenline Avenue, near Forty-fifth Street, Union City.

Arthur Ronzoni and Charles Calroll bought from the Emerson Garage Company a one-story concrete garage on a plot 62 by 100 feet at 443-45 Summit Avenue, adjoining the corner of Twenty-second Street, Union City.

The two-story frame dwelling at 322 Forty-seventh Street, adjoining the corner of New York Avenue, Union City, has been purchased by Emanuel Pizzuto from Mrs. Mary Terwilliger.

Herman Shoenburg sold the two three-story brick flats with stores at 5,504-6 Boulevard West, North Bergen, to Rose Gross of Union City.

Simon Rodnon of Brooklyn leased the three-story frame flat with store at 443 Broadway, adjoining the corner of West Twentieth Street, Bayonne, from Miss Rose Abramson, for twenty-one years from July 1 at a net rental of $68,250.

UNEVEN PACE NOTED IN WEEK'S BUSINESS

RETAIL TRADE INCREASES

General Situation Is Viewed as on a Sounder Basis—Prices Still Unsettled.

Trade paper summaries of business this week contain a tinge of optimism. Real Summer weather is pointed out as a cause of a slight increase in the retail trade reports and sympathetic cheerfulness in wholesale and jobbing lines. Opposed to this, however, it is pointed out that the weather, which has helped outdoor activity, has lessened the demand for supplies from other lines of manufacture. It is stated that a close analysis of the situation shows that the chief advance continues to be in forces making for eventual revival rather than in actual present gain.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of business says, in part:

"Nothing has occurred to alter the conservative opinion that business recovery would be at a measured pace, each week's surface results being largely of an indecisive character. Instances of expansion are not absent, yet there are counterbalancing movements in the opposite direction and the general level of activity reflects comparatively little variation.

"Seasonal factors now have both a stimulating and a repressing effect, giving impetus to retail trade and to outdoor work, but tending to restrain operations in some manufacturing branches. Those phases are common to this period of year, although the existing irregularities are accentuated by the readjustments which are a natural concomitant of an era of economic transition.

"Action to place production more nearly in line with consumption is proceeding in numerous industries, the inventory position is being gradually strengthened, and the elimination of weak points that have appeared is contributing toward a more solid foundation for the future.

Ease in Money Rates.

"Similarly, conspicuous ease in money rates, while partly an outgrowth of restricted commercial needs, is expected to aid in business recuperation, and other constructive elements should ultimately have a more decided influence.

"The course of commodity prices, which has been one of the unsettling aspects, has not definitely improved, but certain markets are giving signs of a firmer undertone.

"Aside from the stimulation of retail trade through higher temperatures in many localities, the general textile situation is without essential new feature. The warmer weather of the week gave a distinct impetus to demands for lightweight apparel, and in this respect the situation reflects genuine betterment. On the other hand, there has been no change from the cautious attitude toward making forward commitments, buyers still manifesting a strong disinclination to operate beyond needs actually in sight. With that policy of purchasing, and with a sharply defined tendency to prevent excessive production, it is not surprising that mill schedules have been reduced substantially."

Improvement in Collections.

Bradstreet's says, in part:

"Real Summer weather, with temperatures in or above the nineties in wide areas, is responsible for a slight pick-up visible in retail trade reports and an access of sympathetic cheerfulness in wholesale and jobbing lines. Collections reports, too, were a shade more cheerful, and crops, although reporting rain needed, held nearly all of their former promise.

"Industrial reports for the week, on the other hand, showed some evidences of the quieting down noted in late May, as, for instance, in iron and steel, automobiles, lumber and cotton, being carried over into June.

"The downward movement of commodity prices in May as shown in Bradstreet's index number was apparently not checked, and this week wheat was added to the list of products easing after reaching earlier in the week the highest levels since the middle of April. Four products—sugar, silver, rubber and raw silk—made new low levels for the year, and the first three for all recent years, if not, in fact, for all time. The decline in silver was certainly without recent equal, and this was reported having a hurtful effect on the foreign trade of a number of countries."

Bradstreet's monthly price index shows for June 1 the eighth successive monthly decline in commodity prices, with nine of thirteen groups going lower, three higher and one unchanged, during May. The June 1 index, in fact, is the lowest touched since July, 1921, and with two exceptions in that year the lowest since Dec. 1, 1915. In all, thirty-six articles went lower, while fourteen advanced and fifty-six remained unchanged.

PHILBIN YIELDS OFFICE.

Resignation of United States Lines' Vice President Revealed.

J. Harry Philbin has resigned as vice president of the United States Lines, it was learned yesterday. No announcement was made of his plans for the future, nor did the lines make formal announcement of Mr. Philbin's departure.

When the Paul W. Chapman interests bought the United States Lines from the Shipping Board last year and Joseph E. Sheedy assumed executive command, Mr. Philbin was appointed vice president with William L. Bunker. Mr. Philbin had spent many years in the shipping field and had ended a long career with the government as head of the ship sales department of the Shipping Board.

He was placed in charge of the work of taking over the government's ships for the company, and for several months he was one of its most active officials. That work has now been completed, and the principal tasks remaining are those of operation and preparation for the construction of a fleet of new liners under the terms of loan and mail contracts with the government. This work is handled by Mr. Bunker and E. Grant McMicken. Mr. Philbin is a resident of Baltimore.

Deutschland Due Here Today With New Turbine Engines

The steamship Deutschland of the Hamburg-American Line is due to arrive here today with Captain Frederick Buch, recently transferred from the motorship St. Louis, making his first trip as commander of his new charge.

Like her sister ships, the New York, Hamburg and Albert Ballin, the Deutschland has been equipped with new turbine engines to increase her speed and make possible her crossing between the United States and the Channel ports in seven days and Hamburg in eight days. Changes have also been made in her first-cabin public rooms, the second cabin has been eliminated for tourist third cabin and the ship has been redecorated throughout.

NIAGARA-HUDSON LEADS POWER FIELD

System Produced Almost Fifth of Hydroelectric Energy in Nation Last Year.

$10,200,000 IN GAS SALES

By-Products Gave $1,100,000 More—Electric Output Shows Annual Gain of 7% for 7 Years.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 6 (AP).—The operating companies in the Niagara Hudson system in 1929 produced almost 20 per cent of the total hydroelectric power in the United States, according to Colonel William Kelly of Buffalo, vice president of the Niagara-Hudson Power Corporation. The Niagara Hudson output amounted to 6,185,872,000 kilowatt hours, as compared with 32,302,466,000 kilowatt hours for the entire nation. Colonel Kelly made known these figures at the first annual convention of Niagara-Hudson today.

The total electric output for the Niagara Hudson system including steam-generated energy, was 7,212,743,072 kilowatt hours. This combined output was 54 per cent greater than that of the next largest system, said Colonel Kelly.

"For the last seven years," said Colonel Kelly, "the load of the Niagara Hudson system has increased at a rate that has averaged over 7 per cent per year. If we maintain this rate of growth for the next few years, as we expect to do, we must increase our power output by about 120,000 kilowatts per year. Plants now under construction are estimated to be sufficient to care for the growth of load till the Fall of 1932."

"In terms of property investment," said Mr. Snyder, "the system has gas plants and equipment with a book value of about $60,000,000. It is selling nearly 8,500,000,000 cubic feet of gas annually to 250,000 customers and its annual revenue from gas sales is approximately $10,200,000. In addition, the plants of the system in the process of gas manufacture turn out by-products worth more than $1,100,000.

"These by-products, exclusive of coke, include in round numbers 9,000,000 gallons of tar, 8,000 tons of ammonia sulphite, 1,000,000 gallons of motor fuel and 460,000 gallons of creosote."

Mr. Snyder stated that the increase in total gas sales for the Niagara Hudson system in 1929 was 8.3 per cent over the preceding year.

Norman R. Gibson of Niagara Falls, vice president and chief engineer of the Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern Power Corporation, said that New York State is richly endowed with developed and undeveloped hydro sites.

"Approximately 23,000,000,000 kilowatt hours can ultimately be developed at existing hydroelectric plants, with 6,000,000,000 kilowatt hours additional capable of being developed at Niagara, 8,000,000,000 kilowatt hours on the St. Lawrence and 3,500,000,000 on inland streams," he said.

GAS INDUSTRY HAILED AS GROWING UTILITY

Head of State Association Tells Convention Here Its Next Use Will Be House Cooling.

The steady growth of the gas industry, both in natural gas enterprises and manufactured gas production and distribution, as justification for investment was emphasized yesterday by William J. Welsh, president of the Empire State Gas and Electric Association, at the annual convention of the Metropolitan New York Section of the National Electric Light Association in the Hotel Commodore.

Mr. Welsh pointed out that the expansion had taken place despite the fact that the industry has been transformed from a lighting industry to a heating industry. He saw the industry pre-eminent in the fild of heating in the home and rapidly dominating the industrial heating field, but also "the next dominant factor in the field of both wholesale and domestic refrigeration." House cooling by gas, Mr. Welsh said, was near at hand.

The best evidence of the results that have been attained in the gas industry, he said, is "the lively interest now being taken in the gas business by almost every investment banking house of any importance." On the basis of invested capital, he said, the gas industry is now a $5,150,000,000 enterprise.

Mr. Welsh made statistical comparisons on gas, electricity, coal, coke and oil. He attributed the growth of the gas industry particularly to the program of research in domestic and industrial utilization and operation conducted by the American Gas Association.

First prize of $50 in the writing contest conducted by the Metropolitan Section of the association was awarded to Randolph W. Burrell of the engineering department of the New York and Queens Electric Light and Power Company for his paper, "The Development of Load in Residential Areas." Ten other cash prizes were awarded for compositions on various phases of utility operations.

Reports of various departments of the companies also were read and a demonstration of a device for symphonic lighting was given by Thomas Wilfred, inventor. E. H. Carr, chairman of the Metropolitan Section, presided. About 300 representatives of nine utility companies attended.

ROYAL MAIL SHOWS $2,852,710 BALANCE

But 1929 Report Reaches Total Before Allowing $2,074,275 for Fleet Depreciation.

INSURANCE FUND RAIDED

$1,500,000 Is Taken to Meet Loss Last Year and to Cover the Preference Dividend.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 6.—The fears of the stock market concerning the finances of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company were partially confirmed by the report for 1929, published tonight. This is the key company of the Kylsant shipping group, which controls the White Star Line and important affiliated enterprises.

Before the report was made public the shares of the company stood today at 17s. 6d. and, judging from the severe slump which has been going on for almost a year, the market interprets the report as a sign that reorganization must come sooner or later.

The report amply demonstrates it was not excessive prudence or conservatism which caused the directors to pass the half yearly dividend on the preference stock last December. The company really suffered loss last year, and in order to meet this and cover the cost of the preference dividends for the first half of 1929—and to provide a balance to be carried forward—it has taken $1,500,000 from the insurance fund.

The accounts show not only that the earnings were insufficient for a dividend on the ordinary stocks, but also that the cash resources were none too large in view of the numerous liabilities, actual and contingent, of the company.

The profit and loss account for 1929 has been drawn up on different lines from the previous ones. The balance for the year, which is given as $2,852,710, is reached before allowing for fleet depreciation, which amounts to $2,074,275. In 1928 the balance was reached after deducting an unnamed amount for fleet depreciation and the resulting figure was given as $3,438,570. Last year, the auditors explained, the depreciation had been calculated at a lower rate than previously, but if depreciation in 1928 and 1927 had been the same as that allowed for in 1929 then last year's figures would have shown a net loss of $393,530, as compared with the net profit of $2,286,080 in 1928 and $2,449,405 in 1927.

The accounts of the three subsidiary companies are qualified by the auditors. In one case it is explained that "shipping investments are included at book values, in excess of the present values." In another it is implied that the amount provided for depreciation may not be adequate, while in a third case the auditors point out that "general investments are included at cost price, which is in excess of their present values."

Owing to the change in the method of presenting the balance sheet, it is revealed for the first time that the Royal Mail fleet, less depreciation, is valued at $16,887,540.

DAVIS LAUDS COURT AS AMERICAN IDEAL

SAYS HISTORY AFFIRMS IT

Former Democratic Leader Asks Jersey Bar if Nation Is to Take "Backward Step."

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 6.—John W. Davis of New York, the Democratic candidate for President in 1924, advocated this country's prompt adherence to the World Court in a speech tonight at the annual dinner of the New Jersey Bar Association in the Hotel Chelsea here.

After discussing various phases of the World Court, Mr. Davis said:

"Having preached it for years, having participated in its formation, having stated through the Senate the terms upon which we are willing to adhere, having seen the assent to those terms reduced to writing and signed by the representatives of not less than fifty-two of the signatory powers, is it conceivable that we should take any backward step now?"

Mr. Davis asserted that a permanent court of international justice is "a genuinely American conception," adding that "it may be questioned if there was any single aim which stands out in our diplomatic history so prominently as does this." To turn away from this doctrine now, he said, "would falsify more than a century of American history."

Is Not a Partisan Question.

America's adherence to the protocol of the existing Permanent Court of International Justice, Mr. Davis continued, "is not a political question, political in a narrow or partisan sense." He remarked that "once a question has been drawn into the maelstrom of party disputes, the passion and prejudice of partisanship usurp the place of reason," and "the instinct to stampede with the herd is too much for most of us." In spite of some obvious efforts to the contrary, Mr. Davis said, the World Court has escaped this fate.

Another appeal which the court must make to such a gathering as he was addressing, said Mr. Davis, is that "it represents the lawyers' ideal."

"So it is," Mr. Davis continued, "that the American Bar Association, your own, and possibly every other bar association in the United States, have given formal expression to their approval."

After pointing out that fifty-four independent powers have pledged their support and that nine others, including this country, stand aside, Mr. Davis went on:

"Eight years have passed since the first meeting of the court; seven since President Harding first laid the matter of our adherence before the Senate, and four years since the Senate, by a vote of 76 to 17, resolved to adhere, with certain reservations. Six months ago, the American Chargé d'Affaires at Berne affixed our signature to the protocol by authority of President Hoover, yet still the word of final approval awaits to be spoken.

Triple Protection in Root Formula.

"What is the question on which the decision turns? Is the Root formula, with reference to advisory opinions, adequate to protect the United States from all dangers, real or imaginary, or is it not?

"What is the Root formula? It provides a triple protection against untoward events: first, when any proposal comes before the Council, or the Assembly, of the League for obtaining an advisory opinion from the court, the Secretary General of the League shall at once advise the United States and an exchange of views shall take place with all convenient speed between the Council and the United States, and, second, when a request for an advisory opinion comes to the court the registrar of the court shall notify the United States, and if the United States advises the court that the question is one which affects its interests the proceedings shall be stayed for a period sufficient to enable an exchange of views between the Council and the United States; third, if after the exchange of views, so provided, no agreement is reached, and the United States is not prepared to force its obligations, it may exercise the power of withdrawal, without any imputation of unfriendliness.

"Instead of agonizing over the attitude of other nations in the dim and far-off event of our future withdrawal, is it not worth while to consider how they will regard us today, if we fail now to adhere to the court?"

Officers nominated, and elected without opposition, were:

President, Harry R. Coulomb, Atlantic City.
First Vice President, J. Henry Harrison, Newark.
Second Vice President, William T. Boyle, Camden.
Third Vice President, Nelson Y. Dungan, Sommerville.
Secretary, Leroy W. Lodger, Bridgeton.
Treasurer, Lewis Tsarr, Camden.
Board of Directors, First Judicial District, J. Forman Sinnickson, Salem; Second District, William D. Lippincott, Camden; Third District, William A. Stevens, Jersey City.

EX-CASHIER FREED OF THEFT

P. O. Thofner, Once Ship Line Employe, Cleared at Second Trial.

A jury in Judge Nott's part of General Sessions last evening acquitted Paul O. Thofner, 35 years old, of 217 Thalma Street, Merrick, L. I., on his second trial for the alleged theft of $168 from the Baltic America Line, Inc., by which he formerly was employed as cashier. The jury at the first trial in March disagreed.

Charles Krebs, president of the line, appeared as complainant and testified that, when a shortage of between $4,000 and $5,000 was uncovered, Thofner signed a confession.

Thofner in his defense admitted signing the confession but said he was induced to do so by the complainant, with the promise there would be no prosecution. He swore that the money had been taken to hide payments of bonuses to steamship ticket agents, in violation of an agreement made at the Transcontinental Steamship Conference in Europe in 1921, in which it was stipulated that any steamship company which violated the agreement by paying bonuses to ticket agents would be penalized $25,000 for each offense.

Doughertys Get Sweepstake Prize in Quebec As Woman Adds Threat to Family Wrangle

The mixed luck of the Doughertys developed two additional twists yesterday. While Edward P. Dougherty, the 19-year-old broker's transfer clerk, received in Quebec a check for the $149,262, a prize in an English Derby sweepstake, his father, Daniel Dougherty, Brooklyn apartment house doorman, was repeating his statement of having "worked my fingers to the bone for the boy," and threatening to call in the law to protect his "rights" in the check.

In a Brooklyn basement apartment a work-worn, middle-aged woman, who said that she was the deserted wife of Dougherty, was telling reporters that if her husband collected she would collect from him.

The difficulty in Quebec lies merely in repetitions of the claims and counter-claims made by the Doughertys here. The ticket that won a share in the Army and Navy Veterans Sweepstake money was in the name of Edward P. Dougherty. But no sooner was the prize won than John, his older brother, was declared to have an equal share in the winnings, and the father claimed not only a share but right to the entire prize.

For, according to the senior Dougherty, it was his money that paid for the ticket, although the son did the actual buying. The answer of Edward, tersely put, was this:

Yesterday they argued this out all over again before the cashier's cage of the Quebec bank to which Edward had gone to deposit the check. The elder Dougherty offered terms—he said he would give his sons $41,000 each. But to "protect his rights" he will "hire the best lawyer money can buy."

Through all the wrangling that has followed the announcement of Edward's apparent good fortune there has been no mention of the wife and stepmother who announced herself yesterday. She is Mrs. Margaret Dougherty, about 45 years old, who is employed as a laundress in Brooklyn and has two children of her own. Yesterday in her basement apartment at 386 Pulaski Street, she told of having married Daniel Dougherty on Jan. 11, 1921, at the Church of St. John the Baptist, Lewis and Willoughby Avenues, Brooklyn. The Rev. John Kennedy was the priest officiating.

Mrs. Dougherty, who was a widow, made this comment:

"I see he says he slaved for his children night and day. It's not true. He wasn't made for slaving. I have just two things to say. One is that I'll sue for support if he gets that money. And the other is a warning to the boys that if he gets his hands on the money it'll be gone in a year."

COURT CLEARS PILOT IN JAMAICA BAY DEATH

The first "hit-and-fly" aircraft accident case was concluded yesterday when Magistrate Marvin in Jamaica dismissed a charge of homicide against Harry Ramsdell, pilot, of 1,685 East Twenty-first Street, Brooklyn.

On Sept. 9 a motorboat in Jamaica Bay in which two men were riding was struck and sunk by a seaplane which continued to rise and fly away. Ramsdell was arrested. He said he had no knowledge of striking any one at any time, but admitting rising from the water in the vicinity of the accident about the time it occurred.

William Brown of 99 Newell Street, Brooklyn, was drowned and John Dee of 92-12 Ninety-first Avenue, Woodhaven, received injuries which confined him to the Rockaway Beach Hospital until a week ago.

The magistrate investigated personally by viewing the scene from a motor boat and going to Roosevelt Field, where he talked with pilots concerning the methods and difficulties of taking off. He also went for a short ride in a plane.

Magistrate Marvin said to Brown's widow, who was in court, that he had found no proof of any criminal negligence and so could not do otherwise than dismiss the case. He advised her that the dismissal of the criminal action did not prevent her from bringing a civil action.

The plane was owned by the Coastal Airways, Inc.

1,300% CENSUS GAIN IN JACKSON HEIGHTS

Complete Figures Indicate That Queens Community Is City's Fastest Growing Area.

INCREASE IN WOODSIDE

Total City Population Now Put at 6,537,721—Seven Bronx Districts Missing.

The population of the Jackson Heights area in Queens increased 1,300 per cent in the past ten years, Census Supervisor Raymond F. Richmond announced yesterday. He said that he believed this would prove to be a greater gain than that of any other large city area in the country. Jackson Heights, the scene of a tremendous building development during the past few years, now has 44,664 inhabitants. In 1920 there were only 3,000 persons in the community. The area embracing Winfield and Woodside in Queens has increased from 15,000 to 41,133 since the 1920 census was taken.

A revised estimate of the population of the five boroughs of New York City, based on returns actually reported and on the 1925 State figures and 1920 census for estimates of unreported districts, gives the city a population of 6,537,721. These figures were compiled by Dr. Walter Laidlaw of the Cities Census Committee, Inc., of 200 Fifth Avenue. Dr. Laidlaw calls his figure merely "possible final of city."

The figures for Manhattan are complete in Dr. Laidlaw's computation except for three Assembly districts. The Bronx estimate was made with only one of the eight Asembly districts reported. Queens figures are complete. Ten districts are missing in Brooklyn and Richmond is complete.

It is interesting to note that, although Queens is the fastest growing borough in the city and has increased 130 per cent in the past ten years, there is still ample room for further development, because the supervisors have reported twenty-eight farms. There are none reported for Richmond yet, although there undoubtedly are farms there, possibly also in the upper Bronx.

BOSTON GAINS 32,000, DROPS TO NINTH PLACE

Los Angeles Jump in Population Stirs Talk in Hub of Annexation of Suburbs.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, June 6.—Boston will drop from seventh to ninth place in population rank among cities of the United States, it was learned tonight with the revelation that the completed census would show the number of inhabitants here to be about 780,851.

This represents an increase of only 32,791 since 1920. As a result Los Angeles with a population of 1,231,000 and Baltimore with 790,000 pass the Hub.

Supporters of the Greater Boston idea are stirred by the fact that the Los Angeles growth is largely due to annexation. If Boston annexed suburban communities within ten miles of the State House, its population would pass the two million mark.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6 (AP).—California has had a 2,000,000 increase in population from 1920. With eighteen counties yet to report, the State had gained 2,016,269, an increase of 70.1 per cent. If the missing sections of the State maintain the percentage of growth, the 1930 census total will be close to 5,917,000.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 6 (AP).—About 4 per cent of the total population of Buffalo was unemployed on April 1, according to a preliminary report of the Census Bureau, made public today. The report showed 23,499 men and women were out of work.

LOS ANGELES, June 6 (AP).—The population of Hollywood, which has been a part of Los Angeles since 1910 was fixed at 153,29[illegible] today. This total compares with its population of 19,996 in 1910 and an estimated total of 50,000 in 1920.

Other census returns given out yesterday by The Associated Press were:

BROOKLINE, Mass.—Population, 47,437, a gain of 9,689 or 25.6 per cent.
RENSSELAER COUNTY, N. Y.—119,759, an increase of 6,630 or 4.9 per cent.
BUTTE, Mont.—39,519, a decrease of 2,095 or 5 per cent.

NEW CENSUS SHOWS 16,404,030 IN MEXICO

Total Is Gain of 14 Per Cent on 1921—Women Outnumber Men by 273,000.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, June 6.—Mexico shows a gain in population of 14 per cent since 1921, according to the census taken on May 15, which gives the total population as 16,404,030, with women outnumbering men by 273,000. The gain is explained by the fact that Mexico's reduced death rate in recent years has more than offset Mexican emigration.

Every State shows a gain except the small State of Colima, which lost 31,000. The States of Jalisco, Michoacan, Oaxaca, Puebla and Vera Cruz—whose capitals are Guadalajara, Morelia, Oaxaca, Puebla and Jalapa, respectively — show populations of more than 1,000,000 each.

The Federal district has a population of 1,217,663, showing a gain of 311,000 since 1921. Among the States Vera Cruz has the greatest population, a gain of 216,000 bringing the total to 1,376,865. This increase is attributed to the development of the rich agricultural plantation areas.

The State of Mexico shows a population of 978,412, representing an increase of 93,000. Colima has the smallest State population with 61,000. Quintana Roo, Mexico's little known territory, has a population of 12,150, a gain of 1,184. The northern district of Lower California has a total of 47,000 and the Southern district, 46,000.

In a secretary it's Capability

in a cigarette it's Taste

THROUGH COMPETENCE, the individual rises to positions of responsibility and respect. Through dependability of taste, a cigarette attains ever greater popularity.

INCREASING MILLIONS of Chesterfields are lighted each day because smokers find that in this cigarette good taste is unfailing.

CHESTERFIELDS ARE RICH IN AROMA, flavor and fragrance, which come from the right selection of choice tobaccos, blended and cross-blended to a rare cigarette goodness. They offer the utmost in smoking enjoyment . . . "TASTE above everything".
